CITIZENS OF U.S. IN PERIL AS MEXICAN WAR GROWS

Rebel Forces Swarm Seven States and Problem of Deporting Americans Faces Government. Powers Call for Protection.

Madero's Brother Takes Field, While Huerta Is Unable to Send Aid to Disease Stricken Torreon—Communication Cut.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Official information has reached the State Department that rebel activities throughout Mexico are increasing, and that the Constitutionalists are gaining ground every 24 hours.

Rebel campaigns are strong in seven States—Sonora, Coahuila, Chihuahua, Tabasco, Aguas Calientes, Zacatecas and Yucatan.

This has brought increased peril to the United States citizens. There are in Mexico at the present time 8,000 Americans. Officials of the Latin-American Bureau stated today that it would require at least $100 each to remove all the Americans from the zone of warfare in Mexico, or a total of $800,000.

3,200 Americans to Stay. According to information received at the bureau, it is believed that about 3,200 Americans have decided to stay in Mexico, leaving 4,800 to be removed.

According to these officials, this country will have to expend nearly $500,000 to rescue its citizens.

Official reports have been received showing that the rebels are slowly closing in on Mexico City, and it is probable that at the time set for the national "election" on October 26 Huerta will be in control of only the territory surrounding his capital.

Other striking developments of the Mexican situation to-day were: News that an epidemic of disease had broken out in Torreon, where there are many Americans.

About 100 American and 18 other foreigners are marching overland from Torreon to Tampico and Monterey. All these Americans would be practically helpless if any attack were made upon them by the rebel forces.

Spain and a few other foreign Governments, as well as the Chinese Government, have requested the State Department to protect their citizens in Mexico.

Madero Leading Revolt. Raoul Madero, brother of Francisco I. Madero, late President of Mexico, has organized a new revolt and has taken the field as the head of 1,500 men and is marching on Aguas Calientes, the chief city of the State of the same name.

The sanitary and other vital conditions at plague stricken Torreon, as reported to the State Department by Consul Sullivan, at Culicillo, reveal a shocking state of affairs. The city is isolated from Mexico. General Bravo, the Federal officer in command, is unable to have serum, antitoxin or even food brought into the city.

Mexican Smugglers Taken in U. S. in Battle. CARRIZO SPRINGS, TEXAS, Sept. 13.—After a short but terrific fight, the band of Mexican ammunition smugglers which killed Deputy Sheriff M. Ortiz were captured near here today by a detachment of United States troops. One Mexican was killed and two badly wounded during the engagement.

Members of the band which numbered fourteen and which was led by an American were brought to Wind Mill Ranch, where they are being held to-night pending orders from Colonel Sibley, in command of the post here. For 48 hours the American troops rode through the thorny brush after the smugglers. They were finally located near the Wind Mill Ranch and the soldiers closed in on them. Lieutenant McLane ordered his troops to fire. At the first volley one of the fugitives fell dead. Two more threw up their hands and toppled from their horses.

Realizing escape was cut off, the American leader hoisted a white handkerchief upon the end of a rifle while his companions threw their firearms to the ground and held their arms in the air.

BREWSTER HELD FOR FIGHT OVER PAIR OF SHOES

Son of Prominent Atlanta Attorney Is Charged With Striking Marietta Street Merchant.

IS RELEASED ON BOND

Law Student Takes Part of Cook, Who Had Made Purchase of Footwear.

W. E. Brewster, son of Colonel P. H. Brewster, of the law firm of Dorsey, Brewster, Howell & Heyman, was arrested Saturday night on a charge of disorderly conduct growing out of an altercation with Abraham Fleisher, a merchant at No. 226 Marietta street. Young Brewster was taken to police headquarters in the patrol wagon and later released on a $15.75 bond.

The difficulty arose over the purchase of a pair of shoes by Brewster's negro cook. Brewster, according to the merchant's story to the police, came into his store about 8 o'clock Saturday night and began to argue about the shoes which the negro cook had purchased, and which she later returned on the grounds that they were not satisfactory. In the trouble which followed Brewster is said to have struck the merchant in the face. He was placed under arrest by policemen, who were called to the scene.

Young Brewster at the present time is taking a course in law at the university preparatory to entering the firm with which his father is connected.

Dog Is Principal Beneficiary in Will

Wealthy Wisconsin Man Leaves Pet to Friend, but Forgets Him Otherwise.

LACROSSE, WIS., Sept. 13.—A dog—just a manny animal with no pedigree at all, but known as the best friend of his owner, the late John Hanson, of Hamilton—is mentioned as the principal beneficiary in the will of Hanson, which was filed for probate to-day.

Hanson left much other property—fine farms and a strongbox filled with mortgages—but before disposing of anything else he bequeathed the dog, with much detail as to the way he should be treated, to his friend, Lars Fjeldstad, of Lacrosse.

The dog is all Fjeldstad receives from the estate, which is distributed among the relatives in Wisconsin and Norway.

Golf Holds Wilson in Vermont Hills

President's Summer Home Has Greatest Number of Guests of This Season.

WINDSOR, VT., Sept. 13.—Golf and automobile were on President Wilson's program to-day. The bracing air of Cornish has had such an exhilarating effect on him that he may stay here several days longer than he planned when he left Washington.

Harlekenden House now has the greatest number of house guests it has had this summer. The Misses Lucy and Marion Smith, of New Orleans, and Miss Katherine Minahan, of Orange, N. J. are among them. The latter, who is a member of the cast of "The Good Little Devil," participated in the performance of "The Sanctuary" Friday evening by whistling the music of "The Hermit Trash," which Miss Margaret Wilson sang.

'Professor' Beavers To Teach Etiquette

Chief to Preside at School Where Patrolmen Will Learn Rules of Propriety.

Atlanta police are going to school following an official call Saturday night by Chief Beavers, who declared that, although his men were fine fellows, he was not fully satisfied with their "etiquette." The first session will be held next Tuesday night.

Tentative rules adopted by the Chief indicate such instruction as the "proper care of the nails," the "how and when to say 'pardon'"—in fact, everything which comes in the category of proper "etiquette."

School will be divided into three divisions of three platoons each, according to the Chief.

Princess Calls 'Trot' Dances Beauty Foes

'American Girls Are Losing Their Freshness and Sweetness as Result of Revels.'

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Princess Lowenstein, the widow of a Russian nobleman and soldier who fell in the Philippines at the time Aguinaldo was captured, warns American girls against turkey trotting as a foe to beauty.

"These wild new dances," the Princess said, "which your girls are doing day in and day out, are showing their effects. The dancers get to look like old, haggard women. The American girl is noted for her looks, and justly, too.

"But she will certainly lose all her freshness and sweetness if she persists in keeping up this everlasting bacchanalian dancing."

Washington Society Hears of Wylie Suit

Reported She Will at Last Seek Freedom From Her Elopement Husband.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Society is discussing with great interest a rumor that Mrs. Horace Wylie is about to begin proceedings to obtain a divorce from her eloping husband which will enable him to marry the companion of his flight, Mrs. Philip Hichborn.

Should Mrs. Wylie take the step which friends have been urging her to take it will probably end one of the most distressing chapters in the social history of the capital.

