

FRANK'S FATE WILL BE IN HANDS OF JURY THIS AFTERNOON

CLAYTON REFUSES WHEN SPEER ASKS COPY OF CHARGES

Georgia Judge Is Promised Fair and Courteous Treatment at Hands of Committee, However.

DELEGATION ARRIVES AT NO CONCLUSION

In Communication to Chairman Clayton, of Judiciary Committee, Judge Speer Defends Official Record.

By John Corrigan, Jr. Washington, August 22.—(Special.)—Representative Henry D. Clayton, of Alabama, chairman of the Judiciary committee of the house, which is investigating the report of Judge Emory Speer made by the department of justice examiners, today received a letter from Judge Speer asking for a copy of these reports.

Representative Clayton declined to meet this request, but said the matter would be laid before the committee at its meeting next Monday. "I may say now for the committee," continued Mr. Clayton's letter, "that you shall have that fair and courteous treatment at the hands of the committee to which your high public duties you should be deemed essential or proper for you to be present at any investigation you will be advised in ample time."

"I do not feel authorized in saying the committee will furnish you with a copy of the report made by the examiners. The committee has not gone far enough with its reading of the report to determine upon what course of action shall be pursued. Following the meeting on Monday I shall make further answer to your letter."

Members of the Georgia delegation had another conference today on the Speer case, but reached no conclusion as to what action they should take.

SPEER DEFENDS RECORD AND ASKS FOR HEARING

At Montgomery, Ala., August 22.—(Special.)—Judge Emory Speer has sent the following letter to Hon. Henry D. Clayton, chairman of the house Judiciary committee, which has under consideration the charges preferred against Judge Speer through the medium of the department of justice.

Mount Airy, Ga., August 21, 1913. Hon. Henry D. Clayton, Chairman House Judiciary Committee, Washington, D. C. My Dear Mr. Clayton: I gather from the afternoon papers yesterday that your committee has under consideration a certain report relative to myself made either by the attorney general or R. Colton Lewis, an examiner of the department of justice. If, in your judgment, or that of the committee, my personal or judicial honor is injuriously affected by that report, I respectfully ask a hearing by the committee at a time when it is possible for me to appear. That is unhappily impossible at present. I am a hay fever sufferer. The malady attacks me on or about the 21st of August, with unvarying severity and in a short time it would seriously endanger my health and possibly my life. I can show this by the most competent physicians. I therefore beg a hearing if you deem it necessary at a time when I have been so relieved of this affliction that it will be safe for me to appear before the committee. To this end and in order that I may make my defense in limine, I respectfully ask for a copy of the accusation against me. At present I am uninformed save by rumor, and the ex-parte statements of officers and others with whom the examiner has sought interviews.

At this time I ask permission to submit the statement following: If the substance of the alleged report of the attorney general, sent out from Washington the afternoon papers of yesterday is not inaccurate, it is true that my son-in-law, Mr. Hay-

BRYAN GIVES AID IN CURRENCY FIGHT

Lines Up With Underwood and Turns Tide in Caucus in Favor of Administration Bill.

By John Corrigan, Jr. Washington, August 22.—(Special.)—Secretary of State Bryan today lined up with Representative Oscar W. Underwood in favor of the administration currency bill, and against Representative Henry D. Clayton, a long-time Bryan supporter, who is now leading the radical democratic opposition to the measure.

In giving this eleventh hour support, Mr. Bryan turned the tide in the House Democratic caucus in favor of the administration bill. He further evoked up honors with Mr. Underwood with whom he had a controversy over free wool two years ago that has become famous in democratic tariff history. Mr. Underwood, against his better judgment, yielded last spring to Mr. Bryan on free wool and sugar, which were put in the pending tariff bill.

The currency fight today was over the Henry amendment to prevent interlocking directorates on national banks. Mr. Underwood wanted this amendment referred to the Judiciary committee for consideration in connection with anti-trust legislation, as provided for in the Baltimore platform of 1912.

Representative Hardwick, of Georgia, sought to table Mr. Underwood's motion and failed by a vote of 60 to 143, and the Underwood motion was then passed, 122 to 49.

Secretary Bryan, in a letter addressed to Chairman Glass of the currency committee, approved the bill as it stands, declaring President Wilson had recognized fundamental rights of popular control in its provisions. He asserted that the plank of the democratic platform against interlocking directorates was aimed chiefly at trusts, and he urged democrats to "stand by the president" and not to load down the currency bill with any amendments which might endanger its early passage.

Fertilized with the backing of one of the makers of the Baltimore platform, Representatives Glass and Underwood met the demand for an amendment to prohibit interlocking directorates with a counter proposal, that the democratic of the house take up general legislation against interlocking directorates at the next session.

A resolution by Representative Underwood, adopted by a vote of 159 to 89, returned the entire subject to the democratic members of the Judiciary committee on the house and directed them to bring in a bill at the next session of congress to prevent interlocking directorates of all kinds.

Final Victory Assured. Administration leaders tonight said the large vote that supported the Underwood motion and the hearty approval that greeted Secretary Bryan's endorsement of the bill, assured the approval of the complete Glass bill with but little change. There remain several important amendments to be considered, but it was declared that the only important modification would be a change to make it clear that agricultural paper will be given the same credit as commercial or industrial paper.

The amendment over which the fight waged throughout the day had been offered by Representative Neely, of Kansas, one of the so-called "insurgent" members of the banking and currency committee. It was not until near the close of the session that Chairman Glass, after declaring that an amendment incorporated in the bill, brought forth the Bryan letter. He also produced a letter addressed to him by Samuel Untermyer, who was counsel for the Pulo money trust committee, saying he did not believe the interlocking directorate provision should be in the currency bill.

Objection members who had questioned Mr. Glass' interpretation of the president's attitude gave way before the vigorous assertions of Secretary Bryan and a vote quickly settled the question.

Advocates Such a Law. In his letter Mr. Bryan declared that for many years he had advocated a law preventing a duplicating of directorates.

"While the principle applies to banks

MAN WHO HELPED THAW TO ESCAPE MAY TURN TRAITOR

"Gentleman Roger" Thompson, Driver of Black Car, Threatens to Squel Unless Aided by Prisoner's Family.

THAW HAS QUARREL WITH HIS LAWYERS

He Insists on Talking Despite Their Warning—Declares That Matteawan Gatekeeper Is Entirely Innocent.

Sherbrooke, Quebec, August 22.—"Gentleman Roger" Thompson, the New York chauffeur held under the dominion immigration laws as having aided Harry K. Thaw, legally a lunatic, to cross the Canadian frontier, announced from his cell tonight that he was "up against it," and that if the Thaw family did not come to his rescue he would perhaps in justice to himself be forced to tell all he knows about Thaw's escape from Matteawan, and thus complicate the proceedings under which Thaw's lawyers hope to obtain his release on a writ of habeas corpus next Wednesday.

Tonight Thompson removed the smoked eyeglasses he has worn since his arrest, and openly admitted that the name "Mitchell Thompson" he had given the authorities was fictitious, and that in reality he is Roger Thompson, car salesman and daredevil chauffeur, who drove the black machine which whisked Stanford White's slayer away from Matteawan.

"Up to the Thaws," he said. "I need money and help now, and it is up to the Thaws. I was 'framed up' in getting into this case, and they ought to stand by me now. I haven't a cent, and if they admitted me to bail I couldn't raise the money. Even if I could, I would be arrested if I crossed the New York state line. It's rough stuff. The other four fellows mixed up in the game made their getaway. But I stuck to Thaw to the finish, and I'm the goat. That's pretty hard."

"What about the details of the escape?" he was asked. "Don't ask me," said Thompson. "I can't talk about that now." Thaw, in a cell above "Gentleman Roger," refused even to admit he had ever seen him. "Oh, that man," he exclaimed. "You know I can't talk about him."

Counsel has been employed for Thompson by the Thaw family, and it was through their efforts that his arraignment today as a violator of the immigration laws was postponed until Friday next. His lawyer is Louis St. Laurent, of Quebec. It was admitted by the chauffeur that "the Thaws" had retained St. Laurent, and that they expected him (Thompson) to "keep his trap shut." He added grimly that he thought they ought to do more than give him a lawyer.

"All they want," he said, "is to keep my case separate from Thaw's. I wish I hadn't mixed up in it."

Thaw Fights Lawyers. Thaw had a quarrel with his many attorneys today. They had warned him to issue no statements, but he insisted on talking about what he described as an omission on the part of newspapers in Canada and the United States in not printing in full a recent statement of his lawyers quoting William Travers Jerome as saying Thaw was sane.

"This omission has outraged the British idea of fair play," said Thaw. "They believe in a square deal." He digested as he spoke, bit his nails to the quick and rumbled up a pile of letters and telegrams on the pine table in his cell. On the window sill stood

Grant Park Children Capture Championship At Annual Field Day Exercises Held Friday

Miss Annie W. Hill, Director of the Grant Park Playground, congratulating James Wright, of Grant Park, on his victory in winning the 75-yard dash for senior boys.

In spite of the rain which threatened all day, more than 5,000 people gathered at the city playground in Grant park Friday afternoon to witness the annual field day exercises of Atlanta's school children. Over 700 children, representing every public school in the city of Atlanta, were on hand to take part in the various contests and each point was hotly contested by the wildly enthusiastic boys and girls.

The children were divided into groups from the various playgrounds in which they take their daily exercises and were under the supervision of their different park directors. They were brought to the Grant park grounds by special cars, arriving about 2 o'clock. As soon as all were assembled they were taken by their directors to the spot which each playground contingent had been allotted and were grouped in a large circle.

Cheers for Old Glory. No more impressive sight could be conceived than when more than 1,200 people, most of them small children, broke out in a mighty prolonged cheer as Frank Reynolds, vice president of the park board, assisted by M. E. Young, member of the playground commission, hoisted "Old Glory" to the tip of the flagpole, while the Fifth regiment band, which had been engaged for the occasion, played "The Star Spangled Banner."

