LATE COTTON BADLY HURT BY FROST

Commissioner Price Says Loss to Farmers Will Total Thousands. Cold to Continue.

Damage conservatively estimated at many thousands of dollars, was done to the "late" cotton crop by a severe frost Tuesday morning, according to information at the Georgia Agricultural Department.

"I have received no official figures," said Commissioner Price, "but I believe that cotton has been seriously injured throughout the State. The damage will be in spots and probably will amount to many thousands of dollars."

Jack Frost arrived early Tuesday for the first time this season. He came on the heels of snow which fell Monday morning and caught many unprepared.

The official prospect is even colder weather Tuesday than that of Monday.

Temperature Tumbles. Tuesday's temperature, according to the thermometer, is scheduled for a tumble to 28 degrees. In fact, the mercury got so close to this that only the weather man will note the difference on the records. Wednesday there probably will be a break, and Thursday it should be much warmer according to the weather experts.

At 7 a. m. Tuesday it was clear, drizzly and cold, with a temperature of 42 degrees. Only the most gradual sort of rise was noted as the hours went by.

ELECTION TO KEEP SEAT FOR HUERTA

Dictator Orders Balloting as Scheduled, and Neither of Five Candidates Can Get Majority.

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian. MEXICO CITY, Oct. 21.—General Huerta made known to-day that the presidential election will be held on October 25 as scheduled. This means Huerta will remain in office after that date.

There are five parties in the field with candidates. In view of the international situation, it is certain no candidate can receive a majority. The constitution requires that the successful candidate must receive a majority.

It is expected that the crisis in the relations between Mexico and the United States will come soon after the election. Announcement will be made that the electors have failed to choose a new President, and Huerta will continue in office as constitutional President ad interim.

The parties in the field and their presidential candidates are: Catholic, Frederick Gamboa; Peleista, Felix Diaz; Liberal Progressive, David Ja la Puente; Anti-Revolution, Vasquez Gomez.

Rodolfo Reyes, former Minister of Justice, would have been nominated by the Republicans, but he is in prison on a charge of sedition. The belief is general that the return of Felix Diaz to Mexico City will be the signal for dangerous rioting.

With the election but six days off, few actual preparations have been made for balloting on a successor to Huerta. The election machinery throughout practically the entire republic is controlled by Huerta's military governors.

DETECTIVES SEEK TO REVEAL PLOT AGAINST FURNITURE MERCHANT

Police, Tuesday, considered the exonerated of J. C. Shirley complete. Charles J. Graham, attorney for the man accused by Ira W. Fisher of the murder of Mary Phagan, said that he was as yet undecided whether Fisher's accusations were the ravings of a diseased and dope-dependent mind or the first evidence of a deep-laid plot with Fisher as the tool.

Two prominent Atlanta men and one Birmingham man are threatened with arrest on charges of conspiracy. A searching investigation by Chief Lanford and Attorney Graham will decide whether this move will be taken. Graham said Tuesday that he would make a decision as soon as reports had been made to him on certain rumors that had come to his ears.

Shirley said that he either would put Fisher in the asylum or in the penitentiary. He will bring his books to the police Tuesday to show a complete alibi. Lanford has instituted an investigation of the charges of conspiracy and will make arrests at once if he finds them substantiated.

Two of the men named in the alleged conspiracy have been identified with the Frank case. The other one is known to have been with Fisher in Birmingham.

It was pointed out by Chief Lanford Tuesday that were Fisher's story true in every particular, there is nothing in it to connect Shirley with the murder of Mary Phagan. The name that Fisher said Shirley mentioned as that of the girl he was to meet was Hattie. Shirley asserts that he never even knew Mary Phagan by sight.

Fisher Looked Up. Fisher was put under arrest at the police station on the charge of criminal libel, the complaint being sworn to by Russell Shirley, a brother of C. Shirley. Short shrift was given him after he had reported his weird story Monday night in the presence of the man he accused.

The warrant had already been made out and as soon as it became apparent that Fisher, said by some to be an irresponsible drunkard and dope fiend, was going to stick by his story, Chief of Detectives Lanford gave the papers to Detective John W. Starnes and Fisher was locked up.

Fisher underwent a searching examination that lasted more than three hours. His detailed story first was taken by C. C. February, secretary to Chief Lanford. Little effort was made at this time to cross-examine him, the purpose being to get his story together as he originally had told it so that every feature might later be investigated with a view of disproving or substantiating it.

Visita Places He Names. Chief Lanford and Detective Starnes and Collier then put Fisher through a severe questioning and he then was taken out in the police automobile to visit several of the places he said he had been with Shirley on the day of the crime.

"With this new law we will break up sweatshops in Atlanta," said Councilman Ashley Tuesday. "It may surprise some people to learn that there are 'sweatshops' investigated in Atlanta, but I have conditions, and I know that some of the places where women and girls are required to work are horrible."

Councilman Ashley's ordinance regarding the sanitation and health conditions of factories in Atlanta, in which women are employed has been unanimously adopted by Council. It was unanimously recommended by the Board of Health.

"With this new law we will break up sweatshops in Atlanta," said Councilman Ashley Tuesday. "It may surprise some people to learn that there are 'sweatshops' investigated in Atlanta, but I have conditions, and I know that some of the places where women and girls are required to work are horrible."

"That was pretty affectionate treatment, wasn't it?" the court asked. "No, not the way I suggested me."

Another of his statements which gave tangible cause for disbelief was that he had seen no crowd on the streets April 26, which was Memorial Day, either while he was waiting at Marietta and Forsyth streets from about 1 until 2 o'clock in the afternoon or while he and Shirley, according to his story, were driving across Peachtree street and down Decatur street and then to the Union Station. He said that he noticed no crowd on the streets at all other than would naturally be on any Saturday afternoon. It is claimed that this alone never was stopped at any time he was driving from one place to another. He said that this alone brands his story as ridiculous, as there were large crowds on the street.

Still another discrepancy which the police say is in his story is that he first said that he met C. W. Burke, agent for Attorney Luther Rosser, on Friday night in Birmingham. Before the detectives he declared that the first time he saw Burke was last Saturday night, when Burke met him on the street and brought him to Atlanta. Burke also is declared to have said that he met Fisher first on Friday night.

Fisher was questioned very closely about what he had talked to him in Luther Rosser's office. He said that

Judge Foster Ends Case Against Thomson Man Charging Mail Statute Violation.

Augusta, Oct. 21.—Judge Foster in United States District Court here this afternoon quashed the motion of counsel for Thomas E. Thomson, the Thomson editor, lawyer and politician, to open the indictment against him charging the sending of obscene matter through the United States mails. This motion, presented Monday to S. Gray McLenion, chief of the bench, was sustained. The indictment of Mr. Thomson was a result of a publication in the "Southern States" of a letter from the editor to the Catholic hierarchy in the city of Columbus, Ga., charging that the hierarchy was a "clique" and "a conspiracy against the people of Georgia."

Mrs. Pankhurst received a number of congratulatory letters from the suffrage leaders at Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont's home to-day. LATE COTTON BADLY HURT BY FROST

Commissioner Price Says Loss to Farmers Will Total Thousands.

Damage conservatively estimated at many thousands of dollars, was done to the "late" cotton crop by a severe frost Tuesday morning, according to information at the Georgia Agricultural Department.

"I have received no official figures," said Commissioner Price, "but I believe that cotton has been seriously injured throughout the State. The damage will be in spots and probably will amount to many thousands of dollars."

Jack Frost arrived early Tuesday for the first time this season. He came on the heels of snow which fell Monday morning, and caught many farmers unprepared.

The official prospect is even colder weather Tuesday than that of Monday.

Temperature Tumbles.

Tuesday's temperature, according to Director VonHermann, is scheduled for a tumble to 50 degrees. In fact, the mercury got so close to this figure in the wee small hours Tuesday that only the weather man will note the difference on the records.

Wednesday there probably will be a break, and Thursday it should be much warmer, according to the weather experts.

At 7 a. m. Tuesday it was clear, sunny and cold, with a temperature of 33 degrees. Only the most gradual sort of rise was noted as the hours went by.

While the weather authorities do not consider the present weather a "cold wave" in the strict sense, they do not hesitate to declare that it is "a pretty good tumble."

According to the records, the present "snap" is a record for the month of October. The lowest temperature in local records was on October 28, 1912, when 25 degrees was registered, as a minimum.

Just one year ago Monday the thermometer registered 18 degrees, or 21 degrees warmer than Monday's temperature.

The earliest snowfall ever recorded in Atlanta was on October 29, 1910.

Cold Wave Deals Out Death and Damage

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—A violent snowstorm, the worst of this season of the year in the memory of the oldest residents, swept Chicago and the Middle West to-day. Trains running into Chicago were delayed. Traffic in the city was demoralized.

One death was due to the storm in Chicago, when a woman, blinded by snow, stepped from between two cars in the path of an engine.

Several ships on Lake Michigan were missing to-day. Wireless failed to find them.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 21.—The toll of the storm falling over Wisconsin to-day was five lives. Two were drowned in Shawano Lake when their ship was overturned in a gale. The three others perished when their launch capsized.

CLEVELAND, OHIO, Oct. 21.—Following the blizzard that swept Northern Ohio last night a light frost here to-day, with freezing weather.

DETROIT, Oct. 21.—Heavy snows are reported all over Northern Michigan last night and still falling. Shipping has suffered severely from the snow in Detroit. A fall of snow began falling at 8 o'clock.

Loved Own Cookery So Well, Grady Chef Stole Choice Steaks

On the heels of a record of much recidivism and excellent cooking, Toby Eason, chef at the Grady Hospital, has got into trouble. The disappearance of certain choice steaks and other staples and delicacies from the larder of the hospital have given much annoyance to the steward of late, but such was Toby's reputation for probity that he was the last person suspected. Finally, however, he was watched. His pockets bulged suspiciously as he left the hospital last night. Fancy cuts of steak caused the bulges. Toby was arrested.

DORSET TO BE ASKED TO AID IN UNEARTHING PLOT AGAINST SHIRLEY

Solicitor Dorset shortly before noon made public a mass of affidavits upholding Jurors Johneming and Henzie who were accused of bias in charges filed by the defense in the fight for a new trial for Leo Frank.

The affidavits included statements from fellow jurors declaring that the two men had expressed no opinion on the merits of the case while the trial was in progress. They also included statements upholding the character of the men.

That the Fulton County Grand Jury will be asked to investigate the origin of the accusation of Ira W. Fisher was the statement made by G. J. Graham, attorney for J. G. Shirley, the furniture dealer named by the new Phagan "witness" Tuesday.

This action was decided upon following a lengthy conference between Shirley, Graham and Chief of Detectives Lanford. Its purpose will be to determine whether Fisher's story was the result of a conspiracy against Shirley or simply the result of a drunkard's ramble.

A rigid probe to the foundation of the story will be asked. Persons named by Fisher as his associates since his departure from Atlanta will be questioned, especially those with whom he had dealings just prior to the time he appeared before Chief of Police Bodeker in Birmingham and made his startling statements.

If the investigation shows that others had a hand in the accusations against the furniture dealer, they will be presented together with Fisher on a conspiracy charge. Many believe that this will prove the fact.

Conference With Dorset

Attorney Graham stated that he would have a conference with Solicitor Dorset later in the day and an early date for the Grand Jury probe would be fixed.

Two Atlanta men and one Birmingham man are threatened with arrest on charges of conspiracy. A searching investigation by Chief Lanford and Attorney Graham will decide whether this move will be taken. Graham said Tuesday that he would make a decision as soon as reports had been made to him on certain rumors that had come to his ears.

Shirley said that he either would put Fisher in the asylum or in the penitentiary. He will bring his books to the police Tuesday to show a complete alibi. Lanford has instituted an investigation of the charges of conspiracy and will make arrests at once if he finds them substantiated. Two of the men named in the alleged conspiracy have been identified with the Frank case. The other one is known to have been with Fisher in Birmingham.

It was pointed out by Chief Lanford Tuesday that were Fisher's story true in every particular, there is nothing in it to connect Shirley with the murder of Mary Phagan. The name that Fisher said Shirley mentioned as that of the girl he was to meet was Hattie. Shirley asserts that he never even knew Mary Phagan by sight.

Fisher was locked up at the police station on the charge of criminal libel, the complaint being sworn to by Russell Shirley, a brother of J. C. Shirley. Shortly after he was taken to his cell, he was visited by his brother-in-law, who gave him a letter from the Atlanta Police Department.

Fisher was taken back for an instant, but recovered himself at once. He was placed in a chair near the chief and the questioning was resumed. Chief Lanford, Charles J. Graham, attorney for Shirley, Russell Shirley and the accused man himself took turns in firing questions at the stout figure in the chair. Aside from a nervous movement of his hands, and a frequent stroking of his face on which there was a four-day growth of beard, he showed no sign that he was disturbed by the unusual position in which he found himself.

Because of the positive statements contained in the first announcement of Fisher's story and the terrible charge against Shirley that was included in the same possibility, Chief Lanford said that Shirley might be held at the police station until the story had been investigated.

So many glaring improbabilities and conflicts, however, crept into the man's narrative that Chief Lanford declared that he could not think of holding Shirley on the strength of

More than 200 former employees of the Fulton Bag and Cotton Mills gathered at the City Hall about 2 o'clock this afternoon for a mass meeting to air their grievances.

Some 20 affidavits to support the State's contention that Leo M. Frank had a fair trial were made public Tuesday by Solicitor Dorsey. They will be used Wednesday in the district against the defense's motion for a new trial before Judge L. S. Bonn.

A search extending over two States was begun by the police Tuesday in an effort to locate Joe Hicks, companion of Ira W. Fisher. Hicks is the man who accompanied Fisher to the office of Chief of Police Bodker in Birmingham when Fisher made his wild but quickly discredited accusation of the murder of Mary Phagan against J. C. Shirley, of 809 Marietta street, Atlanta.

Chief of Detectives Lanford and Charles J. Graham, attorney for Shirley, believe that they will have disclosed the deeply laid plot against Shirley, if such a plot actually has existed, when they have forced Hicks to talk and when they have grilled Fisher in a sober condition.

FISHER STICKS TO STORY HE NEVER FORGOT OF LAWYER AND POLICE

flower and Reuben Arnold had had to do with a man who had killed a poor man of the examination. "I told me on there that I would have a hard time doing here if the detectives got hold of me," he raved and laughed.

Fisher was all of the way in a state of mind, almost dazed, when he started to tell the story of the murder. He was charged with the murder of Mary Phagan, but he said he was not the murderer. He was charged with the murder of Mary Phagan, but he said he was not the murderer.

Called "Lard and Bum."
"You're a meany fat and I'll prove it," you drunken bum," shouted Shirley, his eyes lighting up with a dangerous fire. "Why don't you tell the truth and quit lying?" Shirley, half mad with rage, almost dragged into his chair by Charles Graham, his attorney.

"I want to get out of town and tell Shirley so, but he threatened me and said I would have to get out of town to get out of town." Fisher again paused, and looking straight in the eyes for the first time, said:

"That's straight, Mr. Shirley, and if you'll tell the truth you'll admit it." Once more Shirley arose in a gasping attitude, but took his seat again.

"I didn't want to get out of town and tell Shirley so, but he threatened me and said I would have to get out of town to get out of town." Fisher again paused, and looking straight in the eyes for the first time, said:

Tells of Threat.
"I scared here two weeks then went to Cooper Hill, Tenn. because Shirley wanted me to and because he threatened me. He said if I didn't go to Cooper Hill he would have me in a cage there. Shirley was my lawyer and he said if I didn't go to Cooper Hill he would have me in a cage there."

Shirley Declares Books Will Furnish Him Alibi
"I can account for every minute of my time on the day of the murder of Mary Phagan," said J. C. Shirley, who is known to his friends as "Charley." Shirley was in his furniture store at No. 808 Marietta street and a crowd of his friends had gathered around him.

"I can't say my friend just what I did on that day, but my books will show my whereabouts." "I have not taken the time to look into my books, as I attach much more importance to the statements and accusations of that drunken bum Fisher."

"I first knew Fisher in 1911, when he moved next door to my shop here. He came over here and I sold him on time a large quantity of furniture. He looked around about the bill, and after a while he came back and said that he would like to bring the furniture back to my store."

"This wife came to me and said that if I would change the account, she would pay the bill. She said that if she paid it and left the furniture in my store, she would have it for nothing."

ing was the factory where Mary Phagan had been murdered. "I didn't know a soul at the factory and then I learned that two girls were here across the street here worked there."

Shirley's Friends Threaten Violence

Threats of violence against Fisher were made in the neighborhood where Fisher formerly lived and where "Charley" Shirley is liked as a person. Fisher fell into the hands of these residents, there is little to be made out of this story.

Denies Living Drugs

"I know what that is," returned Fisher, "and you can't send me to prison for telling the truth."

Chummy or Runny?

Fisher said that while in Parkville he met a man by the name of Dick Hicks who was employed on the railroad with him and that they became chummy.

When Jimmy, don't you, Fisher interrupted Shirley's brother, Fisher went to say that Hicks went to Birmingham with him some weeks ago and that they had stayed together there. Hicks, he said, was the first person he ever told the story of his movements on the day of the murder of Mary Phagan. He never even had told his wife.

"You know that all she wants is to get the legal end of you," he asked, addressing the Shirley brothers.

"Well, I just let drop a hint or two to her. I told her that they didn't have the murderer of Mary Phagan and that I knew who the real murderer was. He told me that I ought to tell it if I knew. Then I went on to tell him the whole thing just as I have told it here. After he had kept telling me that I ought not to let an innocent man hang, it just kind of got on my conscience. Finally, he went with me Friday to Chief Holoker's office and we told the whole thing."

"Who, I guess Hicks did," said Shirley. "After the questioning of Fisher was over, Sanford said:

Search for Conspiracy

"We are going to get all the bottom of this. It may be that Fisher has been misled, but I am going to investigate the possibility that it was someone else and not Shirley that pulled the trigger. It is a conspiracy against Shirley to let him be anyone else the detective department propose to find it out. Possible. Fisher has absolutely no evidence that money was sent him. He has no envelopes from Shirley, that party is over. It is time to be let go. He is not registered, and he says that all of the money was sent in cash. Altogether it is the most ridiculous story I ever listened to."

Ribick, he is the lowest meanest man that ever lived. One day last summer he tried to sell me some chickens which he had in a sack. I asked him where he got them and he said he stole them and go up on North street for some hours."

"I know of another time when Fisher stole his wife's shoes so that he could buy some with the money he got by selling them."

Wife Got Furnishings

"Fisher's friends would like to approve." "I changed the account for her and she paid the bill and a short time after her husband had left town, she moved farther down the street. I didn't see Shirley for some time, then one day he came and borrowed a dollar from me. Then it was a long time before he came around. Previous to his borrowing the dollar he was and I read accounts of the murder in the papers and saw pictures of the body. Then one day he came down town I passed by and a crowd of people were out in front and I stopped and looked at the build-

On a small built-down in the jugle try it. Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stuffed-up air passages of the head will open you will breathe freely, dullness and headache disappear. It cures the catarrh, coldness or external sore throat will be gone.

