RICH AND POOR FORGET SORROWS WHEN CHRISTMAS COMES KNOCKING

No Real "Sob Story" Can Be Written on the Birthday of Christianity, Says Ned McIntosh, Who Says He Has Tried It for Five Years.

IF THERE'S AN EMPTY STOCKING IN ATLANTA, THERE'S A HOLE IN IT

Charity Workers Report That Not a Single Family Is Left Uncared For—Even the Idle Rich Are Made Happy on This Day, Too.

By Ned McIntosh. I WANT you to write a general Christmas story, with plenty of sob in it. The empty stocking and all that stuff, you know?

Yes, I know. For five years, regularly on Christmas eve, I have received those same instructions from my city editor. For five years I have sat at a typewriter and laboriously written a general Christmas story, with plenty of sob in it—the empty stocking and all that stuff; but this year I think I had a straight tip.

For the two weeks preceding Christmas any year you will not be able to pick up a newspaper in which you can not find somewhere in it something about the tragic, the poor little child, that hangs up its stocking on Christmas eve believing implicitly that some time during the night Santa Claus will come down the chimney and fill it to the brim, but to wake the next morning with the heart-breaking discovery that Santa Claus did not come and the stocking is empty!

But I put myself on record as saying that I have never seen nor heard of a concrete example of an empty stocking on Christmas morning, and I challenge anybody to say that he ever heard of one.

It simply doesn't happen. Every man has in him too much of the milk of human kindness to permit such a thing.

The father or mother who would not go out and steal to fill a little chap's stocking never lived.

Christmas Story Misses Tunes. And should some one come along who says, "Once I saw an empty stocking," ask him what he did, and before you have finished the question he will tell you that he filled it!

That's the stuff that you and I are made of.

Wherefore, it behoves me to write a Christmas story without the trace of a tear in it.

"Merry Christmas" is the greeting that you will hear on all sides today—and merry Christmas it is!

This Christmas will find no empty stockings in Atlanta.

Every toy that lay awake all the night long last night because he could not wait for the morn when he might creep from his little white bed in his "nightgown" to find what old Santa had brought him, I predict, will not be disappointed. He it ever so little that he finds, he will find something tucked away down in the toe of his stocking.

Do you remember the keen excitement of the anticipation of Christmas morn? The times when you lay awake the long night through and were anxious to open your eyes lest old Santa come down the chimney should find you awake and leave without giving you anything? Did you ever have happier days than those?

No. When we have grown older the pleasure comes not in the anticipation of what we shall receive, but in the giving.

Giving Makes Happiness. That's what makes Christmas worth while. The giving of something no matter how small, that you know will make some heart happier. If there is a small sacrifice with it, it makes the Christmas all the happier.

At the crack of dawn this morning

Nobody Knew it But Col. and Mrs. Perry Arrived Last Night

They Were Married in Lavinia and Slipped Quietly Into Atlanta to Avoid the Rice.

Colonel and Mrs. Jesse G. Perry, bride and groom of a few hours only, arrived unexpectedly in the city last night on Southern train No. 11.

Colonel Perry, who, as everyone knows, is private secretary to Governor Shahan, had arranged matters very effectively in order to avoid all undue demonstrations. The wedding took place yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride in Lavinia, Ga., who was Miss Harriet Mason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Mason. It had previously been announced for early in January, but they decided recently to have the wedding during the Christmas holidays. They then announced Wednesday to Governor Shahan the Christmas holidays at the home of Colonel Perry's parents in Mitchell county. Here is where Colonel Perry's parental planning came in.

He knew that if his friends were informed as to the date on which he and Mrs. Perry were to arrive in Atlanta, that there would certainly be somewhat of a demonstration. So he decided to steal a march on the enemy as it were, and by a brilliant flanking movement, cut off their entire cause for operations. He communicated with Manager Jack Linton, of the Hotel Ansley, had rooms reserved there and slipped quietly into town last night while all his friends were busily occupied with their preparations for Christmas and their family relations.