The different events scheduled for the day were divided into four classes, those for senior boys over the age of 9, those for junior boys ranging in age from 6 to 9, those for senior girls over 9 years of age and those for junior girls aged from 6 to 9. Each contest counted 9 points to the winner, the first scoring 5 points, the contestant coming second being credited with 3 points and the third being given 1 point, all of which were credited to the playground of the winning contestants, and were totaled afterward, the playground scoring the largest number of points from all contests to be given the championship pennant of Atlanta playgrounds for the year 1913.

SECOND ACCIDENT FATAL TO PARKER

Having Just Recovered From Injuries Received in Railroad Wreck, Man Is Killed by Street Car.

After having been out of bed only a few days as a result of a railroad accident, O. A. Parker, a middle-aged man, of 789 Ashby street, was struck by a Marietta street car at Ashby and Marietta streets yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock and was rushed to the Atlanta hospital in Greenberg & Bond's ambulance, where he died at 4 o'clock.

He suffered a fractured skull, and three fractures of the right leg. He was unconscious when picked up and died without giving an account of the accident.

According to the street car authorities, Parker stepped in front of the car, and before the motorman could bring it to a standstill the car struck the man and knocked him about 10 feet. The car is said to have been traveling at a fairly good rate of speed.

So far as known, Mr. Parker has no relatives in this city. The body was taken to Greenberg & Bond's funeral chapel.

Wilson Studies Notes. President Wilson spent the day studying the notes exchanged by Lind and Huerta and preparing his message abroad. Reports from Mr. Lind declare that his relations with the Huerta officials are more cordial than before and that the Huerta officials manifest a willingness to find some new ground for a settlement.

European diplomatic pressure, it is known here, is quietly at work in Mexico City in an effort to convince Huerta officials that the policy of the United States is being approved.

The failure of the Huerta government to obtain funds in Europe through the non-recognition of the United States is pointed to by the diplomats as likely to continue, pending a more respectful consideration of the American proposals.

Huerta, Now Facing Crisis, May Reconsider Proposals

United States Will Continue to Insist on Huerta's Resignation and His Future Elimination From Mexican Politics.

Washington, August 22.—The Huerta administration in Mexico may reconsider its rejection of the American proposals to restore peace in Mexico and arrange a new basis for negotiation with the United States before next Tuesday. Strong intimations to this effect reached official Washington tonight, along with the information that the financial condition of the Huerta administration was such that a crisis was imminent.

Should the Huerta government decide to enter into a new basis of discussion, withdrawing its contentions as expressed in the Huerta note replying to the proposals communicated by Mr. Lind, President Wilson in all probability will not read his message to both houses of congress on Tuesday, as he intended.

No Move Until Tuesday. The president made no effort today to prevent the house from adjourning until Tuesday. It had been supposed that he would read the message Monday and would ask the leaders in congress to arrange a joint session. Failure to send any word to the leaders was interpreted in official circles as meaning that the United States had practically given the Huerta government until Tuesday to make up its mind finally as to what it would do.

It is positively reiterated that the United States will continue to insist upon the resignation of Provisional President Huerta, or an announcement of his intention to do so, as well as his elimination from the presidential race in the subsequent election.

DORSEY'S SPEECH ATTACKING FRANK IS HALTED FRIDAY BY ADJOURNMENT

"I Care Not for Your Good Opinion," He Told Attorneys for Defense, "For if You Put the Stamp of Your Approval Upon My Conduct of This Case, I Will Know That I Have Not Measured Up to My Duty, to My Conscience, and the State"—Says Conley Will Never Be Indicted While He Is Solicitor.

TUMULTUOUS APPLAUSE GIVEN THE SOLICITOR BY CROWD ON STREET

Luther Z. Rosser Made Final Speech for Defense in Morning, His Address Ranging From Bitterest Sarcasm and Abuse of the Negro Conley, the Detective Department, Dalton and Others, to a Sharp Criticism of the Solicitor for His Conduct of the Case.

When Solicitor Hugh Dorsey stepped from the courtroom Friday afternoon after he had completed the first half of his speech he was greeted with tumultuous applause from the crowd which had poured from the courtroom, and was waiting for a sight of the man who has waged such an uphill fight against such overpowering odds during the past four weeks.

The police had little warning of the demonstration. It was spontaneous, and as soon as it had spent itself the crowd dispersed quietly.

Frank, in the meantime, had been rushed to the Tower in an automobile which had been standing at the rear door, cranked up and in readiness to make the trip.

For two hours the crowd had been hanging on the words of the solicitor, who was making one of the most impassioned speeches of his career—a speech which sparkled with surprises as lightning sometimes plays from a clear, blue sky. There was no chance for applause in the courtroom. The crowd had been warned that any demonstration would mean the elec-

GIRL'S SHOCKING STORY SENDS FARMERS TO JAIL

Alleged "White Slavery" Case Stirs North Georgia—Girl Only 14 Years Old.

Rome, Ga., August 22.—(Special.)—News reached Rome this afternoon of a shocking case of alleged white slavery, which has caused the arrest of George Walker and Will Walker, prominent farmers of Walker county, who are now in jail in Lafayette under indictment for kidnaping and awaiting trial in Walker superior court next week. It is alleged that they lured from her home Susie Fricks, the pretty 14-year-old daughter of James Fricks, a neighbor, took her to George Walker's home, in the absence of his wife, where she spent the night, concealed her the next day from her parents and put her on a train bound for Alabama City, Ala., where George Walker, it is said, persuaded her to return home. She had $13 in her possession, which she said George Walker had given her. She is said to be unusually attractive and intelligent. She left a note for her mother bidding good-by and stating that she was to be married at an early date and that she and her husband expected to go to Oklahoma. In her note she promised her mother to "be a good girl and say my prayers every night before I go to bed."

The parents of the little girl were alarmed at her absence and made a careful search for her, but were unable to locate her. Will Walker is accused of being an accessory. George Walker, the alleged instigator of the crime, is a married man, his wife being a daughter of T. J. Bandy, a wealthy citizen of Walker county. Solicitor General W. H. Ennis states that he expects to call the attention of the United States authorities to the matter and have Walker prosecuted under the white slave act, inasmuch as he sent the child into another state, Alabama.

The affair has caused much excitement and indignation in Walker county and it is expected that prompt action will be taken at the court term next week.

BOYS CLAIM MINISTER TOOK THEM TO RESORT

St. Louis, August 22.—Rev. J. G. Brodt, pastor of the Third United-Methodist Presbyterian church, was arrested here today on the charges of five boys ranging in age from 15 to 17 that he bought beer for them and took them to a disorderly resort. Two of the boys were taken to the office of the circuit attorney to testify against the preacher.

According to the police, the preacher confessed that he bought beer for the boys and that he accompanied them to the resort. He said that he had been inveigled into the escapade.

Rosser Makes Great Speech for the Defense; Scores Detectives and Criticizes the Solicitor

In a quiet and yet concentrated tone Attorney Luther Rosser Friday morning at 9 o'clock made the final plea of the defense for the life of Leo Frank.

The beginning of the speech was impressive, it was almost whispered at times, but the voice that delivered it rose above the buzz of ozoanators and electric fans and seemed to carry a holy message about it. The life of a man was at stake and the message, pleading for his life, was opened almost as a prayer—the subject being duty.

Later on Mr. Rosser was more vigorous in his methods; he branched from the quiet, even tones, and dealt with the ugly features of the case, he told a joke so ripe that probably no other lawyer in the state would have told it in plain words of plain facts.

"Gentlemen of the jury, all things come to an end," he began in a quiet voice, he leaned over the railing of the jury box and seemed not to address one, but all of the jurors.

"With the end of this case has almost come the end of the speakers and but for that masterly effort of my brother, Arnold, I almost wish it had ended with no speaking. My condition is such that I can say but little; my voice is husky and my throat almost gone.

"But for my interest in this case and my profound conviction of the innocence of this man, I would not undertake to speak at all.

"I want to repeat what my friend, Arnold, said so simply. He said this jury is no mob. The attitude of the jurors' mind is not that of the mind of the man who carelessly walks the streets. My friend, Hooper, must have brought that doctrine with him when he came to Atlanta.

"We walk the street carelessly and we meet our friends and do not recognize them; we are too much absorbed in our own interests. Our minds wander in flights of fancy or in fits of reverence; we may mean no harm to ourselves, nor to our friends, but we are careless. No oath binds us when we walk the streets.

"I believe in the divine power of regeneration; I believe that you can reform; that there's always time to turn back and do right, but there's one kind of man whom I don't believe can ever reform. Once a thief, always a thief.

"Our Master knew it; He recognized the qualities of a thief. You remember when they crucified Him and He hung on the cross there on the hill, He had a thief hanging beside Him and He said to that thief, 'This day thou shalt be with Me in Paradise.'

"He didn't dare say 'tomorrow'; He knew He'd better say 'today,' because by tomorrow that thief would be stealing again in Jerusalem.

"Dalton is a disgrace to his race. He is a thief and he is worse. If he can be, and yet he joined the church. He joined the church and he's now a decent, believable man. Well, you remember how brazenly he sat here on the stand and bragged of his 'pious' how indignantly he bragged of his fall; how he gloated over his vice.

"He was asked if he ever went to that miserable, dirty factory basement with a woman for immoral purposes and he was proud to say that he had. 'Yes, men, it was the first time Dalton had been in the basement; it was the first time decent, respectable white men and women had listened to him with respect, let alone attention.'

"When he was asked about that, if he was guilty, if he had fallen, he might have hung his head in shame, as any decent, respectable man would have done, but instead, he bragged and boasted of it.

"When Conley was asked what sort of a woman Frank had he brazenly said that he himself had such a peep there that he could not take his eyes off her to look at Frank's woman.

"All you have seen Dalton's peep; you all have seen Daisy.

"Conley's story different. 'Conley tells a different story. He no cruelty, but as men purged by an oath from the careless people of the streets. You are to decide from the evidence, with no fear of a hostile mob and no thought of favor to anyone.

"What suggestion comes into a man's mind when he thinks of a crime like this? And what crime could be more horrible than this one? What punishment too great for the brute in human form who committed it and who excited this community to a high pitch?"

Mr. Rosser then launched forth into a description of the horrible crime perpetrated in the factory basement and of the sweet young girl.

"He was still talking in the quiet, clear tones he started out with.