The 409 here had hardly recovered from the shock of the elopement of Wylie and Mrs. Hichborn when it was again started by the suicide of Philip Hichborn, the deserted husband. Wylie and Mrs. Hichborn were living in France at the time of the suicide and it is said that the shock nearly prostrated Mrs. Hoyt, mother of Mrs. Hichborn.

14-CENT COTTON AND BUMPER CROP FORETELL REIGN OF PROSPERITY THROUGHOUT GEORGIA

Fine Yield of Corn, Oats and Hay, With Top Prices for Staple's By-Products, Is Expected to Give the State Its Banner Year.

FEELING OF OPTIMISM IS EVIDENT IN ALL BUSINESS

Strict Economy Practiced by Farmers Makes Margin of Profit Tremendous—Bankers Are Jubilant, While Merchants Predict Great Season.

By M. A. ROSE.

Georgia, the whole Southeast, and Atlanta—because it is the commercial and financial center of the Southeast—will enter upon one of the most prosperous eras any section of the nation ever has enjoyed when the cotton crop is moving in earnest this fall—by October 1 at the latest.

In 1911, all seasons put their heads together in kindly conspiracy, and Georgia grew 2,768,627 bales of cotton, the greatest crop the historic State ever knew. It is the fashion to quote 1911 as the most wonderful year the State could expect. Unmistakable signs show 1913 will overtop 1911.

Here is the proof: In 1911 Georgia grew, or let us say gathered—for it grew thousands of bales which never were ginned or even picked—2,768,627 bales of cotton. But the whole South grew 15,622,701 bales, excluding linters. Prices were correspondingly low. Georgia got about $124,500,000 for its 1911 crop.

Almost ready for the gins to-day are 2,250,000 bales. Indications are that this crop will bring Georgia $155,500,000, for 14-cent middling cotton is a probability, not a possibility.

Of this $155,000,000 a much greater proportion will be profit than accrued from the banner crop. Four reasons are apparent: This is a yield produced at less cost than any previous crop; drought in the West will make the total yield short of the world's actual needs, particularly as the left-over supply is abnormally small; Georgia will spend less for corn, hay and oats than ever before, having record-breaking crops of all three food-stuffs; the shortage of corn, hay and oats will mean good prices for that most important by-product of cotton, cotton seed.

SHORT CORN CROP INEVITABLE. Consider the last first, because it has been overlooked generally.

Drouth in Kansas and the other great agricultural States of the West and Southwest makes a short crop of corn inevitable. Corn is selling at an abnormally high price—around 77 cents at Chicago and St. Louis for the actual stuff.

Seventy-seven cent corn means high beef and pork. It's sort of expensive to fatten hogs or cattle for market on that sort of diet. High pork spells high lard. High lard means greater demand for cotton seed oil products, so much so that the cotton seed oil speculator watches the lard market as closely as he does the oil quotations. Expensive feed, too, means a shortage of cattle for slaughter and a shortage of blood and bone fertilizer, the packers' by-product, which is just where cotton seed meal fertilizers may reap a harvest. Expensive corn, again, insures greater demand for cotton seed hulls as cattle feed.

No one wants to go on record as saying that cotton seed will sell at a record price. But it is evident it will not be a drug on the market. Already cotton seed is selling for $20 a ton and better in South Georgia.

Crushers say Georgia will send 900,000 tons of seed to oil mills this fall. At $20 a ton that is $180,000,000. Add that to $155,000,000 for the lint—it makes one dizzy!

Back to the first reason for Georgia's enormous prospective profits. Everyone recognizes that economy has been the watchword for the year. The farmer has bought as little as possible at the store. He has borrowed as little money as possible. He has cut down his supply of fertilizer. The old harness, the old wagon, the same old mule, the same overalls, have served another season. Small expense and good selling price make excellent profits.

LITTLE COTTON IN WEST. Texas and Oklahoma, experts say, will produce not more than 4,000,000 bales this year, as against 5,278,500 in 1911. Alabama and Mississippi show severe deterioration through the combined malevolence of bad weather and insects. Louisiana never has been a factor in the cotton world since the boll weevil invaded the Creole State. The Southeast will make, in proportion, the best crop of all the belt.

All this would be of little avail if the Georgia farmer had to spend all the money he got for corn, hay and oats to feed his

Marshall at Last Finds $2,000 House

Vice President Keeps Location Secret Fearing a Raise in Rent by Landlord.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—After long months of weary house hunting, Vice President and Mrs. Marshall have found a house which comes well within the $2,000 the Vice President feels he can afford for house rent out of his $12,000 salary.

Last some envious person saw their house and try to raise the bid on it, the Vice President and Mrs. Marshall are refusing to tell its exact location.

It is admitted, however, that it is on the fashionable Avenue of the Presidents.

Reid Is Given Stone Mountain Place—Napier Succeeds Him as Solicitor.

Benjamin H. Hill, ranking judge of the appellate court bench, widely known as a jurist of notable accomplishments, and member of a family distinguished in Georgia's history, was appointed Saturday by Governor J. M. Slaton to the judgeship of the new Atlanta circuit created by the last session of the State Legislature.

Four appointments making important changes on the Georgia bench were announced simultaneously by the Governor. They were: Benjamin H. Hill, from the State Court of Appeals to the new division of the Atlanta circuit.

L. S. Roan, from the judgeship of the Stone Mountain circuit to Judge Hill's place on the appellate court bench.

Charles S. Reid, Solicitor General of the Stone Mountain circuit, to the judgeship of the same circuit.

George M. Napier, of Decatur, as Solicitor General of the Stone Mountain circuit to succeed Reid. All of the appointments probably will go into effect October 6, the date upon which the new docket of the Court of Appeals will be called.

PROSPERITY ERA SEEN BY GEORGIA BANKERS

Biggest Money Crop in Years Believed To Be Already Assured Farmers, While City Merchants Are Jubilant.

...In past years he has done this, but this year he will not. Georgia this year produced the largest cotton crop in its history. The hay and oat crops also were good. It would be ruinous to spend the proceeds even from 14-cent cotton for 77-cent corn. Fortunately, in 1913 Georgia will not.

There is some difference of opinion just now as to the probable size of the crop in this State. The gentlemen are otherwise calm and serene and are wont to grow purplish of face and thump desks when the subject is argued.

J. D. Price, Commissioner of Agriculture for the State, says Georgia will get 2,000,000 bales of cotton. He believes dry weather has lopped 400,000 to 500,000 bales from the early prospect.

A. P. Coles, who has made the estimate for the Central Bank and Trust Corporation for seven years and missed it not more than 50,000 bales in the seven, puts the crop at 2,600,000 bales. A favorite estimate is 2,500,000 bales. Other figures stand in order between these two extremes.

GREAT PROFIT ASSURED.

Just to stay out of the argument, 2,250,000 bales has been selected as the basis for computations given here. It does not affect the argument. If the crop is 2,000,000 bales, Georgia still will make an enormous profit. If Georgia's crop is 2,600,000 bales—the better.