Had Home Weddings. Lavinia, Ga., December 24.—(Special.)—Miss Harriet Mason was married to Jesse G. Perry, private secretary to Governor Shahan, this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. M. E. Peabody, of S. C. performed the ceremony. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Mason, of Mitchell county. She is a graduate in oratory at the Boston Conservatory. The wedding was at home in the presence of a few invited guests.

The bride and groom boarded an afternoon train for Atlanta and will also visit the groom's relatives in Cassville during the holidays.

Colonel and Mrs. Perry will make a visit to Franklin county with Governor Brown.

Particular Thieves Enter Mableton Express Office; They Took Only Whiskey

Mableton, Ga., December 24.—(Special.)—Discovery was made this morning that the express office here had been robbed of two large cases of whiskey. The thieves forced their way into the express office through one of the windows, and secured the whiskey only after breaking the lock on a big chest in which there were a number of other packages, none of them, however, were bothered. No attempt was made to secure any of the money in the office.

No clue has been discovered as to the identity of the thieves, but it is thought not unlikely that a large number of perfectly good jobs will result from the raid on the local express office.

NO EMPTY STOCKINGS IN AMERICUS TODAY

Americus, Ga., December 24.—(Special.)—With tonight ends the most prosperous holiday season Americus merchants have ever experienced. Thousands of busy shoppers have thronged the streets, and the waves of prosperity has spread over the entire city.

Stores throughout the holiday stock, and merchants are delighted with the avalanche of Christmas business.

Beneficent societies have been assiduously at work, and not a needy person in Americus child or adult, will fail to be thoughtfully provided for tomorrow in the distribution of substantial, turkey and general Christmas cheer.

Others followed suit. Soon there were 15 in the palm of James Shahan, and he was on his way to a barber shop up the street. Later he returned, fed, shaved and shorn, to headquarters and met his patrons again.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I like you folks. I love yeh. Will you please let me stay all night so I won't run the chance of lettin' somevun steal this large amount of coin I b'w on 'em person tonight?" They did.

Pupil of Great Master Penniless in Atlanta

One of these men is Yeave, perhaps the greatest master of the violin who ever lived. The other is his pupil, Piet van de Meer, who is now penniless and playing upon the streets of Atlanta. By a strange freak of chance they so closely resemble that many have been started at the likeness. Can you tell which is which? Were the hair of each combed alike and photographs of the same quality made it would be well-nigh impossible to distinguish them. The top picture is of the great master, Ysaye. The bottom is his pupil, Piet van de Meer, late of Holland, now of Los Angeles, Cal.

POLICE HEARTS MELT AT TRAMP'S PLIGHT; RAISE $25 FOR HIM

He was ragged, unshaven unkempt and his shoes were tattered. He told his name, however, Jimmie Shannon, with a great show of pride, and said that there weren't any three men in Atlanta, who could handle a team of horses any more effectively than he.

He arrived at headquarters some-thing about 8 o'clock, looking hungry, but in a picture of Lantana, and with his frazzled head entangled in all sections of his face. He wasn't made, though, and he wasn't intrusive.

He just said, "Yeh, I'm hungry and sleep, and I'd like to get a scrap to eat and to get some more tonight."

The policemen pressed him for further information and so he said, "I'm from Copperhill, Tenn., and I've been trying to hold a job there for the last three weeks. I'd have held it, too, if they hadn't 've expected too much of a fellow. I started out last Monday and I'm here, and all out-of-whack."

Others followed suit. Soon there were 15 in the palm of James Shahan, and he was on his way to a barber shop up the street. Later he returned, fed, shaved and shorn, to headquarters and met his patrons again.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I like you folks. I love yeh. Will you please let me stay all night so I won't run the chance of lettin' somevun steal this large amount of coin I b'w on 'em person tonight?" They did.

AUTO STRIKES CHILD PLAYING IN STREET

Run down while playing in front of his home at 145 West Peachtree street, Kirk Gundy, the young son of Mrs. Leatrice Gundy, of Tampa, Fla., was painfully injured yesterday afternoon by an automobile operated by Miss Eva Richards and driven by her chauffeur.