Get such misery now! Get the small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. This sweet fragram, pain dissolves by the heat of the nostrils, penetrates and heats the inflamed swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat. It clears the air passages, opens nearly clogged and a feeling of bearing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't be awake to-night struggling for breath with head stuffed, nostrils clogged, yawning and blowing. Catch it at a cold, with the running nose, full mucus dripping into the throat, and raw dryness in sneezing, but truly needless.

Put your faith just when you feel a cold, a runny nose, or catarrh will surely disappear.

Bishop Scores Vast Outlay for Armament

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—A striking contrast of the amount of money contributed for Christian missions and the amount expended by European nations for arms and navy equipment was made by Bishop Joseph Schuyler, of Toledo, Ohio, at the Catholic Church Extension Congress, Bishop Schuyler said.

"There are one billion people in this world to-day who never heard the name of Christ. The whole Catholic world has not contributed over $100,000,000 for missions, while the combined navies of Europe are spending to-day more than $2,000,000,000 on arms and navy for the destruction of the very peace which Christ came on earth to establish."

FISHER INVESTIGATED AT POLICE STATION WHILE FERGE GOING OF LAWYER

ferred against him because all of his charges were verbal.
Fisher will be arraigned before Judge J. C. Sherry at the Police Station Wednesday.

Grand Jury Called On.
That the Fulton County Grand Jury will be asked to investigate the origin of the accusations was the statement made by Graham.
This action was decided upon following a lengthy conference between Shirley, Graham and Chief of Detectives Landolf. Its purpose will be to determine whether Fisher's story was the result of a conspiracy against Shirley, or simply the result of a drink-soaked mind.
A right probe to the foundation of the story will be asked. Persons named by Fisher as his associates show his signature from Atlanta will be questioned, especially those with whom he had dealings just prior to the time he appeared at the Police Station in Birmingham and Police Bowler in Birmingham and made his starting statements.

If the investigation of the callers had a hand in the accusations against the furniture dealer, they will be prosecuted together with Fisher in a conspiracy charge. Many believe last this will prove the fact.

Attorney Graham stated that he would have a conference with Solicitor Dancy later in the day and an early date for the grand jury probe would be fixed.
Shirley said that he either would not Fisher in the and after the indictments. He will bring the books to the police Tuesday to show a complete alibi. Landolf was ordered an investigation of the charges of conspiracy and will make arrests at once if he finds them substantiated. The names named in the alleged conspiracy have been identified with the Frank case. The other one is Birmingham to have been with Fisher in Birmingham.

It was pointed out by Chief Landolf Tuesday that if Fisher's story true in every particular, there is nothing in it to connect Shirley with the murder of Mary Phagan. The name Fisher said Shirley mentioned as that of the girl he was to meet was Hattie Shirley, asserts that he never even knew Mary Phagan by sight.

Fisher Locked Up.
Fisher was put under arrest at the police station on the charge of criminal libel, the complaint being sworn to by Russell Shirley, a brother-in-law of J. C. Sherry. Short shortly was given a room after he had rejected his wrist story Monday night in the presence of the man he accused.
The warrant had already been issued, and so soon as it became apparent that Fisher said by some to be an irresponsible drunkard, it was thought he was going to stick by his story. Chief of Detectives Landolf gave the order to Detective John W. Starnes and Fisher was locked up.

Fisher underwent a searching examination. He had to get out of town three hours. He detailed story first was taken by G. F. Fisher in the presence of Chief Landolf. Little effect was made at the time the examining him, the purpose being to get the story together as he originally had given it. He was then taken to the Police Station where he was interviewed with a view of corroborating or substantiating his story. Landolf and Detectives Starnes and Coker then went through a severe questioning and he then was taken to the Police Station where he was interviewed by a woman responsible to a sister several of the pieces he said he had written. Shirley on the day of the crime. While he was gone, the chief of Detectives Landolf came to the police station. Shirley said the chief's office. As soon as Fisher came back he was handcuffed to a wall and a warning right into the room. Standing before him was the man he accused.

Fisher was taken back for an instant, but recovered himself at once. He was placed in a chair and the chief and the questioning was resumed. Chief Landolf ("Hawley" J. Russell, attorney for Shirley; Russell, Shirley and the accused man himself took turns in firing questions at the small figure in the chair. Aside from a nervous movement of his hands and a frequent stroking of his face on which there was a four day's growth of beard, he showed no signs that he was disturbed by his unusual position in which he found himself.

Shirley Isn't Held.
Because of the positive statements charged in the first announcement of Fisher's story and the serious charge against Shirley that was included in his words, some possibility existed that Shirley might be held at the police station until the story had been investigated.
Some plain probabilities and conditions, however, kept him in the man's narrative. Chief Landolf declared that he could think of nothing which would connect Fisher's story with the Phagan murder, which he branded as manifestly impossible.

The trip to No. 122 Bellwood avenue developed one of the reasons for disbelief in Fisher's statement. Fisher said that he went to a woman in this house the morning of April 23 to deliver a dresser. "Who was she?" asked Fisher and he was told that she had delivered a dresser to the house Monday night, Mrs. Holliday and she said that Fisher and Shirley never had delivered anything there and that she had not bought a dresser for years. This hope to be that the man Fisher in the last. He will stick to his assertion that he never delivered that morning and delivered the furniture.

Another of his statements which had troubled the police was that he had seen no crowd on the streets April 24 which was memorable day. Other while he was at Memphis and Marietta and Forrest streets from the 10th to 11th and 12th.

she moved farther down the street. I didn't see Shirley for some time, then one day he came and borrowed a dollar from me. Then it was a long time before he came around. Previous to his borrowing the dollar he used to hang around the store. The crowd around the popular furniture dealer since all about Fisher and many admitted that he had "stung" them for some amount.

Shirley's Books Give Alibi; Accounts Hit Fisher's Story

J. C. Shirley declared to Chief of Detectives Landolf at the police station Tuesday morning, when he called there with his answer, that Mary Phagan was murdered and that this would substantiate his story. Shirley's statement to the chief was that the latter informing him that an affidavit was wholly unnecessary, as there was no charge against him. For this same reason the merchant was not required to do any details. Shirley explained that he has all of his books and records in regard to his store on April 25, the day of the murder, and that the records showed that the furniture was made at any place of Bellwood avenue on that date. This refutes the statement of J. W. Fisher, the "mystery witness," that he did Shirley that day, in delivering a dresser at the Holliday home, No. 122 Bellwood avenue, and that it was there that the merchant sold him of his engagement of that afternoon with "Hattie Shirley." Shirley said that he never went out in his wagon that day at all. Shirley told the chief "I remember very well that it was an unusually busy day with us in the store, and I was kept there practically the whole of the day. I remember distinctly that both of my lifted boxes one white and the other a negro, not read at all because I wouldn't let them off at 12 o'clock. It being Monday day they wanted to go down town, so we got the parcel."

Went to Terminal Station.
The negro boy and a colored girl, dressed in white, rode and the wagon on that day. This is the simple reason for Fisher in his story about not driving in to Bellwood avenue and being down town. Only once did I to jail for what he has done if there is any way I can manage to send him there."

Old Charge of Murder Is Revived.
JAILING, Oct. 21.—Suspensions of murder once held against J. W. Fisher are to be brought up once again in a new investigation as a result of Fisher's activity in the Frank case. Years ago Fisher was a witness in a wobbly case in Superior Court room and Judge G. G. Glenn, representing the defense, suggested him. Twenty or fifteen of the count's most responsible citizens swore on the stand that they would not believe Fisher on oath. Fisher left behind soon after the death of his brother-in-law, Bug Steele.

WATSON MOVES WHITEHALL ST. TO QUASH HIS INDICTMENT

Case Involves Constitutional Guarantee of Freedom of the Press, His Attorney Says.

After a hearing lasting five hours, Judge George Holl Monday afternoon denied the petition for a permanent injunction against the Whitehall street widening work. The county and city will resume the work immediately.

The court was found to be so divided that the hearing was transferred to the office of Judge Z. B. Brown, county attorney, in the Grand Building.

John P. McDaniel, representing W. L. Kelley, the grower who brought the suit, based his legal objections on the grounds that Whitehall street was not registered as a county road.

Both Mr. Kelley and City Attorney James L. Mayson cited authorities and argued that the improvement of the street was proceeding in a legal manner.

Early in the hearing it seemed that the case might be decided in favor of the county. However, the county attorney, James L. Mayson, cited authorities and argued that the improvement of the street was proceeding in a legal manner.

DR. WHITE LAUNDS LIQUOR SHIPMENTS END IN TENNESSEE

Express and Railroad Companies Hasten to Observe New Anti-Jug Law.

NASHVILLE, Oct. 26.—Express and railroad companies in Tennessee are already refusing to handle liquor shipments from one county in Tennessee to another under the provisions of the prohibition law, enforcement and jug bill, which was passed at the special session of the Legislature last month.

Notice has been sent to agents of both the Southern and Adams Express companies warning them not to accept any more intra-State shipments in any county in Memphis, Chattanooga and Nashville. Shipments for points outside of the State are still being accepted, and it is expected that the West-Knox anti-jug bill, as amended by the Democrats, will have no effect on this class of traffic.

Robert K. Keesler, consulting attorney for the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company, said his opinion on the prohibition law enforcement and jug bill was based on the fact that the law is unconstitutional. Decisions from the supreme court of other States in this class are expected daily.

POLICE PUT LID ON HALLOWEEN NIGHT

Chief Beavers Forbids Walking of Ghosts and Pranks of Festive Youngsters.

Chullo lines will remain uncut in backyards and picket fences and "foe-reat" signs will stand intact on the morning of this year's Halloween, proving the long arm of the law can hold down the effervescent spirit of Atlanta's army of small mischief-makers. No raid of uncut yarn will be sprung from her bed in great fright by the presence of a red-eyed goblin staring into her bed chamber.

This has been decided by the police, who intend to make the small boys behave on the night of all night for mischief. Generally the little fellows gather in dozens and proceed to make the night miserable for folks in their particular neighborhood, to whom they have taken a dislike.

Picket fences are torn up, real estate signs moved from one house to another and "foe-reat" signs placed on the lawn of the various school houses.

Woodward Urges $25 Cut in Salary Of Mayor Pro Tem

Mayor James G. Woodruff Tuesday advised Councilman W. G. Humphrey, chairman of the Finance Committee, that the salary of the Mayor Pro Tem should be cut from $75 to $50.

The amount paid all other members of Council. They were discussing the active campaign of Alderman James B. Stirling, N. S. Hagblade and J. H. Stowell for the place.

"When you go to New York to act as MEYERON BU TAIN N and allow Mayor Pro Tem Warren to act as Mayor," asked Mr. Humphrey, "I have received a card from you that you will not accept the salary of the Mayor Pro Tem to $25 a month. He doesn't have to do any more than the others. Just attend meetings."

"We would if you were going to be Mayor all the time," retorted Mr. Humphrey.

ELECTIONS WILL BRING CRISIS IN MEXICO

Neither of Five Candidates Can Get Majority October 26, So Huerta Will Remain Dictator.

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian. MEXICO CITY, Oct. 21.—General Huerta made known today that the presidential election will be held on October 26, as scheduled. This means Huerta will remain in office after that date.

There are five parties in the field with candidates. In view of the critical situation, it is certain no candidate can receive a majority. The constitution requires that the successful candidate must receive a majority.

It is expected that the crisis in the relations between Mexico and the United States will come soon after the election. Announcement will be made that the electors have failed to choose a new President, and Huerta will continue in office as constitutional President ad interim.

The parties in the field and their presidential candidates are: Gen. Francisco Gamboa; Felix Diaz, Felix Diaz, Liberal Progressive, David de la Plancha; Anti-Revolution, Manuel Gomez.

Rodolfo Reyes, former Minister of Justice, would have been nominated by the Republicans, but he is in prison on a charge of sedition.

The belief is general that the electors of Felix Diaz to Mexico City will be the signal for dangerous rioting.

With the election but six days off, few actual preparations have been made for holding on a successor to Huerta. The election machinery throughout practically all of the republic is controlled by Huerta's military organizers.

Foreigners Flee Mexico. Terror-stricken by fear of a massacre if General Huerta is overthrown by the rebels, Spanish, French, German and English citizens to-day are leaving Mexico as rapidly as possible.

Scores of Americans already had left here in the last few days, and many foreigners who had little thought of departing, believing that Huerta would remain in office until such time as his fellow countrymen were being held as hostages by the rebels at Terreon, also are fleeing.

The foreigners are alarmed by rumor of the United States intending to recognize the anarchists as belligerents. They were further alarmed by the publication of a statement sent by General Carranza to Gen. Aguilar, in which he declared that there would be no peace in Mexico while Huerta's military and political party reigned.

Merchants Anxious. Huerta's action in ordering a 50 per cent tariff increase has caused considerable consternation among merchants, many of whom say they will have to go out of business. The tariff increase, which now is higher than ever before, will be heavy, and the dictator's efforts to fill his treasury.

The edict was issued by Huerta, acting in place of Congress, and approved by him as President.

Mrs. Clayton had a kiss for several Confederate veterans in the crowd.

Sings to Court of 'Joys of Home' as He Awaits Decree From Sixth Wife

DALTON, Oct. 21.—While waiting for the jury to bring in a verdict by which he was to-day granted a divorce from his sixth wife, Robert S. Knox, 58-year-old veteran of the Mexican war, sang to the court several songs of his own composition, one being "The Joys of Home."

Mr. Knox stated that he had been an exemplary husband, but his wife had deserted him four months after their marriage, while Mrs. Knox, who has been married four times, asserted she had been a model wife and her husband had driven her from his home. She said he had passed his days roaming in Texas, Virginia and other places.

After the matrimonial trial Judge Pitts proposed a reconciliation, but the aged plaintiff would not budge. He was then asked if he intended to take a seventh wife, but refused to commit himself. He said he would accept a woman in his old age, but would not marry alone in the future.

Dubois, Noted French Composer, Is Dead

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian. PARIS, Oct. 21.—M. Theophile Dubois, former director of the Paris Conservatoire and one of the best known composers in Europe, died to-day as the result of injuries he received in an automobile accident.

M. Dubois, who was 76 years old, wrote the sacred music for an oratorio, the libretto of which was written by the late Pope Leo in 1918, and was sung at Christmas services that year in the Cathedral of Rheims.

Mrs. Rockefeller's Recovery Doubtful

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 21.—The condition of Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, who is ill here, was regarded as serious to-day. Her advanced age has made recovery of that nature extremely doubtful.

Trolley Modern Lochinvar's Way

Schoolgirl of Sixteen and Sweetheart Flee to Marietta and Wed When Her Parents Object.

Young Lochinvar and the prospective Mrs. L. don't gallion madly away in a sporting speed these days. They take a trolley car.

And still there romance in the flight, and a delicious sense of danger twittering in the breasts of the eager.

There was Miss Jean McMillan, now called "Miss" here because she was so soon to be "Mrs." although she was just a very pretty little pupil, 14 years old, in the eighth grade of the Williams Street School.

Miss Jean lived at No. 112 Simpson street, and J. R. Harris lived at the home of a sister, No. 670 Ashby street. That was yesterday. Now they both live at No. 670 Ashby street, for the time being, at any rate.

It seems the youthful Lochinvar, whose modern name is Harris, had been calling on Miss Jean for a year. That part of it was all serene. Mrs. and Mrs. G. L. McMillan, Miss Jean's parents, had no objection to Mr. Harris as a visitor in their home or as a friend of their daughter. But as a son-in-law—well, they considered their daughter was too young to be married.

When Mrs. Love proceeded to laugh at Locksmith, which is merely a figure of speech, as Miss Jean wasn't locked up or anything like it.

On the contrary, she went to school quite as usual yesterday. Then she did something not at all as usual. She went to the corner of Whitehall and Hunter streets, and there met the young Lochinvar.

Then they boarded the wild and noisy trolley car for Marietta, where they found an avenue J. P. After which Mrs. and Mrs. J. R. Lochinvar Harris returned to Atlanta and went out to Mr. Harris' address.

And there they are.

Georgia Archives in Peril of Destruction, Asserts Phil Cook

Secretary of State Phil Cook Tuesday issued an informal statement of concern over the importance of the State preserving the old records which are filed in the Statehouse.

According to Mr. Cook many of the oldest records in the State Archives Department are in imminent danger of destruction. Most of the books are now stored away in cases which could be destroyed by fire, and many of the old maps have become practically valueless by excessive handling.

Mr. Cook points out that whereas the State of North Carolina has expended something like $10,000 recently for the preservation of its old records, Georgia is expending less than $2,000 appropriated last year for the purchase of glass cases. A much larger sum is needed immediately, he says.

To Guard Credits Under Money Bill

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—An amendment to the pending currency bill for the completion of the machinery of the new banking and currency system before any part of it is set in operation, will be adopted by the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, according to opinions expressed by a member here in the alleged need of haste for an institution to reduplicate paper that they are simultaneously with their transfer of funds to the proposed Federal reserve banks. Otherwise, the transfer of these funds will result, it is declared, in a contraction of credits and disturbed business.

Whitehall Grade Work is Resumed

Attorney McClelland Announces He Will Appeal Injunction Suit Judge Bell Denied.

Work was resumed on the regrading of Whitehall street, between Mitchell street and Trinity avenue, Tuesday morning, as a result of the refusal of Judge Bell to grant a permanent injunction against the project.

Chairman Shelby Smith, of the County Commission, said that if weather conditions were favorable the county would complete the part of the work within three weeks. The city and public utilities promise to have record time on their part.

A Mayor, John K. McClelland, representing W. L. Kelley, the grower who filed the injunction petition, announced that he would appeal the case to the Supreme Court. He took the position that the County Commission could not do work on streets inside the city unless these streets were registered as county roads and that Whitehall street was not so registered.

Physician Tells How To Grow Hair

A well-known physician who has made a careful study of the hair recently made the following statement: "It is comparatively easy to stop the hair from falling out, promote its growth and banish dandruff by the following simple recipe, which can be made at home." To 7 oz. of water add a small box of Barbo Compound, 1 oz. of bay rum and 1-4 oz. of glycerine. Apply it to the scalp with the finger tips two or three times per week. It not only is excellent as a scalp and hair tonic, but it darkens faded, streaked, gray hair and makes it soft and glossy. I use it myself and have no hesitancy in recommending it to my patients. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost.

