INTO WAITING AUTOMOBILE HARRY THAW MAKES LEAP

A six-ylinder touring car, black and sixty horse power, followed by a limousine, also black, loafed lazily along the road as the milkman drew near the gate. Thaw, standing a few feet away, apparently unconcerned, waited till Barnum unlocked the gate and swung it wide to let the milkman enter. At the same moment the two cars drew up on the further side of the road opposite the bing.

As Barnum stepped aside for the milkman to drive inside the grounds he heard the gravel crunch beneath Thaw's feet, and looking up, saw Thaw flash past him straight for one of the waiting cars. With a shout Barnum started in pursuit, but a flying leap landed Thaw safe in the car. The automobile wheels began turning before the keeper fairly reached the roadway, and they were throwing up a cloud of dust before he had gone twenty-five feet.

For the first three days of this week the governor will continue to be very busy signing the bills which were passed by the legislature. Of these, there are between 250 and 300 in all. The law gives the governor five days after the adjournment of the general ssembly in which to sign bills.

Excluding Sunday, which is not counted, it would make the time expire this year on Wednesday at midnight. As the governor will want te read all the general bills carefully before he signs them, his time will be well occupied for the next three days. By far the greater number of the bills passed are local bills, probably 75 per cent. of them; but there are a larger number of really important general bills than was at first sup-

Fifteen Schools in Weekly Report Show Average Gain of 36 Over Last Year.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS HOLD

In spite of the inroads made into the Sunday school attendance of the various schools of the city by the ot weather and the vacations, the schools are managing to hold their a consistent gain over last year's figures. The total attendance reported by fifteen schools for Sunday is 4780, an average of 319 for each school. For the same Sunday last year the same schools had only 4244, an average of 283. This is an average gain of 38 for each school. While on a number of the Sundays during the summer the gain has risen as high as 60 and even 80 over last year, the fact that every Sunday the figures average higher than last year's proves that the internal growth of the schools has been steady and sure.

Chamberlin - Johnson - DuBose Co. ATLANTA PARIS NEW YORK ANNOUNCING The Disposal Sale

of Fancy Linens

Cluny and Madeira Centers, Lunch Cloths, Table Cloths, Scarfs and Hand Embroidered Spreads, Sheets and Pillow Cases

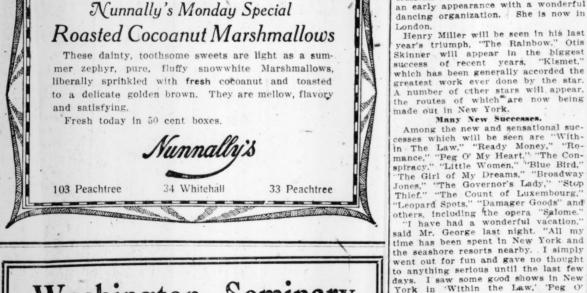

All At Substantial Reductions

This annual August event, well known to Atlanta housekeepers, brings, perhaps, the year's best opportunity to secure those rich and exquisite linens that every housekeeper would own in one quantity or another.

No reason for these reductions will be found in the linens themselves. They are as fine as they could be at regular prices. The new prices are the result of the Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. method of doing business—starting the new season with new merchandise, which in this instance does not necessarily mean different merchandise, for Cluny laces and hand embroidery are much the same year after year. So the savings come as a premium for timing your purchases to this sale. And since the display is such an elegant one, each separate piece being a finished, exquisite work itself, there is nothing left to be desired.

See these linens-the beautiful embroidery and drawn work that were done by the nimble fingers and the nationce of f.

Washington Seminary DOMESTIC SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

Modern education must be not only cultural, but practical. The girls of today will be the home-makers of tomorrow.

To meet this practical side in the education of girls, Washington Seminary, Atlanta, has instituted a thorough course in Domestic Science. This course is required as one of the units for graduation. The department is in charge of trained and successful domestic science teachers, and on its completion the student is prepared to properly conduct the domestic side of any home.

MILK BOTTLES AND DISEASE.

Although summer is pretty well advanced, it is not too late, even for this season, for consumers of milk to profit by the following suggestions recently made by dairy experts of the United States department of agriculture:

See that the milk is pure.

See that the receptable it is put in is clean.

See that it is taken into the house soon after delivery.

See that it is kept cool.