As to 14-cent cotton—it is not an impossibility, but a probability. Thirteen cents now is being paid at Savannah for middling. That part of

Looks for Huge Crop, Easily 2,600,000 Bales

A. P. Coles, of the Central Bank and Trust Corporation, is convinced there will be a huge crop in Georgia and he never before has missed it so far. He writes to the country banks: "We have made careful inquiry and considerable personal inspection of the crops of Georgia. Information compiled from reliable sources leads us to believe that we are on the eve of harvesting a bumper crop in Georgia, not only of cotton, but of corn. We believe that with an open fall and a reasonably late frost the cotton crop in Georgia will easily reach 2,600,000 bales and that the corn crop is probably by far the best that has ever been produced in this State, all of

City Banker's Views Give Cheerful Analysis

"I see no reason," says Robert F. Madden, vice president of the American National Bank, "why 1914 should not find the whole United States entering upon a period of unsurpassed prosperity. "Now, just take stock of the year just closing. Notwithstanding the fact that the cotton crop for 1912 was 1,000,000 bales short of the 1911 crop, there have been no failures of importance among banks or business houses. The failures were few and in Georgia, of comparatively little importance. That shows the banks and mercantile houses were in good shape financially and could take care of their customers who have gone through a period of depression which was more or less world-wide. "The fall season opens with every assurance of a cotton crop 500,000 bales larger than last year and raised at less expense than any previous crop ever grown. This will, therefore, be a special benefit to the South and the West, and I see no reason why 1914 should not find the whole United States entering upon a period of unsurpassed prosperity."

'Flush' Year Is Time To Learn Economy

Frank Hawkins, president of the Third National Bank, is not given to hyperbole. Yet he waxed enthusiastic when drawn into conversation about the crop outlook and the business prospects for Georgia this season. "There is a general cheerful feeling," he explains. "Some of the country merchants and the city wholesalers report the best business they have had for several seasons, and, of course, they expect to do even better when the cotton crop moves. "Outstanding obligations—some of them, to tell the exact truth, other than they should be—will be wiped out by the present crop, and settlements passing from hand to hand up the line should make money easier all around. "But this is the time when I would preach thrift. It is something of a absurdity to preach thrift to a man who is broke." But now that the Georgia farmer and the Georgia merchant have money in their pockets, or at least have money in sight, they should practice thrift. They should fortify themselves for the possible lean years. I hope there will be no lean years, but history teaches us to believe there will be. "Remember recent history. That is all I would ask. Remember the bumper crop of 1911, the extravagances which followed, and then the short crop of 1912, and what befell the farmer who kept his money from burning a hole in his pocket, this season will result in permanent good for Georgia."

Chamber of Commerce Prophesies Rapid Growth

As head of a life insurance company and president of the Chamber of Commerce, Wilmer L. Moore has

Georgia Is To Be Envied, Declares Governor Slaton

GEORGIA is to be envied. The season now opening will bring to this most favored State the blessings of plenty and prosperity dispensed with lavish hand. Every circumstance is in collusion to make this a record year.

Georgia this year will make a reasonable cotton crop. The other States will have short yields. Georgia's, then, will be big in relation to the total, and every Georgian should get good prices for his cotton.

But that is not all. The best part of it is that not all the millions which come into the State for cotton will go out this year for hay, corn and oats. Georgia this year raised what seems conceded to be the largest corn crop in its history. It has hay and oats in large quantities as well, while the nation's yields of all these feed stuffs is short, because of drouth.

Georgia has every climate from the cold winters of North Georgia, which serve to perfect the apples of Habersham County, to the almost tropical mildness of the coast, where you can see rice fields. Between are corn and cotton, oats and hay, peaches and melons, sugar cane, yams and potatoes. We depend, not on ditches which may go dry, but upon the kindly rains from the Almighty, and are not disappointed. And in this wonderful State live the nation's finest people.

What more could Georgia ask?
---GOVERNOR JOHN M. SLATON.

Country Banker Expects Moderate Crop, Big Prices

It is interesting to know what the country banker thinks of all this. P. D. Rich, of Colquitt, was in Atlanta the past week. The country banker, as typified by Mr. Rich, does not believe Georgia is going to make such a wonderful crop. He doesn't think it will go to 2,500,000 bales. He does think prices for cotton will be high and that Georgia, with two million, or, say, two million and a quarter bales, will get more money than it has in some years for huge crops. The country banker finds himself able to get all the money he needs in New York and Atlanta at a rate which is not excessive. He believes that the remarkable ginners' report of September 1 does not spell a great crop so much as it does an early movement.

And without making any unusual effort we are doing a greater volume of business than ever before. "Reports to us from our agents all over the South show the crop conditions in this section to be exceptionally good. Coarse grains and cotton promise great yields, and this, too, in a year when the yield of other sections will be curtailed, and prices consequently go higher. There will be business this coming year for every man of energy and enterprise, and the South will go straight ahead with its development."

Crushers Foresee Busy Season in Southeast

Cotton seed crushers are preparing for one of the greatest years in their history in Georgia. They expect a crop of 2,500,000 bales, and expect to crush, in round figures, 900,000 tons of seed, or just about the same amount as was crushed in 1911, when the bumper crop was grown. L. G. Neal, vice president of the Empire Cotton Oil Company, one of the largest corporations in the Georgia cotton seed trade, says the Em-

Wholesalers Are Busy Replenishing Retail Stocks

Willis E. Ragan, one of the city's prominent wholesalers and holder of extensive real estate, believes the South is entering upon one of the most prosperous eras it has known for years. "We have a splendid 'house trade,'" said Mr. Ragan. "Buyers both from the city and country are thronging into the wholesale houses to replenish stocks with the advent of fall retail buying. "It seems to me the South is entering upon one of the most prosperous eras in its history. The cotton crop looks fine, and the price does, too. All indications are that the farmers are selling as quickly as possible and paying their debts. Everyone is feeling good and looking forward to the best business in many years. The outlook is excellent. "Business is good. It has increased greatly this season, and shows every promise of growing even more," says Ernest L. Rhodes, wholesale milliner. "The Atlanta houses in our line have had a remarkable volume of sales. How much of this is due to general business conditions and how much to the energy and enterprise of Atlanta jobbers, continually invading new territory, territory which always has been conceded heretofore to other cities, I can not tell without close analysis of sales records. But, in all probability, the greater business is due to both factors. "At any rate, sales are larger. That's the main thing, after all. "If the farmers, the retailers and the merchants who sell to them will now only take advantage of their prosperity by liquidating their obligations, then we shall have ideal conditions. And I believe this will be done."

Whitehall Street Filled With Autumn Shoppers

Along Whitehall street, the center of city retail trade, the sentiment has been brighter throughout the year than in some other localities. City retail trade has held up unexpectedly well. Atlanta has not felt the depression reported from smaller centers. But the advent of fall weather, or perhaps just a foretaste of it, has put life into business in a way which has surprised even these merchants. "We are reordering certain lines already. That, to any one acquainted with the retail business, is the most emphatic presentation I can make of business conditions in Whitehall street," said W. H. Brittain, president and manager of High's. "Our September business to date is much larger than it was at this time last year. People are eager for new things. Mail orders have started reviving rapidly. It is a regular revival of trade. "Shoppers are numerous. It is not a question of going out after them. They are coming to the stores. People are anxious for the new things. Stocks have been low. Every one has bought sparingly since the first of the year, and the result now is an active movement all along the line. "Just a little more cool weather, such as we have had a few days this past week," said J. P. Allen, "and fall business will surprise every one. People are anxious to buy. The stores are crowded. The salespeople are busy. The retailers have every cause to congratulate themselves."

