HANK AND HIS ANIMAL FRIENDS By Walt McDougall

ated thought that election day might precipitate some trouble in connection with the republic, no dispatches reached the state department which indicated any cause for unusual alarm. And few serious clashes were anticipated. Chief interest here in the election is in the manner in which the returns will be canvassed, in view of the oversight by Huerta of the legislative body which is the legally constituted authority for review of the returns.

It was because of the dissolution of congress and the arrest of its members that the Washington administration gave notice that it could not recognize Huerta's election. Whether Huerta will appoint a special election board, or permit them to be reviewed, or have a new congress elected, is not known on the face of the returns as reported here. Whatever method is used, it is pointed out, would have no effect upon the determination of the government not to recognize Huerta.

To Keep in Touch With Mexico.

Plans were made tonight in the state department to keep in communication with Mexico, some tomorrow, as closely as possible. Secretary Bryan returned late tonight to be at the office Sunday. Owing to the demoralized condition of the wires of communication in Mexico, there was no news of the election which would be known for many days. It is pointed out, however, that eventually much work may be done by the use of the telegraph line, which has been discussed. This would hold the reins of power, a new legislature might be organized, and a new administration might be formed.

When private agents reached Washington tonight, they confirmed the fact that it was believed would be the force in other sections of the republic. It is pointed out, however, that upon plantation towns in the vicinity of San Luis Potosi, the federal military operations were reported as not very effective.

GREAT BRITAIN WAITS RESULT OF ELECTIONS

London, October 25.—The British government is awaiting quietly the outcome of the Mexican elections, believing that the time has not yet come for the United States, Great Britain and the other great powers to take any definite action tending to bring about peace in Mexico. It is pointed out, however, that the British government does not wish to interfere and its attitude is that it will wait until the result of the election is known. Eczema Is Only Skin Deep Proven by D. D.

A few skin troubles originate in the blood. But very few of them, however, are due to the blood. Eczema is a skin disease that is caused by the blood. It is a skin disease that is caused by the blood.

Why?

There is a use for everything. This may be very true, by Jingo. But it is not true in the case of Eczema.

MRS. EATON DENIES KILLING HUSBAND

Accused Woman Says Poison Charge Is Absurd—Alleges She Was Devised Wife to the Admiral.

Plymouth, Mass., October 25.—An instant death that she ever saw her husband poison of any sort brought to a dramatic close today the direct examination of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton, widow of Rear Admiral Joseph Eaton, with whose murder she is charged.

In Brookline but because of debts and the admiral's intemperance, Mrs. Eaton would not buy a house in Brookline. She had to be discharged three months from the Brookline hospital because Eaton had neglected her daughter, June, on August 11, 1907; the family had only $12,000. Mrs. Eaton stocked the farm with cattle.

Atlanta Favorites Will Draw Crowds to Theaters This Week

ANNIE RUSSELL at the Atlanta.

FRANCES McHENRY at the ATLANTA.

KEITH VAUDEVILLE.

Annie Russell's Comedy Co.
(At the Atlanta.)
Miss Annie Russell will open her three day engagement at the Atlanta to Monday with "The Stages to Conquer," that rare comedy of youth and manners, by Oliver Goldsmith, which has stood the test of time. Generations of theatergoers have enjoyed the half humorous and half tragic complications of the plot, but it is as much as to the character of the hero, as to the quality of the acting, that the play has been so long a favorite. Most of the famous actresses who have played the role have disappeared, and the talented younger women who succeeded them have not approached her. The part of the heroine, therefore, is a part that is almost unobtainable. The charming and volatile Kate, Young Marion will be taken over by Oswald York, who sends to the production years of experience with the famous London players of England. Tony Lempkin, that versatile actor, will be played by the actor whose characterization has been the demand of important Continental cities. The comedy is a gem, and has been given Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

"The Lovers," Sheridan's famous farce, will be the only other offering of the Atlanta. It will be played Wednesday.

Miss Russell will lend to Lydia Lang, all the convincing gaiety and charming refinement of her own personality. Oswald York will be played as Captain Abbot, and Oswald York as the charming and volatile Kate. Miss Russell has sought to frame her comedy with appropriate and tasteful surroundings, and public recognition of Miss Russell's effort in the artistic performance of the English classic has been particularly marked during her recent New York engagement at the "Theatre." Sheridan's "The Stages to Conquer," will be given Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Primrose and Dockstader.
(At the Atlanta.)
Friday and Saturday, with a Saturday matinee, Primrose and Dockstader, the united veterans minstrel stars and their all-around aggregation of burlesque comedians, will present their big spectacular production of "The Great Time Minstrel." It promises to be the most conspicuous and meretricious offering of the present season. Associated with Messrs. Primrose and Dockstader in the pursuit of entertainment are the two illustrious brothers, the instrumentalists extraordinary, Harry and Ed. The four members, an exceptional quartet of burlesque comedians, "Happy Jack" Lambert, distinguished interpreter of "The Great Time Minstrel," and Murray (protector of George Primrose) America's representative sort show dancers, and many others of social prominence.

Not since the days of the old California minstrelsy, it is claimed, has there been such an organization possessing such a number of first-class comedians and an arrangement so calculated to give the audience the most complete and well-rounded minstrel achievement. The "Great Time Minstrel" is a complete and accomplished show, and the Dockstader's company. Not only does it give the audience a complete and well-rounded minstrel achievement, but it also gives the audience a complete and well-rounded minstrel achievement.

Keith Vaudeville.
Some of the best known stars of the vaudeville world will be among the attractions for the Forsyth this week starting with matinee on Monday. The quality of vaudeville has never been so high as it is now. The vaudeville stars of the season have been the result of a remarkable season that has come and gone. There are many vaudeville stars who have been accepted everywhere as the most popular form of entertainment and the most comfortable inducement appeal with great strength to entertainers who have heretofore confined their visits to cities like Atlanta to a limit which day and night, and then on to the next.

Harry Bulker, the musical comedian, who has been identified with some of the most brilliant musical comedies, and who has been a recognized Broadway star for years, will be the first attraction. He is followed by Herbert Corbett, whose success in Cohan and Harris shows is a pleasant memory. The musical comedian star will offer a comedy idea, created by his well known author of "The Great Time Minstrel," and will appear in a number of vaudeville acts. They are all well known vaudeville stars, and will surely be drawn to Atlanta.

Another distinguished headline feature will be "The Great Time Minstrel," which is one of their newest spectacles. There is not a better combination of talent in vaudeville than this quartet of artists. In the larger cities where Mr. White is better known than now in Atlanta, his name is quite sufficient to guarantee that the theater in which he appears will be crowded. It is predicted that the success of Clayton White and company at the Forsyth will eclipse the best hit that has been recorded by a sketch combination in Atlanta.

Ray Montgomery and the Healy Sisters will supply the daily number on the bill. Montgomery is a Cohan sort of comedian and the Healy Sisters are pretty girls who are funny dancers and burlesque comedians. They will be followed by "The Great Time Minstrel," which is a vaudeville program.

With Tooting of Calliope and Roar of Lions, Barnum & Bailey Big Show Arrives

That dear old institution—old, yet new as the circus and its Barnum and Bailey's too—arrives in Atlanta this morning coming over the Southern railway upon its own four special trains, from Columbia, where performances were given yesterday. The trains will start immediately upon arrival and horses, animals and all paraphernalia sent to the grounds at Ponce de Leon park, opposite the ball grounds, where about six o'clock the circus will be in full view. The calliope will be heard in the distance and the roar of the lions and the music of the brass band will be heard in the distance. The circus will be in full view at six o'clock and the calliope will be heard in the distance and the roar of the lions and the music of the brass band will be heard in the distance.

Following the glittering spectacle will come the rapid and diverting succession of scenic acts given in three rings, four stages and the immense track, under the largest spread of canvas in the world. The calliope, the elephants, trained by Harry Moore, come first. They are exhibited all over three rings and provide fresh surprises for those who have thought that the limit in trained animal intelligence had been reached. The elephants, trained by Harry Moore, come first. They are exhibited all over three rings and provide fresh surprises for those who have thought that the limit in trained animal intelligence had been reached.

