HINE—At a meeting of the Clearing House Committee held Monday, Oct. 24, 1927, the following minute was adopted by a rising vote:

The Clearing House Committee records with profound regret the death of Francis Lyman Hine, late Chairman of the Executive Committee of the First National Bank and one-time President of this association. Mr. Hine first became actively identified with the Clearing House when he was elected as its Secretary for the years 1890 and 1900. He was President of the association in 1913, 1914 and 1915, covering the trying period at the beginning of the World War; served on the Clearing House Committee at different periods for six years and was its Chairman in 1922. At various times he was also a member of other important committees, notably the Loan Committee of 1914. In all these capacities Mr. Hine served the Clearing House with marked distinction, giving to it the benefit of the skill and ripe experience for which he was distinguished.

The probity, ability and sound far-sighted judgment, which were recognized as part of the man and won the unreserved respect and confidence of all who knew him, were combined in Mr. Hine to a rare degree, with such unflinching gentility and a spirit of kindness so sincere and genuine as to make association with him something to be highly prized and long remembered.

This brief memorial voices our admiration for one who represented a fine type of manhood and whose death is a great loss to the banking community in which he was so long a conspicuous figure.

To his family and to his business associates we tender, on behalf of the Clearing House Association, our respectful sympathy in the great personal loss that they have sustained in Mr. Hine's death.

Resolved, That this minute be spread upon the record and that copies be sent to all members of the association.

SEWARD PROSSER, Chairman; STEVENSON E. WARD.
