Active Work Is Planned By Goods Roads Department

The department of good roads is one of the strongest departments of the National Congress of Mothers. The Georgia branch of this organization is planning active work in line with this department, which is conducted by Lewis Walker, Jr., chairman of the department.

Miss Lela Ringlow, one of Mr. Page's assistants, reports that she has made a study of the condition of the roads in the rural districts with reference to the condition of roads in this relation to rural conditions. The study was taken to determine the causes of the roads and to send such reports to the National Congress of Mothers.

After a state of the country life department has been organized, it is expected that it will make a new study for comparison with the study made by the National Congress of Mothers. The study will be made by the National Congress of Mothers and will be made by the National Congress of Mothers.

The advantages of improved roads have been carefully computed and estimated in dollars and cents, and it is estimated that the present condition of the roads in this state is costing the state $100,000,000 annually. It is estimated that the improvement of the roads will cost the state $100,000,000 annually, but that the improvement will be worth the cost.

Our popular silk section shows "crepes" this week

Everybody is talking crepes! Everybody wants crepes! But a full assortment of crepes is the rarest thing in the silk business just now. Paris wants crepes; dressmakers want crepes; the wearer wants crepes; shoppers ask for crepes. This devotion of the trading public to crepes is stripping the market. For this reason it is fortunate for you that you can find here tomorrow an assortment of crepes unequalled in the south. Indeed, merchants in other cities are sending to us—asking if we can spare crepes.

You will find tomorrow a particularly fine line of this much wanted silky, lustrous, supple, crepey fabric.

An agreed upon by our council, the first grade work was the subject of discussion. Miss W. Woods White, one of the most interested as well as an unassuming and efficient teacher, presided. Miss Richards regarding the assistance she wished the mothers to give to the children at home.

Our principal, Miss Ella Smiley, also gave a splendid talk on lunches at the school. She pointed out the necessity of preparing these lunches at home, and she pointed out the value of the parent's association in connection with this school. We have become famous for novelty "dress woollens"

Hearty praise is heard from all sides on our showing of handsome wool fabrics. Last week's sales, were the most remarkable in our history, for the novelty weaves.

The splendor and beauty of the merchandise charmed the lookers and captivated purchasers. Truly, the French are miracle workers. They have this season produced novelties in wool and silk and wool dress fabrics that have astonished the world.

Every charm of weave, every novel touch of color is represented in this collection of French novelties. The fabrics are new, the color tints are new and possibilities for elegant draperies are certainly newer than anything heretofore shown.

CITIZENS OF ROME SHOW INTEREST IN OPEN AIR SCHOOLS

We are all delighted to learn through the papers of Rome's special activity on behalf of open air schools. We understand that the work has been begun by public spirit and initiative and will be carried forward by the board of education. Fortunately the Rome correspondent is mistaken in the statement that Rome has the first fresh air school in the south. St. Louis has set us a good example in this regard. They have done well equipped and efficiently conducted fresh air schools.

The day of speculation in regard to fresh air and fresh schools in the South is over. This movement has been proven in Chicago, Philadelphia, New York, New Orleans, St. Louis and, in fact, most of our progressive cities.

If fresh air and sunshine is good and necessary for normal children, how infinitely more necessary is it for our sub-normal children to enjoy the benefits of at least a good light while they are fitting themselves, through our educational system, to cope with life. It is not as essential to have our boys and girls receive the benefits of public school work, strong to body and ready to meet the battles of life as it is to have them receive the credits which will take them into higher schools of education, and which will give them the responsibilities of citizenship. It is not as essential to assume the upkeep of others as it is to assume the responsibilities of citizenship.

Children in Atlanta's public schools continued in the year 1912-13, and we found that 198 or 45 per cent are physically defective. In view of this fact can there be any question that physical conditions, either at home or in the schools, perhaps in both, should be investigated with a view to correction?

The present agitation in regard to fresh air and fresh schools in the South is not open air schools, but fresh air and sunshine, and we feel confident that before long fresh air and sunshine will be provided for our sub-normal and normal children.

MRS. W. WOODS WHITE, Chairman of the Open Air School Committee.

A Parallel Case.

(From The National Monthly.)
It was at old Tullahoma in Marshall county, north Carolina, some years ago that the class in civil engineering was progressing with a drag, that was not pleasing to the old professor and threw out a good many complaints. Finally he met his match in a student who was not only perfect by any means, and the professor had to admit that George Washington was your age he was a surfer.

The boy came back at the professor with a catalogue of questions. And when George Washington was your age he was a surfer.

ASK COURT TO AMEND CHARTER OF EMORY

Action Taken by Trustees May Save College From Wrangle Like That at Vanderbilt.

Emory College, Oxford, Ga., October 11.—(Special.)—The trustees of Emory college, through their attorneys, H. B. Palmer and L. W. Branch, have petitioned the superior court of Newton county, in which county the college is chartered, to grant an amendment to the charter of the college.

Heretofore the board of trustees has been a self-perpetuating body. That is to say, the annual conference, to which the college belongs—the North Georgia, the South Georgia, and the Florida colleges—has no voice in the election or confirmation of trustees.

The petitioners desire the charter to be amended so that the trustees shall be confirmed by the annual conference, in which all the trustees reside, at the session of the conference next succeeding the election of the trustees.

It is gratifying to all those who are interested in Emory to know that the trustees have taken the initiative in this matter, and that the board of trustees has taken the wraps and slung the burden of the wrangle and slung the burden of the wrangle.

The Atlanta Constitution,

Gentlemen:-

Wednesday, October first, we inserted an ad. in your paper of ladies' Trimmed Hats at $4.95, intending to sell 100 of them. Before 11 o'clock 150 were sold and telegraph orders, mail orders, etc. made 50 more. Our Trimming Department became almost blocked so great were the sales.

One telegram from a city 100 miles from Atlanta ordered two. In one hour they were on their way by express. October 4th we received the following letter:-

"The two hats ordered by wire were received this A. M. by express. Find enclosed the check for the amount of same, $9.95. I appreciate your kindness in shipping them out to me so promptly. It has always been a pleasure for me to deal with your firm."

Which goes to show the value of the Constitution in an advertising way backed up by prompt work of the advertiser. We always make it the first point of our business to be "wide awake" and serve all promptly.

Yours truly,

J. M. HIGH COMPANY.

Dear Sir,-

The results from our advertisement which appeared in your paper Friday morning last have been most satisfactory. Our sales were exceptionally good, especially on the Chiffon robe and complete bed outfit. Many customers who responded to this ad brought much merchandise which had not been featured in the ad. If the results are as great from our ad which appears in your paper Sunday as the results from Friday's ad Monday will be indeed BIG MONDAY AT THE BIG STORE.

Assuring you of our future co-operation, we remain,

Very Respectfully,

Dear Sirs,-

It may be gratifying to you to know that the results I received from the full page advertisement in last Sunday's Constitution, exceeded my greatest expectations.

My North side store, 167 Peachtree street, recently opened, did its largest day's business following the insertion of our opening advertisement in the Constitution.

The South Side store, at 29 West Mitchell street, had more business Monday and Tuesday of this week than we could possibly wait on.