The climax is reached with Pilot Hawk, the greatest of the bases. It will be touched out at home after a terrific side.

Japanese Experts.
The mikado's jiu jitsu experts will show their skill in a trail woman trained in the art of Japanese scientific defense may easily overcome an assailant, and step-by-step wrestling combats will be indulged in by the bulky wrestlers (Abma men) who compose a part of the troupe. Jackson's Islanders, trained by Harry Moore, come next. They are exhibited all over three rings and provide fresh surprises for those who have thought that the limit in trained animal intelligence had been reached.

Remarkable Photography.
Fourth-year students of the Johns Hopkins medical school, beginning their first clinical lesson in psychiatry in the new Johns Hopkins psychiatric clinic today, had the advantage of Dr. Adolph Meyer's new system of brain photography and photography as a result of careful study of psychopathic cases. The students, under the supervision of Dr. Adolph Meyer, have been studying the cases of a patient who has been suffering from a mental disorder. Extraordinary Sale of Fine Imported Evening Gowns

Our very latest purchase was an unusually happy one—one hundred very handsome Evening Dresses and fine afternoon costumes, including a few 2 and 3-piece suits of velvet, broadcloth and fine brocades—one of a kind.

Atlanta women have never before known such an opportunity to possess the finest gowns from such famous designers as Ducret, Poiret, Felix, Callot, Bernard, Paquin and Francis at such a figure.

These dresses came to us such things do very frequently, though it is indeed rare that we chance on such a handsome lot, fitting in so beautifully with the season, and to be able to buy them at one-half and one-third the prices such high-class goods are expected to bring.

We have chosen fifteen models to tell you about. You may like the remaining 85 even better. Come here Monday morning and see them all. Even though you are prepared to see some rich gowns you will be surprised and, of course, delighted with what you find here.

Selling them at the quoted prices is more like a season-end sale than a first-of-the-season offering of new goods.

The Regalste Corset

Its Seasonable Advantage

"Style cannot atone for an ill-fitting corset, nor can comfort atone for any lack of style"

The above is quoted from one writing of corset advantages, and the reverse of them. We agree with him. He goes on to say:

"And the problem becomes all the more perplexing, since it is no easy matter to get both"

To this we do not agree—but it is quite probable the writer is not acquainted with the REGALISTE corset and the advantage it holds over (to be considered) almost every other corset made.

Very emphatically, it is easy to get both style and comfort into a corset—if you know how and have the materials. Not "knowing how" is difficult. After the necessary education doing things right is the easiest way.

The REGALISTE corset conforms exquisitely to the present style of loose-fitting clothing. The flexibility of its scant boning—its slightly curved lines assures the comfort no woman wants ever to give up.

It has all the points that make for corset excellence—slenderness, grace of line, fashionable cut, elasticity, ease, and it has more than this.

It has a certain something about it—the way it is cut and put together—that gives support to the figure, holding it gently where it needs it, and yielding easily with every movement of the body—and keeping always its fashionable silhouette.

Made in many styles of durable materials and dainty trimmings—the REGALISTE corset is a source of unalloyed satisfaction to many women who are fortunate enough to own one.

EPISCOPAL CONCLAVE CLOSING IN DEADLOCK

Deputies and Bishops Couldn't Agree in Regard to Negroes and Good Friday Collect.

New York, October 25.—The 1913 convention of the Protestant Episcopal church passed into history this afternoon in deadlock on two important resolutions with the most far-reaching scope of legislation considered by one house because of an error in the other and with a positive refusal to consider a request of the Woman's Christian Temperance union that unfettered practice be substituted for communion wine.

On the proposal to establish a separate bishopric for negroes in the south and on the proposed elimination of the "three fifths" clause which affects the house of bishops, the convention failed to pass resolutions in the afternoon. The house of bishops voted to propose to the assembly a two-thirds vote to change the constitution.

Although the house of deputies in the closing moments of the convention tried to force definite action as to the proposition to make a change in the prayer book, the house of bishops refused to take any action in the matter at the late hour.

PISTOL-HUNTING WARDEN WANTED BY THIS JUDGE

Thomasville, Ga., October 25.—(Special.)—In the superior court in session here this week, Judge Thompson, a judge on trial for killing Bill Daniels, another negro, was found guilty of murder, but recommended to mercy, which will give him a life sentence in the state penitentiary.

Judge Thompson stated at the reading of the verdict that if there could be a pistol-hunting warden for the county that three-fourths of the trouble would be prevented, as pistols were responsible for most of the murders.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The Sin of Moses and Aaron.

Lesson Numbers 24, 1-11.

Let the words of my mouth and meditation in my heart be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my Rock, and my Redeemer.

(1) And the children of Israel, even the whole congregation, came into the wilderness of Sinai in the first month; and the people stood in Kadesh; and Miriam stood there and was hurried there.

(2) And there was no water for the congregation; and they assembled themselves together against Moses and against Aaron: (3) And they said unto Moses and Aaron, We would have died when our brethren died before the assembly of the Lord in the wilderness; and we would have been as our brethren are now in the grave.

(4) And when our brethren died before the assembly of the Lord in the wilderness, and we would have been as our brethren are now in the grave, we would have died when our brethren died before the assembly of the Lord in the wilderness.

(5) And when our brethren died before the assembly of the Lord in the wilderness, and we would have been as our brethren are now in the grave, we would have died when our brethren died before the assembly of the Lord in the wilderness.

(6) And when our brethren died before the assembly of the Lord in the wilderness, and we would have been as our brethren are now in the grave, we would have died when our brethren died before the assembly of the Lord in the wilderness.

(7) And when our brethren died before the assembly of the Lord in the wilderness, and we would have been as our brethren are now in the grave, we would have died when our brethren died before the assembly of the Lord in the wilderness.

(8) And when our brethren died before the assembly of the Lord in the wilderness, and we would have been as our brethren are now in the grave, we would have died when our brethren died before the assembly of the Lord in the wilderness.

(9) And when our brethren died before the assembly of the Lord in the wilderness, and we would have been as our brethren are now in the grave, we would have died when our brethren died before the assembly of the Lord in the wilderness.

(10) And when our brethren died before the assembly of the Lord in the wilderness, and we would have been as our brethren are now in the grave, we would have died when our brethren died before the assembly of the Lord in the wilderness.

(11) And when our brethren died before the assembly of the Lord in the wilderness, and we would have been as our brethren are now in the grave, we would have died when our brethren died before the assembly of the Lord in the wilderness.

NO GRAPE JUICE CHURCH FOR THE EPISCOPALIANS

Request of W. C. T. U. That Unfermented Wine Be Used at Communion Not Considered.

New York, October 25.—The convention of the World's Woman's Christian Temperance union adopted a resolution today requesting the bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church to "consider the propriety of using unfermented wine at the communion in place of fermented wine, which contains the narcotic poison alcohol."

The resolution was a substitute for one originally offered setting forth that fermented wine "should not freely represent the blood of Christ." This phrase was objected to by English delegates, who argued that it would antagonize the cause of teetotalism. The English delegates also objected to an amendment declaring that "Jesus commanded unfermented wine in the Holy Communion."

The objections were voted by Miss Agnes B. Blake, secretary of the organization, who said that the bishop of England could not offer the sacrament in unfermented wine. The English delegates also objected to an amendment declaring that "Jesus commanded unfermented wine in the Holy Communion."

ATTENDANCE OF 20,000 AT GEORGIA STATE FAIR

Many Traveling Men Present on Special Day—First Race Won by Joe H.

Macon, Ga., October 25.—(Special.) Another crowd of immense proportions, estimated at 20,000, attended the Georgia state fair today. It was traveling men's day and fully five hundred of the traveling men from over the state were present. At noon they were the guests of a barbecue served for them at the grounds.

The six day program of horse racing opened at the fairgrounds today. The first race was won by Joe H. of Cartersville, winning the 214 mile trot in 2:14 1/4 and 2:15 1/4. The 217 mile trot was tied up by Willie Christie, owned by W. C. Parham, of Milledgeville, and Miss Williams, owned by W. C. Ward, of Bessemer. Both horses had a credit of two heats, and the race will run on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock for the best three out of four heats. The winner of the one heat Monday will receive the purse of $400.