Miss Richards had the child placed in the car and rushed to Grady hospital, where it was found that the wounds were not serious, and that he would recover. No case has been made by the police department, as it is said by eye witnesses that the accident was unavoidable.

The Richards car, according to the stories of witnesses, was coming down Peachtree from downtown, when the Gundy boy, who had been playing across the street with companions, suddenly darted into the street.

The auto was directly upon him, and before the driver could check the machine or the boy could jump from its path, the accident had occurred.

Young Boy Saves Train From Burning Bridge And Then Disappears

Athens, Ga., December 24.—(Special.) People here and along the line of the Seaboard Air Line are searching for an unknown little boy who saw a bridge on the rails burning yesterday afternoon and ran for half a mile to flag down the approaching train from Atlanta, before it rounded the curve and would be on the burned trestle and wrecked. He disappeared after waving the train with his own shirt and has not been located for identification.

CIGARETTE STUMP TOSSED INTO XMAS TREE STARTS FIRE

Things were gloriously merry in the Manhattan Cafe last night about 10 o'clock when the Christmas eve celebration was at its zenith, until some diner wondered whether or not a lit cigarette would lodge in the befotching Christmas tree that adorned the cashier's desk.

He pitched the cigarette into the tree. The tree flared up into a blaze that extended all the way from the Christmas tree to the rear of the cafe. Women diners hastened toward the entrance and a panic was threatened.

For a moment it looked as though lives would be lost. An alarm was sent from the central fire district, which brought every fire station in the city to the scene.

The huge crowd that thronged the street cleared the way nervously, cheering the fire ladies as they sped past.

Before the arrival of the department, the guests of the Manhattan were able to escape. Decorations of the cafe were burned. No one, however, was hurt. The damage is estimated at $300 or more.

A. and the Textile Institute are erecting buildings now and Mrs. Judd's gift makes certain the addition of a science hall to Converse college buildings.

Murderous Panic Seizes Little Ones and Parents While at Christmas Tree

Seven Hundred Souls, Striking Miners and Children, Were Crowded in a Hall at Calumet, Mich., When a False Cry of "Fire" Was Shouted and Death Began to Reap a Harvest.

CHILDREN WERE JAMMED IN HALLWAY AND THE LIFE TRAMPLED OUT OF THEM

When Panic Was Over the Corpses of the Little Ones Were Piled in Heaps—There Was a Fire Escape, but in the Mad Rush to Escape Few Thought of It—And Calumet Cries for Her Children on "Merry" Christmas Day.

Never morning wore to evening But some heart did break—Tennyson

Calumet, Mich., December 24.—Four score persons, mostly children, were killed tonight at a Christmas celebration by copper mine strikers in an Italian hall because of a needless panic caused by a false alarm of fire.

There was a Christmas tree in the hall, loaded with presents for the children of the strikers.

While several hundred miners and their wives looked on the children pressed eagerly toward the stage to receive Christmas presents. At this point a man put his head in at the door of the hall and yelled "Fire!"

The cry was taken up by those in the hall. Everyone started for the doors. The weaker were thrown to the floor, and those behind tried to climb over those ahead of them.

The stairway and other avenues of egress were blocked so effectively that those inside could not get out and those without could not get in to aid the panic-stricken crowd in the hall. It was some time before the panic subsided.

The alarm was spread outside the hall by a few persons who had been near the door and escaped unhurt.

CORPSES PILED IN NARROW STAIRWAY. A crowd soon assembled and the work of clearing the hall was begun.

The principal exit was a narrow stairway at the back of the hall.

When this had been cleared of the bodies that filled it to the top and a quick accounting had been made, it was found that seventy-four corpses had been piled up besides the hall building. It is thought that a dozen others were carried away by friends.