See that the milk bottle, or other vessel In which milk is received from the dairyman, is not taken into or out of the sick room.

If you have no refrigerator, make one. It is your duty to the community to see that the bottles returned to the milkman are clean. Do not use "dipped" milk in the restaurant or at home.

No matter how pure the milk is, when it is delivered at the home of the consumer, it will quickly become unfit for use if received in an unclean vessel, or if exposed to the air or the summer heat. The pro-

THE NEW MARRIAGE LAW. Reports from Pittsburg, a city which has furnished some spicy chapters to the record of America's divorce records, indicate that much resentment has been aroused against the new state law safeguarding the marriage contract. Thirty couples in that city recently declined to answer the questions required by the new law. They left the license bureau promising to go into other states where no such inquisitive laws were enforced.

The incidents were distressing to the parties involved. 10 be denied entrance to the gate of matrimony because of some mental or physical taint was something to fume over and denounce as an unwarranted interference with personal liberty.

Instead of proving the law unnecessary and without reason, these thirty cases are the strongest arguments that could be advanced of the need for such restrictions. A clean marriage statute in all the states would lessen the records of crimes and morbidity, which prove so costly.

While physical soundness is not the sole requisite for happy marriage, the records of eugenics prove what results from the union of persons afflicted with mental and moral and physical defects. No one questions the immediate effects of the union of unsound persons, and the criminal records show how the poison spreads out in future generations.

The "conspiracy of silence" which permits the contamination of the race to continue is largely responsible for this unhappy situation. There should be more plain talk in legislative bodies.

MARITAL FELICITY.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, who is always in teresting whether discussing pure food, politics or religion, has given his ideas on marital felicity. Fresh from regulating the food and drink of the household he comes to propose a code of ethics. Here is his farmula:

Husbands should be as polite to their wives is they are to the wives of neighbors. They should keep their tempers, whether wife" keeps here should not cause trouble. SPEAKING IN PUBLIC.

Those who attended the meetings of the Southern Merchants' association, recently in session in this city, remarked on the high order of the addresses that were delivered. Some of these, because of their merit, are now being widely printed and copied by the press of the state.

The Printer Did It.

It was only a printer's error, but The Church Family. Newspaper says "it caused consternation" in a country village, and this is why:

"An arch in the church had become dilapidated and a fund was started for its repair. Upon one occasion, so as to make the appeal more widely known, the rector had a notice regarding the arch fund printed in the village, with the result that on the following A Story of the Moment By WALT MASON. NO PLACE LIKE HOME.

"If my memory serves me," remarked the wild man of the woods, "it was William Henry Shakespeare who remarked that be it ever so humble there's no place like home. This is true if your home is a hollow tree in the deep tangled wildwood, but if you are compelled by circumstances to dwell in the you, home is a false alarm.

"My wife was a most estimable woman and her bright smile haunts me still, but she made married life an impossible thing for me. She was generally known throughout the neighborhood as an excellent house-keeper. An excellent housekeeper is all right in theory and as a subject for essays in the women's magazines, but in practice she is too overwhelming. If any young man asked my advice on the subject of matrimony I'd tell him to beware the excellent housekeeper, for in the end she bites like a serpent and stings like an adder.

"My admirable wife held firmly to the theory that there should be a place for everything, and everything should be in its place. Tidiness was an infatuation with her. She spent most of her time arranging the furniture and brushing imaginary specks of dust off the chairs or the clock and in her eyes there was no greater crime than leaving things lying around where they didn't belong. "Time and again, when I sat down to read the evening paper, that majestic woman would come to me with tears in her eyes, and say: 'Augustus Adolphus, how often have I asked you not to leave your shoes on the sideboard among the cut glass dishes?' Then I'd get up with a heavy sigh and place my shoes in the corner provided for them, in the closet under the stairs, after which I'd resume my chair and my paper, hoping there would be no further interruptions. "But it always happened that when I reached the middle of the baseball story, telling how Jugheimer, the new centerfielder, jumped straight up in the air twenty-seven meters and captured a fly, thus saving the game, my wife would approach and remind me, more in sorrow than in anger, that I had hung my overalls on the gas jet and my hat on the clock. She took a melancholy pleasure in reminding me of my crimes, and the expression of her face always made me think of Charlotte Corday on the way to the guillotine, and it made me unhappy. It never occurred to her to take the overalls and the hat from their misfit perches and place them where they belonged. She considered it necessary, for the sake of education, to call my attention to such things.