"Since 1908 the National Pencil factory has employed hundreds of girls—many women and also of men, and not all of the girls and women, not all of the men have been perfect," he continued, "but you can find good men and women in all strata of life, and yet the detectives, working with microscopes and with the aid of my friend, Dorsey, excited almost beyond peradventure, found only two to swear against Frank."

"Heard Dalton and Conley. 'They found Dalton and they found Conley. Well, I'll take up Conley at a more fitting time, but Dalton, who is Dalton?'

"God Almighty writes on a man's face and he don't always write a pretty hand, but he writes a legible one. When you see Dalton you put your hand on your pocketbook.

"When Dalton took the stand Mr. Arnold and I had never had the pleasure of seeing his sweet countenance before, but Mr. Arnold leaned over and whispered in my ear, 'There's a thief if there ever was one.'

"I smelt about him the odor of the chingang and I began to feel him out. I asked him if he had ever been away from home for any length of time, and he knew at once what I meant and he began to dodge and to wriggle, and before he left the stand I was sure he was a thief.

"Dalton was on, three times in Walton county and then in another county where he probably went to escape further trouble in Walton, he got into trouble again. It wasn't just the going wrong of a young man who falls once and tries to get over it, but it was the steady thievery of a man at heart."

"Of course, Dalton comes here to Atlanta and reforms. Yes, he joined a Godly congregation and persuaded them that he had quit his evil ways. That's an old before of thieves and they use it to help their trade along.

"I believe in the divine power of regeneration; I believe that you can reform; that there's always time to turn back and do right, but there's one kind of man whom I don't believe can ever reform. Once a thief, always a thief.

"Our Master knew it; He recognized the qualities of a thief. You remember when they crucified Him and He hung on the cross there on the hill, He had a thief hanging beside Him and He said to that thief, 'This day thou shalt be with Me in Paradise.'

"He didn't dare say 'tomorrow'; He knew He'd better say 'today,' because by tomorrow that thief would be stealing again in Jerusalem.

mitted and that when she got up here and looked through the heated atmosphere of this trial she did not see the real truth?"

"And Miss Maggie Griffin, she was there two months. I wonder what she could know about Frank in that time."

"There was Miss Dunnagin and Miss Johnson and another girl there about two months, and Nellie Potts, who worked there at all, and Mary Wallace, there three days, and Estelle Wallace, there a week and Carrie Smith, who like Miss Cato worked there three years.

"These are the only ones in the hundreds who have worked there since 1908 who will say that Frank has a bad character. Why you could find more people to say that the Bishop of Atlanta, I believe, had a bad character than have been brought against Frank."

"Well, you noticed they were not able to get any men to come from the factory and swear against Frank. Men are harder to wheedle than are little girls.

"Does anybody doubt that if that factory had been the bed of vice that checked, but it's not so now. It is a factory where the long-legged Gantt boys are shown of it? They had Gantt on the stand twice, and well, you know Gantt was discharged from the factory, of course you weren't told why in plain words, but you all know why. Well, Frank is not liked by Gantt and Gantt would have loved to tell something against his former employer, but he couldn't."

"Sums Up Character Charges. 'If they have any further suspicions against this man, they haven't given them, either because they are afraid or because they are too stupid. If they have such suspicions, they are doing you a worse injustice.'

"What are these suspicions that he advanced thus far? 'The fact that she saw Frank in the factory, how to work. Dorsey reached for it on the instant, scenting something improper as is quite characteristic of him. But Miss Robinson it. There's nothing in it, absolutely nothing.'

"Then they say he called her 'Mary.' Well what about it? What if he never been my mother-in-law, two months ago, can you recall right now whether you called me Luther or Rosser?"

"The next is Willie Turner—poor little Willie! I have nothing against Willie. He seems to be a right kind of a boy. But just think of the methods the detectives used against him, and think of the way they treated him on the witness stand. He says—Willie does—that he saw Frank reach to Mary Phagan in the metal room. What does it show if he did see such a scene?"

"I can't see for the life of me where it indicates any sign of lascivious lust.

"Does what Willie Turner saw, taking for granted he saw it, show that Frank was planning to ruin the life of Mary Phagan? Does it uphold this plot my friend Hooper had so much to say about?"

"Turner did see such a thing, there's one fact that takes the sting out of it. He saw it in a broad daylight. Frank was with the little girl right in front of Lemmie Quinn's office in an open factory where there were a quitting them and getting ready to go home to dinner.

"It wasn't so, though, and Frank never made any improper advances to this little girl. Let me tell you why. Mary Phagan was a good girl, as pure as God makes 'em, and as innocent. She was all that, and more. But, she would have known a lascivious advance or an ogling eye the minute she saw it, and the minute this would have been a move to her, she would have fled instantly to home to tell this good father and mother of hers.

"Then next, they bring Hallie Hewell, who says she saw Frank with his hand on Mary's shoulder. That's all right, but there is Grace Hix and Helen Ferguson and Magnolia Kennedy who contradict her and say Frank never knew Mary Phagan. You can say all you please about such as that, but there's one fact that stands out indisputable. If that little girl had ever received mistreatment at the factory, no deer would have bounded more quickly from the brush at the bay of dogs than she would have fled home to tell her father and mother.

"Now, my friend from the Wiregrass says Gantt was a victim of his plot by Frank against Mary Phagan. I don't doubt that this plot has been framed in the hearing of every detective in the sound of my voice. Hooper says Frank plotted to get the girl there on the Saturday she was killed—says he plotted with Jim Conley. Jim says Frank told him at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon to return on the next morning. How could Frank have known she was coming back Saturday? He couldn't have known. He's no seer, no mind-reader, although he's a mighty bright man.

"It is true that some of the pay envelopes were left over on Friday, but he didn't know whose they were. Helen Ferguson says that on Friday she asked for Mary Phagan's pay and that living who can consort with crooks and criminals and felons, scheme with them, mingle with them and spy on the homes of good people and bad who can then exalt his character as a result. He absorbs some of the atmosphere and the traits. It is logical that he should. But, even at that they've got some good men in the detective and police department.

"Old man Sig Montag said hire a detective and Frank hired the Pinkertons. Scott came and took Frank's statement and said: 'We work in co-operation with the city police department.'

"Now, isn't that a horrible situation—going hand in glove with the police department? But, it's a fact. Just as soon as Scott left Frank, he Black, to the nasty, smelly basement of the pencil factory.

"What did that mean? 'It meant a complete line-up with the police. It meant if the police turn you loose, I turn you loose. If the police hang you, I hang you!'

"Gentlemen, take a look at this spectacle. If you can.

"Here is a Jewish boy from the north. He is unacquainted with the south. He came here alone and without friends and he stood alone. This murder happened in his place of business. He told the Pinkertons to find the man, trusting to them entirely, no matter where what they found might strike. He is defenseless and helpless. He knows his innocence and is willing to find the murderer.

"They try to place the murder on him. God all merciful and all powerful, look upon a Jew like this! 'Anything else? Yes. Look at this. 'The Time Slip Incident. 'I do not believe my friend who preceded me intended to do this.

"I refer to the incident about the time slip. I have to use harsh words here, but I don't want to. This seems to me the most unkindest out of all. They say that that time slip was planted. They say the shirt was 'Gentlemen, is there any evidence of this? Let's come about this statement. 'Black and somebody else, I believe, went out to Newt's house on Tuesday morning and found the shirt planted.

"In the bottom of a barrel. The police station and Newt said the shirt was his."

"Dorsey objected to this, claiming that the evidence was not that Newt said the shirt was his. 'Oh, well,' continued Rosser, 'it is the evidence, but we'll take his view of it. He says that it looked like Newt's shirt. Newt Lee had been hired at the factory but three weeks, yet they want you to believe that they found a shirt like the old man had and went out to his house and put it in a barrel.

"One thing is wrong. The newspapers and others, I am afraid, think this is a contest between lawyers. It is not. God forbid that I should let any such thing enter into this case when the boy's life is at stake.

"Things Hard to Understand. 'There are several things I don't understand about this case, and never will. 'Why old man Lee didn't find the body sooner; why he found it lying on its face; how he saw it from a place he could not have seen it from.

"I was raised with niggers and know something about them. I do not know them as well as the police, perhaps, for they know them like no one else. But I know something about them.

"There must have been a nigger in the crime who knew about it before Newt or anyone else. I am afraid Newt knew. Yet, if he did, he is one of the most remarkable niggers I ever saw and I wish I had his nerve. There were things you did to him (referring to the detectives) for which you will never be forgiven. You persecuted the old nigger and all you got was 'Fo' God I don't know.'

"I don't believe he killed her, but I believe he knows more than he told. 'The first things he said was about Gantt. He knew Gantt and believed he was there to do him dirt.

"Why Frank jumped. 'But they say now that he jumped back. Suppose he did jump back. Look at the boy (referring to Frank). If you put a girl the size of Mary Phagan in a room with him she could make him jump out of the window.'

"Here Rosser entered into a long eulogy on Frank and the Jewish people. Then he continued: 'Suddenly this boy stepped out in front of this giant of a Gantt, and he jumped back. Dorsey would have done the same thing; Newt Lee would; Jim Conley would, and I would, as big as I am.

"There is another suspicious thing; Newt Lee came to the factory at 4 o'clock, and Frank sent the old man away. It was suggested that he was afraid the nigger would find the body, yet when he came back at 6, Frank let him stay at the factory when he knew that in 30 minutes if Newt was on the job he must go into the basement where they say Frank knew the body was.

"They say he was laughing at his 'The Daylight Corner'.

home. If he had known of the crime of which he would be accused, that laugh would have been the laugh of a maniac to be ended by the discovery of the body.

"Another suspicious thing. You know that he was in the factory, but it turns out that he was not the only one. If the corpse was found in the basement and he was the only one in the building, then there might be some basis. But he was in an open room and there were workmen upstairs.

"My little friend tried to dispute that. That wasn't all. Conley was also there, and it came out yesterday that there was also another nigger—a lighter nigger than Conley—there. What accounts in white skin were in the building and had opportunity to commit the crime, God only knows.

"Conley of Lowest Type. 'The thing that arises in this case to fatigue my indignation is that men born of such parents should believe the statement of Conley against the statement of Frank.