MIGHTY WARSHIPS HEAD FOR EUROPE

Nine Dreadnoughts of Atlantic Fleet Off for Cruise in Mediterranean—Thousands of Fighting Men on Board.

Hampton Roads, Va., October 25.—Bearing the greetings of the new world to the old, the great sea fighters of the Atlantic fleet were today started on their way to the ports of the sunny Mediterranean. Nine dreadnoughts were today started on their way to the ports of the sunny Mediterranean.

As the creeping gray forms melted into the shadows of the horizon the crackling wireless flashed the farewell from the assistant secretary of the navy, acting as representative of the president, commander-in-chief of the navy.

In battle formation the ponderous gray ships and the trim little yachts lined up to bid inside the cape. Straggled the changing gray walls after gray bulk crept by the crew lines and the changing gray walls after gray bulk crept by the crew lines and the changing gray walls.

Admiral Arrived. Shortly after 10 o'clock the fleet and was given in salute by the fleet and was given in salute by the fleet and was given in salute by the fleet.

Called for Artistic Left Behind. All of the pomp and ceremony of the secretary's departure from the fleet and was given in salute by the fleet and was given in salute by the fleet.

Why Are Nemo Corsets?

A BOON TO WOMANKIND? THEY GUARD YOUR FIGURE, HEALTH & PURSE. Extreme Figure Reduction With Firm Abdominal Support. NEMO No. 506 is the greatest figure-reducing corset ever made for women...

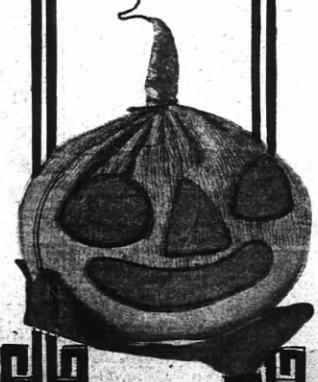

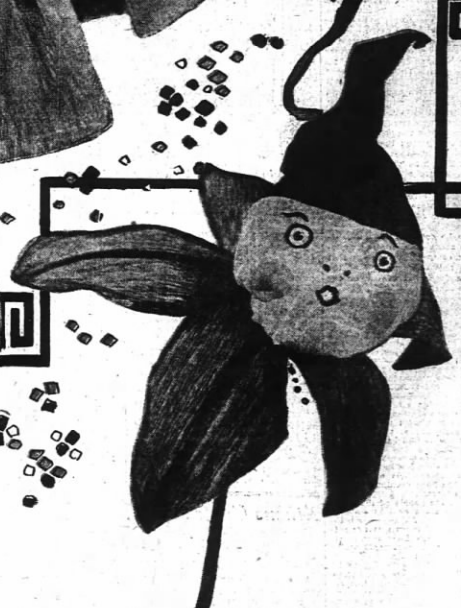

There are some women who still think of the Nemo as a heavy corset, strong but clumsy, intended only for fat women. Fact is that the Nemo, while never a freak corset, is the world's leading STYLE corset.

In the best stores in London, you'll find that Nemo Corsets have supplanted French corsets, and now form a large percentage of the trade.

In fashionable Brussels and gay Ostend, the Nemo is repeating its London successes. In Paris, the most voracious and exacting store of all Europe sells Nemo Corsets in quantities as great as the largest American stores.

A Style Corset? Why, the Nemo is the ONLY American corset that has "improved the shape" in the greatest foreign fashion centers. The Nemo Building is now the capital of the corset-world.

HALLOWEEN NOVELTIES

To make a witch like the fully equipped one on the upper part of the page, first get a clothespin. For the head, get some tissue paper, cotton wadding or anything that will make a good padding and cover it with crepe paper. Paint the features with water color. Get four strands of flower wire and twist it to form the arms, leaving them spread at the end to suggest fingers. Cover the wires with paper and fasten firmly to the clothespin. Make an underskirt of orange crepe paper, and an overskirt of black crepe paper and a cape of the orange paper. The hat is made of black cardboard with a band of the orange paper. The wig is of white cotton. Orange paper in slits is fastened to the broom stick.

The cabbage head underneath the witch is made of three shades of green tissue paper. Crumple a sheet of paper into a ball and encircle it with a covered wire. Cut out large petals and curl the edges with a wooden pencil. Group two or three petals around the ball. Make petals of a darker shade, curl them and group about the first petals. Add two rows of petals made of the darkest green paper and fasten the whole securely. The stem should be covered with white paper. The pumpkin bon-bon box at the bottom of the page is made by padding the top of a round box with cotton. A strip of orange crepe paper is pasted inside of the lid and drawn up over it. Fasten it at the top with a piece of wire. The end of this wire is left uncovered and wrapped with green tissue paper. Paint a grotesque face on one side of the pumpkin. The leaf is fashioned from dark green tissue paper and glued to the bottom of the box.

The Mephisto head makes an attractive center piece. The head is made entirely of orange crepe paper, the face being put on in water color. The flower petals are crepe with wired centers and the stem is wound with green tissue paper.

The flower bordered with cards is a receptacle for nuts. A cup is lined with crepe paper with a frill over the brim. The petals are cut in the same manner as those of the cabbage; but their edges, instead being curled on a pencil are crinkled with the bands. The stem and the calyx are of green crepe paper. Tiny playing cards are glued to the cup.

The Brownie beneath is made of tissue paper. The face is sketched in with water colors. If the petals around the head are used they should have a wire glued through the center of each petal. Each petal fastened around the head securely.

Fashions Distinctly More Feminine

Enhanced by Gorgeous Brocades and Furs, Woman's Dress Was Never So Rich as Now.

New York, October 27.—(Special Telegrams)—Fashions are becoming more feminine. Nowhere is this more evident than in the dress, the figure is more extensively draped. The more womanly must be relieved from the alluring modes which left nothing to the imagination.

Yards and yards of waiting draperies used in place of buttons, girlish and pendant collars, in the impression conveyed not alone by gowns, but by many of the suits as well. Brocade coats seem to favor more and more voluminous especially when intended for evening wear. The waistcoat idea shows no evidence of

Deliberate Selection in Loose Diamonds

Our diamond rooms are especially arranged for the secluded and comfortable privacy of our customers, and to give you the quiet and careful selection.

It is our desire to have our patrons know all that our expert can tell about a diamond, and we, therefore, display diamonds loose (unmounted), the only way in which any diamond expert would consider a purchase.

Diamonds come from the "cutters" in "papers" containing many carats of stones of every variety of color, degree of perfectness and class. Every diamond we handle we buy directly from the cutters in papers aggregating many thousand dollars.

Our president assort and classes these papers into grades and values, and they are gone over and over with unusual care until every value is absolutely correct.

This is not possible with the jeweler, both because it requires years of experience and an expert and also a large amount of capital in our one specialty.

After selection, we mount our diamonds in any variety of elegant design that our customers could desire, using care that only the most perfect work is delivered.

The certainty of knowing what grade and value you are getting in any purchase is a luxury that is not possible with the jeweler, both because it requires years of experience and an expert and also a large amount of capital in our one specialty.

Brilliant Reception Is Given To Governor and Mrs. Slaton

Macon, Ga., October 24.—(Special.) A brilliant reception at the Hotel Danmore for Governor and Mrs. John M. Slaton marked the closing event of Governor's day in Macon on Thursday last.

Despite the inclement weather several hundred charming women in their prettiest gowns called between the hours of 4 and 6 o'clock. Many of the governor's party were well known to the Macon people, having been guests in the past of prominent Macon people.

Governor and Mrs. Slaton were the center of attention by their graceful manners and magnetic personality, and a more attractive party never assembled as members of a governor's staff.

The drawing rooms and lounge of the Hotel Danmore were gayly decorated with rich glowing yellow and white chrysanthemums and Godefrid Berger's orchestra furnished music during the calling hours.

Mrs. Slaton was the presentation of a French hat filled with flowers, and Miss Slaton made the rounds of the Hotel Danmore.