I was surprised at the people that visited these stores who heretofore never had been in either of our stores. The response was most pleasing as there were no prices quoted in the entire page.

I am sending you some follow up copy to begin next Sunday, October 12, advertising our North side store.

Thanking you for the assistance I have received from your Advertiser's Service, I am,

Yours Very Truly,

Spring Street to Be Transformed Into Boulevard Which Will Traverse City in Straight Line

A number of prominent real estate men and property owners are now planning to make of Spring street one of the finest boulevards in the city and an ideal outlet for north and southward traffic. The plans, as they have outlined them, mean extensive improvements and alterations which will take a considerable outlay of money and a good deal of time, but are being undertaken because they do not contemplate getting into the work this year, but are laying their plans thorough, so that everything may be arranged to have this work done certainly next year. The main features of the plan include the widening of the entire street, the extension of the present street from Fourteenth street to Peachtree street at Brookwood, the removal of the southeast corner of Spring street and the widening of the street to Peachtree street.

In the office of Captain R. M. Clay, chief of the city construction department, are profile drawings and estimates of the necessary cuts and fills incident to the proposed improvement. The profile, the captain explained, is only tentative. It calls for a cut of 10 feet at the intersection of Spring street and Carnegie way, and a 10-foot cut from Carnegie way to the main "grading" line of the present street. The profile also shows a 10-foot cut from the intersection of Spring street and Peachtree street to the intersection of Spring street and Brookwood, involving a cut of 10 feet from 15 to 20 feet. It is understood that the property owners whose land would be affected by the cutting of this corner are entirely agreeable to this scheme. There are, however, the matter of a strip of land about 50 feet in the rear of the lot, which will call for a special act of the legislature before it can be used.

At the next session of the legislature, which they hope to introduce in this strip. To cut this strip will not only greatly enhance the value of the state's property by reason of the improvement it will afford to the street, but will actually increase the frontage on the state's property on the street, wherefore little trouble is anticipated on this score. While no sort of payment has been named that may be used on this strip in event of the execution of the present plans, concrete has been suggested. John D. Bahbage, acting on Saturday, as representative of the Associated General Manufacturers, he stated that as a representative of the city the material of the city, with a contract would be made to put it down at absolutely no cost to the city, except the labor. The liberal proposition, Mr. Bahbage stated, the concrete men are willing to make for the sake of introducing concrete paving into the south and demonstrating its durability.

For the construction of a viaduct southward across the railroad tracks there are two proposed plans, one for a viaduct starting at the foot of Spring street and leaving to the Terminal station plaza, and the other leading from the foot of Cone street to Madison avenue. While a plan or more and the Spring street viaduct was being talked, the Cone street plan now seems to have grown in favor. The Cone street plan is deemed better because of the fact that it will connect directly with Madison avenue, a good thoroughfare leading straight to lower Whitehall street and West End through Peters street and West End. The Cone street plan is also better than a viaduct from the foot of Spring street to Madison avenue. With the proposed viaduct at the foot of Cone street, the great importance of the widening of Spring street

LAST WEEK'S ACTIVITY BEST IN SIX MONTHS

Nearly $1,000,000 Worth of Property Changed Hands, the Agents Say. A review of the activities of the last week of the real estate market shows more large sales or exchanges than any week in the last six months, and leaving a mighty good outlook for the ensuing weeks until the Christmas holidays. The total value of the property which has changed hands during the last week, as announced by the various agencies, approximately $1,000,000, the actual figures being in excess of $900,000.

FOUR "TWIN" HOUSES TO GO IN ATKINS PARK

Unique Scheme of W. F. Plaine Solves Curious Problem on Ponce de Leon Avenue. There has been, perhaps, no more puzzling bit of real estate developed in Atlanta since the Ponce de Leon avenue project. This strip is very narrow and lies between Ponce de Leon and Adelphi streets. The question in the minds of many has been what that property be utilized without interfering with the movement of the Ponce de Leon residence. Mr. Plaine's solution is to build four "twin" houses on the strip, each one being 10 feet wide and 10 feet deep. The houses will be built on the strip, each one being 10 feet wide and 10 feet deep. The houses will be built on the strip, each one being 10 feet wide and 10 feet deep.

Golf Acts as Great Stimulus To Enhancement of Realty

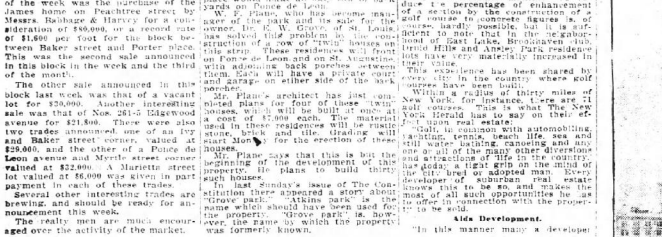

All work and no play has for years been recognized as a bad policy for the location of an attractive golf course in close proximity to his development close at hand in the general vicinity. And so the search for a sporty link frequently has diverted the mind of many from his business cares long enough for him to have considered the desirability of a country home for his family and self with the not uncommon result that the city property has lost a desirable resident to the profit of one of his neighbors. Many of these courses are occupied under leases, having either a short or a long period of years to run, but at last rate having to expire some time.

Signs of Atlanta's Greatness

Others of the prominent clubs, however, have bought the land occupied by their links, and this is the trend today. This is the case with the Glenwood (old club eighteen holes), at Glenwood, near Roslyn, B. E., which bought a large tract recently at Belle Terre; also the Dean Alford company, as the developers of this superb course, organized the Belle Terre Country club, with an eighteen-hole course, and a clubhouse now in being, enlarged to three times its former capacity.

ALL THE NEW MODES IN The Real French Blouse

Picture in your mind the softest shell shade of pink, the loveliest tone of turquoise, the dull richness of old gold—and even then you can't imagine the real "Frenchness" of the new blouses. These gentle colors draped with soft white crepe chiffon, net and shadow lace, and white ones draped with black shadow lace, afford that softness about a woman's dress so much affected this season...

Beautiful Hats Individual—Venture-some—Chic—Hats That Are Pertinently Pretty

THE CORSET IS THE CAUSE OF IT ALL—DISTINCTION—PRESENCE—whatever you call the ability to wear a gown to its most charming possibilities—do you really realize that the corset is the cause of it all?

The most recent figure, the supple style of the moment's mode, exemplifies this truth. Our beautiful corsets, designed with long unbroken back, are matchless in the symmetry of lines, and give to the figure, without any sacrifice of comfort, the complacency and ease of a perfect poise.

Mme. Mariette-Regaliste-La Camille (lace front) $3.50 to $25.00

We Have Just Received A New Dancing Corset With all the world dancing, it is small wonder that someone has given so much thought to the designing of corsets that would add both to the comfort and grace of the dancer. Such a corset is the model constructed to be of assistance in acquiring the proper poise of the body in taking the different steps. It is wonderfully flexible, with no bones, and made of a soft tricot and elastic web. The flesh is held in entirely by the unique cut of the garment rather than by boning. The back is very flat and the bust is cut extremely low.

Gee, But Young Men of Atlanta Are Slow, Say Pretty Models Who Wanted Good Time

By Betty Craig.