The dead that were piled up besides the hall included thirty-seven girls, nineteen boys, thirteen women and five men. Excited men and women stood about the building, some dazed by the sudden change from holiday festivity to tragedy, others calling hysterically to a missing child, and a few even threatening violence to the rescuers for keeping them back from the long row of bodies.

ALL WERE KILLED. ONLY THREE HURT. There was not much work for the many doctors who hurried to the scene as soon as the alarm was spread, for those who were not killed in the first rush were held upright and safe by the very force of the onrush toward the exit. Only three injured persons were taken to hospital, and a few went home assisted by friends.

For many days the children of the copper mine strikers had waited expectantly for the Christmas tree exercises that had been arranged by the woman's auxiliary of the Workers' Federation of Miners.

The entertainment was set for the early evening, and the hall, which is Borden Declines Title. Ottawa, December 24.—Premier Robert L. Borden has again declined a title in connection with the forthcoming New Year's honors according to a London dispatch. Mr. Borden, it is stated, is demagogic in his latest and greatest feat, the example of Borden, Chamberlain, Gladstone and Bismarck, of whom refused to accept a title.

READEROMETER THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION. 49,513. 7,176. 564. 5,790.

On the second floor, was soon filled to the limit.

OLD SANTA CLAUS READY TO APPEAR.

The children selected to recite Christmas selections and sing carols had finished their part of the program and the man selected to play the part of Santa Claus placed in the kitchen of the hall and beneath the stage.

Within an hour almost every person in Calumet was as near the scene as it was possible to get. The police formed a cordon about the place and kept back the crowd.

After much effort a lane was opened through the crowd and the bodies of the children were carried through the ranks of mourning and waiting women to Red Jacket Village hall, which was turned into a morgue. It was many hours before all the bodies were identified.

Bodies Wrongly Identified.

During the confusion several bodies of children were wrongfully identified and taken away, only to be returned later by the parents who had found their own offspring safe.

Other cases parents ran about for some time uncertain whether their children were dead or alive. Many mothers were seen in full view of the children who interfered with their mad search for lost girls and boys.

For hours frantic women ran the streets calling for their little ones. Efforts were made to calm the women, and many were taken into homes that had not been bereaved so that they might have proper attention.

Franklin Mass. Killed.

A search was begun tonight for the man who caused the panic. Some strikers asserted that they had reason to believe that the man was a member of the citizens' alliance recently organized in the mining field. This charge was quickly denied by alliance members, hundreds of whom were early on the scene aiding in the removal of bodies and caring for the injured and dead.

It was said that the man came up the stairs from a saloon below, and that his breath, blown forth with the word "fire," smothered strongly the fire. It was said by some of those present that the man may have been in a mental condition at the time, and that he was not aware of what he was doing.

Woman Killed.

The woman who was killed in the panic was identified as Mrs. J. M. Denny, 62 of St. St. Louis, Mo. She was removed to Barclay & Branch street morgue for funeral and interment.

I was afflicted about a year before I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using three weeks I was getting better and in less than three months after using eight cakes of Cuticura Soap and five boxes of Cuticura Ointment, I was completely cured."

PEACE ON EARTH, GOOD-WILL TO MEN

Words Blazed in Electric Letters From Communal Christmas Trees in the Cities of the Country.

Washington, December 24.—"Peace on earth, good will to men." This sentence, blazed from a brilliantly lighted electric placard raised almost to the dome of the capitol, reflected the predominant sentiment of the thousands who assembled on the capitol plaza tonight to celebrate Washington's first "community Christmas."

A giant Norway spruce, illuminated with glimmering red, white and blue electric bulbs; the marine band; a huge electric star of the most gorgeous design of 1909 singers, with the capitol itself outlined as the background; and a crowd of thousands of the city, all in the same spirit of peace, joy and goodwill to men, were the prominent features of the scene in the capitol plaza tonight.

Official Washington was conspicuous tonight by its absence. Not a member of congress had gone to their homes, the president and nearly all the cabinet officers are away, and with the sole exception of the secretary of department, Washington was officially dead.