Early Trade Opening Amazes Col. F. J. Paxon

F. J. Paxon is amazed at the early opening of the fall trade. "I was surprised," says Mr. Paxon. "I return here in August and find fall ready-to-wear goods moving well. Millinery is moving particularly early. There has been a good increase in sales volume. Both the number of sales and the average amount of sales has increased. "We expect a remarkable year, a steady growth and a rapid one through the next year. "I am speaking not only for the

Suffragette Jokes Under Ban Keith Bars Them in Theaters

Vaudeville Magnate Won to Cause Forbids Performers From Making Light of It.

Once upon a time, and not so long ago as six months, you went to a vaudeville show and found yourself laughing—or frowning, according to your convictions—at the merry jests that were cracked in the name of woman suffrage. That was truly once upon a time. It occurs no more at the Forsyth Theater in Atlanta, nor in any of those showhouses on the Keith vaudeville circuit. The secret of the new order is that Mr. B. F. Keith, magnate of the two-day world, has been converted to woman suffrage. As so it seems. Posting at least some authority, he posted the notice that in his theaters all jokes tending to make light of the "votes for women" movement would be barred. Suffragettes everywhere were gleeful. No person likes to see the cause that is near and dear to his heart placed in the class of the mother-in-law and the hobble skirt for actor people to make fun of. The order of Mr. Keith does not apply to the Forsyth in Atlanta directly. He owns personally a string of houses in the East, and it is only these that he can command. But because he is Mr. Keith and the head of what is probably the most extensive booking agency for vaudeville people, his wishes are somewhat like commands. No actor who travels out of the Keith offices, whether he play in the Keith theaters or not, is going to risk offending the great man. And so the suffrage joke has fallen into lean days. The Keith mandate is one of a series that marks the regeneration of the variety stage. Some years ago Mr. Keith ordered that words bordering on the profane should not be spoken in his houses. Last winter he barred the ancient mother-in-law joke. Now the suffrage prohibition.

West Point Schools Break Roll Record Immortals to Hear Lecture on 'Tango'

Great Growth Is Noted and Building Is Remodeled to Meet Demands. WEST POINT, Sept. 13.—The forty-fifth annual session of the West Point public schools has opened, with the largest enrollment of pupils since their organization. The Board of Education, anticipating an overflow of pupils, had made every preparation in the way of room and teachers. The building is equipped with sanitary drinking fountains, electric lights, electric bells, electric clocks, telephones and all other modern conveniences. The chair of English and history recently made vacant by the death of Miss Naomi Wells is being filled temporarily by Mrs. C. F. Pattillo, of West Point. Mr. Walter P. PARIS, Sept. 13.—Paris has been excited for some days past by the report that Jean Richepin, the distinguished dramatist, who in his younger days forsook his family hearth for the love of a great actress, is about to defy conventions and set up more scandal by addressing the immortals of the French Academy on the subject of "The Tango." It now turns out that the "tango" of M. Richepin is a new comedy which he has completed for the Theatre Marigny in collaboration with Madame Richepin. Next month, at a public meeting of the venerable academy, he will read extracts from the play. PRIEST WEIGHING 400 POUNDS, FOUND DEAD. DECATUR, ILL., Sept. 13.—Father H. WOMEN DROWN IN CLOUDBURST AT GOLDFIELD

Storm Sweeps Through Nevada Town and Thousands Are Lost in Property Damage. GOLDFIELD, NEV., Sept. 13.—Two women were drowned and many thousands of dollars' damage done by a cloudburst and electric storm sweeping through the center of this town, beginning at 11 o'clock to-day and lasting three hours. Scores of houses were swept down through the two principal gulches in the camp by torrents several feet deep. Telegraph poles and bridges were destroyed and electric power cut off. Crowds of volunteers are helping in the recovery of damaged property belonging to the sufferers. No serious interruption was caused to the mines.

The dead are Mrs. Degarmo, wife of a heavyman, and an unknown Frenchwoman. All the buildings on First street were practically demolished. Many lives were saved by bravery of the rescuers.

MRS. GODBEE ALLEGED
LIFE TERM

Woman Sentenced to Spend Rest of Days in Prison Is Confident of Final Victory—Reassures Friends Who Crowd Her Cell.

Hearing of Argument for New Trial Set for October 21 in Augusta—Daughter Is Pathetic Figure in Sensational Case.

MILLEN, Sept. 13.—As calmly as she heard herself sentenced to life imprisonment, Mrs. Edna Perkins Godbee sits in her cell in the Jenkins County jail to-night, and hopefully discusses with her friends the prospects of obtaining a new trial. For the public she has not a word, coolly dismissing all would-be interviewers. But to her friends she readily gives audience.

Not for a moment has the woman revealed a lack of composure. Women who know her well have come weeping to her in jail; there are many men, also, to express sympathy. Some of them she greets with a slight smile, and none is as composed as she.

"I'll be freed in the long run," is her invariable response to all her sympathizers. To some she even has expressed the firm belief that her petition for a new trial will be granted.

Judge Frank Saffold, her attorney, will file immediately his formal motion for a new trial, supplementing it with extensive grounds of appeal later. The hearing was set for October 21 in Augusta.

Many there are who believe Mrs. Godbee's calmness is due not so much to self-control and coolness of nerves as to actual indifference. Her remark is recalled, made to one of her sisters soon after judgment was pronounced on her: "My life and liberty mean nothing to me personally. For twenty years I have been unhappy. As long as I live it will be that way. It is only for my child, my daughter, my past, and for them only did I desire an acquittal."

Fair Belles of the '70's Hold Gay Reunion in Atlanta
Days of Black Joe Dobbs' String Band Are Revived

seemed hysterical. At the jail she stopped, and could go no farther, making no resistance to girl friends who led her to her home.

Several persons there were, however, who went with Mrs. Godbee into the jail, and hardly for a minute has her cell been empty to-day. Later, several hours after the jury verdict came, the daughter came back, her face haggard and set, and for the moment the appearance of youth gone. She was calm until she entered the cell, and then she succumbed again to her emotion.

The verdict of life imprisonment, pronounced by Judge Hammond this morning, came as a result of Mrs. Godbee's trial for killing the young wife of Judge Godbee. Both the man and the woman were shot at the same time, and two charges of murder were entered. It is likely that Mrs. Godbee will not be tried on the charge of killing her former husband, as her commitment to jail on the life sentence will preclude the possibility of further punishment, except that of death. And it was never conceived probable that Mrs. Godbee, being a woman, would be sent to the gallows.

The sentence to life imprisonment was the most that was expected. Except Mrs. Godbee's personal friends, no one expected absolute acquittal for her, but few, on the other hand, expected the life sentence. Her conviction of the charge of manslaughter was considered the most likely outcome of either of the two trials. Consequently the town of Milton, and the county of Jenkins, where Mrs. Godbee has lived since infancy, and where she is known to every man, woman and child, is a bit woe by the judgment.

The trial has been the most sensational event in the history of the county, except only the crime which made the trial necessary. From every part of the county and from neighboring counties, men and women have come on trains, by busses, wagons, even riding in automobiles, to watch the course of the woman's hearing. Through all the volleys of curious gazes Mrs. Godbee has sat unmoved, cool, apparently indifferent. And she remains so to-night, with the prospect of a life in prison ahead, and a little of the public opinion, of obtaining a new hearing.