"Then she made eating an ordeal rather than a pastime by keeping her eagle eyes on the table cloth. She put a new snowy cloth on the table every day and then wor ried herself into a sick headache, because couldn't get over the habit of laying greasy knives and forks on it. My mind, when I was consuming victuals, was occupied with higher and nobler things than table cloths, and it used to annoy me greatly when she'd rise from the table with a shriek and rebuke me for spilling a pint of tomato soup on the virgin fabric. "Every piece of furniture in the house was kept beautifully polished, and so there was no comfort. No man can get any satisfaction out of his newspaper unless he sits in one chair and places his feet on another, but every time I attempted this pos-ture my wife, who was a superb woman in every way, but the victim of heredity and environment, would point an accusing finger at my large and shapely shoes say I was ruining the best chair in the house.

"Had she flown into a passion now and then, I might have endured it indefinitely, but she was always gentle and mildly reproachful. So, although I knew that my right to smoke in the house was guaranteed by the constitution of the United States, and sealed by the blood of the pilgrim fathers, I always felt as mean as a yellow pup when she looked at my pipe with sorrowful resig nation, so I used to sit out in the cowshed when I wanted a smoke.

"It was when the cowshed caught fire and burned me in forty-eight places that I decided to suffer no longer, and fled to the forest primeval."

The World's Mysteries WAS JAMES, DUKE OF MONMOUTH, OF ROYAL BLOOD?

Was James Scott, the Duke of Monmouth, one of the greatest of blackguards, or was he merely a vicious coward? At any rate, he was redeemed from the utter contempt of history only through his tragic ending: Although he posed as a "plous man," he possessed about as much piety as he did honor, and in the latter he was utterly lacking. He betrayed and sacrificed his friends and his enemies alike in order to recomplish his vicious ends, and he had no personal honor whatever for murder, for fraud or for lowliving.

He always said he was a son of Charles II, and for that reason he regarded himself as entitled to the many things he demand-Charles always denied this, and even Monmouth is said to have confessed, when he was about to be executed, that this was ne of his many lies. He was born in 1859, the son of Ludy Walters, who became the mistress of Charles II, during his exile to The Hague. His birth occurred at Rotter-dam, but The Encyclopaedia Brittanica says: "That Charles was his father is more than doubtful." Lucy had previously lived with Robert Sidney, a son of the Earl of Leicester, and it is said that James bore a close esemblance' to him.

Charles, however, was so much attached to his mistress that he lavished upon the boy all sorts of honors and bestowed upon him a doting affection. No formal acknowledgement of his relation to the king was made until his betrothal to Anne Scott, Countess of Buccleuch, the wealthiest heiress of Scotland, whom he married in 1665. At court he was treated as a prince of the

So when Charles II died without a direct heir, and his younger brother mounted the throne as King James, the people hated and distrusted him, and the duke, fully appreciating this, declared he was the rightful heir, and there were several shrewd politicians who were only too ready to make use of him to foment trouble. He said the records of the mar-riage, and of his birth, were hidden in a mysterious "black box" and would be produced at the proper time.

His ill-starred expedition in June, 1685; the rebellion he headed, his defeat at Sedgeand the subsequent circumstances, have all been rendered familiar to the

Partridges Carry Young Chicks. (From The Ocilla Star.)

The other morning when Warren Fletcher was going out of town on the Irwinville road, a few hundred yards from the home of H. C. Bass, he noticed a pair of partridges carrying two little chickens just two or three days old. He watched them for sometime till he was convinced that the partridges were actually taking care of them, and then he drove back to the home of Mr. Bass and took him to see them.

When any one would approach them the partridges would flutter off just as they always do when their young is threatened. The little chickens, too, recognized the quall as parents and followed them.

as parents and followed thum. These gentlemen caught the chickens, and Mr. Bass took, them to his home, where he now has them. It is likely that the chick-ens would have starved if left with the birds, as they had nothing in their crops when caught.

Curfew Law for Girls.