Employees at the postoffice toiled all night with an aching hand, struggling desperately to dispose of the great mountain of mail, to distribute the great mountain of letters, to fill the bags, and in accordance with the custom of this season, and in accordance with the motto of this season, the bags had to be emptied into the hands of the proper persons by Christmas day.

New York, December 24.—Lacking only a blanket of snow to give the traditional Christmas atmosphere to the scene, New York tonight was celebrating its first "community Christmas." The city was filled with the spirit of peace and goodwill to men. The city was filled with the spirit of peace and goodwill to men.

Chicago makes merry. Chicago's first municipal Christmas tree was held in Grant park tonight when thousands of children and citizens gathered to listen to the stars of grand opera. The tree was illuminated with thousands of lights and was the center of a grand celebration.

Milwaukee celebrates. Milwaukee's Christmas celebration was held in Grant park tonight when thousands of children and citizens gathered to listen to the stars of grand opera. The tree was illuminated with thousands of lights and was the center of a grand celebration.

Philadelphia. Philadelphia's Christmas tree was held in Grant park tonight when thousands of children and citizens gathered to listen to the stars of grand opera. The tree was illuminated with thousands of lights and was the center of a grand celebration.

St. Louis. St. Louis's Christmas tree was held in Grant park tonight when thousands of children and citizens gathered to listen to the stars of grand opera. The tree was illuminated with thousands of lights and was the center of a grand celebration.

Pittsburgh. Pittsburgh's Christmas tree was held in Grant park tonight when thousands of children and citizens gathered to listen to the stars of grand opera. The tree was illuminated with thousands of lights and was the center of a grand celebration.

Once again glad Christmas comes with all its old associations, its merry meetings and good wishes. May it come to you and yours with all that is good and true, all that is peaceful and helpful.

This is the Christmas wish of Maier & Berkele, Inc. Jewelers Established 1887 31-33 Whitehall St. Atlanta, Ga.

RAIN FOR XMAS DAY WEATHER FOLKS' GIFT

Some Comfort in Fact That Fireworks May Give Way to Church.

It will probably rain today. This will spoil the fireworks, but may add to the religious tone of the occasion. Forecasters von Herrmann opined late Wednesday that it looked like a heavy fall of the wet for Christmas, and that, so far as he could see, that would be the program for the next twenty-four hours.

While the rains may deter the youngsters in their play with the pyrotechnics it will probably bring out larger crowds to the various churches throughout the city which have announced church services.

A Christmas Message From The Local Salvation Army

"We must be born again" was not only the message spoken to Nicodemus, but it is the message to us this Christmas.

Filled with this new life we will not only be able to take the worthy good advice, admonition and temporal assistance, but we shall be able to go to the north, hopeless devil-ridden souls, though they be, and overpowered by the sense of their own shame, and say to them, "Christ is not only born today, but He has suffered, He has died, He has risen again and ever liveth that no seeking soul, no matter how depraved, should be denied."

SHE BATHED THE HEAD OF DYING EX-HUSBAND

Mrs. Glover Tells How Present Husband Killed De Villiers, Whom She Divorced.

Los Angeles, December 24--Unable to decide who fired the shots which killed Daniel de Villiers, of San Antonio, Texas, during his struggle Sunday evening with Roy L. Glover, husband of his former wife, the coroner's jury returned a verdict today that the Boer war veteran had met death at the hands of a person unknown. This verdict, according to officials, triply makes it necessary for Glover to present his alibi in the criminal trial in the criminal department of the superior court unless the district attorney, after an investigation, declines to press the case.

Slayer Gave Gem to Wife. Glover, confident that the coroner's jury would exonerate him on the issue of the murder of the former Mrs. de Villiers, had provided a diamond ring as a memento of his divorce. The moment official action today had freed one constituting a witness, he had spoiled that plan, and while the woman sat weeping in the courtroom, he was in a fight over her affections. Glover, a big powerful man, had leaped upon the witness stand and had seen his former wife draw a pistol. After the shot was fired, he saw Mrs. de Villiers lay upon the floor, she asserted the dying man who had been shot.