Over the roof to the wire. THESE PHOTOGRAPHS WERE TAKEN DURING A MOVING PICTURE REHEARSAL IN WHICH A MAN HAD TO WALK A TIGHTWIRE TO RESCUE A CHILD FROM A BURNING HOUSE. SUFFERED AWFUL PAINS

For Sixteen Years. Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Meredon, Vermont. "I was troubled with pains and irregularities for sixteen years, and was thin, weak and nervous. When I would lie down it would seem as if I was going right down all of night into some dark hole, and the window curtains had fallen and would press at me, and when I was out of doors it would seem as if something was going to happen. My blood was poor, my circulation was bad. I would live a dead person at times. I had female weakness, my abdomen was sore and I had awful pains."

"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used the Serravallo's Tonic and they certainly did wonders for me. My troubles disappeared and I am able to work hard every day." Mrs. W. F. Sawyer, River View Farm, Meriden, Vermont.

Another Case. "I was troubled with female weakness, also with dyspepsia. I had very severe and steady headache, also pain in back, and was very thin and tired all the time. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am cured of these troubles. I can't praise your medicine too highly." Mrs. Ina Milligan, Gifford, Iowa.

Daysey Mayme and Her Folks

THE Ladies' Guild of that house of worship which is known in some parts of town as "Mrs. Loasener John Appolon's church" had met to hear the reading of the financial committee on a lawn party given the week before for the benefit of the benevolent society.

They were seated at a long table in the dining room, and the secretary reported, on music, singing, and other features of the party. The ladies were greatly encouraged by the results, and asked the recording secretary to report to the Foreign Missions Bureau headquarters in California what this particular society is doing for them.

First--That money taken in for the sale of old furniture belongs to the church. Second--That leaf lettuce is better if one-third the meat is pork. Third--That the manner in which Mary Ward Jones is conducting the preacher was scandalous, and a committee should be appointed to tell her mother about it, her mother being absent from the meeting, which accounts for the subject coming up.

Fourth--That it is wrong to go with you, and Pa, but the fact is that I have a touch of rheumatism in my both arms, and it would be a very painful process for me to go through with it present.

I don't believe you can swing them right, and Mister Blake. Look at the way you're father is holding the clubs. Blake. Here he led to the stop fence, and give me them clubs. I will show you some movements. Then Mister Blake got up & he said swing the clubs as quick as you may want. I never seen on the stage. Warren looked at her and said, "I don't know what you're talking about. The things we've come from the grocer are all right, but the bread is a little stale, and the butter is a little hard."

To Keep the Jews Prisoners in the Russian Pale

That Was the First Purpose of the Pale "Blood Accusation." To Encourage Massacre the Second Purpose.

Underlying every fresh and false charge of "ritual murder" you find a very well defined purpose. In the Middle Ages the accusation was made as an excuse for murdering Jews to get their money.

Today in Russia the old, brutal lies about religious murder are revived for political effect, to prevent any interference with the system under which the Jews—men, women and children—are kept prisoners in the pale, and to keep alive the ignorant, superstitious, bigoted hatred of the peasants—conningly aimed against the Jews in order that they may not turn upon the Government that brutalizes them.

In the Duma, which is the Russian apology for a legislative body, there has been recently an effort to abolish the pale, and give to the Jews the freedom of residence and of activity which they have so wisely and usefully exercised in this and in other countries.

The abolition of the pale, which Russia along with other brutalities still preserves, would give to the Jews freedom, opportunity and the power, among other things, to work more efficiently against tyranny.

Consequently the energies of the police and of the Czar's representatives in the Duma to fight every effort to abolish the pale.

A brief synopsis of the accusation and the motive back of it is furnished by a capable writer, "Mentor," in the London Chronicle. We quote:

A deputy of the Duma, belonging to the "Real Russian" section, M. Malinoff, when he read an account of the tragedy, perceived that the story could be used against Jews in the campaign he was carrying on to prevent the abolition of the pale of settlement.

He travelled from St. Petersburg to Kiev, and after conferring with the leaders of the reactionary party in the "Holy" City, he established a regular headquarters there for the distribution of anti-Jewish proclamations, in which he charged the Jews with having murdered the boy Yuschinsky.

The former chief of the Kiev detectives was ordered by the Russian Department of Justice to formulate a ritual murder theory on the case. M. Mischuk, the head of the Detective Department, after investigating all the facts, declared that in his opinion Bellis did not murder the boy, and that Yuschinsky had not been murdered for ritual purposes.

M. Malinoff, one of those who is defending Bellis, makes the following observations in regard to the case: "It is important to know," he says, "that a Jew was not first arrested. The 'ritual murder' theory in the Middle Ages, as we have already pointed out, a number of rulers denounced the avarice, brutality and cruelty which always underlay this false and cowardly charge against the Jews.

More than one of the Popes, moved by a humane impulse, has protested with the full authority of the Church against the same cowardly crime. We publish here a bull issued by Pope Innocent IV. translated by Herman L. Strack, Regius Professor of Berlin University.

With great difficulty we can conceive of the horrible condition of cruelty and cowardice which Pope Innocent denounces and forbids in his bull sent to the Archbishop of Vienna in 1247—almost seven hundred years ago. We cannot conceive of such atrocities duplicated in this century—EXCEPT IN RUSSIA.

This is the bull which Pope Innocent IV. scattered broadcast, desiring to protect the Jews from the brutality of his day. Read it. It is of itself an education and a revelation as to dreadful human brutality, unparaleled in the name of Christianity, and torturing Jews for profit.

Pope Innocent said: "If the Christian religion were carefully to weigh how inhuman and contrary to piety it is to torment with divers excommunications, and excommunicate with manifold grave injuries, the survivors of the Jews, in whom, as the remaining witnesses of the old covenant suffering."

and His Victorian death, the goodness of the Saviour has promised the grace of salvation, then would it not only keep his hands from doing these injuries, but would also at least for the sake of the souls of the Jews, and out of reverence for Christ, impart the consolation of the Holy Spirit to the dying Jew, and at the moment of his decease, fast gliding away into space. According to others its nearest approach to the sun was a day or two after its discovery.

At the Lick Observatory, where they do not call it either comet or planet, but give it the non-committal and mysterious designation of the "Object Neujmin," a period of revolution around the sun of nearly seventeen and a half years has been assigned to the stranger, but they add that, while there cannot be any doubt about the elliptical nature of the orbit, the period of revolution may be shortened as the result of further observations.

In the meantime the "Object Neujmin" has been provisionally accepted in the cometary alphabet to be turned out into the old letter, perhaps, if its claim cannot be made good. An "Object" in the sky, about whose nature the astronomers themselves are in doubt—that is surely a new sensation! And yet we ought not to be very much surprised by it.

Celestial Freak Mystifies Scientists

Astronomers Unable to Account for Existence of Strange Astral Body Recorded by Practically Unknown Russian Scientist

By GARRETT P. SERVISS.

THERE is a strange fish in the sky, a kind of astronomical "What-is-it," which made its first appearance to human eyes on September 8, when a young Russian astronomer, named Neujmin, in his remote observatory at Simla, in the Crimea, found its image on a photographic plate that he had exposed to the sky three nights earlier.

Strange Body Didn't Have the Appearance of a Comet.

It did not look like a comet, and Neujmin thought that it must be a little planet, and as such he announced it to the astronomical world. The matter was turned over to certain astronomers who make a specialty of the study of the asteroids, or little planets, and they, after a careful examination, reclassified it. They declared that it could not be a planet, and must be a comet. They consequently declined to put it on their list.

But the mystery only deepened, for nobody could remember ever having seen such a comet as this. It looked like a star, but moved, as no real star could do. For a few nights it appeared very slightly elongated, but then it lost this appearance and became round again. There was no tail—not even the root of a tail; the great Lick telescope failed to show the slightest trace of one.

Great difficulty was encountered in making out the path in which it travelled. According to some calculations it had been nearest to the sun so long ago as July 22, and yet, at the moment of its discovery, fast gliding away again into space. According to others its nearest approach to the sun was a day or two after its discovery.

At the Lick Observatory, where they do not call it either comet or planet, but give it the non-committal and mysterious designation of the "Object Neujmin," a period of revolution around the sun of nearly seventeen and a half years has been assigned to the stranger, but they add that, while there cannot be any doubt about the elliptical nature of the orbit, the period of revolution may be shortened as the result of further observations.

In the meantime the "Object Neujmin" has been provisionally accepted in the cometary alphabet to be turned out into the old letter, perhaps, if its claim cannot be made good. An "Object" in the sky, about whose nature the astronomers themselves are in doubt—that is surely a new sensation!

existence is only shown when they obscure hosts of stars behind them. How gigantic curtains of black gauze or of smoke without any color may beset our course like the pitfalls, gins and snares of the Pilgrim's Progress.

Elsewhere we see great stars, some of them far brighter than the sun, staggering under the burden of one or more huge, dark bodies, or swarms of smaller objects, which have attached themselves to them by the hooks of gravitation and cannot be shaken off. If the sun should ever, like Sisyphus, fall into the clutches of one of these "Old Men of the Sea" that lurk around the shores and shallows of the ocean of space, he could never free his neck from its clinging limbs.

There is no hope that can incite gravitation and paralyze its grip. Strange objects in the solar system! If ever they begin to be seen in considerable numbers we shall have reason to fear that the sun is running us into danger in his heedless course. Every great dark body in space must have a hold on them about it. Every spinning nebula must be casting them off by millions.

But another Spring decks it out anew. You who are striped of your love will care For the Springs to come will not see her leaves, And the tree will smile, but you.

—ON— A New Theosophical Lodge—It Was Founded in New Haven, Where Blue Laws Flourished 150 Years Ago. A Woman Is Its Head.

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

THE framers of the famous old blue laws of Connecticut, were they sleeping in their graves, as their theology taught, waiting the resurrection morn, would turn and protest could they know the event that took place in New Haven, Conn., on October 14.

That event was the formation of a theosophical lodge, under the organizing direction of Mrs. Marie Bernard Russak, of Ayr, India. Mrs. Russak is the daughter of A. M. Barnard, who was Justice of the Supreme Court of the State and lived in Mendon. Her grandfather was Frederick Timothy Barnard, also of Mendon, who also was Supreme Court Justice in Kings County. She was born in California and believes that this is only one of many incarnations which she has undergone.

It restores faith in divine justice to the pessimist, to the atheist, to the agnostic. The very fact that humanity is divided into different grades in a school of life and that people are at different stages, shows in a way that the doctrine of reincarnation is not only a moral but a scientific necessity for solving these problems.

It Explains Why a Savage and a Herbert Spencer Live at Same Time. "It explains why there is a savage on the earth and a Herbert Spencer at the same time. It explains child genius. It explains why one soul is born the son of a king and another the son of a criminal parent in the slum of a city. They are both divinely created, but are at different stages in the school of life, storing up capacity for everything that concerns our life."

Mrs. Russak does not put forward the doctrine that a Messiah is coming to America in the near future, but she holds, as many others of her propaganda do, that a spiritual teacher will appear to settle the social unrest, laboring and religious antagonisms and to bring about international peace.

The New Haven Theosophical Lodge starts with only a handful of members. Some of its members May Be Blue Law Makers Reincarnated. But it will grow. It is quite possible some of its members are reincarnated souls of those framers of the blue laws come back to earth with larger wisdom and broader understanding and eager to know more.

Mrs. Russak is to be congratulated on having had the privilege of hearing Mrs. Russak lecture on theosophy October 14.

lation of humanity to those who to a certain extent pay tribute to it. Now a portion of the Jews of Vienna to us stated that the nobleman Draxenmayer, after the Jews of Valenza had been accused of having crucified a girl who was found dead in a ditch, despoiled three Jews without their having been convicted or having confessed any, without anyone having accused them, of all their property, and consigned them to terrible imprisonment, refused them legal redress and justification of their innocence, had some of them cut to pieces, others burnt. The genital organs were torn off the men, and the breasts off the women, and they were tortured with all manner of tortures until they admitted with their mouths what their conscience knew nothing about, because they preferred to die once in agony than to live and be continually tortured.

This brutality was rebuked by the Pope seven centuries ago in Europe. Will not the people of this country find words, courage, power and influence to rebuke effectively that same brutality in Russia to-day?

STARS AND STRIPES

The greatest occasion of all attempts to come back. The girl who is a good listener can generally land more lovers than the girl who is a good talker. You'll be surprised the tax collectors to find how many thousands of married couples are paying along on incomes of $1000 yearly!

The enemy made in days of prosperity usually has a good memory when fortune turns upon you. Some men are so much interested in looking over the shoulder that they never make a move without anything.

INDICTMENT OF TOM WATSON QUASHED

Dictator Orders Balloting as Scheduled, and Neither of Five Candidates Can Get Majority.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 21.—General Huerta made known to-day that the presidential election will be held on October 26, as scheduled. This means Huerta will remain in office after that date.

There are five parties in the field with candidates. In view of the internal situation, it is certain no candidate can receive a majority. The constitution requires that the successful candidate must receive a majority.

It is expected that the crisis in the relations between Mexico and the United States will come soon after the election. Announcement will be made that the electors have failed to choose a new President, and Huerta will continue in office as constitutional President ad interim.

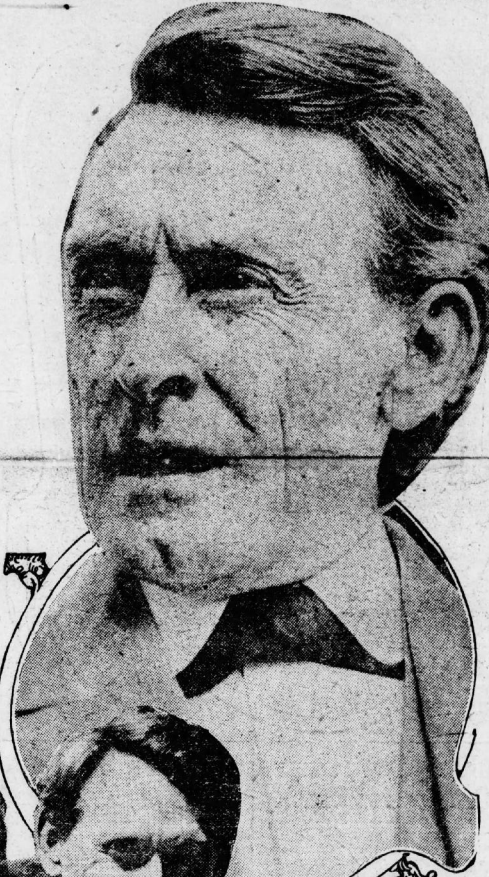

The parties in the field and their presidential candidates are: Catholic, Frederick Gamboa; Felleista, Felix Diaz; Liberal Progressive, David de la Fuente; Anti-Re-election, Vasquez Gomez.

Rodolfo Reyes, former Minister of Justice, would have been nominated by the Republicans, but he is in prison on a charge of sedition.

The belief is general that the return of Felix Diaz to Mexico City will be the signal for dangerous rioting.

With the election but six days off, few actual preparations have been made for balloting on a successor to Huerta. The election machinery throughout practically the entire republic is controlled by Huerta's military governors.

THOMAS E. WATSON, once Bryan's running mate, who was freed at Augusta Tuesday of a charge of mailing obscene matter. The indictment against him was quashed. Below he is shown with his daughter, Georgia, four years old, and on the right, Georgia Lee, also four years old.

COURT SUSTAINS PLEA OF EDITOR

Judge Foster Ends Case Against Thomson Man Charging Mail Statute Violation.

AUGUSTA, Oct. 21.—Judge Foster in United States District Court here this afternoon sustained the motion of counsel for Thomas E. Watson, the Thomson editor, lawyer and politician, to quash the indictment against him, charging the sending of obscene matter through the United States mails. This motion, presented Monday by S. Guyt McLendon, chief of counsel for Mr. Watson, charged that to try him on this indictment would be to deny him his constitutional rights as a citizen, and the clause granting freedom to the press.

The indictment of Mr. Watson was the outgrowth of publications in The Jeffersonian attacking the Catholic Church's confessional and the oath taken by initiates in the Knights of Columbus, a Catholic fraternity.

Watson Arrives Early.

Court opened this morning at 10:10 o'clock. The room was packed to capacity long before that hour. Mr. Watson was an early arrival. With him sat Mr. McLendon, his leading counsel; Judge J. B. Burnside, associated in the defense, and Major C. E. McGregor, of Warrenton, a close friend.

The reading of the minutes was dispensed with. Judge Foster asked if there were any motions from members of the bar. District Attorney Alex Akerman presented a number of orders for the judge to sign.

Mr. McLendon resumed the argument on his motion to quash the indictment. He said the court had held the law to be constitutional which prohibits sending of obscene matter through the mails. Mr. McLendon cited a decision to show that the constitutionality of the point at issue in the Watson case had never been attacked, namely, the sending of newspapers and periodicals containing obscene matter through the mails.

Will Probe Fisher's Charges for Plot

Police Tuesday considered the operation of J. C. Shirley complete. Charles J. Graham, attorney for the man accused by Ira W. Fisher of the murder of Mary Phagan, said that he was as yet undecided whether Fisher's accusations were the ravings of a diseased and doped-steeped mind or the first evidence of a deep-laid plot with Fisher as the tool.

Two prominent Atlanta men and one Birmingham man are threatened with arrest on charges of conspiracy. A searching investigation by Chief Lanford and Attorney Graham will decide whether this move will be taken. Graham said Tuesday that he would make a decision as soon as reports had been made to him on certain rumors that had come to his ears.

Shirley said that he either would put Fisher in the asylum or in the penitentiary. He will bring his boxes of evidence to the police Tuesday to show a complete alibi. Lanford has instituted an investigation of the charges of conspiracy and will make arrests at once if he finds them substantiated. Two of the men named in the alleged conspiracy have been identified with the Frank case. The other one is known to have been with Fisher in Birmingham.

Yellow Fever Germ In Blackmail Plot

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—The use of the yellow fever germ as an agent of the blackmailer formed a new problem to-day for the Chicago police.

Detectives were making vain efforts to find a man who threatened to inoculate Mrs. Frederick M. Stebbins, wife of a wealthy manufacturer, and her children, if $25,000 was not left in a secluded spot in Grant Park. A letter, accompanied by a tiny cardboard box, demanded the money. In the cardboard box a chemist found enough yellow fever germs to inoculate a hundred persons.

STATE FAIR GATES BURN.
 MACON, Oct. 21.—The immense entrance gates and office building of the Georgia State Fair Association at Central Park City burned this morning several hours before the time set for the opening of the fair. The blaze is believed to have been caused by defective wiring.
 The fair officials declare that this untimely occurrence will not hinder the fair in any respect. Carpenters are already at work preparing a temporary entrance.

LOVED OWN COOKERY.
 On the heels of a record of much rectitude and excellent cooking, Tobie Eason, chef at the Grady Hospital, has got into trouble.
 The disappearance of certain choice steaks and other staples and delicacies from the larder of the hospital have given much annoyance to the steward of late, but such was Tobie's reputation for probity that he was the last person suspected.
 Finally, however, he was watched. His pockets bulged suspiciously as he left the hospital last night. Pancy cuts of steak caused the bulges. Tobie was arrested.