Miserable Miss Atlanta. To be termed slow and unobscured by anybody or anything is odious. But by an aggregation such as Miss Winifred Mills Burkholder's Troupe of Wonder Models of Fashion is nothing short of calamitous. And calamitous, in that particular instance, is mild—yes, exceedingly mild!

Miss Burkholder's Wonders—caviling beauties every stylish one of them—came to town, admitted the tall buildings, the busy streets, the educational and uplifting advantages and the women, but what they had to say of Atlanta's speed and up-to-the-minute men folks wouldn't be used by the chamber of commerce as advertising material.

One who saw them show Atlanta a thing or two in style and festive ways last week need be told that Miss Burkholder's Wonders are real, sure enough wonders. There are eight in all—a veritable harem of beauty that would make any sultan jealous of any collection he might gather.

Their First Visit.

It was their first visit to Atlanta. In fact, it was their first trip south. She had heard a lot of our sunny southland, and no one nowadays speaks of the south without first mentioning Atlanta. Naturally, they expected much of Atlanta. They expected worlds of things, which included entertainment, pleasure, gasoline, etcetera. All a woman can conceive. It takes no remote imagination or liberal exercise to know what that is.

But it unhappily is always the unexpected that happens.

In the case of Miss Burkholder's Wonders, what happened as unexpectedly during their stay in Atlanta is more aptly expressed in their own words, uttered in their apartments in the Hotel Ansley, Atlanta, Ga.

It was Virginia Rappee who spoke first. "Virginia is the most fascinating wonder of the eight wonders. It was she who bewildered the gaze of unsophisticated Whitehall street by plunging into its midst clad in her daring Tango skirt, which comes mighty near being no skirt at all, being just as much as the law allows—allowing, of course, that the law has one eye well closed.

She sat delectably on a lounge. All about her were gathered Miss Burkholder's wonder girls, each equally as dejected. Despondency was so thick that it could have been sliced in chunks and served to an army.

Fall to Flirt Speed.

"When it comes to speed," spoke Virginia, "this town is on the 'Fritz' See? 'F-R-I-T-Z'! The combined speed of the whole of it wouldn't put fingers into a grasshopper. We've seen here three days—think of it—and the only entertainment we've had the entire time has been... I hate to mention it, but you girls remember that little taxi ride we paid for out of our own dear, hard-earned bank accounts!"

"True, we gave a tango party to ourselves. The management stopped it. Kives locked up the bathroom. Did you ever?"

"Shameful!"

"Not 'certainly not' 'Outrageous'!"

Miss Rappee generally is known to wear what is known as a "Million Dollar Smile." On this particular occasion it was marked down. She herself would have sold it for thirty cents—maybe less.

She was in her palms and her soul in the depths.

She spoke:

"But they're chivalrous. You'll have to hand it to 'em for that. Everywhere I went they took off their hats and bowed their heads. And they didn't do it to show their original style of hair. Some of them didn't have any hair, I mean. They'd walk plumb off the sidewalk to give you the right-of-way."

"What they lack in nerve they make up in courtesy. I haven't seen many men. Nothing much but women. Women, women, loads of 'em. Pretty, too, believe me. They'd make 'em Blue-outrill look like chrome. Enough women to win the ballot. But men? Women where they are?"

Virginia sighed, waved a hand resignedly and lamented:

"Search me. They haven't been around here."

The Harriette Fisher Girl.

There was Lula Monroe, who as posed for Harrison Fisher and whose face has smiled at you from many magazine fronts. She was at the dress-making table, cold-screaming a face that would inspire a Raphael, and singing:

"London's dropped its dignity,
So has France and Germany,
All hands are dancing to that Ragged melody,
Full of originality."

Somebody shied a pillow.

"Don't, Monroe. You make us homesick."

"Well, I can say this much," between dates of cream, "I saw a club today! Top! A real club. One man pointed it out to another on the street. I looked up and saw a regular waiter with his head out the window. There was a club, all right. But for the life of me or anybody else, I have this far failed to find a clubman. Take back your pillow, Florence. I want a chocolate."

The door opened. In came Florence Temple, as blue as the rest, limped, slipped and some distance from pleasant.

"Who's being knocked, girls? Who, I say? Me? No! Good!"

"What? The boys?"

"Don't do it! It's cruel! The poor place can't help itself. I don't believe in hitting a body when he's down."

"Don't bear malice. It isn't nice. Besides, it hurts the complexion. I had an aunt who got wrinkles by it."

Patience A-Meets.

"I don't knock. Hoot! This burg's got plenty of politeness. Chivalry, you can't beat it. The men might not have nerve enough to get acquainted, but they're chivalrous. They'd better put it in cold storage while they have it. It doesn't last, you know, even though it doesn't treat anybody."

"However—comm—I can't say I labor it."

Helen Patterson is another blonde and if there ever was a creature more demurely, she didn't come by it last night. You have to know Helen to appreciate the fact.

"I ought," she murmured, "that this place would be perfectly heavenly for that love in a bungalow stuff with a gas range, but as a place for pleasure—real, luxurious pleasure—it reminds me of Hackensack."

"The folks are perfectly lovable, but they haven't got the courage to get acquainted. I mean—Oh, you know. Women don't bother my mind."

Esther Anderson was curled upon a rug, sitting absolutely and philosophically. She is beautiful enough to make the man who invented the word regret that he didn't invent one more adequate to fit her case.

"Guess what I did today," she chirped. "No, not that. I'm no flirt, understand? Mind, now, or I'll tell tales. I'll show some things that'll make you think I've been reading somebody's mail."

The Gay White Way.

"I was in going to say to this, I got desperate, and you know, whenever I get desperate, I'm sarcastic. In desperation, I asked one of the page boys downstairs to show me the way to the White Way. It never occurred to me to point to one of those lamp posts with four big lights on the sidewalk. That's it, he said—probably, too—and if it isn't enough, there's some more around the corner. They must be proud of those white lights—they're so white. Say, though? Gay as a trunch—no reflection, however, on the crutch. One needed no divining qualities to detect that Miss Burkholder's wonders did not appreciate Atlanta. But they did. Oh, yes, indeed! Only feminine Atlanta, however. They had as many nice things to say about Atlanta women as a doctored kite on her quivering out sight—or whatever they call that night they make the first dive into society.

The trouble was, they lacked entertainment and, word of all somebody to entertain them. Whatever—or what little—they got was paid for, as Miss Rappee said, out of their own dear little bank rolls. Once they took an auto ride, The troupe clipped in and paid for it. The only man in sight was the chauffeur. His presence was unwelcome.

They had just about as much fun in Atlanta as the star mourner at a funeral. Mankind was an absent figure in their visit. Pleasure absolutely foreign. And, if the truth was known, the whole secret was purely a case of decision on both the part of Miss Burkholder's wonders and Atlanta mankind.

The Man Under the Row.

In the first place, Atlanta mankind saw from the very outset that Miss Burkholder's beauties were the aristocracy of aristocracy. Atlanta mankind wasn't accustomed to taking privileges of aristocracy. Mankind just didn't have the nerve. It never occurred to marking a moment that Miss Burkholder's Wonders were as eager for entertainment as chorus girls.