Path of Her Divorce. Mrs. Glover said she married her present husband last October, a year after a final decree of divorce from Daniel de Villiers, who had died in San Antonio, Texas. She had a child with de Villiers, but she never saw him again. She said she was never in contact with de Villiers after the divorce, and that she never saw him again.

This company has been building popular priced sixes longer than any other concern in this country. Hence the sixes we offer are the product of many years of experience, and in no sense experiments.

The MITCHELL LITTLE SIX, which was known as the "Baby Six" in 1912, is, in our opinion, the profoundly logical investment in the automobile market. It is not only the sensible compromise between big and little power and passenger capacity, but it has everything that any high-priced car can offer you.

The MITCHELL BIG SIX is the biggest and best car at the price that has ever been produced. It is built along the same lines as the Little Six save that it has 144-inch wheel base, somewhat larger tires, greater passenger capacity. Yet the quality of the two are identical. The equipment is precisely the same—the outward beauty similar. For a big family car the Big Six has no equal in America and there is nothing as good for less than $2,500 or $4,000! The price of the Mitchell Big Six is only $2,350.

The MITCHELL FOUR is intended for those who feel that they cannot afford either of the Sixes. It is the only four-cylinder car we make. We built it to meet the demand of those persons who still like a four-cylinder car of close at a popular price. It has the same equipment as the other two cars and sells for $1,595. We want you to look this car over minutely and then ask yourself if there is a four-cylinder car at anywhere near the price that can compare with this one in any detail.

We wish you on behalf of the

WILSON SPENDS 30 MINUTES HERE

President on Way to Pass Christian for the Holidays. Leaves Car, But Will Not Talk.

President Woodrow Wilson passed through Atlanta aboard a special train at 4:50 o'clock Wednesday afternoon on his way to spend the holidays at Pass Christian, Miss. He was accompanied by his wife, his two daughters, Miss Eleanor and Margaret Wilson, a vast host of secret service men, headed by Jimmie Sloan, and a small army of newspaper correspondents.

The special train, the presidential party arrived at the Terminal station on the day. Half a score of local people were on the platform to greet the President. It was explained that the President was going to the city to attend to business and to see the city.

When approached by newspaper men the president, through his physician, stated that he would have nothing to say. It was explained that the President was going to the city to attend to business and to see the city.

Christmas Eve on Train. The Christmas Eve spent by President Wilson and his family on board their special train for Pass Christian, Miss., where they will arrive at daylight.

Remember. Here he said a voice, as the president's train passed through the city, that he would have nothing to say.

Who lives in the old house. The president asked, and the station master knew by the direction of the questions that he meant the residence of Miss Eleanor and Margaret Wilson.

Thank you, smiled the president. "I have known General Obeah for twenty years and my personal relations with him now are of a friendly and friendly nature."

States Comploring With Law. "A majority of the states have now fully complied with Circular No. 1 of Massachusetts, for instance, actually dropped its officers, therefore Georgia should be congratulated in having only one officer conflicting and in being the only one to have complied with the law."

POLITICS HAS NO PART IN WASH-OBEAH BREACH

Adjutant General Declares He is Moved Solely by Law's Requirements.

Adjutant General J. Van Hof Nash declared yesterday that his attitude toward Quartermaster General W. O. Obeah was prompted solely by a desire to keep the national guard of the state up to the requirements of the United States government and that there was nothing personal in his action.

Nash's Statement. General Nash regrets very much that because of the appearance of the press was led to believe that there was anything political in his breach with General Obeah. His statement is as follows:

"December 24, 1913. "It is to be regretted that the local press has been led to believe that there was anything political in his breach with General Obeah. His statement is as follows:

Appropriation Meager. It should be known by everyone that the state of Georgia appropriates annually only $25,000 for the expenses of this department while the federal government issues annually to this state in arms, uniforms and equipments, approximately $50,000.

Office Not Changing. The office of quartermaster general will not be changed. The office of quartermaster general will not be changed.