"Who is Conley? Who was Conley. Continued on Page Three.

ROSSER MAKES GREAT SPEECH IN DEFENSE

as he used to be and as you have seen him? He was a dirty, filthy, black, drunken, lying nigger. Black knaves that Starnes knows that Chief Beavers knows that...

A Terrible Accusation. "Gentlemen of the jury," said Attorney Rosser slipping his nose glasses on as the jury came in from the noon recess and took their seats in the box, "Gentlemen of the jury, the charge of moral perversion against a man is a terrible thing for him, but it is even more so when that man has a wife and mother to be affected by it."

Couldn't Find Witnesses. "None of these niggers ever came up and said Conley was there and that they were with him. Starnes and Starnes could find a needle in a haystack, but the Lord only knows what he'd do in an acre—he could not find any of these niggers."

Frank Not Guilty Man. "Well, let Harris have his little theory and let him hang on to it and rub it. If he wants to, like a boy rubs his pet cat, I don't care if the little girl died in a half hour or three quarters of an hour after she ate."

He Would "Sne" or Leave Town. "I was a nigger," continued the speaker in an impressive tone, "I'd sne the epistle or I'd leave town."

Intimates Story Was Fixed Up. "They say Conley could not have made up that story. Well, the doctor made up that story. There is something queer in the whole thing, you know."

Says Detectives Cursed Conley. "Next, the learned Conley could write. Frank told them that you know. Well, I don't mean to be severe, but they took that negro and they gave him the 'third degree.' I'd hate to get the 'fourth degree.'"

Wants Only The Truth. "Gentlemen," continued Mr. Rosser, "I want only the straight truth here, and I've yet to believe that the truth has to be watered and cultivated by the detectives and by seven visits of the solicitor general. I don't believe any man, no matter what his race, ought to be tried under such testimony."

Defines an Honest Doubt. "You are not to doubt as jurors if you believe as men. Frank is the whole proposition. Such a doubt as would control your conduct in the highest duties of life is the sort of doubt I refer to."

Both Kinds of Evidence. "In this case we have both circumstantial evidence and admission. Hence, the evidence shows such a consistency that a reasonable conclusion is all that is needed."

It would be, "That's a good lesson, James; you are excused, James."

The Finishing Touches. "Was it fair to those skilled white men to train that negro by the hour and by the day and to teach him and then get a statement from him and call it the truth?"

Mr. Rosser shouted, "you and Black milked him dry, you thought you did, anyhow, but you got no moral perversion and no watching. In the university they gave a slightly different course. It was given by Professors Starnes and Campbell."

Mr. Rosser's Insinuations. "Well, Professor Dorsey had him seven times, I know that, but God alone knows how many times the detectives had him. Was it fair to take this weak, pliable negro and have these white men teach him one after another? Who knows what is the final story that Conley will tell? He added the mesh bag when he was on the stand."

They have had two of the ablest lawyers in the country on this case, and I know, too, that Herbert Haas is an able lawyer.

No Fanciful Doubt. "I know that you can get up an excuse of any kind which can be used as a doubt. But that must be outside the jury box. You must not acquit this man upon any fanciful or fanciful doubt. Your oath will not permit you to do it, and I know you will not go back on your oath."

Arnold's Remarks. "I know that you can get up an excuse of any kind which can be used as a doubt. But that must be outside the jury box. You must not acquit this man upon any fanciful or fanciful doubt. Your oath will not permit you to do it, and I know you will not go back on your oath."

The Defense Responsible. "Remember, they put it before this court and we did not, the word Jew never came out of our lips. It is the race this man comes from. It is as good as ours; his forefathers were civilized and living in cities and following laws when ours were roaming at large in the forest and eating human flesh. I say his race is just as good as ours, but no better."

The Matter of "Reasonable Doubt." "I want to read you something further on what my friend, Arnold, read you about a 'reasonable doubt' and consent to show you the question of Frank's race."

Defines an Honest Doubt. "You are not to doubt as jurors if you believe as men. Frank is the whole proposition. Such a doubt as would control your conduct in the highest duties of life is the sort of doubt I refer to."

Dorsey's Brilliant Address Attacking Leo Frank Is Stopped by Adjournment of Court Friday

Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey began at 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon the final argument in the Leo Frank case, and he told the jurors as he stated that he would not respect him if he slurred things over in order to please even them.

Both Kinds of Evidence. "In this case we have both circumstantial evidence and admission. Hence, the evidence shows such a consistency that a reasonable conclusion is all that is needed."

Arnold's Remarks. "I know that you can get up an excuse of any kind which can be used as a doubt. But that must be outside the jury box. You must not acquit this man upon any fanciful or fanciful doubt. Your oath will not permit you to do it, and I know you will not go back on your oath."

The Matter of "Reasonable Doubt." "I want to read you something further on what my friend, Arnold, read you about a 'reasonable doubt' and consent to show you the question of Frank's race."

It is not a mere possible or imaginary doubt. "This is the effective standard, because this 'reasonable doubt' phrase is indefinable in mere words. It is incapable of definition, but a comprehension of it comes from a comprehension of the facts and circumstances upon which the evidence is based."

Both Kinds of Evidence. "In this case we have both circumstantial evidence and admission. Hence, the evidence shows such a consistency that a reasonable conclusion is all that is needed."

later ever confessed to the crime of which Durrant was convicted. "Durrant a Guilty Man. "That is all poppycock he's telling you," said Dorsey. "There was never a guilty man than Durrant and never a more satisfied community than that where the verdict of guilty was rendered."

instruct the grand jury, then," said Dorsey. "Arnold also said," so continued Dorsey, "that Jim Conley had never been indicted. No! And what's more, he never will be! He is admitted accessory after the fact. You got another solicitor general to get before Conley! ANNIVERSARY CLUB WILL HAVE BANQUET TONIGHT

W. H. Burwell, Cyrus Brown, W. S. Witham and Clark Howell will address members.

Speaker W. H. Burwell, of the house of representatives, Cyrus B. Brown, assistant commissioner of insurance for the state of Alabama, W. S. Witham, the well-known financier, philanthropist and farmer, and Clark Howell will be among the speakers at the annual banquet of the Southern States Life Insurance company to be held at the Hotel Ansley tonight.

This banquet is tendered the Anniversary Club of the Southern States Life Insurance company and brings to a close the sixth convention of this unique organization.

President Wilmer L. Moore, of the Southern States Life Insurance company, will introduce the speakers and will also present to the banqueters the officers of the Anniversary club, each of whom will deliver a brief toast. These speakers will be J. C. Walden, Sr., of Alabama, president of the Anniversary club; J. R. Williams, of South Carolina, vice president, and G. J. McDowell, of North Carolina.

The opening session of this unique organization, composed of agents who have produced over $100,000 worth of paid for business in the twelve months ending June 30, was held Friday morning at the Hotel Ansley. President Moore delivered a brief address of welcome. Officers earn their office through the amount of business produced, the agent producing the most business being automatically elected president, the second largest producer, vice president, and the leader in each state, state vice president.

J. C. Walden, Sr., of Alabama, was installed as president. J. R. Williams, of South Carolina, vice president; H. Clay Smith, vice president for Alabama; Thomas Peters, Jr., vice president for Georgia; B. B. Murray, vice president for Florida and G. J. McDowell, vice president for South Carolina.

W. S. McLeod read a paper on the "New Policy," and was followed by an address of Robert F. Moore, agency secretary, who was unanimously elected secretary of the club. A luncheon was tendered at the Capital City club. In the afternoon the club attended the baseball game and the theater Friday night.

The second and concluding session will take place this morning at 10 o'clock when a number of interesting papers will be read. Among them will be that of Hervey W. Laird, assistant to President Moore and former insurance commissioner of Alabama, on "The Company's Financial Position"; J. E. McLaughlin, of Atlanta, will read a paper on "Systematic Following Up of Prospects."

The speakers on Friday were Dr. W. S. Kendrick, Samuel Barnett, Arthur E. M. Veach, Frank E. Broadnax, and then an experience meeting.

WOULDN'T LOCK HIM UP, SO HE SNATCHED PURSE FROM A LADY

Savannah, Ga., August 22.—(Special.)—Unable to resist temptation any longer, Manuel Noah, the man who requested a patrolman to arrest him a few days ago because he could not find employment and did not want to steal, is alleged to have snatched a purse containing $35 from Mrs. E. D. Rogers, at Lincoln and Huntington streets, this afternoon.

Mrs. Rogers was walking along the street with the purse swinging in her hand, a little child was holding her by the other hand. Noah approached her from the rear, grabbed the purse and fled. Colored workmen employed on a building under construction, heard the lady scream and giving chase caught Noah.

When caught Noah did not have the purse. He is said to have thrown it away while on the run. An officer summoned and placed Noah under arrest. He is now held at the barracks charged with robbery. He will be given a preliminary hearing before Recorder Schwarz tomorrow morning.

SUPERSEDEAS ASKED IN L. & N. RATE CASE

Huntsville, Ala., August 22.—Judges D. D. Shelby, of the court of appeals, and W. J. Grubb, of the United States district court, are hearing argument on the application of the Louisville and Nashville railroad for a superdeed to hold up the order of the Alabama railroad commission for a 2-1-2 cent passenger rate pending appeal to the United States supreme court.

Petition in Bankruptcy

A voluntary petition in bankruptcy has been filed with Deputy Clerk Beers, of the federal court, by Charles N. Nichols, of Atlanta. The petitioner, a millright, admits obligations amounting to $2,760 without any assets.

Maier & Berkele Silver Polish 25c, 50c and 75c. Many of the "silver polishes" on the market are mercurial in nature. While they act quickly in cleaning and polishing, the silver tarnishes directly after using. Gases of various kinds blacken silver left exposed to the air. Silver polish in high places will tarnish more quickly than if kept nearer the floor. Our silver polish restores brilliancy to gold, sterling silver, electroplate, etc. We have sold it continuously to satisfied customers for more than twenty years. Our polish is a paste, put up in round, screw-top bottles. We guarantee it to give entire satisfaction. Sold in three sizes, 25c, 50c and 75c. Delivered in city without extra charge. Write for illustrated 160-page catalogue "C."