Therefore, the operators of Peachtree let Miss Burkholder's aggregation be with much wailing and lamentation and waited patiently for the appearance of showdown's more accessible brother.

And, on the other hand, Miss Burkholder's Wonders considered Atlanta—being as it was, representative of the south they were seeing for the first time—the fair-voiced and aristocratic to entertain even the aristocracy of showdown. They didn't encourage, they didn't invite. They didn't take pains to tempt. Consequently they were compelled to entertain themselves.

But even at that, they cash and every one grived the lack of entertainment which even they themselves could purchase. They arrived in town expecting to find a vast post-poned duplicate of Father Knickerbocker's 7th district—maybe many.

But—

"We hunted a regular cabaret," reported Miss Melin, "and found a 'brary.'"

"A rathskeller," cried Miss Rappee "and found an aquarium."

"A five grill room," wailed Miss Temple, "and found a fresh air institute."

"A roof garden," sobbed Miss Patterson, "and found an art gallery."

"A wine garden," lamented Miss Anderson, "and found a sociological garden."

"A young Congo Island and found the Young Women's League for the perpetration of Chris Morale."

"What have we struck? Chorus the Wonders," boomed by mistake!

Proud Hapsburg Archduchess Works As a Hospital Nurse

Isabella Marie, Whose Unhappy Marriage to Heir of Bavarian Throne Was Annulled Soon After Ceremony, Joins Staff of Vienna Hospital in Effort to Forget Her Sorrow.

(Copyright, 1913, by Curtis Brown.)
Vienna, October 11.—Working as a common nurse in a Vienna hospital, the Archduchess Isabella, eldest daughter of the Austrian royal family, is trying to lead her own simple life. In the interest of her daily routine, in tending the sick and in preparing herself for actual Red Cross work on some possible battlefield of the future, this proud Hapsburg girl hopes to forget her unfortunate marriage. Her cousin, Prince George, future king of Bavaria, it will be remembered, left her husband almost immediately after the marriage and the economy has since been a painful one. The last attempt at a reconciliation, the last episode given in the amazing family history, was the wedding at which she was present.

Just Like Ordinary Nurse.

Just outside the city, nestled among the vineyards, which cling to the hillsides, stands the Hofburg, where the great social functions of the many of the most famous Vienna doctors are held. The archduchess, like her sisters of the Red Cross, got the training which fits the training which she will receive in the hospital. The archduchess, like her sisters of the Red Cross, got the training which fits the training which she will receive in the hospital.

Archduchess Isabella Marie

asked for more extended privileges, but places herself under the restrictions of the house in the same way as any other nurse. There is some speculation as to what the future of the young archduchess will be. The eldest daughter of the archduke Frederick, second cousin of the emperor, she was destined to be married to Prince George, it was expected she would retire to the shelter of a convent and there was considered the arrangement when it was known that she would follow the fashion, just as so many among the aristocracy, to marry a prince of the house of Austria. It is now known that she will not do this, and will follow an Austrian army to the battlefield, she will not doubt, and will tend the wounded. Should there ever be an opportunity of putting her skill to the proof on the battlefield, she will not doubt, and will tend the wounded.

Spells Troubles of Daughters.

It is said that she spelt the appearance of the troubadour of her father's house. Her father, the archduke, was a great favorite of the emperor, and his daughters were all married to princes of the house of Austria. It is now known that she will not do this, and will follow an Austrian army to the battlefield, she will not doubt, and will tend the wounded.

Archduchess Isabella of Austria years ago, it was an understood thing that the princess would embrace Roman Catholicism, and it is probable that she was baptized in the faith. The alliance between the ruling houses of Austria and Bavaria has been a frequent one. The Bavarian court is very rich, and the princess, although not very much the same as the other daughters, is a very beautiful girl. Her father, the archduke, was a great favorite of the emperor, and his daughters were all married to princes of the house of Austria.

Free Blood Is Needed.

The relationship between the two houses is so very close in the present generation that the desirability of introducing fresh blood has often been mentioned. Unfortunately, alliances with most of the royal houses of Europe have been broken. The archduchess, like her sisters of the Red Cross, got the training which fits the training which she will receive in the hospital.

Reason for the Annulment of Her Marriage Not Revealed—As Nurse, She Submits to Regular Routine, and Agrees to Go to War for the Red Cross if Called Upon.

It is reported that she had intended to stretch new boots for other people. The archduchess, like her sisters of the Red Cross, got the training which fits the training which she will receive in the hospital.

Archduchess Teresa Nurec.

The eldest of the Red Cross was established. The archduchess, like her sisters of the Red Cross, got the training which fits the training which she will receive in the hospital.

Much to the Surprise of the Other Nurses.

The archduchess, like her sisters of the Red Cross, got the training which fits the training which she will receive in the hospital.

SMART HATS OF BLACK VELVET AND FEATHERS FANTASTIC

THE most fashionable color for the new winter hats is black and the most fashionable materials are velvet and velour. Almost no other color or material is seen. And there is remarkable similarity in the shapes and in the trimming. Nearly all of the hats roll upward from the face. They are not large and almost universally becoming. The trimming is simple and in many cases consists merely of a band and a fanlike egret, fluted ostrich or Paradise plume. The trimming on the black velvet hat in the upper left corner, consists of a band of gours and two brushes of the same material. This hat and the hat in the centre have, it is to be noted, the popular tam-o-shanter crown. The hat in the centre, which rolls up beautifully on the left, is trimmed severely with a smart fluted Paradise quill and with a band and rosette of white moire ribbon. The symmetrically rolling hat at the lower left is ornamented on the right side with a fluted ostrich quill and a rich rosette of yellow ribbon roses and of green ribbon leaves. The two hats on the left side of the page are of black velour. The hat on the upper part is trimmed with a band of fluted egret and a scruffy fluted fanlike, which the more scruffy it may be this season, the more popular. The trimming on the other hat is also of egret, consisting of two stiff brushes, and a thick stubble-like band around the crown.

Athletics Are Again World's Champions

Plank Masters the Giants In Final Game of Series Allowing But Two Hits Scenes Saturday When Vardon and Ray Downed Maiden and Mann at East Lake, 1 Up

New York, October 11.—The Philadelphia Athletics won the baseball championship of the world for 1913 at the Polo ground in New York City, 3 to 1, in the fifth and deciding game of the series. With the score of games standing three to one in their favor, the American League representatives went in to clinch the series, and, before the masterly playing of the Mackees, the National leaguers had absolutely no chance.

Connie Mack, anxious to finish the struggle on the final day of the week, sent Eddie Plank to veteran southpaw to the mound, and John McGraw, his back to the wall, called on Christy Mathewson to check the victorious rout of the Athletics and set sail for his team a breathing spell.

Mathewson did not read as promptly to the demands made upon him as did Plank, and lacking that powerful offensive and defensive support which the Athletics accorded to their twirler, Mathewson, during the opening innings of the game to give the Mackees a chance to overcome the Athletics.

Plank the Hero. From that point on Plank and the players who hit were never in trouble. The two-run lead grew more formidable as the game progressed and many of the fans began to leave the park at the end of the seventh inning. But for Baker's over-zealousness, Plank would have been content with pitching a one-hit, no-run game, but when the Athletics were pitched to an eighth for an extra inning, Plank pitched with such little doubt that he was sure to be had.