(Sag Harbor Dispatch to New York Times.) The curfew law is to be revived in this place on September 1, according to a resolu-tion adopted by the board of village trustees, at its meeting. After the law goes into effect the bell in the village hall will be rung every evening at 8:45 o'clock. It will be the signal for all girls under 16 years of age to leave the "movies," say quick "good-nights" to their companions, and scurry for home. After 9 p. m. all girls under 16 found on the streets unaccompanied by parent or guardian will be arrested.

A committee of Sag Harbor women, headboilless years. ed by Mrs. Ida Smith, urged the passage of reader by the animated narration of Macau-lay. The exact particulars of his capture are less known, and are interesting.

It seems that the duke rode from the field of Sedgemore with Lord Gray and proceeded to Woodyates, where they guitted their horses, and the duke assumed the clothes of a peasant. He then walke with the design of reaching Bourner in order, if possible, to get shipping for continent. An alarm from the appea of his enemies interrupted this plan, fled across the country to a wild tra of ground called Shag's Heath. There as a patch of cultivated ground, divide by hedges, inclosed by a ditch, and beiring crops of rye and peas in full summer growth.

crops of rye and peas in full summer stowth. On the report of a woman that she had seen a man enter that inclosure the dragoons surrounded it, beat it in all directions, and at length on the ensuing day, when about to depart in despair, lighted upon the wouldbe king skulking in a ditch under fern. The spot is still indicated with precision by tree called Monmouth's Ash. It was with a change had starvation and terror brought apon his once graceful form.

He was sent to London, cest into Tower and was condemned to death. He offered the king anything to spare him, promising to betray his associates, change his religion-anything! Macaulay says: "He clung in agonles of supplication around the knees of the king," but James knew no mercy.

He showed his cowardice by thus addressing the queen:

"I do abhor the thing that I have done. detest all those people who have brought me to this. I am an object of your pity, having been counseled and cheated into this business. Your prayers cannot be refused ince I am begging for life only to serve the king."

He was, no doubt, beheaded in the Tower. although it was later reported that he had been smuggled to a French prison and be-came the famous prisoner known as "The Man in the Iron Mask." In a paper he left signed—at least, it is said to be his signa-ture—and to which he referred in answer to the questions wherewith the busy bish-ops plied him, he expressed his sorrow for having assumed the royal style, and at the last moment confessed that Charles had denied to him privately, as he had publicly. that he was ever married to Lucy Walters. Monmouth was only 36 years old when he was beheaded on the 15th of July, 1685.

ducer and the dealer, having delivered the milk in a pure state, the consumer must protect his family and himself by doing his part and keeping it pure.

It is best to receive milk in sealed bottles, or in other closely covered receptacles, to keep out the air and dust of the street. Then it should be taken into the house and put in a cool place as quickly as possible.

One owes it to his neighbors never to take a milk bottle into a room where there is sickness. Such a bottle, returned to the dairyman and, in turn, left at another door. may carry disease and death to the innocent and the unsuspecting-unless such bottles have been carefully disinfected. It is a plain civic duty, of the milk consumer, to return the bottles carefully cleansed -first in cold water and then in warm or hot water.

For the sake of those who cannot get ice. or who have no refrigerator, the experts of the department have issued the following suggestions:

If it is impossible to procure ice, the milk bottle can be kept cooler than the surrounding air by keeping it in a jar or pail of run-ning water. Where it is impossible to use running water from a faucet, wrap the bottle in a damp cloth and put it in a current of in a damp cloth and put it in a current of air. This method will keep the milk a few degrees cooler than if left simply in the air. The use of ice, however, is always preferable. If there is no refrigerator in the house an inexpensive ice-box for keeping milk cool in summer can easily be made by putting about two inches of sawdust or excelsior in the bottom of a small wooden box about eighteen inches long, tweive inches wide, and fourteen inches deep. Into this set a covered far or tin bucket about eight inches in diameter and tall enough to hold a small milk bottle. A stone far is better than a tin pail, as it will not rust nor grow leaky. Pack sawdust around the bottle. Put a cover on the pail or far. Lay several thicknesses of newspaper on top of the pail and close the lid of the wooden case. lid of the wooden case.

Milk drawn from faucets is not as safe as that delivered in clean bottles. Milk dipped from a can, either on the street, or in store or resturant, is dangerous-especially for children and invalids who are unable to withstand the bacteria. The air of the street, the home, or the store, may be laden with dust and germs. Filthy conditions may prevail, or the milk may be handled carelessly.