KILLS NEGRO TO SAVE HER HUSBAND'S LIFE

Chatham County Couple Arrested as Result of Shooting at Meinhard.

Savannah, Ga., August 22.—(Special.)—In the defense of her husband, Mrs. Hattie Lucas shot and probably fatally wounded Smart Lloyd, negro, at Meinhard last night at 7 o'clock. Mrs. Lucas and her husband, B. F. Lucas, were arrested early this morning by Sheriff Merritt W. Dixon and Chief of County Police McGrath and brought to Savannah.

According to the county police, the shooting occurred while Mr. Lucas and the negro were engaged in a fight. They quarreled over $3. The negro is said to have made an attack upon Lucas. Mrs. Lucas came to the assistance of her husband with a revolver and shot the negro through the back. The bullet passed through the right side. Lloyd was brought to Savannah and placed in the Georgia infirmary.

TRAVELING SALESMAN FOR ATLANTA HOUSE ELECTED ORDINARY

Canton, Ga., August 22.—(Special.)—In an exciting election held in Cherokee county today for an ordinary to succeed Judge W. J. Webb, resigned, to accept the postmastership at Canton, Hon. J. M. Satterfield was elected by a good majority.

The other candidate was Hon. F. M. Blackwell, who was strongly supported by Judge Webb and his election was urged as an endorsement of the Webb administration.

Mr. Satterfield has been a traveling salesman for John B. Daniel, of Atlanta, and is very popular in this section of the state.

PITCHES TEN GAMES IN TWELVE DAYS, WINNING EIGHT

Boston, Ga., August 22.—(Special.)—Boston clinched the amateur championship of Thomas county here today when they took both games from the fast Coolidge team. The first was one-sided, Boston winning 9 to 1 without extra effort. The second battle was more closely contested. Boston held the advantage all the way and the result was never in doubt. Kid Stanton pitched both games for Boston, making the tenth game he has pitched in twelve days, the last eight of which were victories. Boston will meet Monticello in a series next week.

RALPH COCHRAN WILL MAKE ADDRESS TODAY

Ralph O. Cochran, candidate to succeed United States Senator Hoke Smith, will deliver a political address at Clayton, in Rabun county, Saturday afternoon. Mr. Cochran left Atlanta for Clayton Friday night.

Dr. DuBose at First Methodist.

Rev. Horace M. DuBose, D.D., pastor of the First Methodist church, and family returned to the city Friday after spending a delightful vacation in the mountains at Buchanan, W. Va. Dr. DuBose will fill his pulpit at both the morning and evening services. Everybody has a cordial invitation to attend.

THAW'S CHAUFFEUR MAY TURN TRAITOR

Whitewashed walls encompass Thaw. An iron cot stands in the cell corner. He makes his toilet at an iron sink.

M. LaForce, the jailer, said tonight that his observations indicated Thaw "had spells." "He's queer," he said, "but he has behaved fine."

Dr. Joseph E. Noel, the tall physician, who has examined Thaw daily, said this afternoon that he regarded him as sane. It was said the doctor had been watching Thaw's actions at the request of the dominion immigration authorities. Whether he submitted his finding to them formally he declined to say.

Exonerates Gatekeeper. During his varying moods today Thaw was reminded of the predicament in which his escape from Matteawan had placed Howard Barnum, the old gatekeeper, past whom he fled to freedom.

"That's too bad," said Thaw. "Barnum didn't know a thing about what I was going to do. He was a victim of circumstances. He is innocent and the charge against him should never have been made."

Thaw telegraphed instructions tonight to William Van Amee, his attorney at Newburgh, N. Y., to assist Barnum in any court procedure at Thaw's expense.

New York state officers waiting here for Thaw's release on habeas corpus and his seizure then by immigration authorities admitted tonight that they never saw to where he would be deported in that event.

"It doesn't make much difference," said Franklin Kennedy, deputy attorney general from New York. "We have arranged to hasten extradition to either Vermont or New Hampshire. We'll get him sure. It doesn't matter where they send him so long as it is across the border. Once in the United States the road to Matteawan is practically clear. We have been in negotiations with officials in every state to which there is a probability of his being sent."

Jerome to Lead Fight. Albany, N. Y., August 22.—William Travers Jerome, former district attorney of New York county, was appointed by Attorney General Carmody today a special deputy attorney general to represent the state in procuring the return of Harry K. Thaw to New York's jurisdiction. He was selected because of his familiarity with the Thaw case gained in the two murder trials and as special counsel in several of Thaw's attempts to establish his sanity.

It is not the present intention to send Mr. Jerome to Canada, but to employ his services in procuring the extradition of Thaw from any state to which he may be deported from Canada.

DORSEY'S ADDRESS ATTACKING FRANK

didn't believe that these witnesses were telling the truth. They could have brought out whether or not his character was good by specific instances from the witnesses, but mark you, this—they didn't dare to do it! They dared not to do it!

Do They Know His as Well. "You tell me of the testimony of the good people down on Washington street and at the orphan's home and Dr. Marx! Do they know his character like the little girls who worked at the pencil factory, but are no longer connected with the pencil company and under its influence?"

"The trouble has been too much ephemerality and not enough honest dealing. Do you believe that Starnes and Rosser, in whose veins flows the same blood as that of the attorney, could get little girls to come up here and say it is impossible to get a verdict if it is reached before Sunday, in which event it is possible that Judge Roan will allow it to be read on that day?"

"Not gentlemen, if you are of good character and they are of good character brought to testify that your character is bad, would you let your attorneys sit without asking for specific instances? No, I know you wouldn't. Yet three able and wise attorneys tell you that Frank's character was bad and that his character for lasciviousness, which uncontrolled and uncontrollable, led him to kill Mary Phagan, was bad, and never asked them how they knew it."

Even among their own witnesses there was a leak. Do you remember Miss Jackson? What business did this man, the lead witness, have in having gazing in at the girls? Do you mean to tell me that that's a part of his business? He had the foreladies and Darley who could do this for him, didn't he?"

What Was He Looking For. "You heard the testimony of his going into the room with the girl. It may have been that he was looking to see if the coast was clear for this very purpose when he looked upon the girls dressing."

"Oh, me! In the room with Miss Carson! The judge wouldn't let me say how long they stayed in there, but he did let me show that they went in and came out. What the judge says is law, although I do not always understand it."

"Would you say that Frank was looking for flirters then?"

"Or, maybe, this witness was just another one of Arnold's crack-brains!"

"Arnold said that he was going to ask a question of every girl who worked on the fourth floor. He didn't ask Miss Kitchens and there were others he didn't ask."

At this point the judge asked Dorsey if he had nearly completed his speech. "Your honor, my time is unlimited," said Dorsey, "and as yet I have not touched the case."

The afternoon session was then adjourned.

EVERS CONSIDERS C. WEBB MURPHY THE JINX OF CUBS

New York, August 22.—John Evers, manager of the Chicago Nationals, considers Charles Murphy, his club-owner, to be a jinx.

"That's why I left Murphy in Chicago on this trip," said Evers, "for we are anxious to finish at least second in the race. We won seven straight games in Boston and Philadelphia. We are not saying anything about the Giants, but we are going to keep on plugging until the end of the season."

MANY APPOINTMENTS AWAIT SLATON'S RETURN

When Governor Slaton returns from the west he will be confronted with a large number of appointments which will not be deferred much longer.

There will be the fourth Atlanta judgeship, which the governor is expected to announce immediately on his return.

Then there is the game commissioner, in succession to J. E. Mercer, whose term expires in October. There are a multitude of applicants for this position, and in his own self-defense the governor will be compelled to make an appointment soon after he gets back from the west.

Two members of the Western and Atlantic commission are to be appointed by the governor. It is understood that he has already selected the men for the place, but the announcement will not be made until his return.

There are also five members of the committee on the Home for Wayward Girls, two of whom shall be women, to be named.

DORSEY'S SPEECH ATTACKING FRANK

tion of the offender from the room. But once on the street—that was another question—and no one could have restrained the enthusiasm of the spectators.

Case Goes to The Jury Today. When court adjourned Friday at 5:30 o'clock Solicitor Dorsey had scarcely begun what will doubtless prove the longest speech of the Frank case. He gave the jury an intimation that his speech would be a long one, and said in explanation that it was necessary, much as he regretted the necessity. He will in all probability take all of this forenoon to conclude, and the case will scarcely reach the jury before the afternoon.

It may be that the verdict will not be reached before Sunday, in which event it is possible that Judge Roan will allow it to be read on that day.

The day was marked by the completion of a remarkable speech by Luther Rosser, who spoke for over four hours, beginning at 9 o'clock in the morning and concluding at 3:25 o'clock. It was the masterpiece of Mr. Rosser's career, and was characteristic of his peculiar style of oratory. He ranged from the bitterest sarcasm and abuse of the negro Conley, the detective department, Dalton and others to a sharp criticism of the solicitor, at times lapsing into humorous anecdote to drive home some point or painting a picture of pathos that caused tears to well in the eyes of all. He paid a splendid tribute to the jury—a tribute which justly deserves to be called a classic. His satire at the expense of the Atlanta detective department was a gem in its way and brought mirth to the very men he was poking fun at.

There was not a point in the whole case on which he did not touch, and when he had concluded he fixed the guilt of Mary Phagan's murder on Jim Conley. Different altogether from the wonderful legal exposition of Mr. Arnold, Mr. Rosser's speech was fully as effective. He did not hesitate to use unlovely language when he thought the occasion demanded, and he called a spade a spade with brutal frankness.

During the delivery of his speech many ladies were in the audience—friends of Mrs. Frank, for the most part. They left as soon as he had concluded.

Dorsey Begins Wonderful Speech. If the beginning of Solicitor Dorsey's speech is to be taken as any indication of its conclusion, he will have made an appeal for the conviction of Frank which will rank with the best efforts of counsel for the defense. There is every indication that he intends "to go the limit," both as to time and manner of attack. Early in his foreword Friday he made this claim.

Referring to the prejudice which has so often been spoken of by the defense, he said that the attorneys for the defense had had as much part in inflaming sentiment as any one else. He referred to the fact that the mind of the mother of the accused had been so poisoned that she had called him a dog.