Most Beautiful and Courted Girls of Period
After War Recall Old Memories.

Mrs. Brader Barker called the reporter "honey" and told him to sit by her side. "Julia!" said Mrs. William Scott, disapprovingly. "Well, why shouldn't I call him 'honey'?" asked Mrs. Barker. "I'm a grandmother. So are we all."

The reporter, who had been piloted to the group of five by their screams of laughter, was surprised that it should be so. He remarked that he would never have guessed it. "Oh, shucks," said Mrs. Barker, "you didn't have to say that. We've heard a lot of men talk like that. They're all alike."

They had truly heard many compliments before the reporter's sincere tribute. During the '70's they were the belles of Atlanta, the five most popular, most beautiful, most courted of all the very gay set in the seventies. They were debuts together, and loved the same boys—they confessed it—and were brides along about the same time.

And Saturday afternoon they gathered at the home of Mrs. W. E. Austin, at Fifteenth and Peachtree streets, to talk over for the first time in years and years the days when they were belles in Georgia's capital.

The five were Mrs. W. E. Austin, Mrs. William Scott, Mrs. Brader Barker, Mrs. Arthur Caldwell and Mrs. Lollie Belle Wylie, all living in Atlanta except Mrs. Scott. It was Mrs. Scott's trip from her home in Tampa, Fla., to visit her sister, Mrs. Austin, that was the occasion for the reunion and the reincarnation of the days of panniers, and tarlatan dresses and many petticoats.

His instruments, which also were in the canoe, were lost. Simmons' route was through the unexplored section of Labrador with Rigolet, on the Atlantic seaboard, as his goal.

ROME, GA., Sept. 13.—Chattooga County has been shaken by the arrest of seven of its most prominent citizens for alleged contempt of court by order of Judge Wright. They now are lodged in jail at Summerville.

The story began several months ago when Hayes, a young farmer, was accused by the daughter of Washington Reynolds. When warrants were issued for him he promised to marry the girl, but it is said that instead of marrying Miss Reynolds he married Miss Ethel Bagley.

Angered at the refusal of her father to go on her husband's bond Mrs. Bagley, the young wife, retaliated by telling a sordid tale which involved the elder Bagley and a woman of his own family. Bagley was indicted and placed under a $10,000 bond.

CURRENCY BILL FAULTS SHOWN BY TOMBSTONE

Minnesota Member Says Money Reform Plan Means Death of People's Rights. CRITICIZES POLITICAL BOARD Other Republicans Follow Him in Asserting Nation's Finances Will Become Party Prize.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Although the Owen-Glass currency bill is to receive the support of the Democrats and of many Republicans in both the House and Senate, members of the minority in the House to-day opened their attack on it with criticisms of the Democratic secret caucuses by which the bill was framed.

General debate on the bill ended in the House to-night. Beginning Monday, the bill will be taken up for amendment in five-minute debate. The Democratic leaders have decided only amendments affecting the phraseology will be accepted and these must be approved by the Democratic committee. No chance is to be taken on material changes. It is expected to pass the House next Saturday night.

Phrasing the death of the people's privileges through the control by politicians of the finances of the country under Owen-Glass currency reform, Representative George R. Smith, of Minnesota, Republican member of the Banking and Currency Committee, led the assault to-day. He used a miniature tombstone to illustrate his argument.

Assail Board's Make-up. Taking their cue from him, other Republicans assailed the make-up of the Government board of control. They insisted that under the plan proposed the finances of the country would be made a prize for which every political party would struggle and that the prize would assume proportions greater than those of the tariff, taxes and patronage distribution.

Seven disks were painted on the tombstone to represent the seven members of the board. Brown disks represented the Secretaries of Treasury and Agriculture and the Comptroller of the Currency who would change with each administration, and four blue disks, representing other appointees of the President for a term of years.

These members of the reserve board supported a column on which was compared the financial values of industry, agriculture, commerce and capital, which form the basis of the proposed new plan of finance.

Calls Plan Dangerous. "A more dangerous and unwarranted method of legislation has never been perpetrated in the face of the fact that the country as a whole has demanded that the legislation should be non-partisan," declared Mr. Smith. "By reason of the manner in which the Federal board is appointed, this bill involves the substitution of political control for control by banks."

"The power of national banks feared by President Jackson was a pygmy compared with the power conferred by this bill on the Federal board and which is made the prize of each national election."

Bryan, as Trouper, Stirs U. S. and Europe Premier Is Ridiculed as a 'Tent Show Star'

Secretary of State Appears Every Night With Tyrolean Yodlers and a Gypsy Violinist.

The Bryan Lecture as a Money Maker. Since entering President Wilson's Cabinet Mr. Bryan has spent much time on the Chautauqua circuit. He received his traveling expenses, a guarantee of $250 for each lecture and 50 per cent of all receipts in excess of $500. These lectures have been delivered since March 4:

- July 13—Hendersonville, N. C., $250. July 17—Mountain Lake Park, Ind., $250. July 20—Winona Lake, Ind., two free. July 21—Gary, Ind., $375. July 22—Osceola, Iowa, $250. July 24—Adel, Iowa, $500. July 25—Panora, Iowa, $250. Aug. 28—Lambertville, N. J., $400. Sept. 1—Chestertown, Md., $250. Sept. 2—Salisbury, Md., $750. Sept. 9—Crisfield, Md., $250. Sept. 10—Media, Pa., $250. Sept. 10—Glenolden, Pa., $250. Sept. 12—Glenolden, Pa., $250. Sept. 12—Woodbury, N. J., $250. Sept. 13—Charleston, W. Va., $250. Sept. 13—Woodstock, Va., $250. Total, $5,025.

WOODSTOCK, VA., Sept. 13.—William J. Bryan, Secretary of State, addressed a large gathering here to-night and pocketed $250 and his specified share of the gate receipts. He came from Charleston, W. Va., and will go on to Staunton, President Wilson's birthplace, on Tuesday.

The performance, or rather the lecture, compared favorably with that in Media, Pa., a few days ago and at Glenolden. Glenolden had the advantage of Media, because at the former place no popcorn or pink lemonade booths were allowed outside. At Glenolden these accessories of the circus were not lacking. The peanut privilege, while not a lucrative one, was a noisy one. Peanuts, chocolates and chewing gum.

"Ice cream cones and brick ice cream!" They cried greeted Mr. Bryan as he came up in an automobile that was parked with half a hundred more on the old circus lot where the chautauqua tent was pitched. "There isn't any elephant!"

A little boy who insisted upon having peanuts as he was dragged along by his mother declared he wanted them to feed the elephant. "There isn't any elephant, Willie," said his mother sternly. "Yes, there is; they got a tent," he said.

walled as she moved on with him to where the crowd was in line. There must have been several persons under the same impression as to the use to which the tent was being put, because the most incessant cracking of the well-known coppers in the rear seats punctuated the lecture of the Secretary and at times made it difficult for those in the exterior rear seats to hear clearly.

The really disappointed boys, however, were those who carried water for the band and the other talent to get free tickets and those who crawled in under the canvas who found the show not up to expectations to the juvenile portion of the crowd.