It is a peculiar coincidence that when the ball was pitched to Plank, the home base was empty. The Athletics were called upon to win the game and the result was just what was expected.

Vardon and Ray Defeat Mann and Maiden, 1 Up; Play at Brookhaven Today

By P. W. Hammond. In a match which was not decided until the 26th hole, Harry Vardon and Willie Mann, local professionals, by one up at the East Lake course yesterday. The invaders will play the Kenzie brothers double match over the Brookhaven course today.

Four were enough for all on the tenth, Ray just missing a long put for a three. Vardon was straight down the course with an iron on the eleventh, while the others found trouble. Mann sought the trap to the right of the green. Ray got out prettily with a club and matched Vardon's three. Maiden and Mann took five. This made the visitors three up.

Maiden started his remarkable "come back" on the drive on the fifteenth, getting a two on the first, striking a long put on the other, and taking three. The Mann's four matched Vardon's, and the hole was level. Mann took five and the hole was level.

Chattanooga, Tenn., October 11.—(Special).—Although constantly pressed by Coach Heisman to let the Chattanooga eleven have the ball, and being it was hard to tell just who was playing, the Yellow Jackets swept up touchdowns after touchdowns in the first half of the game, and a big surprise. Woodworth, the crack tight quarter of the Chattanooga team, was carried off the field with a broken nose and other injuries. The local athletes assumed an irresistible stride and made touchdowns after touchdowns. The players found difficulty in keeping up with the grunting.

Chushman made several spectacular runs before the game got under way. By instructions, was not given the ball frequently, but all were four in or over whenever it got close to the line. John Preas was a terror. He carried the ball for many yards before being stopped. The players were advised to keep the ball in the backfield. Chushman hurried many plays on the left side of the field. Preas' kicking was one of the features of the game. He kicked three field goals and three touchdowns. The players were advised to keep the ball in the backfield. Chushman hurried many plays on the left side of the field. Preas' kicking was one of the features of the game. He kicked three field goals and three touchdowns. The players were advised to keep the ball in the backfield.

Surprise of Game. A fumble gave the ball to Tech soon after the kick-off, and after a few plays Coach Heisman called a timeout. Preas returned the surprise. The ball was in the backfield. The players were advised to keep the ball in the backfield. Chushman hurried many plays on the left side of the field. Preas' kicking was one of the features of the game. He kicked three field goals and three touchdowns. The players were advised to keep the ball in the backfield.

The Jackets Reminded. Description of the remainder of the game is wanted. The Jackets were not far from advanced faster, but Heisman ordered that nothing but straight football be played. Three touchdowns were scored. The score was 36 to 6. The game was over at 10:30. The players were advised to keep the ball in the backfield.

 GOULD AND PASCO
 SUBDIVISION
 SUNDAY

GOULD AND PASCO SUBDIVISION joins the beautiful suburb of ALTOLOMA. Just beyond Emory and lies on the east side of the Georgia railroad and the Stone Mountain electric car line. This property has been subdivided into broad and deep lots, many times the size of the ordinary lot, where you can have plenty of room for the cow, the chicken and the garden. The saving in building expenses alone, by avoiding the expense of the many impure and poisonous fluids, will more than provide the small weekly payments required on your lots. This property lies directly in line of rapid advancement and offers one of the very best investments in the city of Atlanta. I can refer you to more than one hundred satisfied purchasers in ALTOLOMA who will readily verify these statements.

ONE DOLLAR A WEEK NO INTEREST—NO TAXES

DR. C. W. GOULD AND JOHN G. PASCO, owners of this property, have authorized me to sell these lots upon my own terms. I shall, therefore, give you the opportunity of purchasing the same upon the terms of ONE DOLLAR A WEEK. Considering the location of this property, its railroad and street car facilities, and the fact that the lots are many times the size of the ordinary lot, the above terms are the most liberal ever offered the public of the city of Atlanta.

ALTOLOMA SPECIAL

THE GEORGIA Railroad has provided special ALTOLOMA coaches, which will leave the old Union station promptly at 3:15 P. M. Your automobiles will return you to the Emory cars, thus enabling you to reach your homes in ample time for early supper.

Yale Inconsistency Surprise Of Present Football Season; Penn and Cornell Show Form

Philadelphia, October 11.—The football season would be abnormal if it did not have its inconsistencies. One of the hardest things for the critic to explain is the curious way in which it begins. The season is supposed to start in September, but this year it was delayed until October 11.

The game between Yale and Harvard, which was held in Philadelphia, was the first of the season. It was a surprise because the two teams had not played each other since the previous season. The game was a close one, with Yale winning by a score of 14-0.

The game between Penn and Cornell, which was held in Ithaca, N.Y., was the second of the season. It was also a close one, with Penn winning by a score of 10-0.

The game between Cornell and Harvard, which was held in Ithaca, N.Y., was the third of the season. It was a close one, with Cornell winning by a score of 10-0.

The game between Harvard and Yale, which was held in Philadelphia, was the fourth of the season. It was a close one, with Yale winning by a score of 14-0.

The game between Yale and Cornell, which was held in Ithaca, N.Y., was the fifth of the season. It was a close one, with Yale winning by a score of 14-0.

The game between Cornell and Penn, which was held in Ithaca, N.Y., was the sixth of the season. It was a close one, with Cornell winning by a score of 10-0.

The game between Penn and Harvard, which was held in Ithaca, N.Y., was the seventh of the season. It was a close one, with Penn winning by a score of 10-0.

The game between Harvard and Cornell, which was held in Ithaca, N.Y., was the eighth of the season. It was a close one, with Cornell winning by a score of 10-0.

IN SOLID TRAIN LOAD TATE QUARRIES EXPORT TO EAST $50,000 IN GEORGIA MARBLE

Here is one of the most expensive trainloads of Georgia products that ever crossed the state line. It is fourteen cars of marble columns, cut from the Tate quarries at Nelson, on the Louisville and Nashville.

The marble is worth $50,000. It is probably the most valuable shipment of marble ever sent from Georgia.

The Blue Ridge Marble company, of which Colonel Sam C. Tate is president, are the owners of the famous Tennessee quarries from which these columns were cut.

The shipment is thought to be not only the most valuable in Georgia, but in the history of the marble industry in the United States.

The Tate quarries have figured in the news of the country by bidding for the marble from which it is to be constructed the Lincoln memorial in Washington. The bids are hung up over the strong protest of this country.

It is estimated that the Tate quarries have exported to the east $50,000 worth of marble columns.

The quarries owned by the Tate have tremendous capacity, and Colonel Tate expects, as Georgia marble will come better known, the quarries will place its products in every part of the country.

Crop Failure in West Sends Editor And Jewish Publication to Atlanta

Constitution's Prophecy That Georgia Would Reap Golden Profit From West's Adversity Comes True.

By J. Walter Lefrow. "Southward ho" as a cry of business and commerce from the west has received a stimulus through the crop failure and meat famine of the west which has attracted the attention of the whole country, and probably the most far-reaching result of the west's adversity is in the removal to Atlanta from the west of the Jewish Review.