"I care not for your good opinion," said he, turning to the attorneys for the defense. "If you put the stamp of approval on my conduct of this case I will know I have not measured up to my duty to my conscience and the state."

He referred to Luther Rosser as a "rider of the wind and a stirrer up of the storm." Of Rube Arnold he spoke "as mild a mannered man as ever scuttled a ship or cut a throat."

He spoke at length of the attitude of Frank's friends in seeking the indictment of Jim Conley, and declared that the people of Fulton county would have to get another solicitor before it was done—that Conley had told all he knew, and there was nothing left for him to tell.

Tribute to The Jews. Mr. Dorsey paid a tribute to the Jews, and mentioned Disraeli, Judah Benjamin, the Strauss brothers and others as exemplifying the best of the race. But he also called attention to

W. J. HARRIS TAKES UP GINNING STATISTICS

May Have Duplicate Report Sent to Secretary of Agriculture of Each Cotton State.

By John Corrigan, Jr. Washington, D. C., August 22.—(Special.)—Director of the Census William J. Harris is considering the advisability of having gin reporters of ginning statistics send a copy of their reports to the secretary of agriculture of each cotton growing state at the time he sends them to the census bureau. This was urged upon the director today by Representative Heflin, of Alabama, who also made an appeal for increased salaries for the reporters who are now requested to report stocks on cotton held in warehouses and by mills.

One argument in favor of sending duplicate reports to state departments of agriculture was to prevent the figures in the reports being altered, as was done on one occasion at the instigation of cotton bears who planned a coup based on these falsified cotton ginning statistics. Mr. Heflin thought the states would be willing to pay something for this service.

SLATON LEAVES TODAY FOR COLORADO SPRINGS

Governor Slaton will leave this morning at 7 o'clock to attend the annual conference of governors at Colorado Springs. He will be attended by Mrs. Slaton and by Colonel Fred J. Paxon, chief of staff, and his bride. The adjutant general, J. Van Holt Nash, is at Camp Perry, near Cleveland, Ohio, in attendance upon the annual international shooting contest. The governor will be gone for ten days, as was done on one occasion at the instigation of cotton bears who planned a coup based on these falsified cotton ginning statistics. Mr. Heflin thought the states would be willing to pay something for this service.

At this point, after dwelling at some length on the rule governing circumstantial evidence, he sprang the big surprise of the day.

In his speech of Thursday Mr. Arnold had referred to the Durant case in San Francisco as a horrible example of the injustice which circumstantial evidence sometimes does. Mr. Arnold had stated that Durant had been hung and that years afterward the real murderer had confessed.

Mr. Dorsey produced a telegram from the solicitor general of San Francisco denying that any such confession had been made. He was not allowed to read the telegram, but stated the fact.

He then read a report of this famous case, which in many essentials fits in with the theory of the state. During the reading of this case the jury strained forward with interest.

Toward the conclusion of his remarks Mr. Dorsey spoke of the difficulty which had prevented him from getting certain evidence before the jury.

Mr. Dorsey will begin speaking again at 9 o'clock this morning.

Churchwomen to Meet.

The churchwomen of Atlanta are planning for a notable work, among different denominations in the mission study classes this fall. The Jubilee Union, known as the Atlanta Union of Mission Workers, of which Mrs. H. M. Hurr is president, has secured the services of a distinguished leader of study classes, Dr. B. C. Millikin, of the Missionary Education movement, whose headquarters are in New York. He will be remembered as one of the brilliant speakers and leaders at the recent Presbyterian general assembly held in Atlanta. Dr. Millikin will arrive on September 13 for a week's work with missionary leaders in the city. There will be two classes daily, of two hours each, formed of students who will teach mission study classes after their normal course under Dr. Millikin, in the various churches of the city. The course will therefore be intensive and normal in every sense a training class.

Each class will have six sessions, and each class will probably be limited to twenty members. Those wishing to have the privilege of this course will communicate with their missionary study class of the Jubilee union. The sessions will probably be held at St. Luke's church. Announcement will be made later as to the expenses of the course, the hours of the classes and the limitation of the numbers.

Dr. Millikin will meet groups of Sunday school officers and teachers on the two Sunday afternoons that he is here for practical suggestions for missionary education in the Sunday schools.

There will be a meeting of the vice presidents of the denominations on Wednesday morning at half-past 10 at St. Luke's to perfect the details of the course. Dr. Millikin will be the guest of Mrs. Archibald Davis while here. It is a matter of cordial congratulation that the church workers on mission lines in the city have planned for such systematic and efficient study, and consequent extension of their work for the Christian's conquest of the world.

ROSA WOODBERRY.

Chairman Mission Study of Jubilee Union.

Haskins-Watts.

The marriage is announced of Miss Madeline Haskins and Mr. Syd Watts, at St. Paul's Methodist parsonage on August 21, Dr. Frazier officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Watts left for an extended trip north. They will be at home on Highland avenue after September 1.

Miss Pagett Entertains.

Miss Annie Lou Pagett was hostess last night at a delightful picnic party at East Lake, the occasion a compliment to her guest, Miss Carol Dean, of Gainesville, and to Miss Hilson, of Americus, the guest of Mrs. Russell Bridges.

The party numbered sixteen, and after enjoying a swim in the moonlight, supper was served them on the island.

To Visitors.

Miss Annetta Honour will entertain on Monday evening in compliment to her guest, Miss Nell Honour, of Greenville, S. C., and to Miss Gresham, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Gresham. Mr. and Mrs. Gresham will entertain at heart dice Wednesday evening.

Miss Springer's Tea.

Miss Frances Springer was hostess of a large gathering of young women yesterday, the bright occasion a tea in compliment to Misses Annie Will Pearce and Irene Berry, of Columbus; Sarah Garland, of Griffin, and Ruth Small, of Macon.

Golden glow with growing ferns made effective decoration throughout the reception rooms, and in the dining room, yellow nasturtiums were the basis of a pretty color scheme in yellow. Punch was served by Miss Charlotte McLain and Miss Emma Jordan, and others assisting in entertaining were Miss Carrie Parrish, Miss Theodosia Andrews, Miss Louisa Floyd and Miss Ruth Paden.

In the evening Miss Springer entertained the receiving party at bridge, inviting to meet them Mr. Drayne Jenkins, Mr. Dean Paden, Mr. Louis Pearson, Mr. Frank Taylor, Mr. Will Franklin, Mr. Gordon Freeman, Mr. Joe Teague, Mr. Will Wate and Mr. Howard Parrish.

Matinee Party.

Miss Marie Ulmer entertained at a matinee party Thursday afternoon in compliment to Miss Mildred Pike, of Thomsville.

Invited to meet Miss Pike were Miss Christine Henderson, Mrs. Hal Morrison, Jr., and Mrs. William Walsh.

For Miss Pike.

Mrs. Hal Morrison, Jr., entertained the members of the Thursday afternoon bridge club this week in honor of her guest, Miss Mildred Pike, of Thomsville.

Flora and a profusion of golden rod decorated the apartments. Mrs. Hart won the top score prize, a white and gold china plate. Mrs. Gordon Massengale was given the consolation, a piece of hand-embroidered lingerie, and the guest of honor was also given a dainty piece of hand-embroidered lingerie. Mrs. Morrison was gowned in pink embroidered crepe and Miss Pike's gown was blue embroidered chiffon over blue satin.

The guests included Miss Pike, Mrs. G. H. Perry, Mrs. John Reese, Mrs. Hart, Mrs. Paul Morrison, Mrs. Lincoln Morrison, Mrs. Warren Powell, Mrs. Roy Webb, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Carr, Mrs. Gordon Massengale, Mrs. E. E. INFORMATION ASKED ABOUT ALIEN COLONIES

Washington, August 22.—Representative Clark, of Florida, introduced a resolution today to direct the Secretary of State Bryan to furnish the house information as to whether any European, Asiatic or other governments is seeking to colonize any portion of the western hemisphere, and if so, what the United States has done under the Monroe doctrine to prevent such a colonization.

Drowns in Gutter.

Newark, N. J., August 22.—Conrad Churchill, an aged man, fell in the gutter when running from a fire at the Farmers' Seed company store here today. As he lay helpless, a hose down, water poured upon the fire flowed out into the gutter and drowned him.

FIGHT ON FREE WOOL IS BEGUN IN SENATE

Wyoming Senator Predicts Ruin for Wool Growers and High Prices for Mutton.

Washington, August 22.—Stubborn opposition to free raw wool and the radical reductions in woolen manufactures proposed in the democratic tariff bill was conducted by republicans of the senate all day today and will be resumed tomorrow.

Senators Warren, of Wyoming, and Penrose, of Pennsylvania, addressed the senate for six hours, the former characterizing the proposed bill as "tariff-for-politics-only instead of for revenue only" and La Follette asserting that the woolen schedule as prepared by the majority was distinctly "against America and for Europe."

La Follette's Substitute. In the midst of the day's discussion, Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, introduced the third majority substitute for the woolen schedule, the others having been proposed by Senators Penrose and Smoots. The wide divergence of minority views on the subject of wool demonstrated in this trilateral measure was pleasing to democratic leaders, who confidently asserted that they did not need to talk because "we have the votes."

Though an effort will be made by Chairman Simmons, of the finance committee, and other majority members to get a vote on the woolen schedule by tomorrow night, the vote may be prolonged until next week. Senators Penrose and La Follette planning to debate the measure at length. Senator La Follette's proposal was distinguished chiefly by its rate of 16 per cent ad valorem on first grade raw wool, a rate originally suggested by democrats of the house ways and means committee before President Wilson insisted upon free raw wool.

The La Follette measure also proposed that second grade raw wool be free and would provide ad valorem instead of specific rates throughout, contrary to the recommendations of the tariff board and the views of his republican colleagues, Senators Root and Penrose.

Penrose Attacks Schedule. "From the British standpoint," said Senator Penrose, of the democratic woolen schedule, "this bill is almost too good to be believed. It actually carries many rates of duty much lower than those favorable to British interests than the New York Importers represent."