In the receiving line to greet the Governor were: Governor and Mrs. Slaton, Colonel and Mrs. J. C. Brown, Colonel and Mrs. Hugo Stone, Colonel and Mrs. W. H. Howell, Colonel and Mrs. Steve R. Johnston, Colonel and Mrs. Asa G. Chandler, Mrs. R. H. Evans, wife of the brigadier general, U. S. A., commanding the department of the Gulf, and her son, Lieutenant Horatio Evans, Mrs. Till of North Carolina, Miss Massey, Miss Beck, Colonel Joseph R. Connolly, Colonel J. C. Woodward, Colonel John D. Walker, Colonel G. Noble Jones, Colonel William H. Beck, Colonel Jesse Perry, Colonel Shelby Byrnie, Colonel G. A. Johns, Colonel Z. H. Clark, Colonel H. P. Mellicham, Colonel A. W. Cox, Colonel A. H. Franklin, Colonel Ben J. Fowler, Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Company, all of the governor's party.

Members of the entertainment committee, Mrs. Dr. C. Coleman, chairman of the reception committee; Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Wortham, Dr. and Mrs. Herring Winstead, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Wren, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hall, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Lanier, Miss Mary C. Laney, Mrs. Tracy Baxter, Miss I. H. Holt, Mr. Sam Jackson, Judge H. S. Gresham, Mr. Eugene Thomas, Colonel C. H. STIMULATING

The stimulating effect of being becomingly gowned you have experienced if you think about clothes—and is there a woman who doesn't? She may even be a "new" woman of the radical type, but she gives her clothes consideration nevertheless.

There are just two things about a corset that are absolutely essential to your well-being. You cannot feel light—you cannot appear light and buoyant unless your corset is comfortable. Your type of figure doesn't matter—that is a problem for the designer of the corset to meet. Your problem is a much easier one. All you need to do is to put yourself in the care of our corset counsel—it is her problem to select for your figure the corset that is properly designed to model your form to the lines of fashion that the corset has; that is, your figure takes on comfortably the corset shape, however extreme the fashion of corset may be for this season.

This same corset, no matter how perfectly it may shape your figure, is of no value to you unless it fits you comfortably. Since elasticity results from comfort as well as shaping, you must step off buoyantly, breathe easily and be able to bend with freedom—in other words, you must have the appearance of the easy, natural figure, and still be most carefully corsetted.

Now there is one corset in our stock that we are putting special stress on—and it is the REDFERN—the reason is that the styles are so ample and each model is peculiarly designed to fit a certain type of form.

Unless you are abnormally large, or have extraordinary figure defects, we can find in this make a model that will correct defects—not cover, but correct them.

Redfern Corsets are not peculiar in any way. They are perfectly designed—the patterns are accurately graded, and they are made of fabrics so pliant and accurately boned that the form with the first fitting takes on the corset contour. Since we mould flesh we can change your form, but we cannot press or crowd bones or displaced muscles. This is injurious to health. We can prevent a curve at the waist when it ought to be a straight line, and these corsets will give a straight line without discomfort.

Prices $3.50 Up to $12.50

The Warner Bros. Co. have made special arrangements for our home for the wearing of their Redfern Corsets. We have thoroughly experienced fitters to properly place them to your form. Therefore, you can rest assured no detail will be overlooked. They go to you with our well-known guarantee. Means Perfection.

Says Farming Has No Pay-Day. Herbert Quick, editor of Farm and Forest, the national farm paper published at Springfield, Ohio, publishes in his current issue of the paper a letter from a woman living in Chicago, who is yearning to get back to the farm. She has an engineer on the Michigan Central railway, and they have five children. The wife is 23 years old and the husband a few years older. The writer of the letter adds that she was born and raised in a Virginia farm, and that, as she looks back, those were the happiest days of her life.

Irish and Sweet Potatoes Planted Together. In the current issue of Farm and Forest, the national farm paper, a Maryland gardener and poultry expert, says that a practical and interesting experiment is the growing of companion crops. He says that he has planted Irish potatoes and sweet potatoes together, and that the results are very satisfactory. He says that the Irish potatoes are not so much affected by the blight as when planted alone, and that the sweet potatoes are much larger and better than when planted alone.

The Professional Lobbyist's Braggart and "Four-Fisher." A recent issue of Farm and Forest, the national farm paper, contains a very interesting article by J. P. Walker, a professional lobbyist, who writes a "very humiliating" article about the "Four-Fisher" lobby. He says that the "Four-Fisher" lobby is a group of four men who have been successful in getting their way in many instances, and that they are a very powerful lobby. He says that they are a very powerful lobby, and that they are a very powerful lobby.

Bible Names Out of Date. (From the Hartford Times.) A review of Christian names taken from the Scriptures is given in the Hartford Times. The review is by a man named James, and he says that many of the names are out of date. He says that many of the names are out of date, and that they are out of date. He says that many of the names are out of date, and that they are out of date.

... TWO SCENES OF VIRGINIA'S VICTORY OVER GEORGIA ...

These two scenes were snapped during the game at Ponca de Leon yesterday afternoon between Virginia and Georgia. On the left the two teams are shown near the east end of the field. Georgia has the ball and McWhorter is starting one of his brilliant end runs. On the right, as in a pose of the players stretched out when McWhorter started on one of his rampages. The camera man missed McWhorter, but on the extreme right of the photo, Padlock is shown dumping the man nearest to him. McWhorter made the longest run of the day on this play, a 30-yard dash.

Georgia Eleven Springs Big Surprise By Holding Virginia to 13-6 Score; Bob McWhorter the Individual Star

By Dick Jemison. The University of Georgia football team upset the talent and the supporters at Ponca de Leon Park yesterday afternoon when they held the University of Virginia eleven to a 13-6 score, in one of the best football games ever staged on the local gridiron. The Georgia eleven, as a result of their defeat, the Georgia eleven are heroes. They played wonderful football from beginning to end, surprising not only the spectators, but their own supporters as well. The looked for walk-over of the Virginia eleven did not materialize. In fact, they surprised out a victory by the narrow margin of one point. The Georgia eleven, who were expected to play a wonderful game against Georgia and only the forward pass called Virginia out of the hole. Georgia's back was one of the higher Georgia forwards threatened the Georgia eleven, who were expected to play a wonderful game against Georgia and only the forward pass called Virginia out of the hole. WANDY'S GIVEN FIERCE DRUBBING Yost's Michigan Team Routs Over McGugin's Commodores Easily Outclassing Them.

Dudley Field, Nashville, Tenn., October 25.—Shattering Vandenberg's victory, the University of Michigan football team today defeated the Commodores by a score of 33 to 2. Smarting from last week's defeat at the hands of the Commodores, the Michigan team played with grim determination. From the moment the Commodores entered the contest it was evident that their superior brains and tactics were to be the deciding factor in the game. The Michigan players were expert both in throwing and handling forward passes. They frequently recovered the lost passes by forward passes. Twice the Michigan team held the Commodore's offense to a standstill. The Michigan team held the Commodore's offense to a standstill. The Michigan team held the Commodore's offense to a standstill.

BACK IN HARNESS.

Manager Lynn Fort, of Lamar & Rankin, Back After Illness.

Victims at the Lamar & Rankin Drug Co.'s house were pleased last week to see the genial face of Manager Lynn Fort once more smiling at them as they entered the office. Mr. Fort has been away from business for the past seven weeks on account of illness and his many friends are congratulating him on his restoration to good health and wishing him a long life of activity before the doctor again give him in his charge.

George Brockley Smith, who has been in the position of general manager of the Lamar & Rankin Drug Co. for several years, is now in charge of the business. Mr. Fort's absence has not interfered with the business of the store, and it is expected that he will return to his duties in a few days.

The Political Rights of Women

MRS. MARY L. McLENDON, Editor

President Georgia Woman's Suffrage Association

Well! The apathy over, and Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst is free to come and go in America as she wishes. She has been dumping convicts and other miscreants in the States ever since I can remember. The known nothing protest and proposed all the while that she has been since June 1908 cordially said to the down-roaders and oppressed, "Come along! Come along! don't be alarmed, for Uncle Sam is rich enough to give you all a farm, and at this hour, a home, some widow woman must be frightened out of her wits and threatened with being sent back home to serve out a sentence in Holloway Jail because she is a woman in England who wears a hat and a long dress, and is not used to being taken in individually and collectively to fantasize and annoy women. Hair the pleasure in life would be taken from them if they could not make women stand around and be afraid of them.