Talk of germs and bacteria may have become a fad with some people, and the ignorant may hoot at the suggestion of so much precaution against invisible things: but, when the life of a man's child, or his neighbor's child, is at stake, he and his family cannot be too careful in dietary matters even of the simplest nature.

who had made a specially good speech, and inquired, "How in the world can a man, whose daily business is to speak in a conversational tone and to one customer at a time, acquire the ability to think coherently and to express himself so well before a large audience?"

The merchant replied, "I learned to think on my feet when I was a boy, and I haven't quite forgot the knack."

There is a suggestion, here, to every young man in Georgia. It matters not what trade or profession a man may enter, there are times when some member of that trade or profession will be called upon to enlighten, to persuade, or to entertain his fellows. Fortunate is the man who can respond.

Men who cannot speak in public are not usually elected to preside over medical associations, farmers' unions, and trade councils. To be sure there are many useful and valuable thinkers, in all walks of life, who would be frightened almost to death if they had to recite Mary's Lamb before an audience of school children; but those same valuable, silent citizens would urge every young man to learn to speak in public-and to learn it while they are young.

President Woodrow Wilson, when he was plain, nine-year-old "Tommie" Wilson, of Augusta, Georgia, organized a debating society among his playfellows. He continued to practice public speaking all through his young manhood-in school, in college, and university. When he entered a school, he at once joined the debating or literary society. If there was no such society in the school, he immediately organized one. Nenry Grady, by the eloquence of his tongue. did more to reconcile north and south than any other man had done, or has done. Not every Georgia boy can be a Grady or a Wilson, but they can all learn to think on their feet, and to be leaders and helpers of their fellowmen by the power of oratory.

(From The Jasper Progress.) For several weeks the people in the vicinity of Sharp mountain have been terribly excited over the report that a black bear had been seen prowling around. We understand that a few hogs and sheep have disappeared lately and their disappearance has been laid upon the bear. A few of "Jasper's braves" went forth early last Friday morning with dogs, shotguns, rifles, pistols, clubs, ropes, etc., to kill or catch the bear. After a half day's hunt the warriors returned with the report that they didn't see anything that looked like a bear to them.

Another Bear Story.

(From The Statesboro Star.) Stories of wild and ferocious animals are coming into the city from the direction of Mill Creek. One day last week, Murat Mikell saw a large black animal with a stump tail in the creek swamp, near his father's home, about three miles from town A few days before the same animal was the Sand Hill bridge by a son seen near of Amos Hart. It is generally believed to be what is known as a hog bear. Reports coming from further down the creek are to the effect that a long spotted animal resembling a tiger has been seen. A hunting party was being formed to go out and make a search, but we have not heard of what success they had.

Forty Acres of Fine Corn.

(From The Oglethorpe Echo.) Those who have seen it are telling of a forty-acre field of corn that A. J. Gillen has near Maxeys; and many are going to see it just to see the sight it presents. All declare that seldom if ever was such corn grown on upland in Georgia. Estimates of what the field will produce range from 50 to 100 bushels per acre for the entire field. Even the lowest estimate would make it a remarkable crop. There are doubtless brag patches and prize acres made to produce that amount, but a forty-acre field, with such a yield for every acre of it, is something to think about. Mr. Gillen planted, fertilized and worked the field according to ideas of his own, and we are going to get him to tell the farmers of this section about it when he gathers the crop and knows just how much he gets from it

For Health, a Walk.

(From The Kansas City Star.) In the warm weather, when exercise in the heat of the day seems a burden, try walking early in the morning and again late in the evening.

Be energetic and get up before breakfast Be energetic and get up before breakfast in earnest. Don't try to walk, before you have eaten, but eat something light and satisfying and start forth on a morning con-stitutional. You can get home again before the heat of the day has really set in. If you find the morning walk impossible, try the evening walk. Start out after the sun has gone down, either before a late din-ner or after en early one, and walk in the Charlotte, N. C., August 17 .- Robert T. Baker, of Washington, D. C., spent the night in this city having in charge the body of Mrs. Nance, who was killed by her husband at Hamlet Friday night. The body was being taken to Knoxville, Tenn., former home of the deceased for interment. Before her marriage to Nance the woman was a Miss Nail, a member of a prominent family of Tennessee. It is reported that Nance had attempted to draw mones from the bang belonging to his wife, and this is supposed to be the motive for his taking her life. Mr. Baker denied the report from Green-ville, S. C., that Nance had ever been insane or charged with insanity, or that he had ever been confined in a sanitarium.