Numbers of people whose farms in the middle western states have been parched and their crops ruined by the drought have turned their eyes to rich and prosperous fields of the sunny south. Vice Crusade, Attracting Attention of All America, Won Christian Convention

By J. Walter Lefrow. The inside story of how Atlanta won the 1913 convention of the Disciples of Christ, as told by Dr. L. O. Bricker, makes one of the most interesting disclosures on national thought and tendency that has developed in many a day.

Dr. Bricker declares that the one preeminent, commanding accomplishment that put the name of Atlanta upon the lips of every person in the country was the convention of the Disciples of Christ, which was held here in Atlanta in 1913.

Remarkable Decrease in Upkeep Cost During Past Few Years

"The most important improvement in motor cars during the last five years is the remarkable decrease in the cost of upkeep," says W. C. Mahoney, manager Cartercar branch, Atlanta. SHIPMENT OF PAIGE CARS SENT TO CADIZ Machines Will Be Used for Taxicab Service Between Two Big Towns.

It is quite generally known that European automobile manufacturers have in their experimental laboratories several American-made cars used for the purpose of patronizing in making cars for export to the United States. This is made necessary because of the fact that road conditions in this country are so different from those in Europe that cars manufactured for use there would be unable to stand up under the harsh treatment received at the hands of our average rural highway.

1914 ANNOUNCEMENT PAIGE 36-$1275

Still More for the Money; No Change in Price. Gray and Davis Electric Starting and Lighting System

FOR the past season, the Paige "36" at $1275 has been recognized by everybody as such extra value that it has had no competition. Manufacturers and dealers with cars selling at similar prices have declared the Paige "36" a gift at the price. They haven't even hoped to compete with it. They have been content to get their share of the business that we couldn't handle.

The equipment of the Paige "36" is universally acknowledged to be of a character and completeness only found on the highest priced cars. But bear this in mind—it is the Paige car itself, not its equipment, that has demanded the consideration of the trade and public alike and that is responsible for its overwhelming popularity. Clothes don't make the man and neither does equipment make a motor car. It is the superior design, the unusual mechanical features, the power and flexibility of the wonderful Paige motor, the quality of materials and workmanship, and the splendid construction of the Paige "36" throughout that have kept the thousands of Paige owners, in all parts of the world, enthusiastic over their cars and made every one of them a Paige "booster." No amount of equipment could possibly accomplish this if the car itself was not right. When you come to look at the Paige car, if you are not an automobile expert bring one with you. You can judge the equipment yourself, but let him give the Paige car as anywhere near the price that will give you as much in fine construction, size, power, economy, comfort and style as the Paige. These are the qualities on which it will pay you well to judge your motor car.

It is hard to realize that the price of the Paige "36" is only $1275. A really big, roomy car; 116-inch wheel base; left side drive and center control, a powerful, quiet 4x5-inch Paige motor; unit power plant; silent chain drive for cam shaft, pump and generator; deep tilted 10-inch cushions and a score of other features of design and construction which place this car beyond competition. As for equipment, in every detail, from starter to tail-lamp, it is all of the highest class.

Last year a lot of big men in the trade said we couldn't afford to sell the Paige "36" for $1275, and that we wouldn't continue that price. After three or four months the same big men in the trade—alarmed at our sweeping supremacy—said, "They're making a strong play for popularity now, but watch out for their 1914 price." Well, the 1914 price is $1275, just the same. Not a dollar added in cost to you, but look at the added equipment: Electric Horn, Electric Curtains, Combined Rain-Visor and Ventilating Windshield, Non-Skid Tires in the rear, and Ventilating Hood.

All of this is added on for 1914 and the price remains the same. If the Paige "36" has been sensational this year—and for every car delivered there have been many purchasers waiting—what a value it is for the coming year! No other car approaches it in value at the price, and you would have to pay four or five hundred dollars more to find more value in any car.

This isn't "advertising talk." It is just the plain old-fashioned unvarnished truth and almost anybody that knows automobiles will tell you so. Production has been increasing steadily in the factory and we are able to take care of more purchasers all the time now. The plant is working day and night. Deliveries of the 1914 models are being made as promptly as could be expected in the case of a success like the Paige "36." Our immense new factory is under construction and our removal to it will still further facilitate Paige production.

Above all things else, the Paige "36" deserves consideration first as a car. But consider its equipment, too. Regular equipment includes the Gray & Davis electric starting and lighting system. Bosch magnetic, rain-visor and ventilating windshield, electric horn, electric starting and lighting for our $1000. Wheel base, 116 inches. Wheel hubs, 30x3 1/2 inch, sturdy, silent motor, 3 1/2 inch; unit power plant; cork insert multiple disc clutch; wide doors; roomy body. The Paige "36" has the reputation for high reputation of the Paige Car. For the past two years, respectively, the "36" has been recognized as a splendid, reliable car at a low price. And all this time we have worked steadily on refinements and improvements many of which are found in this year's model.

The 1914 season will be a distinctive Paige triumph. Keep that in mind. Just as the 1913 season has been a Paige triumph. Because in the Paige "36" and the Paige "25" the public finds extra value which no other car can give.

PAIGE 25-$950 Electric Starting and Lighting System, $75 extra. From this date we will equip the Paige "25" with an electric starting and lighting system for $75 extra. The car is designed to take the equipment, and it will be added at request. Present owners can also have this system installed on their cars. Dealers will furnish prices and details on equipment and lighting for our $1000. Wheel base, 116 inches. Wheel hubs, 30x3 1/2 inch, sturdy, silent motor, 3 1/2 inch; unit power plant; cork insert multiple disc clutch; wide doors; roomy body. The Paige "25" has the reputation for high reputation of the Paige Car. For the past two years, respectively, the "25" has been recognized as a splendid, reliable car at a low price. And all this time we have worked steadily on refinements and improvements many of which are found in this year's model.

You Are Sure of Perfect Service If You Own a Cartercar!

A CAR that will travel all roads as they come—that has nothing to cause trouble—and that is easily driven—these are the features of the Cartercar that make perfect service an absolute necessity.

This is the car with the gearless transmission—the ten or twelve complicated gears of the ordinary gear car being replaced by a simple two unit transmission.

So you can see that this—the weakest point of the gear car—is made the strongest point of the Cartercar.

No matter how hard you drive a Cartercar—over what hilly, sandy or muddy roads you travel—there is nothing to give away, to cause trouble the next time you are in a tight place.

You simply cannot appreciate the value of these points until you get out on the road. Until you drive a Cartercar you cannot understand how one car can be so much more efficient, so much more reliable than other cars.

Unlimited speeds—economy of power—easy control—and far greater wear from tires because of the elimination of jerks and jars—these are exclusive features that are making Cartercar popularity, so great everywhere.

And we ask you to let us prove these statements. Come in and see for yourself—the Cartercar will talk for itself—and it will back up everything we claim for it. We want reliable agents—some good territory open. Phone or call.

Why the Price is Lower

HERE we present a few concise cold factory facts, so that you can get a faint idea of what 5,000,000 cars a year means, and how it makes possible minimum economy. Read carefully. Then draw your own conclusions.