5,000 CHILDREN HONOR HERO.
 WHEELING, W. VA., Oct. 21.—Five thousand school children marched in the funeral procession which to-day followed to the grave the body of Jacob Bilz, city light tender, who gave his life in saving 5-year-old Robert Rudisile from death under a railroad train.
SETTLE WITH PENNIES.
 OXFORD, PA., Oct. 21.—When the local tax collector refused to accept checks proffered to him, the taxpayers planned revenge and paid their obligations in pennies.
 Twelve thousand pennies poured in on the first day.

RYAN GAVE GIFT WAS SOUGHT BY COL. HARVEY

Underwood Made Charge, but Refused to Let It Go in the Record.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Oscar W. Underwood's charge that Thomas Fortune Ryan contributed $10,000 to the campaign fund of President Wilson when he ran for Governor of New Jersey made on the floor of the House does not appear in the Congressional Record to-day. It was expunged by the Democratic floor leader after he had been told by the White House that Mr. Wilson had received nothing from Mr. Ryan.

It can be said on the highest authority, however, that Mr. Underwood made the statement on information that came to him directly from persons so close to the multi-millionaire Wall street man that Mr. Underwood was justified in placing the greatest faith in its reliability and made the statement in his reply to the charges of Representative Hobson, of Alabama, with a full belief in its truth.

Harvey Sought Gift.
Notwithstanding the denial issued from the White House, The Georgian learned from one of its men chiefly instrumental in bringing about the nomination of Woodrow Wilson for Governor of New Jersey that Thomas Fortune Ryan did contribute $10,000 to the Wilson gubernatorial campaign.

Colonel George Harvey, according to this newspaper's informant, sought and obtained the contribution. From the same source it was ascertained that James Smith, Jr., formerly United States Senator from New Jersey, who at the time of Dr. Wilson's nomination for Governor was the undisputed "boss" of the Democratic party in his State, "contributed in the posed," makes the following statement:

"The campaign has now progressed far enough to enable the Democratic voters to know the methods that are being exploited by the Wall street crowd to capture the Baltimore convention. Mr. Harman and Mr. Underwood are the reactionary candidates.

"Mr. Harman was picked out first, but the big business began to smile on Mr. Underwood as soon as it became evident that Mr. Harman was not making headway as a candidate. They have now divided up the territory in which they think a reactionary has a chance, and Mr. Harman is running in a few States in the North and Mr. Underwood in six States in the South.

"Had I known that Thomas Fortune Ryan, the man whom Mr. Bryan rebuked and named at the Baltimore convention and accused of being the tool of Wall street and of trying to capture the party in the interest of Wall street, was financing the major part of the campaign of Oscar W. Underwood, not only would I not have supported him but I would have fought him, and what is more, he never would have been the choice of the people of Alabama.

False Pretenses Charged.
"Mr. Speaker, the support of the people of Alabama was secured for Mr. Underwood for the Presidency under false pretenses. I here declare that their support of him for the United States Senate shall not be similarly obtained under false pretenses."

DRS U. S. PRISON CHIEF.
Raps U. S. Prison Chief. Dr. William M. Richards left Atlanta Wednesday for Indianapolis to consult Warden William Meyer, of the Atlanta Federal prison, and to "lay it out" to Robert W. Ladd, superintendent of Federal Prisons. Dr. Richards Tuesday went to the prison with the intention of examining the prisoners and equipment of the prison. He had with him a letter of introduction from Superintendent Ladd.

Because Warden Meyer was out of the city other officials would not allow Dr. Richards to make his investigation.

Dr. Richards came here from New York.

CALLS BACK SULZER FOES.
ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 15.—Hurry calls were sent to all the State Assemblymen to-day to return here at once. Their presence was desired so that if the Sulzer Court of Impeachment refused to amend article four of the accusations against the Governor, the Board of Managers could at once present the matter to the Assembly.

Every Tammany vote was ordered to be on the ground as soon as possible.

ATTACK IS MADE ON U. S. PRISON

BRIDE OF PRINCE ARTHUR OF CONNAUGHT.

Plot to Break Up Nuptials of Prince Arthur and Duchess of Fife Fails, However.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—In the presence of two reigning kings, George of England and Haakon of Norway and their queens, as well as many other notables, including members of royal families, diplomats and officers of state, Alexandra, Duchess of Fife, was married to Prince Arthur of Connaught in the Chapel Royal of St. James Palace at noon to-day. The event, which was the first royal wedding in England since 1905, when Princess Margaret of Connaught became the bride of the Crown Prince of Sweden, was gorgeous in every respect.

On account of the threat of militant suffragettes to break up the nuptials a solid line of police and soldiers was thrown about the palace and along the main routes traversed by the guests.

Women Braver Than Men Facing Death

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—A story of calmness and heroism on the part of women unequalled in the history of the world was brought to port here to-day by the Grosser Kurfuhrer when she arrived with 105 survivors from the burned Uranium liner Voltorno.

The courage of the women in the face of death on a burning ship in a gale at sea was in marked contrast with the cowardice of the men who made up the crew.

Although ship officers pleaded with the women to jump into the sea so they could be picked up by the small boats sent out by the rescue fleet, they refused to leave the burning ship and their children.

MUST REST FROM DANCING.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 15.—Miss Marguerite Caperton, daughter of Admiral and Mrs. Caperton, is under physicians' care in her home at the naval station here, and complete rest has been ordered.

Although it is announced she is suffering from a cold, the impression prevails that she has broken down under the strain of the season's dancing. The Grand Duke Michaelovich declared her the best dancer here.

Hope Is Abandoned For 381 Men in Mine

CARDIFF, WALES, Oct. 15.—Five broke out this afternoon in the Universal mine and all attempts to rescue 381 men still entombed as a result of yesterday's explosion were abandoned.

Seven men, huddled together in a side chamber, were rescued early today, after being entombed 26 hours.

HUERTA TO "BACK DOWN."

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 15.—General Huerta will back down in his attitude of defiance toward the United States. This was assured to-day when Senor Moheno, Minister of Foreign Relations, issued the following statement: "The press of the capital interpreted erroneously some of the statements I made yesterday regarding the note from the Charge d'Affaires O'Shaughnessy and gave undue importance to the messages from the United States.

"The Government of the Republic has, indeed, received from the American State Department, through his excellency, the Charge d'Affaires, two messages which are going to be answered by the Government and which in no way modify the status quo of our relations with the neighboring republic of the North.

"The country in due course will know these messages and the replies."

U. S. BALLOON WINS.

PARIS, Oct. 15.—The American balloon Goodyear to-day was officially declared the winner of the international balloon race.

All doubt as to its victory was set at rest when it was learned that the Austrian balloon Frankfurt had landed at Songea, Brittany. Next year's race will be held in the United States.

Julian Hawthorne, Freed, Says Men Are Starved in Name of Economy.

Julian Hawthorne, the novelist, a free man Wednesday, after serving a term in the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary, told a startling story of his life as a convict, in which he called the Atlanta prison a "living hell," and said Warden Meyer was "unfit."

With all the emphasis at his command, Hawthorne arraigned conditions in the penitentiary as repulsive, cruel, and the equal of the most lurid descriptions in fiction.

"They are starving men in the name of economy," he said.

And Dr. W. J. Morton, of New York his friend and fellow prisoner, nodded his head in corroboration.

"Prisoners are subjected to treatment that is nothing more than slow murder," said Dr. Morton, who is a practicing physician. "There is never enough to eat. The warden attempts to feed strong men on 9 cents a day, and when he succeeds he brags about it."

In the short time they remained in Atlanta after their release, Hawthorne and Dr. Morton talked much of conditions at the penitentiary, jumping from one detail to the other with a dramatic swiftness that made the story harrowing.

"Oh, yes, you hear of the clean cells in which the prisoners sleep," said Hawthorne. "But you never hear of the 'hole,' do you? For the slightest fault, sometimes for breaking a plate, sometimes for a little more or less, a prisoner is sent to the 'hole,' a place under the main building, for solitary confinement.

"There the heat is terrific at times, and the stench is bad. There some prisoners are chained by their wrists and held thus with arms stretched for hours. And sometimes confinement in the 'hole' is for days.

Scores Prison Fares.
"But the element of hell is in the feeding," he continued, his eyes flashing. "There was never a man goes into the prison but who undergoes a steady deterioration, maybe slow, but always sure. The doctor will tell you that."

He waved at Dr. Morton, who nodded acquiescence.

"Men are put in prison to be cared for," said Dr. Morton, "not to be subjected to slow murder."

The two accepted the invitation of a Georgian reporter to ride about Atlanta. But once in the automobile, they forgot the city, and forgot to ask of one place after another. Hawthorne gripped the sides of his seat, and vowed vengeance on the system which he described.

"And the treatment is always that of beasts or criminals," he went on. "There are always the guards and the rifles, giving the public the impression that the men in prison are wild men, or desperadoes. And now and then men are clubbed for little or nothing. There is a guard named Dean whom I have seen strike a prisoner over the head, and for no justifiable offense."

Escaped Harsh Treatment.
The reporter wondered if Hawthorne himself had come in for such treatment, and asked him.

"No," said the novelist. "I have nothing at which to complain as to my treatment. But Dr. Morton and I were given pleasant work, and were well treated otherwise. But there is the system, bringing misery to hundreds of other poor fellows.

"I got along all right, because I didn't eat the food, not but bread and milk. And I got outdoors every day. Just let me get outdoors, and I'll take care of myself, in spite of food and everything else. Feel this."

He flexed his right arm, and held it out for the reporter to feel. It was as hard as iron.

"But even with that, I am not at my best," he said.

MRS. EATON DENOUNCED AS POISONER OF HUSBAND

PROSECUTOR SAYS SHE WAS JEALOUS

DETECTIVE CLEARS UP DEATH MYSTERY

CORN SHOW DATES NOW ANNOUNCED

State Advances Opinion as to Motive for First Time in Case.

PLYMOUTH, MASS., Oct. 16.—Picturing Mrs. Jennie May Eaton as a woman driven to desperation by "persistent and chronic jealousy," Assistant District Attorney Katzmann to-day denounced her as the poisoner of her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph Giles Eaton. In the opening speech of her trial for murder the attorney accused Mrs. Eaton of fanning the flames of a "family feud" in the Eaton household at Assinippi until the "widow is brought before the bar of justice charged with the murder of her husband."

From the time of Mrs. Eaton's arrest last March there has been great speculation as to the motive which the government would advance. After declaring jealousy the motive the Assistant District Attorney pointed his finger at the accused widow saying:

"The government will prove by facts this defendant caused her husband's murder by administering poison known as white arsenic in his tea and other drinks."

For more than an hour Mrs. Eaton, arrayed in deep mourning, was compelled to hear the verbal lash.

Mrs. Eaton's eldest daughter, Mrs. June Ainsworth Keyes, also was scored by Mr. Katzmann. He accused the daughter, June, of "inciting her mother in her jealousy."

He said that the accused widow "preferred her daughter June to her younger daughter Dorothy."

"Mrs. Eaton loved June better than any living being," declared Mr. Katzmann.

The Assistant District Attorney declared that the trouble began when June started in her early teens to have love affairs which were distasteful to her stepfather. He said this was the origin of the family feud which he charged was continually and persistently fanned by Mrs. Eaton.

WOMAN TELLS OF BRIBE.

KIEFF, Oct. 16.—A sensation was caused to-day in the "ritual murder trial" of Mendel Belliss, who is charged with slaying a 13-year-old boy as a blood sacrifice in a religious ceremony, when a woman named Vera Tcheberiak, one of the principal figures in the case, swore that she had been offered $20,000 to shoulder the guilt of the murder of Andrew Yushinsky, the 13-year-old victim.

Vera is the mother of the boy Eugene Tcheberiak, who was a play-fellow of Andrew and who met death himself subsequent to the finding of Andrew's body. The woman is of notorious character and was denounced by the inspector of the police as being the head of a band of criminals which probably took Andrew's life.

SAYS HE KILLED GIRL.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Oct. 16.—That a prisoner in the Indiana Reformatory at Jeffersonville has made a written confession that he killed Miss Florence Brown at Dallas, Texas, July 18 last, was admitted by Superintendent David C. Peyton, of the institution.

In his confession the prisoner, who was on parole at the time of the slaying, said he had been on a protracted spree while in Dallas and was almost penniless. Seeing the young woman alone in the office, he entered for the purpose of robbery. When Miss Brown refused to unlock the safe, he killed her.

OPPOSES "PAIRING."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Representative Crisp, of the Third Georgia District, former parliamentarian of the House, introduced a resolution to repeal the rule of the House permitting pairing.

Mr. Crisp has been present in the House every day it has met during this session except one, and has answered every roll call except four. He has been paired with Representative Hinds, of Maine, also a former parliamentarian of the House. Mr. Crisp said to-day he objected to being forced to remain in Washington while Mr. Hinds was in Maine.

TO IMPROVE RIVER.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Representative Adamson, of Georgia, chairman of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, has introduced a bill for the immediate improvement of the Chattahoochee River in Georgia. It provides for the appropriation of $200,000 a year and the construction and maintenance of a permanent channel four feet deep.

Mr. Adamson also introduced a bill for Federal aid to roads, providing that the Treasury Department may $15 per mile per year for the rent of every road used by mail carriers.

PAYS WIDOW $10,000.

DECATUR, ILL., Oct. 16.—The Foster-Shepherd damage case, resulting from the killing of Ralph Foster by Homer Shepherd, a banker at Lovington, four years ago, has just been settled here. By the terms agreed upon Mrs. Foster receives $10,000 from Shepherd. Foster was mistaken by Shepherd for a burglar.

Miss Dorothy Haug, on right, whose death in Thomasville baffled authorities until it was proved a suicide, and her sister, Marjorie Haug.

THOMASVILLE, Oct. 16.—Doubt on the part of a detective of the value of circumstantial evidence cleared the mystery of the death of Dorothy Haug.

And circumstantial evidence received its severest blow when Detective Pearce, of the Atlanta Pinkerton Agency, by a single suggestion proved that there was no hand in the death of Dorothy Haug save her own. The college girl had been found dead.

There was a wound on her head. Indications were that the abrasion was the result of a blow.

Girl Carried Insurance. Miss Haug carried $500 insurance. Her family apparently was in straitened circumstances. The family would be benefited financially by her death. Colonel T. N. Hopkins, prominent THAW PURSUIT COST $25,000. CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 16.—W. T. Jerome's ten-day pursuit of Harry Thaw in Canada cost about $25,000, according to estimates made on the strength of private advices made to the Matteawan fugitive.

Of this sum, it is claimed that $20,000 is unpaid, while about $5,000 for which Jerome expects reimbursement was paid by him from his own funds.

CONFESSES TO KILLING. GAINESVILLE, FLA., Oct. 16.—Sam Hurd has confessed to Sheriff J. D. Price, Commissioner of Agriculture, having lain in wait for him and used a single-barreled shotgun, firing three loads into his body.

Hurd told where the gun was hidden. The Sheriff got it out of a mudhole in a branch.

HOWARD AT DOUGLAS FAIR. DOUGLASVILLE, Oct. 16.—The Douglas County Fair has opened here. J. D. Price, Commissioner of Agriculture, made the opening address. Congressman William Schley Howard was the principal address to-day. The fair will close Friday.

Thomas County attorney, on his own responsibility undertook the investigation of the girl's death. A Coroner's jury was impaneled. A warrant was ready to be sworn out. According to Colonel Hopkins, an indictment against the girl's mother was about to be drawn.

Then the detective was called in.

Detective's Theory Right.

"She may have killed herself," said the detective.

"How could she hit herself on the head hard enough to cause death?" asked the lawyer.

"That wound may have been caused by a bullet," said Pearce. "Remove the top of the skull and see if you find a bullet," he advised.

This was done.

The bullet was found.

The Coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide.

KILLED DURING ROW. ITTABENA, MISS., Oct. 16.—G. R. James shot and killed Walter McDaniel at Quito, three miles south of Ittabena. Both parties were prominent in this section. They had disagreed as to business matters. The grievances were thought settled.

James was quickly removed to Greenwood, Miss., to prevent trouble.

JUDGE REPRIMANDS JURY. ANNISTON, ALA., Oct. 16.—"I consider this verdict a disgrace to the county," said Judge Thomas W. Coleman to-day in the City Court to the jury trying William Pettus for an alleged assault with intent to murder W. A. Smith.

The jury had acquitted Pettus.

HOBSON REITERATES CHARGE. CONGRESSMAN RICHMOND P. HOBSON, of Alabama, was in Atlanta long enough Thursday to eat lunch and fire a mighty broadside at Congressman Oscar Underwood, of Alabama, amplifying on his charges that the tariff maker is a "tool of Wall street."

Exposition To Be Held in Corridors of the State Capitol in December.

The dates for the annual Georgia Corn Show, under the auspices of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, were announced Thursday morning. The big exposition will be held in the corridors of the Capitol, opening December 2 and closing December 5.

The premium list, enumerating the prizes offered to the members of the Boys' Corn Clubs and to the Girls' Canning Clubs, is being prepared, and will be issued next week.

Members of the Corn Show Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, which has the exhibition in charge, declare that more enthusiasm is being shown throughout Georgia than ever before. Indications are that more than 1,000 boys and between 200 and 300 girls, members of the clubs, will be in Atlanta during the show.

Arrangements for amusements to enliven the show are being made, under the direction of H. C. Hastings, chairman. It is planned to have an agricultural moving picture show. The parade of boy scouts, corn show boys and militia, which attracted so much attention last year, probably will be repeated.

The rivalry among the members of the Girls' Clubs has been increased by the announcement from Washington that fifteen Southern girls, one of them the winner of the grand prize at the Atlanta show, will be given a trip to Washington under the auspices of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The trip will be made after the Georgia show, and on December 11 a conference will be held at the department headquarters in Washington, which is expected to be a great aid to the girls in their work. The girls are to be chaperoned to Washington by the State agent for the canning clubs, Miss Mary E. Creswell, State agent for Georgia, who will probably accompany the lucky Georgia girls.

SAYS HE PAID FOR DIVORCE. PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16.—The assertion that young Charlemagne Tower, Jr., son of the former Ambassador to Germany, insisted upon paying for her divorce, so that she could become his wife, was made to-day by Georgianna Burdick Tower, the young woman who is suing Charlemagne Tower, Sr., for the alleged alienation of the affections of his son.

Young Tower not only signed a marriage agreement, the plaintiff said, but he also gave her a wedding ring.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—Two million dollars in gold which went to the bottom of San Francisco Bay with the steamer Rio de Janeiro in 1901 is to be the quest of a German inventor who has a diving apparatus which he says will enable him to reach a depth of 600 feet.