Have you ever started out to do some shopping, and spent about four times as much time as you thought it would take and wound up disgusted, disgruntled and dissatisfied?

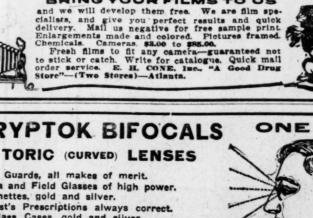

Of course you have. We all have done it. In the end we wake up to the fact that we have consumed a lot of time, energy and money to obtain a far from satisfactory result. And all because we were operating without a rudder, so to speak. We were not informed as to just what we wanted nor where to get it quickly and conveniently.

A little careful study of our newspaper advertising would have prepared us if we had taken the pains to inform ourselves.

Try it the next time you start out on a shopping expedition. The result will gratify you tremendously.

A Record-Breaker.

WALTER JOHNSON may equal or break Joe Wood's pitching record of 1912, desnive the apparent impossi-bility. The smokeball artist has won 26 games and lost but 5. He com-piled eleven straight wins the early part of the senson, and has just es-tablished a league season record with 12 straight. Wood won 34 and lost 5 Inst season. Can Johnson win eight more straight without losing? That's the important question before the base-hall public right now. By so doing he will establish the world's mark, but he will establish the world's record for consecutive wins, which is 19.

Tauni Efficiency.

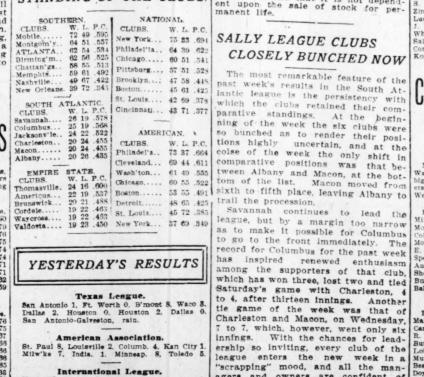

WHEN everybody was throwing rushions at Ponce de Leon Friday afternoon, the police, with their usual "efficiency." swooped down on a couple of boys and gave them a ride to the station house. That's just in keeping with the "efficient" handling of all such delicate situations. There must have been 1.500 cushions thrown, and nine-tenths of them by grown men. Yet the officers who did the arresting. Crotter and Pittman, signal out a couple of boys to pull the arresting for stuff. Fine Eusiness. They ought to have a medal.

Effect of Act of 1885.

Immediately after the approval of the act of 1885 the judge of the Stone Mountain circuit commenced to aid in Mountain circuit commenced to aid in the disposition of the business of the Atlanta circuit, and by direction of the presiding judge of the Atlanta circuit was assigned to the criminal division of the superior court of Ful-ton county (the Atlanta circuit being composed only of the county of Ful-ton) and has continued to do so up to the present time.

the present time. In 1906 the general assembly recog-nized this status by providing that an additional salary might be paid from the county funds to the judge of the Stone Mountain circuit, not exceeding two thousand dollars per annum, while presiding in this circuit (the provisions of which act were subse-quently re-enacted after the constitution was amended so as to make certain the right of counties to pay such additional salaries), and in pur-suance of this act the board of county commissioners shortly afterward passed a resolution providing for the payment of this additional salary and has continued to pay it up to this time.

Status Not Changed.

The act passed by the general as-sembly at this session is almost iden-tical in its verblage with the previous act providing for the third judge of the superior court of the Atlanta circuit, and neither in terms nor by implication does it repeal the act of 1885, as amended by the act of 1887, creating the Stone Mountain circuit and providing that the judge of that circuit might aid in the disposition of the business of the Atlanta circuit, so that that law is still of force and the enactment of the bill providing for a fourth judge of the Atlanta circuit in no wise affects it. AUTO MEN BUSY SOON FOR BEST-YET SHOW

Many Dealers Working to Have 1914 Models Here-Autodrome Success Is Guaranteed.

The Atlanta Automobile and Accessories 'association is "cranking up" for the 1913 automobile show-the biggest and best yet. The first steps to this end were taken last week when a committee from the association was appointed to get things started. That committee will meet next Wednesday, after which Atlanta will know something definite.