Said Train Hit Him, But Had No Bruises

Cordele, Ga., October 25.—(Special.) A negro giving his name as B. H. Lyons and his home as Atlanta, was found yesterday lying beside the tracks of the Georgia Southern and Western railway in an apparently serious condition. He was found by a white man who struck him with a club over his head and knocked down between the rails. He was taken to the hospital at Cordele, Ga., and his condition was found to be serious. He was examined by several physicians who found no bruises whatsoever on his body. He was taken to the hospital at Cordele, Ga., and his condition was found to be serious. RITCHIE-CROSS BOAT THE GOODS

Holds Center of Pugilistic Stage the Coming Week. Corbett Gossips on Murphy and McFarland Also.

BY JAMES J. CORRETT, Former Heavyweight Champion of the World, written for The Constitution.

New York, October 25.—Special.—Local lovers of boxing will have their first opportunity to see Willie Ritchie in action next Saturday evening. For strange as it may seem, Willie has not to make his metropolitan debut. Not that I think it will make the champion nervous or anything like that, but he really did take him a long time to bust into the local game.

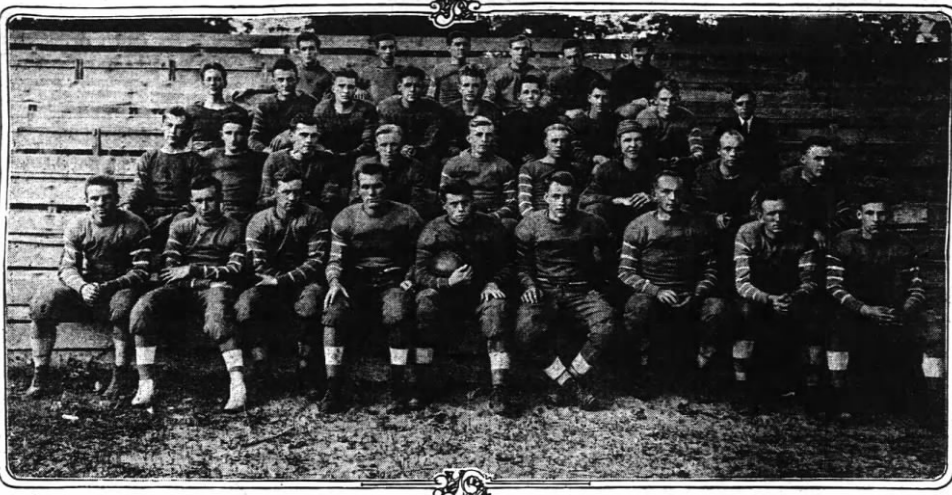

It is through no fault of Ritchie's, however, that he has not been permitted exhibiting his skill in New York. For no reason other than Willie was a mere sparring partner in the camp of the great Paul who had to be used to get a match here, but without success.

And Willie was not looking for easy marks, either. Leach Cross was as good as anything he had fought in the time—his he is now—and it was at the instance of Ritchie's manager, his challenge in particular. But as Cross has frankly confessed he had had no time to prepare for the fight, he has no doubt that he will be able to deal with the champion in a way that will do him credit.

And to Ritchie's credit be it said that he was generous enough to forgive the local man the size of his reputation. Willie would do him no harm in the ring. As long as the terms are met by the promoters the champion will not be in any way injured, and as long as the opponent may be a local man, Willie will not be a local man.

It is true that Willie is a local man, but he is not a local man in the same sense that Leach Cross is. Willie was a local man in the sense that he was born in New York, but he is not a local man in the sense that he was brought up in New York. He was born in New York, but he was brought up in the South. He was born in New York, but he was brought up in the South. He was born in New York, but he was brought up in the South.

NO EASTERN-WESTERN FOOTBALL POSSIBLE Madison, Wis., October 25.—Dr. Moore W. Miller, director of athletics at the University of Wisconsin, today put to sleep, as he expressed it, in a speech before the athletic council, the much talked of idea of a post season game between the east and west to decide the national football championship. Dr. Miller said there was nothing for a western school to gain and everything to lose in such an event was actually settled last year.

Branches of Knowledge. (From The Washington Star.) "I don't believe you can name the president of the United States," said the young man's father. "Well, everybody specializes nowadays. I'll bet you can't name all the players in the American league."

SEWANEES TIGERS LOSE TO TEXANS

Taken by Surprise, Mountain Eleven Is Defeated by a 13 to 7 Count Before Monster Crowd.

Dallas, Texas, October 25.—(Special.) Sewanee's eleven went down in defeat before the stiff attack of the University of Texas today by the score of 13 to 7, in one of the hardest games seen in Texas for many years. It is estimated that 15,000 witnessed the game at the state fair park.

SIX PLAYERS HURT IN EMORY GAMES

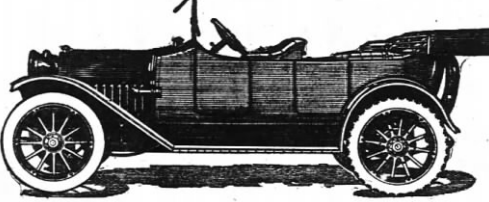

Emory College, Oxford, Ga., October 25.—(Special.)—Injuries of almost every nature have been visited upon some of the four class teams at Emory except the sophomores eleven. These mishaps have placed the teams at a disadvantage for the opening line, and even now the injured players are still out of the game.

Auto Owners' Wants

There is hardly a thing in the line of automobile accessories that Constitution Want Ads cannot supply. Used tops, shields, cushions, robes and tires and a hundred other things are on the market now that the automobilist must have, and that to buy new would cost a great deal of money.

Under-priced to Your Advantage PAIGE 36 $1275

Completely equipped, including Large Unit Gray & Davis Electric Starting and Lighting System

If the Paige "36" was priced at $1500, it would still be an exceptional value. The fact that the price is only $1275 is something for the Paige purchaser to be proud of.

We believe we could sell every Paige car we have been allotted for this year, at $1500. We could get that price on the size and looks of the car, on its power and comfort, on its construction and equipment.

There are reasons aplenty for the excellence of the Paige product and the unusualness of the Paige under price. Absolute financial independence, freedom from debt, freedom from bonds, freedom from preferred stock, economy of management, advantageous buying of parts, material and equipment due to quantity purchases and financial standing, these and more are obvious reasons.

Paige "36" equipment is complete in every detail, and all of the highest class, including Gray & Davis large unit electric starting and lighting system; ventilating windshield built into body; silk mohair top, an inside, heavy curtains; Stewart revolving dial speedometer; 12 inch electric head light; electric side light; dash in dash; 5 demountable tires; Goodrich or Diamond tires, with non-skid in rear; Bosch magnet, adjustable foot rail; nickel robe rack; extra tire iron, license bracket; electric horn, pump, lock, tools, tire repair outfit, etc., complete.

Don't you want the advantage of the under-price? Come see the Paige now, whether you desire early or future delivery. We couldn't tell you all the good things about the Paige—all the things that make it better at a lower price—if we ran an advertisement in the papers every day. But you can come here and see and know these things for yourself. If you aren't an automobile expert, bring one with you. We will leave the question of purchase to your judgment and his.

Men Who Know Motor Car Values Choose Premier

- The conservative purchaser of a motor car makes a thorough investigation before purchasing. Has it ever occurred to you that the PREMIER is being bought by the oldest and most experienced automobile owners in this city? These purchasers investigate before spending their money, and their investigation is careful and thorough. Therein lies the real and predominant reason why they purchase the PREMIER in preference to all other cars, regardless of price or class. This should be proof conclusive as to why you should investigate the PREMIER before purchasing, irregardless of what car you may be considering.