We are the second largest consumers of aluminum in the world—not in the automobile industry—but in the world. We use 18,000 pounds a day or 5,400,000 pounds a year.

This year we will use 20,000 tons of steel. One of our recent monthly averages on incoming freight alone was over 85 carloads a day, or a total of 5,100,000 pounds of incoming daily freight.

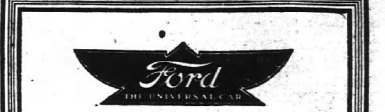

On outgoing freight we never fall below 35 carloads a day and often go as high as 60 carloads a day. This year our outgoing freight will approximate 270,000 pounds.

Our incoming express matter will average ten to twelve thousand pounds a day and outgoing is almost double that.

We print our American catalogue in 1,000,000 lots. In addition to that is our German, Italian, French, Spanish and Portuguese editions which are run in 300,000 to 500,000 lots. Then there are huge special editions for South Africa, Canada, Australia, India, etc.

We receive over 1200 pieces of first-class mail matter each day. We send out over 2000 pieces of first-class mail matter each day. On an average we handle over 20,000 pieces each week.

We operate machines in our mailing department that stamp, seal and count 250 letters a minute.

After the harvest the wise man buys a Ford. He provides himself both pleasure and an efficient and economical servant for the seasons to come. Viewed from any angle, he knows the Ford is his best "buy" of the year.

Five hundred dollars is the new price of the Ford seven-hundred touring car is five fifty; the town car seven fifty—all f. o. b. Detroit, complete with equipment.

Why the Price is Lower

Our telegraph offices (situated right in our factory) are among the largest individual handlers of telegrams and cables in the world.

We have over $3,000,000 worth of automatic machinery—which means that we can cut production costs, on machined parts, 50%.

This year we have contracted for 200,000 tires, 250,000 lamps, 100,000 fenders, 200,000 wheels, and 200,000 rims—and these are only some of the trimmings.

The motor is larger—but the price is lower. The wheelbase is longer—but the price is lower.

The body is designed with cowl dash and flush U doors with concealed hinges—but the price is lower.

Mrs. Keefer Admits Swearing and Smoking at Divorce Hearing and Alimony Is Denied.

The alimony suit brought by Mrs. Grace Macy Keefer against David H. Keefer, both well known in Atlanta, brought many sensational allegations on both sides at the hearing Saturday morning before Judge George I. Bell.

Mrs. Keefer admitted frankly to the court that she drank, smoked cigarettes and swore, and defended herself on the swearing by saying that there was nothing in the time that prohibited swearing at a person as long as nothing was sworn in.

Alimony Is Denied. Judge Bell denied the temporary alimony and attorney fees.

CLAYTON BOOSTS CREEK DRAINAGE

Thinks That Splendid Results of Peachtree Creek Work Should Be Object Lesson for Government.

"The removal of obstructions from the bed of Peachtree creek to prevent a 'backflow' of water into the new $200,000 sewage disposal plant has increased the efficiency of the plant more than $10,000, according to an estimate of Chief F. M. Clayton of the construction department.

"In cleaning the creek Chief Clayton saw beyond the improvement of the sewage plant. He believes that the country, state or federal government should include the proper care of small streams in the drainage laws.

"If all the creeks and small streams in the country are cleared and kept free of obstructions from lands that increase millions in value," Chief Clayton says.

Data bearing on the subject of creek drainage in Georgia is being presented by Chief Clayton to be embodied in a communication to the Fulton county delegation in the legislature and he is going to make an effort to have the general assembly enact a general law which will give the county commissioners authority to deepen all creek streams and assess the property owners.

The work can be done for $500 a mile, or 2 cents a foot.

Object Lesson for Government.

"The cleaning of the channel of Peachtree Creek for the betterment of the conditions around the sewage disposal plant," says Chief Clayton, "is an object lesson of which the government should take advantage."

"The result of this work infans also the redemption of all the bottom lands along the line of the creek three to five feet, giving the stream a good velocity and reducing the frequency of the overflow which now occurs with about every rain, and which has converted what was once good tillable land into swamps.

"My observation from an examination of quite a number of streams in different sections of the state is that this condition exists with practically all the streams in the country, and it occurs to me that by concerted action on the part of the adjacent owners all this land can be reclaimed and the original fertility and add thousands of acres to the farming interest of this country.

"The creeks are all filled with the accumulation of centuries, and the removal of the obstructions from the channels, so that the overflows which now occur can be prevented, it is useless to say that the creek bottoms are the most productive land in the country. Our experience on the Peachtree creek work shows that which means a cost of two cents per acre, with the result of increasing the value of the land reclaimed is taken into consideration.

Concerted Action Necessary.

"Without concerted action on the part of the land owners, the work will be impossible, as the clearing of the obstructions through the work will produce no results unless the obstructions are removed below. To overcome this difficulty, I say get a general law enacted to assess the property owners to have this work done and authority given to assess the property owners a certain amount per foot against the adjacent land owners. As shown above, the increase in value of the land will pay a large dividend on the cost, and they are worth and are satisfied that the cost is not too high for the benefit which will be satisfactorily solved with great good resulting to the state.

Chief Clayton is preparing a map showing the route of the creek from the sewage plant to the Chattahoochee river. He is also gathering data with the view of submitting his idea to the Fulton delegation in the legislature.

The Vogue of Plaid

Not for years has the vogue for plaid been so pronounced as at present. The illustrations show three smart costumes, composed of the popular fabric. The first is a child's frock of serge, with collar, cuffs and loops of black velvet; three narrow patent leather belts add a smart touch to the little costume.

The figure in the centre is wearing a gown of poplin trimmed with plaid taffeta; a plaited net frill and revers complete the finish at the neck. Large metal buttons form the trimming on the coat.

The third figure is garbed in a gown of plain and plaid serge; jet buttons ornament the blouse and cuffs, which flare widely about the hands.

ATLANTA GIRL OF 1913 AS SHE SHOULD LOOK, DRAWN BY FAMOUS ILLUSTRATOR OF FASHIONS

By Ima Dooley.
An Illustrator of Fashion, and one who has syndicated her illustrations, is Atlanta's last accomplishment in the world of art. Hazel Miles, of Indianapolis, one of the best known illustrators of fashion in this country, has made her home in Atlanta since last November. In her studio on Ponce de Leon avenue, she has been so busy that she herself scarcely realizes how long she has been here, and not until her booklet in early September was published showing the latest fashions on fashion and promising two similar publications a season did Atlanta's patrons of art realize there was a genius in their midst.

True the name Hazel Miles has appeared at the bottom of many of the smartest illustrations which have made the pictorial part of the biggest "ads" in the daily paper. But the author the average observer believed was the product of some syndicate in the east or in Chicago.

This is the pictorial age—the age when everybody demands that everything printed be illustrated. The short story, the long story, the political news story, the last police scandal, the obituary tribune, the report of the preacher's Sunday sermon, all must be illustrated to meet the demand of the age, and the kindergarten theory of presenting the object talked of pushes itself right through every branch of work known.