Lament of a Canvasman. One of the canvasmen who had a seat along the side of the tent wall surrounding the lot aired his woes while Mr. Bryan was speaking. "I'm sorry I joined," he wailed. "This ain't regular show, and the boss canvasman is a Swarthmore student. What he don't know about putting up a big tent would fill a book. What they ought to do with this business is take them here Tyrolean. That boy champion is good and is as fine a yodler as there is in the business, and I have been long concerts with circuses for a long time, and when I see the tent I just naturally asked for work."

Contrary to the general opinion, the artist dividing time with Bryan and holding the crowd until he arrives do not feel particularly puffed up over the fact that they are on the same bill with him.

The decliner, the champion yodler, at Media, this afternoon, was congratulated on getting a bigger hand than Mr. Bryan at the close of his act.

"That ain't much," said another. "Anna Umley got a better hand than he did on her zither act."

"No, we are not sore at his taking the spotlight," said one of the troupe, after changing to street clothes and taking his make-up off. "Mr. Graus, our manager, will tell you we have played with some of the best. We don't care where they put us on a bill. We can follow an animal act or a juggler or any of the rest of them."

MISS ISABEL GRAUS, Gypsy violinist of the Bryan show, and (below) Secretary Bryan, the chief attraction, leaving the tent.

French Paper Sees in His Performance Reason for Success of Tammany.

Special Cable to The American. PARIS, Sept. 13.—The Times' leading editorial on foreign affairs, edited and usually written by Andre Tardieu, one of the under secretaries of the Department of Foreign Affairs, and accepted generally by the European press as directly inspired utterances reflecting the opinions of foreign office heads, is devoted to-night to ridiculing Secretary of State Bryan

The caption over the editorial is "The Bryan Sketch," and his part in the show is treated as vaudeville. The editorial says Mr. Bryan's enterprise is especially dangerous in this age, when the tendency of the public is to despise diplomacy as futile, or at least to refuse to take diplomats seriously.

"A few more samples of this kind and the public will lose all faith," it goes on. It is pointed out that Mr. Bryan's "antics" really call for an essay on American manners and morals, illustrating once again that in the United States a political career is esteemed as a most mediocre profession, hence inferior men have been predominant in American politics throughout the last century, all citizens of marked ability and of pronounced intelligence religiously keeping out of politics, and the really able men going into business, from which position they use politicians, but never hold office.

Thus Tammany has prospered to poison America's magnificent soil." It also says the best American tradition of dignity is now entirely confined to "out-of-the-way" Boston and similar corners, from which types of men like Olney and Lodge must witness the "vaudevilian" Secretary of State, whereas the "widest chasm separates these responsible citizens from the public's approval."

J. WYLIE SMITH HELD IN TOWER ON NEW CHARGE

Former Soldier of Fortune in Mexico Arrested on Warrants Accusing Him of Forgery.

J. Wylie Smith, a romantic figure because of his stirring adventures as a soldier of fortune in Mexico while a fugitive from Georgia, slept last night in the Tower, a prisoner. Arrested late Saturday on warrants sworn out by T. M. Hamilton, of Hapeville, charging forgeries involving $2,200, he was unable to furnish the required bail of $1,000 in each of two cases.

Smith was allowed the freedom of the prison until bedtime, and himself answered a telephone inquiry as to the case, stating that he would secure to-day the amount necessary for bail, and expressing his belief that he would be cleared of the charges.

Smith last night told a story of persecution at Hamilton's hands, and said he could prove it. He said Hamilton, who had begged him to return from Mexico, was trying to find a scapegoat. He refused to do Hamilton's bidding, he said, and in consequence was again thrown into jail. The charges brought Saturday, Smith declared, are baseless.

"Some facts that will be interesting are going to be brought out of this affair," he promised. "I will be vindicated when the matter comes to trial."

Hamilton declared the arrest of Smith was asked because of transactions in 1911, in which, he claimed, Smith used forged notes. He said the arrest comes as the result of a long period of effort to land Smith. Smith is in very bad physical condition. Because of this and since he is on bond given in other cases, Judge Girardeau was willing to release him on his own recognizance. Hamilton insisted that bond be made, however.

Dream Gives Woman Method of Speech. Keyboard of Typewriter Comes to Blind Mute While She Is Sleeping.

DENVER, Sept. 13.—A revelation which came to her in a dream in answer to prayers has given Mrs. Ella Clark Bennett a novel though perfect means of communication. She is deaf, blind and dumb.

"One night I dreamed that if I placed letters, like those one finds on a typewriter, on my hand and learned the location of those letters," said Mrs. Bennett, through an interpreter, "people touching the letters could spell out words for me and thus talk to me."

Afterward, she says, she had the letters of the alphabet painted on a globe. Mrs. Bennett lives with Mrs. Jennie Bloom, No. 1208 Lincoln street, who has also become proficient in Mrs. Bennett's new method of communication.

Gets $1,000 Clothes, $400 Ring, Jilts Him

Pretty Nina Lloyd, 18, Pleased With Everything Orangetan Buys Except Marriage License.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13.—Jilted by 18-year-old Nina Lloyd, after he had given her a $400 diamond engagement ring and $1,000 to buy her trousseau, Charles W. Lee, a wealthy orange planter of Miami, Fla., to-day swore out a warrant for the arrest of the young woman, charging pretense. She was held on $300 bail by Justice Conly.

After several months of the tenderest sort of correspondence, Lee told the court, he came prepared to marry pretty Nina. She appeared more than willing, he testified, and waxed enthusiastic when he took her to a department store and allowed her to select a trousseau that would have pleased a society queen. But when he bought a marriage license she refused to marry him.

Saturday's maximum temperature of 83 degrees was the highest registered last week. The official glass indicated a remarkable jump of 21 degrees between 7 and 13 o'clock.

GRAFT CHARGE MADE AGAINST U. S. DIPLOMAT

Husband of Hallie Erminie Rives Reported Recalled From Italy by State Department.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Post Wheeler, Secretary of the American Embassy at Rome, is said to have been recalled to Washington to explain certain charges of abuses of diplomatic exemption from customs duties.

It is said that the question of his return to Rome will depend upon the outcome of his conference with Secretary of State Bryan.

Secretary Bryan to-day declined to discuss the reported charges against Wheeler.

Mrs. Wheeler was formerly Hallie Erminie Rives, the novelist. Ma Wheeler is also well known as a novelist, poet and journalist. An American, whose name is withheld by the State Department, made the charge against Wheeler. So far as known the Italian Government has not taken any action, and the department is moving slowly, believing that Wheeler may be the victim of personal animus.

Italy permits diplomats and their attaches to receive goods from other countries without paying duties, and unconfirmed rumors in connection with Wheeler's case intimate that he is charged with taking advantage of diplomatic courtesy by turning it to his commercial advantage.

As soon as the first intimation of accusations were received here the department communicated with Ambassador O'Brien. He immediately cabled back that there was no truth in the reports that Wheeler had taken advantage of the Italian courtesy to traffic in gasoline.

ITALIAN TOWN GIVES THANKS TO MR. HEARST

Resolutions of Gratitude Passed for His Aid After Eruption of Vesuvius in 1906.

Special Cable to The American. NAPLES, Sept. 13.—A memorial to the 105 mothers and children crushed to death during the eruption of 1906 under the roof of the small chapel in San Giuseppe Vesuviano, where they sought refuge against the overpowering fall of ashes and rocks, was unveiled to-day in the presence of the civil and military authorities of Naples, the Mayor of each town in the Vesuvian district and a large crowd of representative citizens.