In the meantime the show-bee in busily buzzing in the bonnet of every dealer in town. Most of them have already communicated with their fac-tories relative to obtaining the new 1914 models for exhibition

Right here it may be said, that this ear's show bids fair to be outdone by none in the number and variety of its exhibits. Last year's show was a revelation, but already the association is assured of full line exhibits from many concerns who were not repre-sented at the Auditorium last year. Some of the new exhibits will be the Paige-Detroit cars, Selden pleas-ure cars and Selden trucks, exhibited by the Standard Auto company. Mr. Mahoney, southern branch manager of the Cartercar company, will exhibit the Cartercar company, will exhibit a complete line of the 1914 models of the well known friction-drive Carter-car. The Firestone-Columbus ponj pany will show their Ohio electrics. These new exhibits are already asured, and are but a few of the new ones that may be expected. Incidentally, some of the fastest "boats" in the country may be expect-ed to be on hand. Jack Prince's motor-drome, and the proposed Atlanta Autorome have so nourished the speed frome have so nourished the speed bug in Atlanta that he has grown to be quite a lusty beetle, and the in-terest in fast moving motor vehicles here will demand these exhibits. Speaking of the autodrome, calls for more talk. Wylle West said yesterday that the stock of the Atlanta Auto-drome company is going even faster than had been expected, and that there is not the slightest doubt but that the big track out on Collier road is now a sure thing. He expects that. now a sure thing. He expects that, work of construction will begin in about two weeks. Some of the speedlest drivers in the world are already clamoring for a chance to break recrds on the new Atlanta track.

But the show, aside from affording an opportunity for the whole south to get first crack at the 1914 models, the business men of the town say that the show of last year was such a business ooster that they cannot afford to let booster that they cannot afford to let the automobile men lie down this year. Not that there is any inclination on the part of dealers to do that thing, for it was as big a business booster to them as to anyone else! It is a fact that three or four new agencies were established in Atlanta absolutely on the strength of last year's show, and that some of the already established agencies were able to get the southern agencies were able to get the southern headquarters of their company for At-lanta. That's just a sample of the business-getting powers of a first-class show! Wylie West, vice president of the aser behind the throne when it comes to the automobile show, said yester-en for by Tuesday night, the entire affair will be called off, and the four upper floors of the building at Pryor and Auburn will be used for offices. Tuesday at 1 o'clock in the Hotel Ansley a luncheon will be held and every manufacturer in the city is being urged to be present. It is hoped that the remaining space will be taken at this time.

Speaking of the present situation, W. H. Leahy, who is engineering the exhibit for the chamber, said:

"A large number of manufacturers have signed for space, but we need more. If Atlanta has this exhibit, it must pay for itself. As the committee in charge has planned it, it will be the most magnificent manufacturers' exhibit in the south, and will compare favorably with any in the entire country.

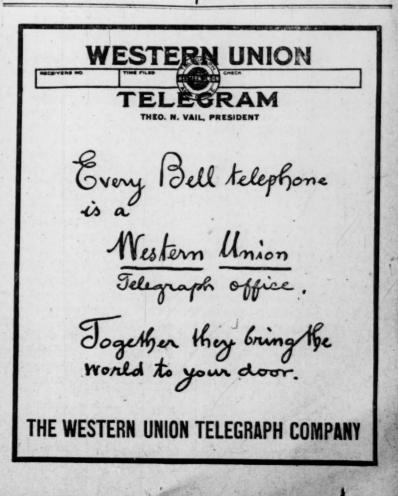

"It is planned to place homogeneous exhibits together, so as to make the exhibit a thing pleasing to the eye. A competent man will be in charge o attend to the visitors, and any manufacturer's representative can be summoned in ten or fifteen minutes by A number of the manufacphone. turers have announced their intention of keeping a representative of their own on the ground all the day.

"We are making an effort to get as many different manufacturers lined up as possible. In this manner, when a merchant comes to the city, he can go straight to the manufacturers' ex hibit and make up a car load of different goods within a few hours and return home by nightfall.

Washington Waits on Huerta.

Washington, August 17 .- The Mexican situation continued apparently un-changed today, with President Wilson and Secretary Bryan awaiting the liminary note delivered by President Wilson's personal representative, John Lind. to Mexican Foreign Minister Gamboa, outlining the position of the United States.