SAVANNAH MAN FACES EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE

Savannah, Ga., August 22.—(Special.)—At the instance of the local representatives of a bonding company, George B. Smith, former manager of the Indian Refining companies' branch, in Birmingham, Ala., was arrested yesterday by Patrolman Milliken. He is now being held at the barracks for the Birmingham authorities charged with embezzlement.

NEGRO CUTS HIS THROAT IN DANIELSVILLE JAIL

Danielsville, Ga., August 22.—(Special.)—Last night Lindsay Moon, colored, who is in here twice convicted of burning the barn of Dr. O. L. Deadwyler, at Carlton, one year ago, attempted suicide by cutting his throat with a razor. He completely severed the windpipe and is unable to talk.

He wrote a note to his parents before committing the deed, denying guilt and saying it seemed everybody was down on him.

Negro Hung at Savannah.

Savannah, Ga., August 22.—Frank Collier, a negro, was hanged in the county jail this morning for the murder of Morris Robinson, another negro, a little more than a year ago. The execution was without unusual incident. Collier will be given a big funeral from his mother's house on Sunday.

GAINESVILLE, GEORGIA (Fifty Miles from Atlanta) In the Heart of the Old South; Alive with the Spirit of the New

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT. The course of study of Brenau has recently been revised in accordance with standards of foremost American universities and colleges. Hereafter the degree of A. B. will be the only degree granted. The requirements for admission to Freshman Class are fourteen units.

TWO-YEAR COURSES. For the benefit of many girls who can remain in college only two years, courses are arranged so that diploma may be received and the title of Associate in Arts conferred at the end of two years after the high school. This is similar to the practice of the University of Chicago.

PREPARATORY COURSES. Courses equivalent to the work of a first-class high school are offered, and provision is made to receive pupils as young as fourteen years of age.

MUSIC, ORATORY, ART, DOMESTIC SCIENCE. These subjects are especially suited to the needs of the average woman, and may be offered at Brenau as electives for the A. B. degree. Diplomas in each of these subjects are also offered.

Brenau has no competitors in the South in these special courses, and the demand for teachers who are graduates of Brenau is far greater than can be supplied.

The next term begins September 11. Only a few places are still open. NEW BOOK READY. A beautiful new book, entitled "Brenau Girl," has just been published. It is sent free upon request.

Address: H. J. PEARCE or T. J. SIMMONS, Presidents, BRENAU, Box 14, GAINESVILLE, GA.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Giants 8, Cubs 1. New York, August 22.—New York today, winning the second game of the series by 8 to 1. Cheney was wild and ineffective in the third inning.

Phillies 3, Pirates 3. Philadelphia, August 22.—Philadelphia and Pittsburgh played a tie game today afternoon, the contest being stopped owing to darkness after the sixth inning.

Reds 7, Dodgers 2. Brooklyn, August 22.—Cincinnati made it two straight from Brooklyn today, winning by 7 to 2, through Albers' wildness and Kucker's ineffectiveness.

Doves 9, Cards 1. Boston, August 22.—Boston's batting was timely today as the visitors' fielding ranged after the locals easily defeated St. Louis 9 to 1.

Other Results. Nat Niles earned a place in the semifinals by defeating Leonard Beekman in straight sets, R. Norris Williams, second, won from B. C. Law in a similar manner.

Only Twenty-Two Men Faced Slim Love, Who Uses Brush On Billikens---E. Brown Wild

By Dick Jemison. Bill Smith played a hunch at Ponce Friday afternoon. Said hunch was out just as he played it, and the Crackers won from the Billies 5 to 0 in a game that was sawed off at the end of the seventh inning on account of rain.

WELCHONCE, Bisland and Smith are waging a merry battle for the reason for driving in the most runs this season for the Crackers.

THE SECOND season of the Empire State league will come to a close next week with the Thomasville team the winner. Valdosta won the first season. The teams will meet in a post season series after the regular season ends.

EVERY TIME the Billikens and the Crackers have locked horns in a series this season whether it has been in Montgomery or here, it has either rained, stormed or threatened.

SCRIBES around the circuit are wondering why the $7,000 that it is reported was paid for Elmer Brown, the big right-hander of the Montgomery Billikens. Why the wonder? It is as plain as the nose on your face.

NASHVILLE scribes continue to harp on the fact that Joe Agler "hates himself." Well, to be perfectly frank, if we played first base as well as Agler does we'd be the same way.

THE ATLANTA club looks mighty good for second place now, says T. H. Birmingham Ledger, "as it is gradually gaining on the Billikens club. With the Bills on the road for the next two weeks and the Crackers at home, it looks like a safe bet that the Atlanta bunch will be the runner-up in the 1913 race."

FRANK CHANCE in an April number of a magazine picked the St. Louis Cardinals to finish last in the National League pennant race and he was made the butt of considerable ridicule.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Chicago, August 22.—Quick thinking, clever base running and three bunched hits today gave Philadelphia the second game of the series with Chicago 2 to 1. Murphy flared out to start the eighth, Oldring and Collins both singled, sending Oldring to third, Collins stole second and Weaver, on the ground with Collins safe on the base, Weaver, thinking Collins was out, rolled the ball toward the pitcher's box and Oldring started home with the tying run. Melnitz followed with a single and Collins scored.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

All the News of Real Estate and Building.

Actual work on the Walker street industrial development was started Friday when the work of clearing down the houses now standing which right of way the spur track which will extend through the rear of the Walker street property to Haynes street was begun.

The laying of these tracks, which will be done jointly by the Southern and the A. B. & A. railroads, will cost approximately $25,000. Steam shovels will begin the grading for the tracks Monday of Tuesday, and the work of laying them will be completed in a few weeks, it is thought.

The syndicate in charge of the work is figuring on building a number of structures on the Walker street frontage for wholesale and retail purposes and a number of the prominent merchants in the city are making plans to lease such.

One of the buildings which the syndicate is at present figuring on is a three-story concrete structure, three stories high, 200 feet long, and will cost approximately $125,000.

Work on the new Central Baptist church, which is to be located at the corner of Cooper and Whitehall, will be started as soon as the present church property, corner Forsyth and Garnett streets, is sold.

More than a year ago the church purchased the new parcel for $18,000, it is 10x150 feet, and the plans drawn up at that time called for a church house and a Sunday school building with all modern interior improvements, such as a swimming pool, bowling alley, kindergarten, etc. The structure alone will cost approximately $60,000.

The present property, Forsyth and Garnett, is being held for $60,000, and it is thought that a deal will be put through within the next few weeks. Fifty thousand dollars was offered for the property at two different times last year.

Big Deals Brewing. Another evidence that the realty business is picking up with a vim is the announcement by a prominent realty firm that a big realty deal will be put through within the next few days.

This is in regard to a certain centrally located piece of property, almost in the heart of the city, full particulars of which will be announced later.

CLAYTON REFUSES JUDGE SPEER'S REQUEST

There is a member of the bar of the United States court, but I have never given him an appointment in any court. I have never fixed a fee for Mr. Hayward or the firm of Talley & Hayward, of which he was a member. I have so scrupulously abstained from doing that and so carefully guarded my conduct towards the firm that Mr. Talley himself has assured me, since this investigation began, that my restrictions placed upon it by my carelessness caused its dissolution. I have never been once disqualified myself in cases when well informed lawyers thought that it was not necessary.

The men who have attempted to defame me in their statements made to Examiner Lewis were counsel for defendants in great cases of embezzlement and prosecuted predatory combinations prosecuted by the predecessors of the attorney general, where on the trial I had judicially aided to accomplish the highest purposes of the department of justice for the enforcement of our criminal laws. Reference to the Greene and Gaynor case, to Miller convicted for receiving rebates in the transportation of grain which placed the business of several of the states under the control of one firm, and similar cases, will show this to be true. Responding to the advocacy of the department of Justice I find the department which I thus served in enforcing the law toward a class of powerful litigants usually escape its penalties. I have thus made strong enemies, but for the first time in my long judicial life I find the department which I thus served in enforcing the law toward a class of powerful litigants usually escape its penalties.

The charge of the examiner that I am "temporarily" unfit for the judicial station can be overcome by a mass of testimony of my contemporaries of which any judge might be proud. That this defect has not been discovered heretofore is at least observable. That I am fitted for the judicial station and have made a good record as a man and a judge can be shown by the voluntary testimony of such men as Senator George F. Edmunds, for many years chairman of the senate judiciary committee, the late Senator George F. Hoar, whose last letter to me was one of congratulations for the "skillful manner" in which I had conducted my very difficult and delicate duties; the late Senator Wm. D. Washburn, of Minnesota, by several statements of President Roosevelt, by such many and distinguished men as the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Federation of Labor, the Order of Railway Conductors, and like organizations.

The chambers of commerce and municipal governments of the great cities of Atlanta, Augusta, Savannah, Milton, Athens (where I spent my young manhood), and many small towns of my native state; by every member of the bar and the business community there also by the late Senator Joseph E. Brown, the earnest and unsolicited general presentments of the five grand juries most recently in session in the respective divisions of my district, objecting to the proposal for its division; ministers of the gospel, my co-workers in the cause of education, and especially the trustees and members of the faculty of our university, our greatest Baptist college in the south, of whose law school I have been for twenty years the dean.

The testimony of such journalists as Charles R. Pettit, Evan H. Howard, Charles R. Pettit, and Pleasant A. Stovall, and many others; such soldiers as Major Cassius E. Gillette, Judge Advocate General Barr, the late General A. Gordon and General James H. Wilson, General Joseph H. Lewis, once commanding the Orphan brigade of heroic Kentuckians, and my captain, John T. Gaines, commanding Company K, Fifth Kentucky regiment in that brigade; and by repeated tributes by members of the bar and chambers of commerce at successive anniversaries of my appointment to the bench. This is the sort of evidence to my fitness for the judicial station, with which I can refute the opinion of Examiner Lewis and the few malignant men who have misled the attorney general to direct against me the gigantic state power of an executive department, without the opportunity to me to point out the crucial and unjustifiable mistake into which he has been betrayed.