CHANCE GETS WALSH FROM CONNIE MACK

New York, October 25.—According to semi-official announcement from Philadelphia today, Connie Mack, at present a member of Connie Mack's all star team, will wear a New York American league club uniform next season. However, an official statement from either club is expected only after the annual meeting of the American League.

President Farnell, of the New York Americans, said today that while the Philadelphia outfielder was to join the Yankees, the Philadelphia club might not be Walsh.

Walsh will come to New York as a result of the deal whereby Chance sent Charlie Berrier to Baltimore in stead of Rochester at the request of Mack. Mack desired to have Berrier under his control for future use.

SENIORS ARE SURPRISE OF EMORY CLASS GAMES

Emory College, Oxford, Ga., October 25.—(Special.)—The Seniors are the surprise of Emory's victorious football season. In their first game they held the majority of the seniors to a 7 and 6 defeat, and won over the sophomores this week by a 19 and 9 score.

Their favorite style of attack is straight size backs, augmented by a style of tackle back plays which pulls the center back to the center line.

The seniors are going well, being the only one of the four teams not to suffer injuries. Coach Miller has the reputation of leading seniors to victory in the football game.

Although the golfing season proper is over at East Lake, another tournament is being held at the club.

The newspaper fraternity of Atlanta gathered about 200 men to fill at least three flights, and as some of those who will enter have not yet arrived, the game, a handicap competition will be postponed to make all things equal with the best at the first.

The winners of the first flight will meet the winners of the second and so on down until all are eliminated.

MAJOR'S RACE TO BE 3-CORNERED

Woodward, Hall and B. Lee Smith Appear to Be Candidates at Present—Commission Government Issue.

Atlanta's majority campaign of 1913 will be a three-cornered affair. The city political "administration" is expected to speak—what began immediately after the afternoon campaign in September is still in progress, and along in about March, 1914, the field will be filled with mayoral hopefuls who will elect the mayor of the ward leaders in the hope of receiving the vote of Mayor James W. Woodward.

Already three bright and alluring prospects have faded from the political horizon. Forrest Adair, millionaire real estate dealer, chairman and president of the board of the city, was a candidate for the mayoralty which was so temptingly held out to him. Captain James W. English, banker, and one-time mayor of Atlanta, and Charles H. Mason, chairman of the police commission, has declined to run at the present time.

J. K. Orr is the prospect. New J. K. Orr has been announced as a candidate for the mayoralty. He is a former mayor of Atlanta and has been in the city for several years.

DECEMBER COTTON LED IN ADVANCE

That Option Sold 29 Points Over Low Level of Previous Day—Predictions of Cold Wave Factor in Advance.

New York, October 25.—There was a renewal of bullish excitement in today's cotton market and near months made new high records for the season, with December contracts selling at 14.97 1/2 points above the low level of yesterday. Apprehensions that another cold wave would follow unsettled conditions in the western belt, seemed to bring in fresh buying from the south, as well as from local circles, and the market closed firm at practically the same level of the day. The market was steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 2 points, but the figures were not so much as a better view of the Mexican situation.

COTTON GINNED UP TO OCTOBER 18

Third Ginning Report of the Census Bureau Gives 6,956, 593 Bales as the Number Prior to October 18.

Washington, October 25.—The third set of ginning reports of the season, compiled from reports of census bureau districts and sent to the census bureau at Washington, D. C., today by Director William D. Harris, announced that the amount of cotton ginned in the United States up to October 18, 1913, was 6,956,593 bales, as against 6,825,182 bales in 1912, an increase of 131,411 bales. The increase in the amount of cotton ginned in 1913 is the result of the fact that the ginning season in 1913 was 10 days longer than in 1912, and the amount of cotton ginned in 1913 was 131,411 bales more than in 1912. The amount of cotton ginned in 1913 was 131,411 bales more than in 1912, and the amount of cotton ginned in 1913 was 131,411 bales more than in 1912.

This Prediction Saved Wheat Farmer From Declining Market Said to Be Holding Winter Crop.

Chicago, October 25.—Assertions that much smaller receipts than last season would form the rule for the rest of the present crop year overcame depression today. The close was steady, with a slight advance in price. The market was held by a prediction that a light winter crop would be received, and that the total for the week would be 1,000,000 bushels less than in 1912. CONGRESS HALL IS REDEDICATED

President Wilson Chief Speaker at Restoration of Building Where the Fathers of the Republic Met.

Philadelphia, October 25.—Congress hall in historic Independence square, where the senate and house of representatives met from 1793 to 1800, was rededicated today with patriotic exercises, the occasion marking the centennial of the restoration of the hall to almost its original appearance. President Wilson was the central figure in the ceremonies, and delivered a lengthy minute address, in which he likened back to the early days of the republic and contrasted men and things of those times with the present.

The president was accompanied by Secretary Wilson and Speaker Champ Clark, Ambassador Jusserand of France, and a delegation of members of the senate.

Wilson in his address, in which he gave an enthusiastic welcome.

The president was the last speaker. He sat in the high-backed chair used by John Hancock when he presided over the continental congress. In front of him was a desk which in 1776 was used by the fathers of independence. Attached to the structure were the original appearance. President Wilson was the central figure in the ceremonies, and delivered a lengthy minute address, in which he likened back to the early days of the republic and contrasted men and things of those times with the present.

WARDEN DEFENDED BY FORMER DEPUTY

M. L. Petty, Prominent Real Estate Dealer, Says W. H. Moyer Has No Superior in His Line of Work.

That the charges against the management of the Federal prison, made recently by Allen Hawthorne and Dr. W. G. Morton are utterly unfounded and without any element of truth is the opinion of M. V. Petty, a prominent real estate dealer, who was consulted with the prison by the committee of assistant deputy warden for a year and a half when the prison was first built.

In a statement to The Constitution, Petty declared that he has been closely in touch with the affairs of the prison since he left, and that he has no criticism, and that the administration of Warden Moyer has been above reproach.

Warden Moyer was appointed on account of the fact that he is a son of the present warden, and not through any political influence, Petty stated.

Mr. Petty's statement follows: "Editor Constitution: I have been asked by several of my friends for my opinion of the present trouble at the Federal prison, and I have decided to give it through your paper.

SEABOARD INTERESTED IN A. B. & A. PROPERTY

May Seek to Get Possession With View of Extension to the Florida Main Line.

Waycross, Ga., October 25.—(Special)—Information of an origin claim by the Florida railroad, which is to be effected by the Standard Air line, having been received here by the Atlanta office of the Atlanta-Birmingham and Atlantic to get possession of the property, soon to be added under mortgage foreclosure.

It is reported that an investigation of the country between Waycross and Kinsland, where it is proposed to join the Atlanta-Birmingham and Atlantic to the Standard Air line, is being conducted by the Standard Air line.

The proposed route would be in complete contrast to the existing route of Georgia with its connections, and it is for this purpose the Standard Air line is to be extended to the Atlanta-Birmingham and Atlantic.

Senate Committee Will Begin Revising Bill Monday—Experts to Be Consulted.

Washington, October 25.—Restrictions upon the rights of national banks to engage in the underwriting of commercial or industrial securities or re-organization were recommended to the senate banking and currency committee today by Charles Starck, national bank examiner for New York city.

Mr. Starck's suggestions were made in response to questions by members of the committee who examined him for more than an hour behind closed doors in relation to certain features of national bank operation.

Underwriting by banks. Mr. Starck went with some detail into the extent to which the great New York banks engage in the underwriting of large projects and recom-

Thousands Pack Ponce De Leon Decked With College Ribbons To Cheer for Their Favorites

Combining the grand stand spectacle from the mixed drama, "The White" the football scene from "Stonewall" the tense, quick action of "The Christian" and the last act of "Mammoth" the Hippodrome Park yesterday during the Georgia-Virginia football game at the newly opened.

Over the heads of the thousands of voices, could be heard the piercing whistles of the Georgia student band, hurrying defiance in one strain and urging on their team in another.

Among those recognized in the excitement through were the Beverly of Richmond, Va., former Virginia football and baseball star, Buster Moore, whose record on the gridiron at Virginia is still a standard.