HAD DARWIN LIVED IN THIS DAY

Had Mr. Darwin lived in this day there would be no question about the whereabouts of the missing link, its form and manner of being, for there would be pictures of it every position, in its nursery, in its study, as it walked to church, and interviews with it would have been worked out of the mere pictures of it, and the world would have been the wiser about its real antecessary. Indeed the demand for pictorial presentation is so great that there are those that believe they will yet get a peep of the actual apertures of the immortal.

With this being the enterprising spectacular spirit of the times, it is not surprising that anything as important as woman's attire, which has passed out of the realms of the dressmaking studio and department stores and become the theme for medical directors, moralists and preachers, should demand an artist's stroke on the latest story based upon it.

No amount of reading matter about the kind of heel Madame should have to her shoe, the kind of corset she buys, lingerie she affects, means as much as the little illustration which shows the thing itself, while the display "ads" of the modern moment carries with it a directly impressive picture of the gown, wraps or hats exploited.

It is the artist's stroke that Hazel Miles gives to the fashion sketches, and though the modish woman tells you it is her own idea, it is from the illustrations in the daily papers that she bases the idea which individualizes her gowns.

ISSUES BOOKLETS ON FASHIONS.

Miss Miles will issue two booklets of her illustrations each season, the first of which appeared in September. These booklets cover every phase of fashion—from the baby layette right through to grandma's bouffant gown. It is needless to add that the booklets will hereafter be anticipated by readers of up-to-date fashion literature.

Miss Miles has her studio at 302 Ponce de Leon avenue, and is one of the busiest young people in town. She is a lover of every branch of art, and deprecates the fact that there is not an art school in Atlanta, and that this particular branch of art has not had more followers. In the development of her work she will need trained assistance, but she will probably have to secure it away from here, as there are no fashion illustrators among Atlanta's gifted young people. She is compelled to decline patronage every week for lack of time and assistance.

She is a graduate of the art school of the Chicago Museum of Art; she has visited the great studios of the country, and is enthusiastic in her appreciation of Atlanta as a field for artistic endeavor. She is a valuable acquisition to the group of Atlanta's lovers of art, who are making the effort to create a more definite art spirit among the people of the city generally.

I am told the artist in this branch must be ready to anticipate, as well as follow, to interpret and portray; and there are complete requirements which keep the artist on the qui vive at all times for new subject matter.

MUST ANTICIPATE TOMORROW'S STORY.

They can not rely upon the story of yesterday, the fashion of the morning, and the model of a moment ago. They must anticipate the story of tomorrow; portray at high noon the lines of the afternoon model, and suggest the lines of the model of the moment to come.

The pen stroke must be already on the surface of the white paper before the queen of 1913 fashion has said she wanted the particular gown drawn for her. She is followed in her changing wayward spirit by the illustrator, who must be first and foremost a clairvoyant. When the queen decides that her figure will present graceful fullness about the hips, narrowness at the feet, fullness of youthfulness in the face, and an unbroken line from shoulder to waist, the illustrator has drawn the picture and handed it to the monarch of Vanity Fair before the latter makes the actual demand.

But all of this leads again to the story of the young artist herself—Hazel Miles.

She visited the opening of an Atlanta modiste who returned from Paris last week, she studied the faces of the women at the various openings. She drew the pictures illustrating this story today—pictures of the Atlanta girl of 1913. I submitted them to the modiste who knows, and I showed them to several dames of fashion and they all confessed these are the governing lines of the gowns to make ravsante the belle of this and the coming season.

I call attention here to the chiton evening gown in the illustration. The inspiration of it was that shown by an artist modiste. The gown built of fresh pink satin has fullness at the hip line, but narrowness at the feet, though there is enough fullness and length to make the little swirl on the ground. There is tunic of sheerest net over chiffon bordered with fur, and set above it a garland of little French flowers. The corsage drapery shows the distinct line from shoulder to waist—chemise of lace set between the folds at the bust line; a soft tinted flower gives finish, and the sleeves still show the diamond drapery.

SMART COAT HAS WAISTCOAT TO IT.

The other stately figure illustrated covers the same lines of the figure, and the material is of the soft pliable kind that lends itself to the figure. The smart coat has a waistcoat to it, and the hat shows a burst of paradise plumes that ascend from the close fitting velvet hat. The entire costume was inspired by a gown and hat in one of Atlanta's leading department stores.

And amidst seated at her bouffant dressing table shows the one-piece garment which she wears next to her gown. It shows her dainty bouffant gowns and the accessories of the sumptuous sanctuaries of a lady's bouffant.

Hazel Miles with her art, fresh and distinctive, and her energy and industry commendable to see, came to Atlanta and had only presented a few illustrations in the Atlanta market when her fortune seemed made. What Atlanta men had been obliged to get in New York and Chicago, they could get now at home from her. They were quick to see it. Her ability, local at first, pushed out, and soon requests came to her for her work from all over the state and far out of it. She could not meet the demand. There was no one to share the work with her, and in September she organized her own syndicate for fashion illustrating.

She illustrates for Chamberlain, Johnson-Dobson Co. The first store outside of Atlanta to secure her illustrations was that of the Miller company in Knoxville. The Rollman & Sons, Cincinnati's leading store for women, followed, and then came an order from H. P. Watson & Co., of Indianapolis. Oppenheim-Collins Co., of Newark, N. J., have bought the rights of the syndicate for their Newark and Brooklyn (N. Y.) stores; also Forbes & Wallace, of Springfield, Mass.; Frederick & Nelson, Seattle, Wash.; E. E. Atkinson & Co., Minneapolis, Minn.; W. A. Green & Co., Dallas, Texas; and the "Whitehouse," of Spokane, Wash.; The Troy (N. Y.) Times, The Beacon, of Kansas, have secured her work for their advertisers, and illustrations have been sent for individual patrons in St. Louis, Nashville and Philadelphia, and all this business in one month's time. Her second series of illustrations will be published late in October.

Aside from the interest Miss Miles inspires in her achievement, her coming opens a new field of art endeavor in Atlanta. There is demand for the fashion illustrator here, as her success proves, and she needs assistants. The daily paper more and more demands its individual staff and the corps of writers employed to do syndicate work are in number almost duplicated by illustrators. With the application for the position to write fashions, a woman must be able to produce her illustrations, if she cannot do it herself.

Atlanta Belle of 1913 A Fascinating Creature

The Atlanta belle of 1913 as Hazel Miles, Atlanta's fashion illustrator, sees her, on the street, at a ball, and in her boudoir, will be the most fascinating of creatures. On the street she will wear a graceful garment that will cling about her dainty ankles. Her coat shows a waistcoat, and her hat has a crown of Paradise. At a ball, she will have a swirl of soft material about her high-heeled slippers, a tunic of fur-edged net will hang below the knee over the satin skirt and the bodice will have finish at the waist in a single flower. In her boudoir she will be all in lace-trimmed chiton, from the upper garment drooping from her shoulders, to the lace-edged garment above her satin slippers. Her boudoir cap will fit close to her head, not altogether hiding stray curls underneath.

Whether she chooses for her gown white or black, purple or green, or tries the faint color of the rose, the orchid or the Enchantress carnation, her smartest gown will have a finish of fur and her hat will fit close to her head. Her dressy shoes will have high heels, and she will walk with a sinewy glide.