As to the imputation about large fees in bankruptcy cases, it is known that the administration of bankruptcy assets in my district is more economical than in many other judicial districts in the country. An easy calculation from the figures given in the annual reports of the attorney general will demonstrate this to be true. My uniform practice is to have a judicial investigation on each application for fees. It must be made by petition. This is referred to a special master. He takes the evidence as to the magnitude of the case, its difficulty and the character of the services rendered. This is after due notice to the parties at interest. When his report comes in, due notice and service is given so that objections may be filed, and not until every party has the opportunity to be heard is the fee finally adjusted. While the cost of these hearings is small the practice has saved many thousands of dollars to the estates of bankrupts. It has been fully set out in the federal reporters. On each application a record is of file and the propriety of the fee can be thus determined. I say this much with regard to the charges against me in the newspaper as reported in the newspapers.

McCormick Seeks Release.

F. O. McCormick, of Philadelphia, who was taken into custody by Detective Joseph McCallin on a Pennsylvania warrant following his release from the federal prison, is seeking freedom on a writ of habeas corpus. Judge Bell will hear the writ Saturday morning. Efforts are being made by Detective McCallin to get an earlier hearing. McCormick was sentenced to serve a term in the federal prison on a charge of using the mails to defraud in connection with alleged fake lumber deals.

sources that the Huerta government is facing a mutinous army dissatisfied because no pay has been forthcoming for weeks.

It was apparent tonight that Washington officials expected word from Huerta before Tuesday and that unless it comes the notes will be proclaimed to the world through the president's message showing the efforts of the American government to bring about peace along with suggestions for a definite line of procedure by the United States in the future.

White house officials, however, were confident that the situation would unravel itself. They would not disclose upon what their optimism was based on, but it is believed that reports from Mr. Lind today were largely responsible for the confident feeling.

REPORTED THAT SITUATION IS NOW GREATLY IMPROVED

Mexico City, August 22.—Nine battles between federal and constitutionalists are reported to have taken place during the last twenty-four hours. All the fights are recorded as federal victories.

According to official reports, the military situation throughout the republic is greatly improved. The rebels are said to be generally disheartened and on the defensive in all quarters.

ATTACK ON SYSTEM CAUSE OF CHARGES, SAYS SPEER

New York, August 22.—(Special.)—Federal Judge Emory Speer, of Georgia, charged with official misconduct in papers filed with the house committee on judiciary, has sent the following personal message to the New York Times in reply to a request of the editor of that paper for a statement from him.

"I am, Mr. Chairman, with great respect, Your obedient servant, EMORY SPEER, Judge.

FRIENDLESS NEGRO IS RESPITED BY GOVERNOR

That a friendless and penniless negro will have just as good a chance for a hearing as the defendant with money while John M. Slaton is governor was shown yesterday when the governor respited for thirty days a negro named Will Varner, under sentence of death for the killing of another negro in Newton county.

Varner's case has never been to the supreme court because he could not afford to employ a lawyer to carry it there. If the case could be taken to the supreme court, it would not be heard until November, which would give the prisoner a longer respite than he now has. He was sentenced to hang on August 29 and this sentence has been extended until September 29. The negro is a cropper. The man for whom he works appealed to the

COTTON NERVOUS AND UNSETTLED

Reports of Better Weather in Southwest Caused a Sharp Break, But Market Later Recovered Part of the Loss.

New York, August 22.—The cotton market was extremely nervous today, owing to reports of better weather in the southwest, but a sharp break, under heavy realizing, was followed by a less active business, and part of the loss was recovered, with the close steady at a net decline of 9 to 10 points.

SPOT COTTON.

Atlanta, August 22.—Cotton nominal; middling 12.

Macos—Steady; middling 11 1/2.

Athens—Steady; middling 11 1/2.

PORT MOVEMENT.

Galveston—Cotton; middling; net receipts 7,755; gross 7,755; sales 1,199; stock 43,839; exports to Great Britain 6,745.

New Orleans—Steady; middling 12 1/10; net receipts 6,900; gross 6,900; sales 104; stock 17,720; exports to Great Britain 245.

Mobile—Quiet; middling 11 1/2; net receipts 577; gross 577; sales 833; stock 15,899; exports to Great Britain 834.

Charleston—Nominal; net receipts 303; gross 303; sales none; stock 1,706.

Wilmington—Nominal; net receipts 25; gross 25; sales none; stock 8,772; exports to Great Britain 1,039.

Norfolk—Steady; middling 11 1/2; net receipts 20; gross 20; sales 17; stock 7,941; exports to Great Britain 1,019.

Baltimore—Net receipts 418; gross 418; sales none; stock 2,084.

New York—Quiet; middling 12 1/2; net receipts none; gross 4; sales 200; stock 24,468; exports to Great Britain 2,005.

Boston—Quiet; middling 12 1/2; net receipts none; gross 219; sales none; stock 3,343.

Augusta—Steady; middling 11 1/2; net receipts 85; gross 85; shipments 108; sales 123; stock 6,161.

Memphis—Steady; middling 11 1/2; net receipts 2; gross 337; shipments 643; sales none; stock 12,008.

St. Louis—Steady; middling 12; net receipts none; gross 114; shipments 114; sales none; stock 6,399.

Chickasha—Net receipts 377; gross 377; shipments 49; sales none; stock 24,300.

Little Rock—Quiet; middling 11 1/2; shipments 103; sales none; stock 6,078.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, August 22.—The cotton market was featured by nervous fluctuations today. While there was some buying on the part of the western belt, the heavy realizing, as mentioned in the report, was the result of a great extent, covered and replaced by a long, fourth private account of rain in the drought area in the west. The conflict between the average trader and the nervous price was the result of the nervous price.

On the opening, the market was lower than it had been for some time, and the price was 1/2 to 3/4 points below the previous day's closing. The market was steady and prices were reports of rain in the west. The forecast predicted stormy weather in the west, and the western belt, which had been a large part of the call, the decline was widened to 3/4 to 10 points. On this decline, some little local cotton was thrown overboard.

The official weather returns noted practically no rain in the west, and together with the report, led to buying by both sides. Some of the middle of the cotton price was 2 to 5 points over yesterday's last quotation. However, under dullness in the market, prices were finally standing 9 to 10 points under yesterday's closing. The market was steady at a net decline of 1 to 3 points.

Spot cotton steady and unchanged; middling none; low ordinary 11 1/2; strict good ordinary 11 1/2; nominal; middling 11 1/2; strict good ordinary 11 1/2; nominal; middling 12 1/10; net receipts 6,900; gross 6,900; sales 104; stock 17,720; exports to Great Britain 245.

Dry Goods.

New York, August 22.—Cotton goods markets remain very firm in the dry goods market. Trading for the day was low, owing to an easing in cotton. Woollen goods were steady with a broader demand for carpet wools. The world's silk markets show a crop shortage of 20 per cent, which accounts for the rapid rise of the past two weeks. Active trade is passing in silk place goods for spot delivery.

Gibert & Clay.

New York, August 22.—Reports of light rains over north Texas and Oklahoma were followed by prices about 15 points. At the market with support sufficient to rally it to the level of the previous day. The rally was based upon the idea that the rain was falling so late in Oklahoma could be of help, while in Texas it was not heavy enough to stop deterioration.

Liverpool Cotton Statistics.

Liverpool, August 22.—Weekly cotton statistics: 1913, 1912, 1911, 1910, 1909, 1908, 1907, 1906, 1905, 1904, 1903, 1902, 1901, 1900, 1899, 1898, 1897, 1896, 1895, 1894, 1893, 1892, 1891, 1890, 1889, BANKERS CONCILIATORY TOWARD CURRENCY BILL

Hope for Amendments to Owen-Glass Bill and Will Aid President Wilson in Work.

Chicago, August 22.—A spirit of conciliation and compromise toward the Owen-Glass currency bill as it is believed it will be amended was manifested at a conference of leading bankers from all parts of the country held here today.

Mr. Reynolds was summoned to New York to confer with Secretary McAdoo last Wednesday to discuss the attitude of the bankers toward the proposed legislation.

In addressing the conference today Mr. Reynolds said:

"If we act wisely, I believe we will be able to obtain material modifications in the Owen-Glass currency bill now pending in congress.

"I believe we can get the number of federal reserve banks reduced from twelve to five or six; that we can have changes made in the currency system through a board which will remove it from politics, and that we can have the advisory committee of bankers clothed with the power of veto in connection with the management of the reserve banks."

ving that congress be asked not to pass any currency legislation at the present session, but defer action until a new bill had been drafted by a commission composed of representatives of the government, the bankers and business men of all classes appointed by the national chamber of commerce.

Referred to Committee. The resolutions were read and after discussion were referred to the committee on resolutions.

as well as to trusts—although I think in a large measure the secretary of the bill has been considered mainly as a means of dealing with the trust evil. Competition cannot be effectively prevented among the same men as directors of competing companies.

"I am as much in favor of the remedy now as I was when I began to study the bill, but I believe that the recent disclosures have given further proof of the employment of this means of eliminating competition, but do not think it is a part of the original bill already been made.

Thursday afternoon there was held an illustrated service for children and 300 were present.

WILL FIGHT TO BREAK WILL OF JUDGE GODBEE

Claim That Third Marriage Invalidated Will Giving Estate to Daughter of Former Wife.

Augusta, Ga., August 22.—(Special.)—That the will of the late Judge Walter S. Godbee, who with his last wife, Mrs. Florence Boyer Godbee, was shot and killed in Millen last Monday by his former wife, Mrs. Edna Perkins Godbee, is invalid and will not stand the test of the courts, is the opinion of attorneys, who have been employed by the relatives of the slain woman.

James M. Hull and William H. Fleming, of Augusta, are already laying the foundation for a legal battle to break the instrument. They have been engaged by Archibald Boyer, brother of Mrs. Edna Perkins Godbee.

These attorneys are to try to break Judge Godbee's will on the grounds that he made it in February, 1910, before his third marriage, which marriage his lawyers claim, invalidated the document.

They claim the estate of his dead third wife is entitled to a large share of his property, as her dower right. Miss Magale Godbee, daughter of Judge Godbee, by his first marriage, who inherits the bulk of his fortune, valued at between $40,000 and $50,000, has also employed counsel, and expects to fight to a finish against any attempt that may be made to break the will.