• Mr. Bryan let it be known that he expected no reply for a day or two. The fact that Envoy Lind had estab-lished relations with the Huerta gov-ernment through Minister Gamboa, following reported declarations which almost threatened deportation of Presi-dent Wilson's personal representative dent Wilson's personal representative, leads officials here to take a more hopeful view of the situation.

Representatives of the constitution, alists here are watching developments with keenest interest. If Huerta is disposed to accept that part of the American proposal looking to elec-tions, that element may come into these negotiations.

As the Mexican constitution prohibits the holding of a general election during a period of insurrection, to comply with President Wilson's desire a free and fair election, something to be depended upon. would be done to induce the constitutionalists to consent to a truce. So far, it is stated officially, the administration here has had no communication directly with the constitutionalists.

14, 1912, and secured $92,000 from the Southern Express safe, was captured at 4:45 o'clock this morning, seven miles from Carbon Hill, in the west-ern part of Alabama. The arrest was made by a party of Birmingham detectives. Ennis was brought to Birmingham and lodged in jall here. He refused to make any statement, contending himself with a general denial of the charges against him.

The robbery in connection with which Ennis was arrested occurred near Hat-tlesburg, Miss.

POLICE SAY LEAMON

On the report of a negro that he had purchased a quantity of cocaine from J. R. Leamon, a white man living at 141 1-2 Decatur street, the latter was arrested Sunday night by Officers Knight and Ford, who declare they found several small boxes of the drug on his person, and a number of empty boxes in his room. Leamon denies the sale, stating that he is an habitual user of cocaine and that the negro asked him to sell a small box to him. He refused, he further states, but gave it to the negro for nothing. He will be tried in the recorder's court this morning on a charge of violating the cocaine ordinance.

Gindy Chappelle, a negro woman, of 77 Rawson street, was run down by found that her injuries are so serious that she will probably die. Mullin was arrested and will be arraigned this morning before Recorder Pro Tem. Preston on a charge of reckless driving. He gave his occu-pation of that of machinest, and his residence as the Williams house on Marietta street.

voted to corn and doubling the yleid per acre. But what we need to do, and it is rot only to reduce the area in corn but increase its per acre yleid, and at the same time give more attention to the culture of oats as a stock food crop. I have played on this string for fifty years. I have sown oats in season and out of season, fall, winter and spring. The only two obstacles in the way-rust and winter-killing-have been surmounted and there is now no reason under the sun why oats should not be given as important and prominent a place on southern farms as has been so long occupied by corn. Oats are a better food for work animals, not so inkely to produce dis-tening, not so likely to produce dis-ease as is corn. I claim that oats are a more reliable crop than corn, that it costs less to produce a given weight of clean oats than it does of corn. Oats sown in the fall, in open fur-rows and generously fertilized, are better adapted for our thin solls than is corn. Oats are very much less liable to suffer from drouth, are lit-tie subject to insect enemies and fun-gous diseases. We ought to put in as large an area in oats as in corn, or cotton, or any other crop. Indeed I have more than once claimed that our field crops should be understood that moderate areas in wheat should cover part of the small grain area are favorable for wheat. Every cot-ton istate, except Florida, could easily grow enough wheat in its most favor-ed wheat section to supply the home consumption. Date of the adyantages of an oat crop (and small grain generally) is ed wheat sector to the provide a consumption. One of the advantages of an oat crop (and small grain generally) is not often more than mentioned, viz., the fact that the harvest may be at once followed by a cowpea crop, or even by corn, or cotton, the same season. season.

Building Lots 40x120 feet, in a good section, where improvements are being made every day, for $200, sounds ridiculous-but it isn't.

On Wylie street, between the Georgia Railroad Roundhouse and Moreland avenue, just a few blocks from DeKalb avenue, we have had placed with us a tract of land that has been subdivided into good building lots, ranging in price from $200 to $400 each. When lots can be bought for $200 on the terms that we can give you, there is no excuse in the world for not having a home.

Corn is a great crop-surely it is, but it is not the best grain for work animals and growing young live stock. It is distinctively a fattening food and should be relied on largely to finish off the millions of hogs that we do not raise and the fattening cat-tile upon a thousand hills to say noth-ing of the corn pone and grits and hoccakes and lye hominy, of which we southern folks are so fond.