Harvard-Cornell Battle Is Coming Classic in East; Penn Is Strong This Season

St. Edward's, Wash., Oct. 25.—(Special.) With the Dartmouth-Princeton game already played that Round Robin tournament or elimination contest which is looked upon as finally determining the interstate gridiron championship of the east is well under way.

Of all these games that between Harvard and Cornell will attract the most attention, Cornell has had a particularly tough time of it during the season, while Harvard has been skimming along without a serious setback. The Ithaca team has played a much harder outdoor season than any other in the east and may not have been fully ready for the indoor season.

Harvard and Cornell have met nine times and there has never been a real close game between the two. In only four games of this series has Cornell been able to score. In 1908 the Ithaca team beat the Crimson to a score of 20-14. Cornell scored a touchdown against Harvard in 1912 when the Ithaca team beat the Crimson to a score of 14-0.

In the Brown game when he missed the only two attempts at a strong side winded on a goal from placement, the only individual goal kickers.

Harvard Better Yale Scores. Harvard and Yale have played two common opponents this year. Holy Cross and Maine. In both cases the Harvard team has so far outscored that of Yale that it makes the "Yale" look very much like a picture of a dog.

Privacy of Want Ad Answers Absolutely Guaranteed

WHEN inserting an advertisement in the Classified Columns of The Constitution, wishing to receive answers at the Constitution office, give no address or identity whatever---the address will be supplied and you will receive a check like the one shown below, bearing a letter and a number. When you insert your advertisement the number below the perforation will be pasted on your copy and you will be given the corresponding letter and number.

TO make certain that you get your own mail and that nobody gets yours is the reason for using this system. The Constitution has had the call-check system in force for some time, but permitted advertisers to select their own call names as they had done for years.

Constitution Classified advertising replies, however, have increased to such an enormous volume that this is no longer feasible. In fact, it is annoying to the advertiser and might prove embarrassing.

For instance, one day last week a young man advertised for a position signing himself "Inquirer."

The bearer is entitled to letters of this address for seven days.

Address C799 Constitution

A WOMAN, also signing herself "Inquirer," advertised a Morris chair for sale. The boy was on hand early and got all the mail addressed to "Inquirer," the duplicate addresses having slipped in during a rush of business. The first letter the boy received recited the willingness of the writer to investigate the merits of one Morris chair.

"I don't want to sell any chair," exclaimed the lad. "I want a job."

This matter was adjusted, but you see how easily mistakes might occur.

Hereafter "blind" advertising in The Constitution will be actually blind.

Constitution Classified Advertisements Hereafter Will Be Posted On Bulletin Boards in Constitution Corridor

Rooms and Board Bulletin

EVERY room and board ad will be posted on the Room and Board Bulletin now on view in the corridor of the Constitution building, where is located our Bureau of Information.

This will make it possible for every stranger in town to see at a glance when you advertise your rooms for rent or seek boarders. Should the accommodations sought not appear in the ads that day, paper and pencil will be at hand for the stranger to communicate with you through the columns of The Constitution in a Want Ad of his own. So be sure and read others' ads as well as your own.

A little Want Ad rents many a big room. Your telephone will take your ad to The Constitution and put it to work tomorrow. Better start.

Lost and Found Bulletin

ALL Lost and Found articles advertised in The Constitution will be listed at The Constitution's Information Bureau, Constitution building, Forsyth and Alabama streets, for fifteen days following the printing of the advertisement.

Lost and Found articles may be reported by telephone at any hour of the day or night. If anything is lost insert your advertisement by phone and it will appear the next morning. The notice of your lost article, with its description, will be posted on The Constitution Lost and Found Bulletin immediately.

If you find an article of value insert an advertisement in The Constitution, to be paid for by the owner of the article, and when the owner appears he will receive the article upon payment of charges for advertising.

Help Wanted Bulletin

ADVERTISEMENTS for Help Wanted will be posted every morning on The Constitution Help Wanted Bulletin. If you want a job look at the board. If the job you seek is not advertised, paper and pencil will be convenient for you to insert an ad of your own. Although do not feel under any obligations to advertise just because you look for a job on our bulletin board.

This board is to lead the employer, business man or housekeeper who needs help to get the efficient assistance required. Not only will the advertiser's message go into the homes of workers employed and offer them your inducements to compare with their present emoluments, but it will be posted in front of the eyes of an army of unemployed who watch daily for the first street editions of The Constitution.

This Constitution Employment Service will prove the most valuable means of getting work and workers together ever attempted in Atlanta. Use it freely. It belongs to the people.

General Information Bulletin

BUSINESS Opportunities and classified advertising of general interest will be posted on the General Information Bulletin at The Constitution's Bureau of Information.

In many ways this will be the most interesting section of the Bulletin Board. Messages displayed there will be as varied as the minds of men. It will be a convenience to the city's business that will stimulate interest in everything you buy or sell. Make good use of it.

World's news, when disasters occur or events of stirring moment break the routine of affairs, will be posted on this board.

Watch it.

FURS AND FINERY IN EVENING GOWNS.

THE gown on the seated figure is of delicate blue chiffon, edged with silver fox fur and is worn over charmeuse. Velvet in brilliant red trims the bodice and forms the girdle which is finished with a long end, to which is fastened a tassel.

The middle gown is of white silk crepe, bordered in shades of blue. The dainty frills are of the finest tulle, and the wide Japanese sash is of blue crepe. A twist of the blue trims the sleeves.

Of pale yellow charmeuse with drapery of self-tone chiffon is the gown on the right. The lower half of the bodice and the belt are of pearl-beaded embroidery. A sash of marine blue chiffon is slipped through the pearl clasp in front, passing beneath the embroidered belt and bursting forth in a huge loop bow in the back. The over-skirt of chiffon is caught up in the fuller effect by a soft fold of chiffon.

TIME TURNS BACKWARD FOR HALF A CENTURY WHEN TABLET TO A. H. STEPHENS IS UNVEILED

SCENES AT CRAWFORDVILLE LAST SUNDAY AT UNVEILING OF TABLET TO ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS.

At the top, left, General A. J. West and J. R. Smith being served coffee by Miss Thelma Thompson at the luncheon tendered the Old Guard; right, a group of the Gate City Guard, the active Old Guard, with two of the young ladies who went as guests, Misses Bessie Brady and Penelope Clarke; at the bottom, monument to Alexander H. Stephens, at Crawfordville; next, Frank Meador, Jr., Marist college boy, who went as guest of the Gate City Guard, and who blew taps, after the unveiling of the stone tablet; at the right, the Old Guard unveiling the tablet, the center of the photo showing Colonel J. F. Burke bending over to lift the veil.

By Ned McIntosh.

Time turned backward for half a century last Sunday in the minds of many of the older citizens of the state when the Old Guard of the Gate City Guards of Atlanta went by special train to the picturesque town of Crawfordville and unveiled a stone tablet to the memory of Alexander Hamilton Stephens, who he sleeps beneath the greenward of his old home, "Liberty Hall."

There were a number of men who were the personal and intimate friends of the statesman and patriot during his lifetime in the company of the Old Guard, who formally unveiled the tablet. There were others there who knew him, but did not belong to the Old Guard, and there were hundreds of others over the state who knew of this event and could not help but picture in their minds the days of Alexander Stephens in Georgia.

It was not the great deeds that will be engraved in the halls of fame that the friends of Alexander Stephens fondled in their memories last Sunday. When one really cherishes a memory it is not the high sounding things that the world thinks matter that really count, somehow. Those are things from which one instinctively stands at a respectful distance and gazes upon with awe and admiration. But those are not the things which really touch the heart strings, and those are not the things that the friends of Alexander Stephens remembered so tenderly last Sunday.

Little Things Interested.

These achievements, to be sure, were noted from the platform and applauded from the audience, but were not that of which this former companion and old crone talked heart to heart.

The things that they remembered and held dear were the little things that Alexander Stephens did, and forgot the moment after—the tramp he had helped, a negro he had been kind to, an encouraging word spoken and forgotten. These were his deeds that keep his memory green.