Yesterday he tested his device here, going to the bottom of the bay in more than 100 feet of water and remaining down an hour.

ALDRICH ATTACKS BILL. NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Former Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, of Rhode Island, attacked the Wilson administration currency bill now before Congress, which he declared embodied the theories of William J. Bryan.

He denounced the bill as unsound, socialistic and revolutionary, characterizing it as "an endeavor to secure by partisan legislation the triumph of the doctrine and principles which have received the repeated condemnation of the American people at the polls."

26 DIE WHEN BALLOON BURSTS IN AIR

DIRIGIBLE FAILS DROPS OUT OF THE SKY

Germany Crushed by Wreck of Greatest Vessel of Empire's Aerial Fleet.

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian.
BERLIN, Oct. 17.—Twenty-seven aerial sailors and officers of the Imperial Ministry of Marine were killed and three other men were fatally wounded when the new admiralty dirigible balloon L-2, the biggest airship in the world, exploded 3,000 feet
day.

The tragedy, following so closely after the loss of a sister airship, the L-1, which was wrecked over the North Sea in September with a loss of thirteen lives, created consternation throughout Germany.

Among the 30 persons on board the dirigible were the Admiralty Trial Board, headed by Commander Bernsche, Commander Freye and Captain Gluth.

Among the injured was Baron Von Bieul, of the Queen Augusta Grenadier Guards, who was making the flight as a guest of the admiralty trial board.

Spark Caused Explosion.

An investigation showed the explosion was due to a static spark igniting the benzine which was carried on board. The victims were either burned to death or suffocated.
So terrible were the injuries of the four wounded men that they begged to be shot.

The commander of the airship, Captain Freye, was a former aide-de-camp to Prince Adalbert, son of Emperor William.

The L-2 was equipped for war, carrying guns on board.
The destruction of the L-2 leaves
Germany without a naval aerial fleet.
The disaster, which adds another to the long string of aerial tragedies attending dirigible ballooning in Germany, came just at the time when a commission from the admiralty was testing the balloon preparatory to

A number of government officials witnessed the disaster to-day at Jo-hannisthal. Those who were watching the great cigar-shaped bag through long range field glasses saw a sudden puff of smoke, then the great flame of the balloon crumpled up. For a minute the wreckage hung suspended in midair, then began to fall. Gaining momentum every second, the wrecked dirigible fell like a shot and struck the earth with a crash that echoed throughout the big aerodrome.
While dropping pieces of wreckage and the bodies of some of the victims could be seen falling from the mot-tors.

Soldiers Search Wreckage.

Soldiers rushed to the spot where the balloon had alighted and began tearing at the wreckage, although all knew that no man on board could survive such a disaster.

The L-2 was completed in September almost at the same time that her sister ship plunged into the North Sea in a gale. She was a giant in size, being 487 feet long and 50 feet wide in the middle. Three cars were attached to the bag, and she was propelled by motors capable of working up a speed of 45 miles an hour.

The L-2 was the last word in aerial construction, and the military authorities expected great things of her.

It is now predicted that in consequence of the accidents attending the use of army dirigibles, the German government will resort to aeroplanes as a means of aerial offense and defense.

MAY BE GIRL'S SLAYER.

In the negro who gave his name as John Henry, after he had shot at two men and committed four robberies, the Atlanta police Friday expressed the belief that they have the man who slew Ida Leegson, an art student, in Chicago, and have solved a mystery which has puzzled the police of that city since it was committed October 4.

The negro, who was arrested as the result of a clever ruse by Miss Nellie Abshire, a nurse whose room in the Georgia Baptist Hospital dormitory he had heard of how she was murdered, of this man hunted for the description of Mrs. Leegson in the Northern city. The negro admitted to Chief of Detectives Lanford that he was in Chicago at the time the art student was murdered. He also stated that he had entered, tallies with the de-edged came only through reading newspapers.

SPENCER TO DENY SLAYING.

WHEATON, ILL., Oct. 17.—Angered because he thought the scheme had been formed to send him to the penitentiary instead of to the gallows, Henry Spencer, confessed slayer of 25 persons, to-day declared he would not plead guilty to the charge of murdering Mrs. Wilfred Allison.
Roxroot, the Chicago tango teacher, said "I will plead not guilty," he said,
"and I will be my own attorney."

ENDS HIS LIFE.

COLCHESTER, CONN., Oct. 17.— N. retired, committed suicide by shooting this morning. His act was caused, it was believed, by ill-health, on account of which he retired from the navy three years ago.
He was 40 years old.

SULZER OUSTED; GLYNN GOVERNOR

Chief Executive of State of New York Is Removed From Office.

COPYRIGHT
HARRIS & EATON

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 17.—William Sulzer was removed formally from the office of Governor of New York at 12:50 o'clock to-day by the votes of more than two-thirds of the high court of impeachment which convicted him of falsifying a public record, of perjury and of attempting to induce another to commit perjury.

The vote was 43 to 12.
Chief Justice Cullen and Senator
Wende did not vote.

There was bitter denunciation of the Governor in the closing hours, when the court proceeded to dismiss articles 5, 7 and 8. Dishonor was heaped upon the head of the convicted official, and in the disgracing of Sulzer even Chief Judge Cullen, who had steadily voted to acquit him, joined with a scathing comment upon the dishonorable practice of the Governor.

At the time of the actual judgment
Martin H. Glynn became Governor by virtue of succession from the office of Lieutenant Governor, and Robert G. Wagner, President of the Senate, became Lieutenant Governor.
Glynn formally was sworn in as the forty-third Governor of the State of New York this afternoon by Chief Judge Cullen, of the Court of Appeals.

"This is not an occasion for exultation. I have no such feeling," said Governor Glynn. "To me it is an occasion of solemnity mixed with sadness. I am charged with the duties of Governor, not through any act nor desire of mine, but because the law which I am sworn to uphold imposes the obligation upon me under the distressing circumstances of the situation that have arisen."

Speculation as to what revelations, if any, Sulzer will make when out of office took the place of the impeachment in the minds of the political workers.

Further Action Talked.

Purely collateral was other speculation as to whether or not an attempt would be made to bring criminal prosecution against Sulzer.
The conviction on the charge of perjury left an indictable offense fully sustained by the court of last resort and made the way easy for indictment if one were to be pressed.

The court voted unanimously not to disqualify the Governor from future offices of trust.

The indication was that no further action would be taken against the former Governor unless he made such charges against Tammany workers as demanded a war of extermination.
The court voted first to-day on article 5, which charged him with having prevented Frederick L. Colwell from testifying. The unanimous vote was not guilty.

Then article 6 was read and "not guilty" voted in short order. The larceny charge had received its first blow at the beginning of the court's work when Chief Judge Cullen stopped evidence bearing upon the question of larceny long enough to point out the legal shortcomings of the article.

Sulzer Nurses Statement.

Articles 7 and 8, charging that the Governor used the authority and influence of his office to effect legislation on his direct primary bill and other bills, and with attempting to influence the price of stocks on the New York Stock Exchange, were put through the same rapid-fire system of dismissal.

The Senators voted "not guilty" just as fast as they could be called.
Still in seclusion Sulzer nursed a statement, bitter, vindictive and stinging in its terms. To-day it was promised as the closing chapter of his career at the Executive Mansion.

Governor Sulzer and Mrs. Sulzer will leave Sunday afternoon for the Adirondacks, where they will spend some time.

TEARS GOWN OFF WIFE.

MOBILE, Oct. 17.—Judge David H.
Edgington in Police Court to-day ruled that a man had a right to tear immodest clothes off his wife if he could prove that he had furnished the funds to purchase the raiment, even though it were imported from Paris.
S. Ledbetter snatched a diaphanous gown from his wife last night on the streets. A policeman took Ledbetter in charge. This morning he entered a plea that he had given his wife the money for the dress and he had a right to destroy it. The court sustained his contention.

PRINCE LIKES FOOTBALL.

BOSTON, Oct. 17.—Prince Madikane Q. Cele, of Zululand, South Africa, after his marriage next Monday to Miss Julia Smith, an American girl, is to return to his native land and introduce American football among his subjects.
They are to be married at the Hampton Institute in Virginia.

Survives Suicide Pact; Faces Slaying Charge

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—A charge of murder will be made against William C.
Ellis, a wealthy leather manufacturer, of Cincinnati, who was found with his dead wife in a room at the Sherman House after he had tried to commit suicide.

It is believed that his wound, made with a dull knife, and the three bullets he fired into his body in an effort to die, will not prove fatal.

DEMANDS PROTECTORATE.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Representative Sherwood, of Ohio, to-day demanded in the House that the United States join with other powers in establishing a protectorate over Mexico for the restoration of peace.
He argued that such action would not violate the Monroe Doctrine, and said he had no criticism to make of President Wilson's policy.

"The humane policy of President Wilson in using moral suasion and soft glove diplomacy in the settlement of the Mexican question," said Sherwood, "has not pacified Mexico nor prevented the usurping President Huerta from assuming all the functions of government. He has enforced his official ukase to dissolve the Congress by sending the supreme representatives of the people to prison.
"This autocratic military rule, the joint product of treachery, conspiracy and assassination, calls upon the Government of the United States for active intervention for the restoration

PLOT TO KILL HUERTA.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 17.—Troops guarded every avenue of approach to the national palace to-day following the discovery of a plot to assassinate General Huerta. Guards were placed about the gates last night, but to-day the military cordon was extended half a mile from the building.
Reports that Huerta would resign within 48 hours persisted to-day. It was rumored he had been warned that if he did not resign the army would revert and General Blanquet, Minister of War, would seize the reins and execute Huerta as a traitor.

RATE INCREASE HALTED.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Advances in class and commodity rates over the Atlantic Coast Line from points in Virginia to Atlanta, Ga., were suspended by the Interstate Commerce Commission to-day until January 23.

Preacher Confesses He Is Husband of 4

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—Kurt Mueller, a former Lutheran minister, in his cell in the Brighton Park police station, today confessed that he is the husband of four women, none dead or divorced, and the father of six children.

He admitted that he served a term in the State penitentiary at Joliet, Ill., for bigamy, and after his release married his fourth wife.

SCORE DARING COSTUMES.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The X-ray and slit skirt, the tango and the turkey trot, and the mad hunt for joy on the part of the Americans were denounced to-day by some of the most prominent Episcopal bishops in the United States in conference here.

An expression of opinion was asked of eight bishops. Six openly flayed the practice of American women of wearing daring gowns and also the frenzied pursuit of pleasure in which all America seems engaged.

One bishop, Dr. F. S. Spaulding, of Utah, declared he never had seen a slit skirt, while Bishop Henry St.
George Tucker, of Kyoto, Japan, was the only one of eight bishops who failed to condemn women who wear exaggerated costumes.

SAVED FROM STARVING.

LAREDO, TEXAS, Oct. 17.—Mexican Federal soldiers rescued the 175 American refugees en route from Torreon to Tampico, from starvation and they are on a special train, according to advices received here today. The Americans had been missing for some time and the search for them was instituted upon the request of United States Consul General Hanna, of Monterey.

HIT BY DAUGHTER'S SLAYING.

PLYMOUTH, MASS., Oct. 17.—
Dorothy Virginia Ainsworth, testifying in the trial of her mother, Mrs.
Jennie May Eaton, on the charge of having murdered her husband,
Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton, said

TRAILED BY BULLDOG.

ner, of West Liberty, seeking a divorce, declares his wife used a bulldog to hunt him.
He says the dog often forced him to climb a tree and stay there all night.

No Hope for the Currency Bill at This Session

LONG DEBATE SURE TO FOLLOW REPORT

Measure Not Likely to Leave Hands of Committee Before November 1.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—All hope of enacting the Administration currency bill into law at the present session of Congress was given up to-day. Confidential reports made to the President set November 1 as the earliest possible date upon which a report on the measure could be looked for from the Senate Banking and Currency Committee.

At the same time it was stated that six weeks of debate would be consumed by the Senate before the bill could be passed on to the conferees of the Senate and House.

The President was assured that there was no disposition on the part of legislators of the Upper House to hold out against the Administration. Republican members of the Banking and Currency Committee have been placated by the Chief Executive's declaration that he had no intention of making the pending bill a strictly party measure and they, too, will join in signing a report so as to facilitate matters.

A suggestion has been made that the Banking and Currency Committee hold night hearings beginning next week in order to hurry along a report.

The opening of direct negotiations with Republican Senators, it is understood, was decided upon by the President because of suggestions from outside sources that they were endeavoring to delay action in committee.

Senator Stone, of Missouri, gave notice in the Senate to-day that he would address that body Wednesday on the necessity of immediate action on currency legislation. No session of the committee was held to-day.

A proposal that Federal reserve banks provided for in the pending bill shall have power to issue travelers' checks was made to the Senate to-day in a petition presented by Senator Kern.

CERTAIN BILL WILL PASS.

Senator Hoke Smith, home for a week's respite from his work in Congress, predicted Saturday night an easy victory for the currency measure of which he has been an active advocate. He thought that it ought to reach the Senate from the Banking and Currency Committee about November 10.

Senator Smith said that the supporters of the measure had determined that there should be no interference with the legislative progress of the bill as it was regarded as the most important measure remaining to be considered by the present Congress. Any attempt to obtain precedence for another bill will meet with a prompt resistance that already has been successful in keeping the path clear for the passage of the measure, the Senator declared.

SLAUGHTER IS PREDICTED. Special Cable to The American.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The general belief in Russia is that, regardless of what disposition is made of Mendel Bellis, on trial at Kieff for "ritual murder," the "Black Hundred" will ordain a pogrom at the conclusion of the case, and the Jews are fearful of the outcome, according to The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Times.

"Examination of the witnesses will take at least two weeks more," says the dispatch. "So far all the evidence which has been material against Bellis could be put on the point of a pin."

"This is not the trial of Bellis; it is undoubtedly the last fight for existence on the part of the innermost powers of the old reactionary party. It is daily becoming clearer that under the form of the law a great political and social question is being fought."

WILBURN TO GO TO TRIAL.

MACON, Oct. 13.—The intense feeling over the killing of James King, wealthy Jones County planter, which at once time threatened to result in violence on the part of the citizens, has blazed forth again with the approach of the trial of Nick Wilburn, the stalwart and good-looking farm hand who is accused of the murder for the love of King's wife.

Wilburn will go on trial next Wednesday in Grays, Jones County. He confessed to the killing soon after he was suspected and placed under arrest last December. His only defense at the time was that he was goaded to do it by Mrs. King, with whom he had been infatuated for months. Whether this will remain his sole defense at the trial his attorneys, John R. Cooper, will not say.

TESTIFY ABOUT ALLEGED BRIBE.

KIEFF, Oct. 13.—The entire testimony of to-day's session of the trial of Mendel Bellis, charged with the "ritual murder" of Andrew Yuschinsky, concerned the alleged $50,000 bribe offered Vera Cherbeyrak, a recent witness. No testimony bearing on the guilt or innocence of Bellis was offered.

A number of police officers were placed on the witness stand to refute the Cherbeyrak woman's testimony that she had been offered the bribe to confess that she was an accessory to the murder and to implicate seven others.

MENDEL BELLIS, on the right, the Jew charged with slaying Andrer Yuschinsky, 13 years old, as a ritual blood sacrifice, being taken to court in the trial at Kier, Russia. His case has stirred the world.

WOMEN RALLY TO MRS. PANKHURST

Suffragettes All Over United States Are Aroused in Her Behalf.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Over telegraph wires the world stizzle with the heated expression of angry women and in mail pouches of unusual bulk, come messages to Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, as she sits in detention on Ellis Island, from every part of the United States. The messages tell her that American women are her friends, and are indignant at the treatment she is receiving at the hands of the immigration authorities.

It is significant that the wrathful communications bear that element of militancy of which Mrs. Pankhurst is the apostle, and against which American suffragists until now have inveighed. The suffragists everywhere in the United States are aroused, it seems.

Mrs. Pankhurst is in the keeping of immigration officers, and is really a prisoner. The room in which she is held, while comfortable, is in the strict sense of the word a prison cell. Cipriano Castro was held in the same room, when the United States forbade him entrance. So was Miss Marie Lloyd, the British music hall singer, more recently.

The immigration authorities, after a short conference to-day, decided that some of the crimes of which she had been convicted in England did involve moral turpitude. And thus the protest of American suffragists is the same revolt against authority which Mrs. Pankhurst has preached in England. By her imprisonment she has converted many to her side. So the expressions of her myriad messages conclude.

It is understood that resolutions of every degree of anger have been telegraphed to President Wilson, Secretary of Labor Wilson, Immigration Commissioner Caminetti and Senators, besides personal messages requesting that the order be put aside that were sent to Washington and New York officials.

Mrs. Pankhurst arrived to-day on La Provence with two trunks, a hat-box, a suitcase and a Gladstone bag. Her face was ruddy, and apparently she was in excellent health and spirits. Mrs. Rheta Childs Dorr accompanied her and is with her on Ellis Island.

Mrs. Pankhurst told the examining board of the militant struggle in England and her part in it. She did this in a manner which suggested neither egotism nor self-glorification.

"Will you go on a hunger strike now?" she was asked as she left the hearing.

"I never decide anything until the moment comes when decision must be made," she answered. "I did not expect to be detained. I am rather shocked. If I am guilty of moral turpitude—a charge of which the House of Commons declared me and my associates not guilty—wherein can you Americans glorify the leaders of the Boston party—why were Charles Stewart Parnell, Michael Davitt and John Redmond allowed to enter and proselyte in the name of the Irish cause?"

"Is it because they are men? If so, I am meeting here in this land of freedom the same element of unfairness that aroused the suffragettes in my country to militancy."

This is Mrs. Pankhurst's third visit to the United States. Since her last trip she has changed little. Her face has become graver and her gray eyes have grown a bit less trustful. Her imprisonment on a hunger strike has left but little stamp upon her face.

She is a mite of a person. She weighs scarcely 105 pounds and stands 5 feet 1 inch. She was clad in an olive-green broadcloth dress, a dark silk blouse, a full length seal skin coat and a good looking triangular-shaped blue hat ornamented by a black ostrich plume.

OPPOSES LATE RESPITE.

Governor Slaton, in a statement published Saturday, announced himself opposed to the policy of granting respites to men sentenced to be hanged unless the application for the stay of execution has been acted upon favorably by the prison board.

Whenever he receives such applications in the future, the Governor announced, he will turn them over to the Prison Commission for action. The objection to the system of eleven-hour respites lies in the fact that many of them are made merely to obtain a stay of execution and without just cause or substantial basis.

POSTPONES HEARING.

AUGUSTA, Oct. 13.—Judge Henry C. Hammond to-day postponed until early in November the hearing of arguments on the motion for a new trial for Mrs. Edna Perkins Godbee, convicted of the murder of Judge Walter Godbee, her former husband, and his young wife, Mrs. Florence Boyer Godbee.

Argentina and Uruguay, Dr. Melvin added, have good meat inspection laws.