A feature of the ceremony was a resolution of the Town Council of San Giuseppe Vesuviano thanking Mr. Hearst and his newspapers for the substantial help sent to the afflicted district at the time of the eruption. The monument, consisting of a base nine feet high and a twelve-foot marble column surmounted by a Pompeian capital, the work of the sculptor Arizio, of Naples, marks the site where on the night of April 8, 1906, the stricken mothers repaired with their infants to pray for deliverance from the impending catastrophe.

Resolution of Thanks.

While they prayed the roof of the flimsy structure collapsed under the accumulated deposit of ashes and all were crushed to death.

The Hearst newspapers collected for the sufferers more than $35,000, which was handed to the Italian Red Cross Society. A small balance of $200 afterward was devoted to the erection of the memorial which the local population had decided to build. During the ceremony Lawyer Silvio Cota, chairman of the memorial committee, before unveiling the monument, read resolutions thanking Mr. Hearst for his generous help. The resolutions, expressed upon parchment, were then handed to Judge Palmieri, who was present as Mr. Hearst's representative.

Banquet to Judge Palmieri.

Later a banquet was given in honor of Judge Palmieri. In an address the Baron Quarante di San Severino cited many actions of Mr. Hearst which, he pointed out, entitled him to the gratitude of Italians, both in Italy and in America. He mentioned also the stand taken by all the Hearst newspapers during the Italo-Turkish war, and the many fights made by those publications against laws restricting immigration.

Every reference to Mr. Hearst was loudly cheered. Speaking as the representative of Mr. Hearst, Judge Palmieri thanked the committee and the municipality for the noble way in which they expressed their gratitude to one of Italy's most sincere friends in America. Mr. Hearst, a name which is engraved in large letters at the base of the column, was joined to those of the Queen and King of Italy in a toast which all drank standing.

HILL NAMED TO PLACE ON NEW ATLANTA BENCH

Judge Roan Succeeds Noted Jurist in Appeals Court—Reid to Stone Mountain.

Continued from Page 1. Something may arise to postpone the change in official positions, but probably not. The delay of nearly a month was made by Governor Slaton to permit the appointees to get the work now on hand out of the way.

Has Work Pending.

Judge Hill has a number of decisions yet to write and there are several pending in which it is desirable that all three of the present judges should participate.

The motion for a new trial for Leo M. Frank, convicted of the murder of Mary Phagan, is set to be heard before Judge Roan October 4.

Judge Hill in his new position will receive a salary of $5,000 annually. Judge Roan will receive $4,000 as a member of the appellate court. Mr. Reid will receive $3,000 as judge of the Stone Mountain circuit, and Mr. Napier, the new Solicitor General, will be paid in fees.

W's Federal Prosecutor.

Judge Hill was Solicitor General of Fulton County from 1877 to 1885, a position in which he had a long record. He succeeded him Grover Cleveland, in his first administration as President, made him United States District Attorney for the Northern District of Georgia.

On the death of his father in 1882, Governor Colquhoun tendered him the unpaid term of the elder Hill in the United States Senate. The position was declined in a letter that was widely published with most favorable comment. He later was defeated for the unexpired term by two votes by Pope Barrow.

After the expiration of his term as United States Attorney, he was appointed by Judge Newman, Justice White and Judge Pardee as Standing Master in Chancery in the Circuit of the United States for the Fifth Judicial Circuit. He was elected to the Court of Appeals along with Judge Powell and Judge Russell, and upon the organization of the court in January, 1907, he was selected as chief judge.

Has Heavy Grind.

The work of the Court of Appeals has been exceptionally heavy, the court deciding over 5,000 cases, reported in twelve volumes. Judge Hill participated in the decision of every case and wrote many of the most important opinions. Inasmuch as the Court of Appeals has exclusive jurisdiction of all criminal appeals, except where there is a conviction for a capital offense, Judge Hill has had remarkable experience in the interpretation and enforcement of the criminal law.

His duties in the new judgeship recently will be to try all the felonies in Fulton County, although his jurisdiction as to other matters will be the same as the other judges of the Superior Court. He gives up a place on a court of last resort with a term of six years, to which he was elected last October, for a less position, with the necessity of going before the people for election next summer. The work, however, is less arduous and the salary is $1,000 more.

Judge R. B. Russell will succeed Judge Hill as the chief judge of the Court of Appeals.

Judge Roan Able.

Judge Roan has presided over some of Georgia's most famous criminal trials. He has been judge of the Stone Mountain circuit for a long term of years and has gained the reputation of being one of the most able criminal jurists in the State.

Solicitor General, Palmetto, Campbell County, and has been the prosecutor in the Stone Mountain circuit for several years. He has made an enviable record in his position and his appointment was regarded practically as certain.

George M. Napier is of the firm of Napier, Cox, with offices in the Atlanta National Bank Building. His home is in Decatur.

Food of Yesteryear Menu at Banquet

Refrigeration Experts to Eat Eggs That Were Young When Columbus Was a Boy.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Eggs that were young when Columbus was a boy, fowls that have passed the color limit in cold storage, fruits of a bygone summer and roses of yesterday, together with grapejuice married to preservatives, will be the principal items at the cold storage banquet to be given to the delegates to International Congress of Refrigeration during its Washington sessions beginning September 15.

Not only will there be a strong suspicion that everything served is a cold storage product, but this will be certified to by the management of the feast. If this unique poison square survives the feast there will be speeches by Secretary of Agriculture Houston, Dr. Carl Alsberg, Chief Chemist of the United States, and Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, of pure food fame.

Charleston's New Channel in Use

Affords Depth of 23 Feet at Low Water and Will Be Made Deeper.

CHARLESTON, Sept. 13.—Mariners entering and leaving this port hereafter will use the new straight channel just opened, which, at low water, affords a depth of 23 feet, and at high water a depth of 33 feet, and which will be made deeper in a year or two. The new course was laid out when the Atlantic fleet was here last November, and since then it has been brought to perfection. It greatly improves the port facilities.

QUINTODDY SIMS OFFERS OATS TOO CHEAPLY ARRESTED

A bargain-day sale of oats, costing $2 per sack at $1 per, led to the arrest Saturday night of Quintoddy Sims, a negro, charged with stealing 100 sacks of grain from a Central of Georgia freight car. Sims implicated another negro, his "pal," which the police are seeking.

Talks were made by Judge I. S. Roan, Solicitor Dorsey and others, each making a happy reference to

ONE BATTLESHIP POLICY PERILS THOUSAND JOBS

Assistant Secretary of Navy Declares It Will Soon Reduce Nation's Fighting Strength

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The one-battleship policy of Congress will not only strike a severe blow at the defensive power of the United States, but will throw out of employment thousands of men who depend upon navy yards work for their daily bread, it was learned here to-day.

The dangers of a continuation of the policy were set forth as follows by Franklin D. Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy:

1. A decrease of the fighting strength of the American navy by six first class ships by 1918.

2. The discharge of thousands of employees of navy yards throughout the United States within the next four months.

3. The resultant loss of the Government corps of expert mechanics skilled in battleship and big gun construction.

"There are ten battleships scheduled for retirement from the ranks of the navy during the next four years," said Mr. Roosevelt.