Old Aunt Liza Stephens, "Marse Aleck's" negro mammy, who nursed him and cared for him like a child through the latter years of his life, was the recipient of attention that would have flattered President Wilson. Aunt Liza is "twine older 90 year of now and she can't get about like she used—gits tired and breathless 'fo' she's done walk' nowhars hardly." But the kindly spirit of her old master still rests in her smiling old black face. No man or woman was at "Liberty Hall" Sunday who knew or admired Alexander Stephens but was her "chile." Leading men of the state considered it an honor to shake her withered old hand, and beautiful women kissed her with tears in their eyes.

Aunt Liza is a picturesque and at the same time a pathetic figure. Dressed in the calico frock that stands primly forth from her figure in quaint contrast to the light-fitting garments of today, folding her hands over an immaculate white apron, a black shawl thrown about her shoulders, she is one of the few surviving genuine types of the old-time negro mammy of the old south.

Aunt Liza bustles about "Liberty Hall" just as she used to when "Marse Aleck" was there, straightening here a picture which has not been out of plumb in twenty-five years, flicking away an imaginary speck of dust from a chair or table that has not known dust in a decade, and steps back to view her accomplishment with all the pride that she would have if she knew that "Marse Aleck" would come walking in the next moment. Again one finds her wandering down the long walk in front of the big white house to the lonesome little grave down in the front yard, where she stops and gazes, and sadly shakes her head.

She "towns she ain't gwine to be here much longer, but she sho' specks ter see 'Marse Aleck' when she goes!"

Tell of Stephens' Hospitality.

Many tales were told of how when the big dinner bell was rung on the front porch in the old days tramps and hungry vagabonds, who knew of Mr. Stephens' hospitality, would be lifted up for a seat at his table. It was an unbroken tradition of "Liberty Hall" that no man ever came there hungry or without shelter and did not get help. Any man, no matter how humble, was welcome to sit at the table of Alexander Stephens if it happened to be within sound of the dinner bell.

One story was told of a tramp who asked Mr. Stephens to help him to get to his relatives in Atlanta. It happened that on the next day Mr. Stephens was to be escorted to Atlanta in a special car by a committee of the state's most prominent citizens to accept the governor's chair, and the tramp went along as his special guest!

While these little human traits of Alexander Stephens were the things that endeared him more than any other man, his great genius and his monumental accomplishments cannot be overlooked.

These never lived, perhaps, a common man asked so little from a common wealth and gave so much, who attained success against such great odds or whose principal activities were in a period where enemies were more easily made and who died with more friends and kindler memories than Alexander H. Stephens.

Since his death in 1858 his friends have in many ways done in what great esteem they held him. The old home place was bought and preserved as a memorial, and his body was removed to a resting place there. The Daughters of the Confederacy have erected a splendid marble shaft to his grave. His name has been emblazoned in innumerable histories, but no tribute was ever more significant or more beautiful in its simplicity than the unveiling of this plain stone tablet over his grave last Sunday by the Old Guard.

Volley Fired Over Grave.

A few of his friends and admirers told what manner of man he was and of the place of distinction he holds in the hearts of his people. A sly of a lad, hardly in his "teens, blew 'taps" upon his bugle, and the ceremony was over.

Could a man whose life was simplicity itself ask for a more fitting tribute?

The genius and character of Alexander Hamilton Stephens was strikingly portrayed in the address of Lucien Knight, compiler of the colonial records of Georgia, at the unveiling of the tablet. In this speech, Mr. Knight emphasized the quiet, almost fatalistic sure methods of Stephens with the spectacular career of his distinguished compatriot, Robert Toombs. Mr. Knight's address was, in part, as follows:

"The illustrious Georgian who sleeps beneath this splendid stone is the greatest miracle of his time in the farthest tabernacle of flesh he housed the keenest intellect which the public life of America has known. For nearly half a century, this fragile invalid, racked with pain and tortured by disease, was the most dramatic figure in the nation's political arena. From his roller chair in congress he spoke with an eloquence which charmed the ears of a continent, while the voice of Webster was still thundering in the senate; yet such was the pallor which suffused his face and such the picture of suffering which he emanated from present when he spoke that, to the imagination of his startled hearers, he suggested the deathbed scene of the Earl of Chatham in the house of peers. Stranger than anything in fiction was the power of mind condensed in this old and curious compound of earth and things to come. He read the future like an open book. When the steam locomotive was still an untried factor in the world's commerce, he saw a trail of smoke moving slowly and grandly westward and a hand of steel guiding two oceans together. It was no Trojan horse which he discovered in this iron monster, but a welcome boon of the gods to men, a new Messiah of industrial progress between them, these men were bound together by hoops of steel. Damon was not more firmly bound to Fyris than to Jonathan. In the mythology of Georgia politics, they may not imaginably be called our Castor and Pollux; and my contribution to this hour's program is a contrast between these two marvelously endowed but wholly different personalities.

"The most observable difference between the two men lay in the outward contrasts of physical attributes. Toombs was muscular, full-statured, deep-chested and imperious. He was a tower of strength. His veins were swiftly poised by vigorous and warm blood of the richest quality of red. His sinews were wrought of steel. His muscles were spun of oak. His head was lionine. His dark brow, over which clustering waves of hair fell with cloud-like effects, seemed to be the abode of lightning and the home of thunder. Stephens was fragile, sickly, and unemaciated. He wore the typical look of an invalid. His eyes were bright, but they beamed like lanterns in the windows of the charred house. His cheeks were sunken, his nose and sinews were again united. Mr. Stephens felt for Mr. Toombs the same respect and tender admiration which Mr. Toombs felt for him, and his eloquent estimate of the great Touchstone's genius has long been famous. Said he of Toombs: 'His was the greatest mind I ever came in contact with; and his operations, even in its errors, reminded me of some mighty waste of waters.'

"Both died in the faith of an 'undiscovered country from whose hours no traveler returns.' There let us think of them today, with the dew of the morning-dew upon them. Under the houghs of these overhanging oaks of Liberty Hall they often held sweet converse in the old days; and now Life's final fever e'en, may they not have met again in a green country, where boundless horizons stretch before them in an land of expansive beauty and where, no longer fettered by the limitations of time and flesh, these master minds can continue in an unbroken fellowship at the eternal Fountain of Truth."

His veins were swiftly poised by vigorous and warm blood of the richest quality of red. His sinews were wrought of steel. His muscles were spun of oak. His head was lionine. His dark brow, over which clustering waves of hair fell with cloud-like effects, seemed to be the abode of lightning and the home of thunder. Stephens was fragile, sickly, and unemaciated. He wore the typical look of an invalid. His eyes were bright, but they beamed like lanterns in the windows of the charred house. His cheeks were sunken, his nose and sinews were again united. Mr. Stephens felt for Mr. Toombs the same respect and tender admiration which Mr. Toombs felt for him, and his eloquent estimate of the great Touchstone's genius has long been famous. Said he of Toombs: 'His was the greatest mind I ever came in contact with; and his operations, even in its errors, reminded me of some mighty waste of waters.'

"Both died in the faith of an 'undiscovered country from whose hours no traveler returns.' There let us think of them today, with the dew of the morning-dew upon them. Under the houghs of these overhanging oaks of Liberty Hall they often held sweet converse in the old days; and now Life's final fever e'en, may they not have met again in a green country, where boundless horizons stretch before them in an land of expansive beauty and where, no longer fettered by the limitations of time and flesh, these master minds can continue in an unbroken fellowship at the eternal Fountain of Truth."

tried factor in the world's commerce, he saw a trail of smoke moving slowly and grandly westward and a hand of steel guiding two oceans together. It was no Trojan horse which he discovered in this iron monster, but a welcome boon of the gods to men, a new Messiah of industrial progress between them, these men were bound together by hoops of steel. Damon was not more firmly bound to Fyris than to Jonathan. In the mythology of Georgia politics, they may not imaginably be called our Castor and Pollux; and my contribution to this hour's program is a contrast between these two marvelously endowed but wholly different personalities.

"The most observable difference between the two men lay in the outward contrasts of physical attributes. Toombs was muscular, full-statured, deep-chested and imperious. He was a tower of strength. His veins were swiftly poised by vigorous and warm blood of the richest quality of red. His sinews were wrought of steel. His muscles were spun of oak. His head was lionine.