WATSON TRIAL IS SET.

AUGUSTA, Oct. 13.—Thomas E. Watson, editor of The Jeffersonian publication, former nominee of the Populist party for President of the United States, running mate of William J. Bryan on the same party ticket in 1896, lawyer and author, will be placed on trial here Monday upon a Federal indictment charging him with sending obscene matter through the mails.

The Government's case will be handled by United States District Attorney Alexander Akerman, of Macon, assisted by Arthur H. Addington, of the Federal Department of Justice. Mr. Watson will be defended by Colonel Guyt McLendon, of Atlanta, former Railroad Commissioner, candidate for Governor and lifelong friend of the accused. Judge Rufus E. Foster will preside, Judge Speer being disqualified.

ATKINSON QUITS.

General regret is expressed in Atlanta railroad circles over the retirement of H. M. Atkinson from the receivership of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic Railroad, which he organized and built, and of which he has been joint receiver since 1908. The policy which Mr. Atkinson has pursued in developing the road to its present value will be continued, it is understood, by E. T. Lamb, who, after November 1, will be sole receiver of the properties of the company.

TO REFORM SAVAGES.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Mrs. Lord Spencer, society leader of New York and Newport, will forsake the drawing room and the card table for the wild jungles of the Philippines, there to make good citizens of the savage Moros by force of moral suasion.

The women were the guests of Mrs. Schurz.

Schurz declared he did not see or hear the approaching train until the machine was on the track.

SHE DESTROYED MILLIONS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—After having destroyed something like $1,500,000,000 in real money since May, 1912, Miss Louise Lester, of the Treasury Department, still likes her job, although it is a "messy" one, and hopes to keep at it for some time to come. Miss Lester is a member of the Committee on the Destruction of Mutilated Money.

"While my work is somewhat 'messy,'" she says, "it is interesting and does not grow monotonous. It's really fun."

Locked Doors Guard Witness Who Declares Leo Frank Innocent

FISHER DECLARES HE WAS MENACED

Accuses Prominent Atlanta Man of Slaying Little Girl in Pencil Factory.

All night long headquarters detectives scouted over the Grant Building in an effort to lay hands on L. W. Fisher, now of Birmingham, formerly of Atlanta, who says Leo Frank did not kill Mary Phagan and accuses another Atlanta man of the crime, and who was held securely under lock and key in the offices of Luther Rosser on the seventh floor.

Fisher arrived in Atlanta Sunday morning. He was taken immediately to the offices of Messrs. Rosser and Arnold. He is temporarily, though voluntarily, under confinement.

His story exonerates Leo Frank, convicted of the Phagan murder, and accuses another Atlanta man whose name is being withheld. Attorneys Rosser and Arnold, they say, are investigating this man of their own accord. They declare they have asked headquarters detectives to assist them in the investigation. The headquarters men told the attorneys that they would use their own discretion in the matter. No investigation along this line has been put forth by the detectives up to date.

Fisher says—through Mr. Rosser and Mr. Arnold—that the rumor is false that he witnessed the murder. His story is to the effect that the man he accuses, who is a former acquaintance, came to him on the morning of the crime and told of an engagement he was alleged to have had with Mary Phagan at the pencil factory.

Later in the day, Fisher says, the man came to him, and, after confiding his secret, gave Fisher an amount of money on which to leave the city, advising Fisher to depart immediately. Fisher says he acted accordingly, going to Tennessee and later to Birmingham.

He also states that the accused man has sent him liberal sums of money at intervals, always with the admonition to keep mum. Fisher's explanation of his confession is that the secret weighed so heavily on his conscience that he could hold it no longer, deciding last Friday night to pour it into the willing ears of Chief of Police Bodeker in Birmingham.

Both Mr. Arnold and Mr. Rosser say the man named in Fisher's story is still in Atlanta, that he has lived here all his life and is a man with a wife and two children. He is a man of moderate means, they say, who lives in a respectable neighborhood. They would not reveal his occupation or even the section of the city in which he resides.

Fisher's connection with the famous case has caused a clash between Frank's defense and the detective department that is yet to be equaled. Late Sunday night Detectives Waggoner, Cooker, Garner and John Starnes, the latter of whom is one of the two prosecutors in the Frank trial, frankly told the two attorneys that they intended holding the Birmingham man as a material witness so that they might investigate him thoroughly. "That is, if they could lay hands on him."

Mr. Arnold and Mr. Rosser replied fully as frankly that the headquarters men had no opportunity to lay hands on Fisher, and that they intended keeping him locked up in order to keep the detectives from making him a real prisoner. Both men intimated that, before they would allow Fisher to fall into the hands of the detectives, they would, of their own accord, issue a warrant against him and have him jailed on their responsibility.

STEPHENS TABLET UNVEILED.

CRAWFORDVILLE, GA., Oct. 19.—With beautiful and impressive ceremonies, the Old Guard of the Gate City Guard, of Atlanta, on Sunday afternoon unveiled their marble tablet over the grave of the American Ambassador to Germany, the late Alexander Hamilton Stephens, at his old home, "Liberty Hall," in Crawfordville.

Under the command of Colonel J. P. Burke, whose idea it was to dedicate this tablet to the memory of the great patriot and statesman, the Old Guard, Company L, of the Fifty Regiment, which is the active company of the Old Guard, and the Red Men's Drum and Bugle Corps, went to Crawfordville by special train Sunday morning.

GERARD HOUSE HUNTING.

BERLIN, Oct. 19.—Mrs. James W. Gerard, wife of the American Ambassador to Germany, has arrived here and finds the Ambassador still house hunting, with slight prospects of obtaining a suitable building for the social and representative requirements of the embassy. Mrs. Gerard will go to Paris to-morrow to join her sister, Countess Sigray.

AIR FLIGHTS HALTED.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 19.—Because of the disaster to the Zeppelin dirigible balloon the Minister of War has countermanded all the proposed ascents of the military dirigibles. Zodiac and Belgrade, for this year. He also has decided to suspend and probably will abandon the intended purchase of a new dirigible of the German rigid type.

MRS. EMMELINE PANKHURST, famous English militant suffragette, ordered deported by the United States immigration authorities, and then permitted to enter this country.

Fleeing Nuns Tell Of Mexic Horrors

GALVESTON, TEXAS, Oct. 20.—Three hundred and sixty-one refugees from Mexico, most of them destitute and a number of them victims of the long, disastrous siege and subsequent capture of Torreon by the constitutionalists, reached the United States to-day, coming to Galveston by steamer from Tampico. They told stories of guerrilla warfare between the Mexican factions, of robbery and cruelty, and thirty-three Catholic nuns, driven at midnight under fire from their convent, told of hospitals put to the torch, and men killed for the gold in their teeth.

Many of the refugees braved overland journeys of hardships and danger to reach the coast, while others waited weeks and months for train service to escape the country.

CORN PRIZES AWARDED.

THOMASVILLE, GA., Oct. 19.—The committee in charge of the awarding of the prizes for the contest of the Boys' Corn Club and the Girls' Canning Club of Thomas County have made their decisions. The highest number of bushels was 91.26, made by Ralph Newton, the next highest was 84.6, by Aubrey Webb. The greatest net profit was $55.83 by Ralph Newton, and the next $45.91 by Aubrey Webb. The best ten ears were shown by Herbert Shepard, whose percentage out of a possible twenty was 19.25.

The first prize, a scholarship at the Agricultural School at Athens, was won by Ralph Newton, with a percentage of 95 out of a possible 100. The second prize, a free trip to the corn show in Atlanta, went to Aubrey Webb, his percentage being 86.8. Others receiving prizes were Elmo Duren, Harvey Chastain, S. R. Robinson, Alva Martin and Herbert Shepard.

In the awarding of the Girls' Canning Club prizes, Grace Newton won the first, a scholarship in the Agricultural School at Athens. Hazel Smith won the second prize, a trip to the State Fair at Macon. Others winning prizes were Jessie Monroe, Donna Reichert and Della Handcock.

56 KILLED BY DYNAMITE.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 19.—Fifty-six federals have been killed by the dynamiting of a troop train in a short distance north of Sattillo, according to information from a reliable source. The troops were proceeding from Mexico City to Torreon. There were 1,500 men in the train, which ran over a rebel mine. The locomotive and two coaches were destroyed. The government authorities disregarded a warning, it is said, to send the train over another route.

15 PERSONS INJURED.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 19.—Fifteen persons were injured, two perhaps fatally, when the "Midnight Special" of the Chicago and Alton Railroad bound from Chicago to St. Louis, was wrecked at Alton, Ill., early this morning. The lives of thirty-three other passengers in all probability were saved by a steel cable bracing a telegraph pole, which caught the chair car and prevented it from overturning.

ZOSIENSKIS KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

Many Are Injured When Cars Fall Through Mobile and Ohio Trestle.

MERIDIAN, MISS., Oct. 19.—Twenty soldiers were killed and about 100 hurt when a special troop train on the Mobile and Ohio Railroad plunged through a trestle near State Line, Miss., late this afternoon.

The wreck was caused by the engine tender jumping the track about 200 feet from a trestle. The engine was not derailed, and passed over the trestle safely. The tender broke through the engine, however, and plunged with the baggage car and three coaches to the ground, 25 feet below.

At 9 o'clock to-night sixteen bodies had been taken from the wreckage and Superintendent Pigford said in his report he was sure four more bodies were in the debris, which will not be cleared away for 24 hours.

179 Soldiers on Train.

One hundred and seventy-nine soldiers were on board the special train. They were from Fort Morgan and Fort Barancas. They were going to Meridian to participate in the Mississippi-Alabama Joint State Fair. They were under command of Major Taylor Coast Artillery, U. S. A. The men had been taken to Mobile early Sunday, and at noon their ill-fated special left Mobile.

As a major portion of the wreck filtered into Meridian a special relief train bearing physicians and nurses left for the scene. Other trains left from Meridian for West Point, Ala. When it was learned in Mobile that a train bearing the dead and wounded was bound for that city, another train carrying more doctors and nurses was sent to meet the one bearing the victims.

Men Had No Protection.

As is usual with troop trains, the coaches were well filled, and when the three cars tumbled through the trestle the men had little protection. The dead and injured were entangled in a twisted mass of wreckage, making it difficult to remove dead bodies or rescue the injured.

Because of the confusion, due largely to poor wire communication, it is impossible to-night to ascertain how many of the injured were expected to die or who they were.

The first report of the wreck sent the War Department was that twelve had been killed, but soon after it was sent other bodies were found.

Superintendent Pigford is firm in his belief that at least four more bodies are in the wreckage, but until the debris is cleared a final statement of the exact number cannot be made.

Conductor Pruitt and Chief Passenger Agent Harvey E. Jones, of Mobile, were badly injured.

SUES FOR WIFE'S LOVE.

ATHENS, Oct. 18.—Attorneys have been employed and the sails set here for one of the most sensational damage cases ever filed in the Federal courts of the State. J. A. Manley, of Alto, has entered suit against John Hood, of Commerce, for $50,000 damages for alienating his wife's affections.

Manley, so the filing papers show, is a subject of Greek origin, young, old, and has been married fourteen years. His wife is Miss Sarah McCurl and is 20 years younger than he. Manley alleges that during the past summer his wife grew cold and unattractive towards him, and not until it was found that Hood had alienated her affections did he know the cause.

THAW BARES SECRETS.

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 18.—Counsel for Harry K. Thaw to-day filed a brief with Governor Peck, giving the so-called "inside facts" of the effort on the part of William Travers Jerome to secure an indictment charging conspiracy against Thaw. The remarkable part of the brief is that it contains information which most of necessity have come from members of the Dutchess County Grand Jury, before whom the indictment was sought.

CHALLENGER KEEL LAID.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The work of laying the keel of Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger has been begun and Captain Turner is busy selecting a crew. Sir Thomas has shown his confidence in American sportsmanship by displaying a completed model of the challenger to Captain Barton, of San Francisco, who is now in London in connection with the Panama Exposition.

MURPHY MAY ABDICATE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Charles F. Murphy will abdicate as leader of Tammany Hall as soon as election is over, according to a report from very high authority, and the report caused more gossip in Democratic circles to-day than any thing that has been heard in many months.

SEVEN PERSONS HURT.

TIPTON, OHIO, Oct. 19.—Three persons were probably fatally injured, four were seriously hurt and scores were cut and bruised when a south-bound Big Four passenger train was wrecked to-day three miles south of this city.

MRS. PANKHURST ALLOWED TO LAND

Order of Deportation Is Revoked After President Takes Hand in Case.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Federal Commissioner of Immigration Antonio Caminetti to-day revoked the order of the special board of inquiry deporting Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the famous British suffragette, and directed that she be allowed to enter the country.

Commissioner Caminetti declared that Mrs. Pankhurst should be admitted on her own recognizances on these grounds:

1. Because of doubt on the question of moral turpitude.
2. Because she can be prosecuted in the United States courts if she violates the law.
3. Because she can be deported if she violates the law.

Caminetti's decision came at the close of a conference held between high officials to-day to determine whether Mrs. Pankhurst should be allowed to enter the United States or whether she should be deported "as an undesirable alien."

A new precedent in conducting national affairs was set by President Wilson when he in person took up the question of admitting Mrs. Pankhurst. It was the first that the nation's Executive ever had set in judgment in a matter involving the admission of a foreigner barred by the immigration authorities.

SPENCER IN A HURRY.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Henry Spencer, the "hammer man," standing in the Criminal Court at Wheaton this afternoon, pleaded "guilty" to the charge of murdering Mrs. Mildred Allison-Reynold.

He argued with Judge Slusser for an early trial, and continued to insist that he desired to be hanged as expeditiously as possible. His trial will begin November 10.

300 PERSONS SLAIN.

PEKIN, Oct. 18.—Chinese brigands commanded by General Hwang Liang have murdered 300 persons in the Province of Fo-Kien and burned two churches owned by American missionary societies. The American missionaries are still in Fu-Chow, where they took refuge.

The Chinese War Office promised the American Charge d'Affaires, Edward T. Williams, that it would suppress the brigands.

BUTTS BEATS JASPER.

JACKSON, Oct. 20.—Judge Robert T. Daniel, of the First Circuit, has handed down a decision in the tax case between Butts and Jasper Counties, sustaining every contention of Butts County.

Jasper County secured a temporary restraining order, preventing Butts from collecting any of the Central Georgia Power Company taxes, claiming 75 per cent of the total returned in the two counties.

TRAIN HITS AUTO; 3 DEAD.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 18.—Mrs. Samuel Jeroleman, wife of a prominent flour commission merchant, and her two children were killed instantly, and Jeroleman and William Harris, his chauffeur, were injured fatally to-night when their automobile in which they were riding was demolished by a Frisco passenger train.

WILSON FEELS FINE.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—President Wilson feels "fine." He said so himself to-day in answer to the rumor abroad that he was in ill health due to his refusal to attend the target practice off the Virginia coast. The real reason for staying in Washington, the President said, was the press of Federal business.

DREDGE ENGINEER KILLED.

MOBILE, Oct. 18.—J. F. Fowler, of Meridian, Miss., an engineer on the Government dredge Demopolis, was killed here to-night when a mud bucket fell from its fastenings, crushing him. He lived two hours after being hurt.

$6,000,000 FOR GEORGIA IN COTTON'S RISE

PRICE OF STAPLE IS UP 51 POINTS

October Contracts Take Big Jump on Reports of Killing Cold Over the Belt.

Reports of a killing frost over the belt caused a sensational rise in cotton prices Monday.

October contracts jumped 51 points, and closed at 14.99 cents in New York. The jump means $6,375,000 to Georgia, which is $2.37 for every man, woman and child, white and negro, in the State.

Cotton prices had been depressed recently on reports which indicated that earlier tales of damage in the West were exaggerated, and because of constantly swelling estimates of the Eastern crop. The decline had been aided by the fact that the good weather enabled the farmers to gather, gin and market the crop. The flood of actual cotton on the market was heavier than buyers could digest immediately.

Everyone looked for a frost of average date, which would have permitted the bolls at the top of the cotton plant to mature and yield staple.

The frost of Sunday night and Monday probably means that this top crop will be destroyed, cutting the yield of short hundreds of thousands of bales from what was expected.

It was this news which gave the bulls ammunition for their raid, sending quotations skyward.

Conservative experts have said 2,500,000 bales was a very low estimate of Georgia's crop. In this case, an advance of 51 points means a gain of $2.55 in price from recent levels, or $6,375,000 for the State.

The Georgia crop may be shortened somewhat by the early frost, but it will not suffer as heavily as some of the other States.

In fact, the Commissioner of Agriculture has maintained all along that Georgia had almost no prospect of a "top crop."

SNOW IN ATLANTA.

Atlanta tipped over its early snow record this morning just before 7 o'clock, when a whirling flurry of flakes swooped down out of a suddenly clouded sky which cleared almost at once, while the snow, after falling quite briskly for a quarter of an hour, disappeared from the air and the pavements.

The only other snow that has fallen in Atlanta as early as October in the last 34 years was that of October 28, 1916. The snow this morning breaks that record by nearly a week. The two early snows were about the same in texture and quantity of flakes.

BLIZZARD IN GEORGIA.

CLARKESVILLE, Oct. 20.—At seven minutes past 9 o'clock this morning Clarkesville was visited by a snowstorm, the earliest on record in this region in the last 30 years.

The snow melted as fast as it fell. Yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock there was a thunderstorm, followed by heavy rain. A high cold wind blew all night and to-day.

It is growing colder.

SNOW ENDS LONG DROUGHT.

LEXINGTON, KY., Oct. 20.—Snow fell throughout Kentucky to-day, but soon melted, relieving the worst drought ever known in the State. Many towns were actually without water for drinking purposes and in constant danger from fire. This was particularly the condition in the larger towns of Central Kentucky. The damage to crops by the drought is incalculable.

WIFE SAYS HE FLIRTED.

Charging that her husband "flirted with a girl" and took her to the picture show, Mrs. Rosa Walker Monday morning filed suit for divorce and permanent alimony against Adolph E. Walker, manager of Robins Hair Dressing Company. The Walkers live at 70 Whitehall street.

The petitioner declares also that her husband drank to excess and carried whisky with him.

"One day this summer," she says in the petition, "he flirted with a girl who was employed across the street from his place of business. He also took this girl to the moving picture shows."

Mrs. Walker asked for custody of their child, in addition to alimony.

MRS. PANKHURST SPEAKS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, leader of the English militants, was set free by the immigration authorities to-day as soon as they received official notification that Commissioner General Caminetti had found her not guilty of "moral turpitude" and within an hour she made a public speech before a crowd that thronged the Battery.

When the ovation at the Battery had ended, Mrs. Pankhurst thanked the crowd for the reception it had given her, and then talked at length with the newspaper men.

STAY-AT-HOME SUE.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 20.—Men have been brought into the divorce court because they preferred the gay "White Way" to wife's company at night, but Cincinnati has a man who is called to explain why his wife should not be given a divorce because he stayed at home at night.

John Hopping prefers to stay at home nights and enjoy the comforts of the home he provided for his wife. She thinks different and filed suit for divorce on the grounds that he thus preferred to pass his time in the evenings.

MRS. KING FEARFULLY WAITS TRIAL OF HUSBAND'S SLAYER

MRS. KATHERINE KING.

$100,000 Asked for Cotton Experiments

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Representative Walker, of Georgia, introduced a bill in the House to-day appropriating $100,000 to permit the government to experiment in the growing of sea island cotton in the Southern States.

GET $25,000 A YEAR.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 20.—From Chicago came the announcement to-day of the employment of the firm of Bradley, Cooper, Neel & Wilson, of Kansas City, as counsel to represent all the railroads west of the Mississippi River in the physical valuation of the railroads that has been undertaken by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The fee to be paid the Kansas City lawyers is $25,000 a year, or $125,000 in all, as it is estimated the work of valuing the railroads will take five years.

IN MUTINY MOOD.

Officials at the Federal Prison were disturbed Monday by the menacing spirit of discontent among the 1,200 inmates following an open outbreak of defiance Sunday when the name of Julian Hawthorne was cheered and Sunday school workers who had upheld Warden Moyer were hissed.

Guards at the penitentiary have been ordered to keep a stricter watch than ever as a result of the trouble.

PIKE'S PEAK SEEMS SINKING.

DENVER, Oct. 20.—Is Pike's Peak sinking? The latest Government survey, just announced, says the altitude of that famous peak is only 14,097.7 feet above sea level. Compared with its height as given officially in the report of the survey three years ago, which was 14,477 feet, the peak is 38 feet lower.

MACON, GA., Oct. 20.—Katherine King anxiously awaits the outcome of the trial of her husband, James King, one of the most prominent farmers in Jones County.

Charged and indicted as an accessory before the fact, Mrs. King bitterly denounces Wilburn, who charges that he is hoodluming into the killing by her. Surrounded by her three children, Mrs. King fearfully waits for her own ordeal.

Her friends and attorneys have stood loyally by her and on every hand there is the strongest denial of her guilt. Immediately after the killing, Mrs. King admitted his guilt, but charged he was urged to it by his victim's wife. It was reported that she admitted this and feeling was intense. A change in sentiment, however, has been experienced with her continued bitter denials of the charge.

Feeling has thus been fomented against Wilburn by the charge of the friends of Mrs. King innocent woman. The trial probably will be postponed from Wednesday of this week until Wednesday, October 23, Attorneys John R. Cooper and W. D. McNeil, who represent Wilburn and Mrs. King, respectively, have engagements in the Supreme Court on Tuesday, and for that reason they have applied to Judge Park for continuance.

WANT PENSIONS PAID.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—A plan to have $60,000,000 derived from the civil war cotton tax now in the Treasury diverted to pensions for Confederate soldiers and their widows and thus relieve the Southern States of their pension burden, was presented to Senator Randall, of Louisiana, by General Bennett H. Young, Commander of the United Confederate Veterans to-day.

Many years ago the Supreme Court of the United States decided that this tax had been collected illegally.

Pastor Kills Himself When Transferred

READING, PA., Oct. 20.—Because he was transferred from Lancaster, Pa., to Reading against his wishes, the Rev. S. S. Dougherty, of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church, committed suicide by hanging himself.

SHE SUED TOO OFTEN.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 20.—In the divorce court here Charles Wagner explained that he had sued his wife, Wilhelmina Wagner, for divorce because he wanted to put an end to her suing proclivities.

Wagner averred that his wife had sued him on thirteen different occasions since their marriage in 1910. The wife, who is contending the proceedings, declared that she had sued Wagner only eight times that she could remember, and that there was provocation for each suit.

THAW ACCUSES JEROME.

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 20.—Attorney for Harry K. Thaw to-day took the offensive in their fight against William T. Jerome.

They filed with Governor Peck a brief directly accusing Jerome of breach of faith and attempting to deceive the governor when he declared that an indictment had been returned against Thaw in New York State.

The Thrilling Story of a Modern Monte Cristo

SYNOPSIS.

Philip Anson is a boy of 15, of fine education and good breeding, but an orphan and miserably poor. The story opens with the death of his mother.

Rich relatives have deserted the family in their hour of need, and when his mother's death comes Philip is in despair. He looks over his mother's letters and finds that he is related to Sir Philip Morland. A few days later a terrific thunderstorm blows over London. At the height of the storm a flash of lightning scares a team of a West End coach standing in front of a mansion. Philip, who has become a newsboy, rescues a girl from the carriage just before it turns over. A man with the girl trips over Philip in his excitement. He lifts the boy and calls a policeman. The girl pleads for Philip, and he is allowed to go after learning that the man was Lord Vansion. Philip then determines to commit suicide. He borrows a piece of rope from O'Brien, a ship chandler, and forces his miserable dwelling in Johnson's news.

Just as he is about to hang himself a meteor flashes by the window and crashes into the flagstones in the yard. The boy takes a sudden flight from heaven not to kill himself. He then goes to the yard to look at the meteor. He shows a piece of his find to a jeweler and discovers he is fabulously rich, but faces the problem of selling his meteoric diamonds. London's best diamond expert becomes excited over the meteoric find and causes Philip's arrest.

This Week's Installment.

The Transition.

IT was 4 o'clock in the afternoon of a fine, but chilly March day when Philip regained Holborn with 50 pounds, making a lump in his pocket slip all the sovereigns but one into the and Isaacson's letter safely lodged in his coat. The mere weight of the gold suggested some refreshments. His clothes were so worn that the frail calico might give way and every golden coin rattled forth to the street. So with one of Mr. Abington's shillings he made his first purchase, a capacious tobacco pouch with a small mouth, for which he paid ninepence. Then he adjourned to an eating bread shop and ordered some refreshments. While the waitress was airing his cup of tea and piece of cake he contrived to tobacco pouch.

He did this with his hand in the pocket itself, and once there was a pleasant clink as the coins fell into their novel receptacle. A man sitting nearby caught the sound and looked up suspiciously. Philip, whose senses were very much on the alert today, realized that his action was somewhat careless. Without even glancing at his neighbor he took out his remaining couple of shillings and the three pennies, and affected to count them with a certain degree of astonishment, as if some were missing. The ruse was satisfactory. The man gave him no further heed, and soon quitted the restaurant.

Philip tendered the odd sovereign in payment of his bill. Yet the girl cashier seemed to be surprised that such a ragged youth should own so large a sum. "All silver, please," said Philip, when she began to count his change. He would take no more risks if he could avoid them. Not a single policeman in London would be allowed to rest him at that moment were his store of gold revealed by any chance. Yet Philip was rich honestly, and there were men driving away from the city at that hour whose banking accounts were plattered with stolen money. For their carriages the policemen would stop traffic. In neither instance could the guardians of the peace be held blame-worthy; such is the importance of mere appearances.

The boy during his short and terribly sharp tussle with London life, had already grasped its essential nature, and with great skill and method he set about the task of altering his own shabby exterior. In a side street leading out of Gray's Inn road he found a second-hand clothes shop. Here he purchased a worn, but decent, blue serge suit for 8 shillings 6 pence, a pair of shoes for 5 shillings 6 pence, a pair of woollen shirts for 2 shillings and a linen collar for 3 pence. He haggled sufficiently over the bargain to suit the needs of a scanty purse.

"I've cut 'em damn low enough," said the shopkeeper mournfully. "Things just won't wear in the old clo' line, let me tell you. Not but what you do want a new rig-ah?"

"Yes," said Philip, "I've got a job, and can't see 'til unless I look decent."

Some Evasion.

For the life of him he could not burlesque the cockney accent, and, although he used the simplest phraseology, the man glanced at him sharply. "Where are you working?" he asked. "At Isaacson's in Hatton Garden." The words had not left his lips ere he regretted them.

"What is it?"

"A Jew," and Philip laughed. This slip atoned for the error of the admission.

"Bill me, you won't get a lot out of 'im." "No. It cost me some trouble to get an advance, I can't afford to lose it."

Philip rattled all his silver and coppers onto the counter. He counted out sixteen shillings.

"Not much left, is there?" he said. "Well, look 'ere," said the man. "Gim me fifteen bob. You're a sharp lad. You'll make yer w'y all right. Next time you want some duds come in to 'im. I'll treat you fair."

"Thank you very much," said Philip before my marriage. By this gentleman, considerably, I certainly will not forget you."

"You can change it 'm little back round if you like. That lot you've got on ain't worth tykin' none."

"I am obliged for your kindness, but I must be off now. It is late, and I have a long way to go."

"No, cityward."

"The clothes and boots were made up to a parcel by this time. Philip hurried away, glad to escape further questioning. "Queer sort of kid, that," mused the shopkeeper. "My, but 'a must be 'is 'ead up afore 'e took off."

Wot did 'e say 'is name was? Isaacstein? I've seen that somewhere or other. Newswere was 'is name."

He knew two hours later, for he, too, read the evening paper.

Philip sprang into a bus for the Bank. At the Royal Exchange he would catch a green bus for the Mile End road. It was almost dark when he reached the Bank. Thus far the omnibuses go, but the situation had changed. Now the human eddy in that throbbing center of life was sending off its swiftest eastbound vehicles were hoarded by an eager crowd almost before the passengers arriving at the terminus could descend.

A poor woman, greatly hampered by a baby, was struggling with others to obtain a seat in the Mile End road bus. Philip, coming late on the scene, saw her swept ruthlessly aside by a number of men and boys. The conductor jerked the bell rope several times. There was no more room.

A pale, thin-faced and disappointed, looked around with a worn, become expression. Philip, who would have given a guinea to be sent to his destination, dared do nothing of the sort. But he said:

"Keep close to me. I will get you a seat in the next bus."

"Oh, I wish you would," she said, with a smile of an so tired woman who had walked here from Shepherd's Bush.

"That's a long way to carry a baby."

"What could I do? People won't take care of children without payment. I heard I could get work in a laundry there, so I went to look after it. There's nothing to be had down our way, is there?"

"Things turn up suddenly," said Philip.

"Not for the poor, my lad. I fear you know that without my telling you. But you are young, and will soon be a man."

"Isn't you succeed at the laundry?"

"Yes, I ought to be thankful. I can earn nine shillings a week there. I start on Monday."

"He is dead. Poor fellow, he caught cold last Christmas, and was buried in January. I can't afford to let my wife and child starve."

"If it wasn't for the kindness of neighbors, my baby and I would have starved long ago. I'll soon be a man, and I can't wait any further."

"Well, look out now," he said cheerfully. "I can't afford to let my wife and child starve."

As the vehicle drew up he caught the brass rail with his left hand, and with his right arm he held the bundle under his right arm.

"Quick," he said to the woman, as soon as the people inside had descended. "Jump in."

She essayed to do so, but was rudely thrust aside by a young man who had passed on the roof to light a cigarette. Philip sprang into the gap behind him, and the young gentleman in the stomach with his parcel, causing the other to slip down to the ground. The boy caught the woman's arm with his disengaged hand and pulled her up. He stepped in after her.

"You young --" roared the discontented smoker.

"Come out of it," said the conductor. "Why didn't you get dahn be before?" "I've wanted a lift."

Others hustled the protesting one out of the way.

"Confound the East End, I say," he growled. "He's crossed to the Mansion House. 'What the deuce Lady Louisa Morland wants to keep the news going to that wretched news for I can't imagine. Anyway, I can tell her this time that the place is empty, and will be pulled down next week."

And thus it was that Philip, colluded with Messrs. Shurpe & Smith's clerk, detailed by the anxious Lady Louisa Morland to discover his whereabouts, met her and bumped into each other in the whirlpool of London just as two ships might crash together by night in mid-Atlantic and draw apart with ruffled feelings, or scraped apart, which is the same thing.

Within the omnibus the woman was volubly grateful for his kindly heart, and timely essayed questions as to Philip's relatives, hoping that she might make their acquaintance.

"Better than that, he has a good heart," said Mrs. Wrigley. Most fortunately, Mrs. Wrigley—to have encountered Philip in that hour which she deemed the blackest of her life.

He hastened through the familiar bustle of the busy thoroughfare with heightened expectancy. It is true, but devoid of the least fear that his meteor had been discovered. His mother would take good care of it. Why, the mere chance remain of the woman he had befriended showed that her gentle spirit watched over him wherever he went.

There was a strange, cold shiver among the millions, who went out of her way to praise the goodness of one she had never seen. He laughed joyously. Mrs. Wrigley should have further cause to bless his mother's memory.

He passed O'Brien's shop. He saw the old man seated behind the counter. Should he go in? No. Better keep wholly to himself at present. Yet he hesitated. Which was the more judicious course—to remain hidden, unknown, or to drop quietly into the groove where he was recognized? With rare prescience for one so young, he reflected that only five days had elapsed since the meteoric find.

The period bulked largely in Philip's life; in O'Brien's it would be as naught. He turned to the second thought, he entered the shop.

"Glorious to be glad, Phil. But 'tis missis 'is friend 'is friend 'is friend."

"Where have you bin to, at all at all? Have you heard what the murderin' War Office has ordered for you? You haven't had a soul to spake to about 'till I brought 'em up on me in me own way."

"This was not strictly accurate. There were those who were in the neighborhood with the story of his withheld pension and the preposterous claim of the Government for the return of the diamond. its stiff strands. Soon he had an abundance of strong cord, and four bulky packages were added to the first small one.

They were heavy, too, weighing several pounds each. In placing them side by side close to the wall beneath the front window, he suddenly realized an unforeseen danger.

"If these shreds of matter—the mere husk, as it were, of the meteor—were so numerous, what would be the weight of the meteor itself? How could it have lifted it from the hole in which it lay, how could it from John's a Mews to a new and safer habitation? He might as well endeavor to move an unwilling elephant.

The thought chilled him. For the first time since his parting interview with Mr. Abington, Philip experienced a dread of failure. With something of panic in his blood, he snatched a candle and ran hastily into the yard. He knelt and held the light low in the excavation. Then he cried aloud:

"What! Am I so ready to lose faith in my theory?"

For the huge metallic mass—so big that it would not enter the bore of the largest cannon known to modern gunnery—was split astunder in all directions. Its fissures gaped widely as if to mock its finder. The heat and steam had done their work. It was even possible that he would not need the spade, but would be able to plant out each separate chunk with his hand.

Instantly he put the thought into execution. He stooped and seized several pieces to the yard level. He noted that they were gored with the dull white particles, some being the size of pigeon eggs. He could not help comparing them in his mind's eye with the collection now lodged in Isaacson's safe. If those were worth fifty thousand pounds, these must be of fabulous value.

Any other person in the wide world might have been excused if he pinched the morsels of wonder at one single instant, that means would be given him to work about and add undisputed control of his treasure.

But there remained the problem of the actual body of the meteor in the stout sack he obtained from O'Brien, and then inclosed in a strong canvas trunk which he would purchase next morning. Any ordinary trunk would not have been excused if he pinched the morsels of wonder at one single instant, that means would be given him to work about and add undisputed control of his treasure.

As the next morning would find him occupied enough, he decided to do as much as possible that night. Three times he sallied forth and returned with egg-cooked valise. He paid prices varying from two pounds and six shillings to three pounds fifteen shillings, and always brought second-hand goods.

He had locked and strapped the fourth of his goodly array of traveling bags when he fancied he heard a footstep in his arms and ran with it into the tiny scullery.

Notwithstanding the weight of the packed portmanteaux, especially the larger one, he lifted each bodily in his arms and ran with it into the tiny scullery.

On the front window there was no blind, only a small, much-worn curtain covering the lower panes, and he did not want any stray light to gaze in at him and discover the large quantity of jewelry in such a disreputable hovel.

When the fourth bag was disposed of in the dark recess of the scullery, he paused for an instant to listen. There was not a sound, and he crept to the window he could dimly discern the roof of the deserted stables opposite.

He bent again over the contents of the fifth portmanteau, and was packing the last parcel of ore and diamonds when some one came through the door and he felt through one end where the druggist wrapping had been hastily folded.

Shaking the package of ore as a grocer beats down the contents of a sugar bag, he picked up the fallen specimen and put them in one by one. A large lump of ore had fallen apart on it and dropped inside the wrapper. He saw a rough diamond quite as large as a hen's egg.

Philip smiled and recalled his boast to Isaacstein. He examined the stone critically, and realized that if it were false it might be one of the masterpieces of creation. Without experiencing any positive motive he slipped this unique specimen into his pocket and went on with the reconstruction of the damaged parcel.

At last he finished. The portmanteau was lying open on the floor, when he thought occurred to him that he might have avoided the flurry and trouble of carrying these heavy articles into the scullery if he had carried them across the yard of his drugget across the window.

It was not too late even now to rectify this defect. He slipped the portmanteau down to ascertain how much material he should cut off, and saw a face—an evil, brutal, nervous face—staring at him over the top of the curtain.

weapon, and he would not hesitate to use it if forcible entry was attempted. He crouched in the dark, listening for each sound, and threatening boldly when he heard any endeavoring to open door or window.

He sighed, for he was very tired, but the vigil was imperative. He dropped the druggist and scissors and bent again over the portmanteau.

The package operations went as well as finished now, and, indeed, when the light was extinguished, it would be better to attempt to place them in the pocket which a sudden thrust with an implement might do him an injury.

He took his discarded clothes and arranged them on top of the last parcels of ore and diamonds. Then he reached out for a small bundle of documents resting on the chair behind him, intending to place them in the pocket in the flap which already covered one-half of the bag.

At that instant he again heard foot-steps. Of course, a very few seconds had elapsed since he first caught sight of the living scullery without a lamp. The ideas recorded at such length whirled through his active brain with lightning rapidity, as the knowledge of how came that the footsteps proceeded from an entrance to the main street.

Philip met their scrutiny without flinching. He leaned against the wall with his hands in his pockets, and then clinched over the pouchful of gold, the other guarding a diamond bigger than the Kohinoor.

"I am sorry I have only one chair, gentlemen," he said, apologetically. "That's all right, my lad," said the inspector, sticking his thumbs in his belt and gazing at Philip with professional severity.

all these years, that a murtherin' thief in the War Office— Philip was safe. He rapidly helped his friend to put up the shutters, and rushed back to No. 3. Even yet he was quite unprepared for eventualities. He ran upstairs and gathered a few articles belonging to the burglar. He never endeavored to sell even when pinched by hunger.

The last dress she wore, her boots, a hat, an album with photographs, some toilet accessories from the tiny dressing-room, a pair of kid gloves, and a watch which she died—these and kindred mementoes made a very credible bulk in the despatch portmanteau.

He gave one glance at the hole in the back yard as he went to the coal house for a fresh supply of coal. That must remain. It probably would not be seen, in any case it remained indispensable.

He was stirring the fire when a tap sounded on the door and the policeman entered, followed by an inspector.

"A Step Higher." "This is the boy, sir," said the policeman. "Oh, is that him?" observed the inspector, sticking his thumbs in his belt and gazing at Philip with professional severity.

fused permission to remove anything except his few unsalable household goods. He assured the policeman in an awkward predicament. Of course, there was a chance that the policeman would continue to laugh at the convict's folly. If he did not, there would certainly be complications. Could he avoid them by any means? There was a safe hiding place for his diamonds until next day? Would mother inspire him again as she had not failed to do during so many strange events? Would her spirit guide his footsteps across this new quicksand on whose verge he hesitated?

A few doors to the left was O'Brien's shop. The old man crept into sight, sagging under the weight of a shutter. "Good gracious! Why had he not thought of this ally sooner? Some precious minutes were wasted already.

"Arrah, Phil, what in the world— "Wait just the least bit, Mr. O'Brien. I have some portmanteaux that I want to store for the night. Do let me put them at the back of your shop. My place is not very safe, you know."

"Sure, boy, that's a small thing to ask. Bring 'em, an' welcome." With the speed of a deer Philip dived into the mews. He carried the two leather bags without extraordinary difficulty, and deposited them behind O'Brien's counter. The third was almost too much for him, as the weight was all in one hand. But he got it there, breathless with the exertion.

He had to open the fourth and tear out the stuffing of paper. When filled with the packages taken from the lift it was beyond his power to lift it. So he dragged it bodily along the mews and into the shop.

A passerby offered to help him. "No, thanks," he managed to say, though the effort to speak calmly took away his remaining breath. "I am only taking it to the shop there."

The man glanced at the shop—it was a marine store dealer's—a place where lead and iron and brass found ready sale. He passed on.

"The forchun war, Phil, where did you get the bling?" asked the policeman. "An' what in the world is that an' what's an' what's in them?" inquired the astonished policeman.

"The boy bravely called a smile to his aid. "I have a big story to tell you one of these days, Mr. O'Brien, but I have no time to-night. These things will not be in your way until the morning."

"The divil a bit. If things go on as they are, there'll soon be room enough for you at the back of your shop. I've run upstairs and gathered a murtherin' thief in the War Office."

Farmers Asked to Diversify, But Banks Ask Cotton Security

Now that the Georgia farmer is cashing in the profits of a year of toil, and for the first time since 1911 has comparative plenty, the kindly gentlemen who always stand ready to give the farmer advice are extremely "economize," says the banker to the farmer. "Remember that in 1911 you made a big crop and spent your plentiful money with a lavish hand, so that last year, with a short crop, you talked of poverty. Your money was gone; your credit curtailed; you were in the plight of the grasshopper in winter, when you might have been an ant."

Then comes the agricultural expert. "Diversify," is his message. "Don't plant so much cotton. Live off your farm. You should raise everything you and your animals need to eat, and you won't have to borrow. The one-up plan is ruining your farm and impoverishing you. Grow corn, potatoes, yams, soy beans, field peas and vegetables, oats, cattle and alfalfa, and be independent like your Northern brethren."

Won't Let Him Follow Advice. Good advice from both—excellent. The only trouble with it is that the banker will not let the farmer diversify and the merchant will not help him economize. When the Georgia farmer comes to town and asks for credit for his year's supplies, or asks for a loan from the bank, the first question he is asked is: "How much cotton are you planting this spring?" "Five acres," says the farmer. "I planted eight last year, but I'm going to diversify like the experts tell me to this season. I'll put the rest of my place into corn and potatoes, and—"

"He never gets any further. 'I'm not interested in all that,'" says the merchant or the banker. "Your line of credit will be $200, secured by a mortgage on your cotton."

"He can't get along on $200 through the season; he changes his plan and puts the whole farm into cotton, just as he has for the past twenty years, or longer, if he is older. One of the best-known men in Georgia, an authority on matters agricultural, and one of the most consistent foes of the one-crop system, recently took hold of a 250-acre farm. He will diversify.

The first year he looks for a deficit of $2,500—$10 an acre. The second year he thinks the best he can do is recoup half this loss. The third year's net profit will be only $2,750. That amounts to $11 an acre, and as it will take three years to make it, it is only $3.68 per acre per year. The fourth year and every succeeding year will bring him a profit of $19 to $20 an acre, and even more, as his scientific knowledge will increase steadily the productivity of the tract.

On Average Man's Land. Apply the careful computations of the expert to the average poor man's tract of 50 acres. His deficit the first year under the best system the expert can reason out would be $500. The next year would reduce the deficit to $250 and the third year would leave him a profit of $300, which would pay off his debt and leave him $650, or $216 a year for the three years.

Now, who will lend him $500 for three years, taking $250 in payment at the end of two years, and the other $250 at the end of the third year? No one, we fancy.

Rent Paid in Cotton. Two out of three Georgia farmers, the pay rent, and almost invariably they pay it in cotton. The farmer who would try to pay his rent in corn would be jeered at; worse, he would be dispossessed in favor of some complainant tenant who would grow cotton.

There will be extravagance on the farm this fall. There will be a lot of clothes bought that are not really necessary, and maybe buggies that aren't needed, and new-fangled devices of all kinds.

Fallacy of "Advice." Why? Because the merchant—the same merchant who won't lend on anything but cotton—knows the farmer has a pocketful of change and is going to get it if he can.

It is safe to say that every country merchant in Georgia has stocked up this fall with everything under the sun and is planning to make a "killing." That's probably all right, if his goods are honest and his prices fair. But it isn't just right to push sales—to urge the farmer to buy more than he really needs—and then "rub it in" by telling him to economize.

HEAR CALL ON SHIP AFIRE.

A thrilling story of the mingling of the ill-fated Volturno's "S. O. S." call of distress with the crackle of flames on the steamship Merion, aboard which they were passengers, was confided to friends Saturday by Mrs. A. D. Adair and Mrs. Frank R. Logan, two of the best-known women in Atlanta. The Merion was more fortunate than the ship which called to it for help, the fire being conquered after a quiet but desperate fight without any casualties. So skillfully and quickly did the ship's crew work that but few of the passengers on the ship realized there had been a fire until long after it had been extinguished. A mile away the mighty Lusitania was standing by to lend a hand if necessary.

DELEGATES NAMED.

BARRON IS FREED.

The Barron poison mystery which had aroused three counties collapsed Wednesday with the reading of the report of Dr. Edgar Everhart, the Atlanta chemist, which stated that no poison was found in the stomach or other organs of Mrs. Sallie Lou Barron.

Dr. Cary Barron, husband of the woman, who has been under arrest at Milner pending the analysis, will be released immediately, and the entire matter dropped.

STILL "BILLY" HOWARD.

"Billy" Howard is being given to understand that he must always feel at home in Kirkwood, and that he must not expect anything else but the "Billy." Even if he does go to Congress, and get himself called the Hon. William Schley Howard in the papers, he will always be "Billy" in Kirkwood. So the citizens of Kirkwood informed the Congressman when he attended the fish fry Friday evening for the benefit of the Civic League. They made it plain at the same time that they consider him Kirkwood's greatest son.

Market Quotations For Week Ending October 21, 1913

REVIEW OF COTTON MARKET

With the exception of Wednesday, when January broke to 12.66 the low point of the recent bear campaign, this has been the most propitious week for the bull element since the season started.

Bulls renewed aggressive tactics Thursday, owing to prediction of frost in the southwest, and from then on they had full control of the market, aided and abetted by a strong market in Liverpool and unfavorable weather over the larger portion of the cotton area.

Again and again the move was upward until at the close Monday futures in New York had advanced some 95 to 105 points, or $4.75 to $5.25 a bale higher than the closing quotations of last Tuesday.

The trade witnessed the most sensational advance of the season Monday, when the market opened strong with prices at a net advance of 22 to 35 points from Saturday's close, based on killing frost in Oklahoma and reports of frost and heavy rains in other sections of the west.

Sentiment after the close favored a further reaction and bears withdrew support, apparently letting the buying run its course. On the other hand some radical bears think the advance has been overdone; that no serious damage is likely in Oklahoma, and that the crop market was all ready made for a further rise.

Some think the rise has been too rapid, but those inclined to that belief do not hesitate to think of the probable damage the eastern crops will suffer from frost. It is believed that the world's supply is depending upon the central and eastern belt for the greatest bulk of the staple this season, where the crops have been in excellent shape up until recently ago.

In general, the trade thinks that present prices are high enough in the light of the past and prospects for a good size crop. Attention was called to the fact that January is selling around 12.40 or nearly 12.50, which is cheaper than today's close, when estimates of the crop were not in excess of 14,000,000 bales.

The bears call attention of bull forces to the fact that the int-figs were the highest last week, with one exception, in the history of the trade. It was only the extraordinarily large exports that kept the visible supply 400,000 bales below a year ago. Thus far exports are near 200,000 bales larger than the previous year.

The question as to the size of the crop is still wide open, with estimates ranging between 13,500,000 to 15,750,000 bales. The advance in the cotton market is being closely followed in the goods market, in face of the fact that present prices on staple goods are due to the shortage of supplies, rather than to high raw material, and that agents state that their mills are still turning out goods from cotton which was bought last July, and the present prices of futures are little or no ice in setting prices on their goods.

Secretary Hester's week-end figures were interpreted bullish; 651,000 bales were brought to light, of which spinners absorbed 317,000 bales, the increase in the world's visible supply of American cotton being 334,000 bales, as against 220,000 last year and 382,000 in 1911.

Thus far this season spinners have taken 1,621,000 bales, as against 1,350,000 last year and 1,570,000 in 1911. The world's visible supply of American cotton now stands 2,436,000 bales, as contrasted with 2,945,000 in 1912 and 2,699,000 in 1911.

Assumption will be far greater than the production. Many believe that this frost is severe enough and all further growth and maturity of cotton, and will likely reduce the yield to an extent where 15 cents will probably be the basis of values.

A rumor to the effect that the National Ginners' placed ginnings to October 15 at 6,800,000 bales, which was construed as bearish, brought out further realizing by longs in the late trading. At the close the market was steady, with prices at a net decline of 25 points from the closing quotations of Monday.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 21.—Weather conditions and developments overnight were, on the whole, not as severe as anticipated. The map shows fair weather over the entire belt. No precipitation, except just a trace in the Tennessee mountain range. Warmer in the Western States; no frost there, but colder east of Louisiana, with heavy to killing frost general in Mississippi, Alabama, the eastern portion of the Atlanta, Tennessee and parts of the Atlantic. Fair and warmer weather generally is indicated for the entire belt.

The first frost here has not passed over the belt and established the following facts: "Rather general killing frost in Oklahoma; heavy to killing frost in the greater part of Arkansas, generally over Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, western Georgia and the northwestern part of Florida.

Liverpool was irregular, high at the start on frost news, but losing nearly all the advance toward the close. Shots, 14 points higher; sales, 8,000 bales. Our market experienced a sharp decline of nearly 20 points on realizing, owing to the fact that killing frost was not as extended as expected, and the Government forecast of fair and warmer weather in the belt, but there was a steady demand at the close and the undertone continues confidently bullish. A bullish ginners' report is looked for this week.

COTTON GOSSIP

More frost. The weather is bound to be a factor from now on. Schill sold about 50,000 bales on the call, which was bought by Weld and McFadden. Bulls are more confident now than ever that the supply and demand, compared with crop prospects, justifies present prices, and even higher. On the other hand, a bear puts the case in this way: "It might be well for those whose knowledge of the actual cotton is very limited to think a bit before loading up on 13 1/2 cotton. This day last year December and January were the weather of the world's smallest crop in 10 years. It would also be well to remember that the world's visible supply is but 300,000 bales less than a year ago. Also to remember that the foreign crop promise is for 1,000,000 bales over last year's; also to remember finally that the price regulates consumption to a large extent. There was a disposition at the outset to sell. However, neither bulls nor bears were inclined to take an aggressive position until they knew more about the weather and conditions. Naturally there was considerable cotton to realize after prices had advanced about $2.60 a bale in one day. The New Orleans Times-Democrat says: "Weather of the world's several practically destroyed all bearish hopes of easy profits during 1913-1914. Freezing temperature at many points in Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas, and at least one or two Louisiana stations Sunday night, and a bureau forecast of frost almost to the coast line all over the belt Monday night, with several sections of the eastern belt, where the crop is supposed to be still green, have to have with low price expectations all along the line. The storm warnings in the eastern belt helped generate bullish sentiment. Of course much will depend upon developments this morning. Should the Government's forecast prove accurate it would be folly for any portion of the trade to assume that important inroads on the season's supply have not been made."

"Yes, I Guess It Killed Him," Said the Lady, and It Did

The train was rushing to Chicago, a solid mass of steel, flying like a steel arrow with its living cargo from one great center to another. It "touched a man" standing by the track.

A thin trail of smoke drifted behind, losing itself in the many colored leaves of the trees along the river bank. It was a beautiful day, the dull grayish-blue clouds reflected in the water, as the late afternoon sun finished a day's work.

And it was a beautiful world, to the man whose life went out as suddenly as the light of a candle, as the big train came around the curve.

Such a little incident in life and in railroading does not cause much delay. The emergency brakes were set, but there was no shock—no passengers, except a few on the rear observation platform, knew that anything had happened.

One young man, on the right-hand side of that platform, as you look toward the engine, turned white, for he had seen it as it lay in the trench between the track and the hill, when the train flew past.

He and half a dozen others, the youngest men on the train, ran back with the railroad man, who was sent formally to do what is customary.

In about three minutes, as fast as they could run, and out of breath, they and the railroad man returned, and with them a brakeman, who had carried a red flag, to prevent a rear-end collision.

They came running, hurrying, climbing to the observation platform, and the train was off—she soon made up the three or four minutes lost. She had done exactly the same thing two weeks before.

The pale young man who had seen it soon recovered his nerve, and no one was excited except the very small boy who had rapidly exhausted all of the comic newspapers in the observation car, and was much in need of fresh excitement. He could find no one to pay attention to him, except a lady who evidently does a good deal of traveling on this train.

She said to the little boy: "Yes, I guess he is dead all right. I never knew this train to touch a man and not kill him. You see, it goes pretty fast."

Some one had said that the train had not run over the man, but had "just touched him," and the little boy thought that perhaps he was not dead.

But he was dead, as dead as any little ant that you have crushed, walking along the garden path. It was not the railroad's fault, not the engineer's fault; he had blown his whistle; and the section hand—the dead man was a "section hand"—knew the whistle meant death if he stayed too near the track. Custom makes us scorn danger.

This "hand" had not thought it worth while to cross all the tracks and clear the flying "Century." He put his back against the steep bank, leaving room, as he thought. But air suction, caused by the flying train, or his own recklessness, brought him too near. Employees are supposed to pretend ignorance of all accidents. But one employee told the short story to this writer, whom he knew: "The steam cylinder head just touched him and it took his head clean off, as though it had been cut with a knife."

Here, if you choose, you have a chance to moralize on life, its significance, and on man, the little leaf growing on a tree we call the human race, falling and vanishing like any other leaf.

It is not the man, but the race that counts.

It is the race that built the great train, the intelligence of the race that has just united the Atlantic Ocean and the Pacific Ocean.

It is the race, the millions working together, that gradually make the life of the man worth while, the importance of the individual greater.

The race is the real SUPERMAN, the real power. And each individual "section hand," forgotten the hour that he dies, or "great man," forgotten when the newspapers stop talking about him, must find his comfort in the fact that he belongs TO THE RACE, shares in its accomplishment, helps in its work, and will probably return to this planet over and over millions of times, as long as the planet lives, move on to work in some other bigger and better planet when this one dies—and so on forever.

P. S.—For the serious mind. Note that the flying train typifies modern industry and civilization. No one on the train was excited—a majority did not know that anything had happened. Promptly on the hour each ate his dinner and all slept well. The train had killed a man. BUT IT WAS NOBODY'S BUSINESS.

It was not the engineer's fault; he had done his duty.

It was not the passengers' fault; they did not run the train.

It was not the railroad's fault; it laid down rules.

It was nobody's FAULT; but the man WAS DEAD.

If any INDIVIDUAL PASSENGER had killed the man that passenger would have refused to leave the body, would have inquired for the wife and children, would have felt remorse, lost appetite, blamed himself, even had the dead man been really to blame.

But as the passengers, the train, the engineer and the railroad ALL COMBINED killed him, NO ONE felt responsible.

So it is in industry and civilization.

Ten men are killed in a day in some mine. No one responsible. Stockholders, managers, engineers all say, "I did not do it"—again, NO ONE TO BLAME.

A miserable woman starves to death in her garret in a big city. Civilization says, "I did not do it." No one to blame, and so it goes.

We shiver with horror when we read of an individual body-owned slave beaten to death.

We shrug our shoulders and say, "I did not do it," when we read of ten thousand wage-owned slaves, miserably paid girls, driven to despair, by poverty.

Since we have evaded personal responsibility we must devise COLLECTIVE RESPONSIBILITY so that when men die in their youth and women starve it shall not be possible for the entire race and its government to say, "I did not do it."

The Value of Good Character—An Incident and a Lesson

The recent commutation of the death sentence of George Oliver, a negro convicted of murder in DeKalb County, is a matter of more than passing importance.

In that commutation Governor Slaton has succeeded in writing a lesson that everybody may profit by considering.

It is a simple, old lesson as old as the hills—but it has not yet been learned by all men!

Oliver, a negro of previous good character, killed, upon the impulse of the moment, another negro. Oliver was not himself at the moment of the crime, but the cold record of the trial made out a case of murder, pure and simple, and the jury found accordingly.

The case was not appealed to the Supreme Court, for there was no apparent error of law therein, but an appeal direct to the Governor for clemency was made.

Presenting the plea were a hundred or so of the white acquaintances—the neighbors—of the negro under sentence of death. The white jury that convicted him asked the Governor's mercy—and every plea was based upon one isolated proposition, PREVIOUS GOOD CHARACTER OF LONG STANDING!

In commuting the death sentence, Governor Slaton said:

"The negro is a charge upon the conscience and thought of the Southern white men. Among them he finds his best friends, and all that is demanded of him is good behavior and a recognition of his position. What a dramatic emphasis is placed upon the value of good character by this appeal for clemency by stern, law-enforcing men, whom neither money nor power could influence!

"They say the defendant was hardworking, law-abiding, peace-loving, obedient, and they pleaded a life of good conduct as against the impulse of a moment that menaces him with the gallows.

"The lesson, if heeded by his color, may produce an infinitely better result than the execution of the stern sentence of the law."

The value of good character!

It should avail a man much in his hour of peril—a negro man not less than a white man.

Capital punishment is abhorrent to many people in any event; it would be doubly abhorrent in a case like that of Oliver!

Governor Slaton has turned an act of executive duty to a commendable purpose!