"This is in compliance with the well-established estimates of navy experts that the life of a battleship is fifteen years. Four will go out of commission this year and two will pass the age limit each succeeding year until 1918. A continuation of the one-battleship policy, therefore, will mean the loss of six fighting vessels to the navy."

"Repair of the battleship fleet has been practically accomplished by the navy yards, and from now on this work will not rise above the normal. Also all of the large contracts for new battleships have been let, and unless Congress enacts a larger navy program, the navy yard forces must inevitably be reduced."

Mr. Roosevelt admitted that work now being done by private contractors should go to Government shops. "Money could be saved by this program," he said, "and the work would be as well if not better done. Bills providing for the building of big gun and armor plate foundries are now pending in Congress."

Navy yard employees have set afoot a petition to Secretary Daniels and President Wilson calling attention to the present state of affairs. They will present the petition to the Secretary and urge upon him a four-battleship program. Commandant Jones, of the Washington Navy Yard, which was recently hit by the discharge of 40 expert machinists, predicted to-day that these petitions would come to naught.

"It is up to Congress to give the men more work," said Jones. "We have all the men we can handle under the present battleship program, unless the Government wants to give them armchairs and newspapers and pay first-class machinist salaries for the rest of the winter."

Gives Barber Ring; Finds He's Married

Handsome Jacksonville Divorcee Has Tonsorial Apollo Arrested When He Reports Gem Lost.

The shock experienced by a handsome and wealthy divorcee of Jacksonville, Fla., when she discovered that a good looking barber on whose finger she had placed a $200 diamond ring was a married man was described tearfully to-day before Magistrate Gorman.

The divorcee was Mrs. E. A. Herbert, the former wife of an Atlanta Federal penitentiary last year, where he served a sentence for blowing a post-office safe in South Carolina, and was brought here charged with a murder committed ten years ago. Two policemen were killed and Pettitt is alleged to be one of the men who did the murder of her baby which had been thrown into a cistern.

ATLANTA ENGINEERS BACK FROM BIG CONVENTION

Reports of one of the largest and most successful gatherings in the history of the National Association of Stationary Engineers were made by L. H. Penn, chief engineer of the Phoenix Mill, No. 321 Highland avenue, and J. C. Henderson, chief engineer of the Troy Laundry, who have just returned from the thirty-first annual convention of the association in Springfield, Mass. More than 500 delegates were in attendance, they said.

WAR MESSAGE AGAIN FLASHED ON KENNESAW

Sherman's "Hold the Fort, for I am Coming" Is Sent by Veteran. OLD STATION REVIVED Ceremonies Are Witnessed as Prelude to Encampment of G. A. R. at Chattanooga.

With the flag that flashed General Sherman's famous message of "Hold the fort, for I am coming" to General Corse at Allatoona Pass 50 years ago, Lieutenant George C. Round, of Manassas, Va., formerly of Sherman's signal corps, together with Pierre P. Hurlburt, of No. 42 Grady place, Atlanta, and Major J. A. Commerford, of Marietta, both Union veterans, stood on the site of the old Civil War signal station on the summit of Kennesaw Mountain Saturday afternoon and flashed the same message to an imaginary battlefield at the pass.

Lieutenant Round is president of the United States Veterans Signal Corps Association, and performed the rites of re-establishing the old signal station used by Sherman and considered one of the most important of the war, as a part of the Grand Army reunion at Chattanooga. Mr. Hurlburt assisted him as flagman, and Major Commerford served as bugler. The station was re-established on the exact spot from which General Sherman sent his famous message over the head of Hood's army in the valley to General Corse at Rome, ordering him to proceed to Allatoona Pass and defend the stores of the Union army stationed at that place.

For several years the Confederate Daughters have been directing some of their time and money toward the proposed monument, and each State has had its Shiloh director, who has spoken before the various chapters of the Daughters of the Confederacy and worked for the fund.

Americans' Absence Stuns Hotel Keepers

August Is Disastrous to Both Bankers and Tradesmen in Southern Germany.

Special Cable to The American. BERLIN, Sept. 13.—The hotel keepers and tradesmen in certain quarters of South Germany are dismayed by the marked decrease in American tourist traffic. August was almost disastrous to them. The Munich hotel proprietors were hit hardest and are complaining loudly. "This loss of American patronage is due largely, it is said, to the agitation by certain Americans in Munich against the systematic exploitation to which travelers are subjected in that city. Experienced tourists, tired of paying double prices for everything, are shunning Munich and going to Berlin and other North German cities.

Sues Husband Who Gave Her $1.25 Year

Mrs. Vivian Miller Hogan Declares She Was Allowed to Go Hungry Several Times.

Mrs. Vivian Miller Hogan brought suit for divorce from Homer Glazner Hogan Saturday, alleging he has given her only $1.25 in more than a year and that he has allowed her to go hungry upon several occasions. Mrs. Hogan asks also an injunction restraining her husband from visiting her at her father's home.

After living with her parents for some time and refusing to pay board, she declares, Hogan left the house in August, complaining that it was inconvenient and that he was going home to live.

Protest Against Delay in Paving of Chestnut Street to Council Committee.

Special conference of the Public Works Committee probably will be held early next week to consider the vigorous protest registered Saturday by citizens on Chestnut street, north of Kennedy, against further delay in paving that section of the street. "We are tired of the mud," said one woman member of the committee, while another declared they were "weary of living in hope, because it had become monotonous in the space of twenty years."

Gray Hair Turns Its Natural Color After Applying Sage Tea

Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens Beautifully and Takes Off Dandruff. Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and luster to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also cures dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays skilled chemists do this better than ourselves. By asking at any drug store for the ready-to-use product—called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy"—you will get a large bottle for

GEORGIA BABIES ARE NEGLECTED, BOARD ASSERTS

Four Rules Laid Down to Guide Mothers in Selecting Attendant for Children.

Georgia mothers, as a rule, do not exercise sufficient care in selecting nurses for their babies, declares the State Board of Health, in a warning issued Saturday describing some of the dangers to which helpless infants are exposed because of this negligence. Too often, says the board, the thoughtless mother employs the first negro girl who happens to be available, without inquiring at all as to her health, moral character and intelligence. Such mothers forget that the baby is left for hours at a time in the sole care of this nurse, and that it may suffer permanent harm if improperly handled, neglected or exposed to disease. Four rules are laid down by the Georgia Board of Health, by which a girl or woman must be judged before she should be employed to take care of a baby. They are as follows: The nurse must be healthy. The nurse must be neat and clean about her own person. The nurse must be of good moral character. Don't employ anybody to take care of your baby unless that person comes up to these four requirements, says the State Board.

Wife's Pitiful Note Makes Convict Flee

Despondent After Reading Letter, Federal 'Trusty' Runs Away, but Is Caught.

Made despondent by the pitiful tone of a letter he received from his wife, Charles F. Vick, a "trusty" prisoner in the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary, ran away Saturday afternoon when he was sent outside the walls in charge of a cartload of farm produce. Within a few hours, however, he was caught near Henrico, a small station on the Southern Railway several miles south of the prison, by a Mr. Clarke, who volunteered his services to Warden W. H. Moyer in pursuing the fugitive. Vick had not doffed his prison clothes and was easily detected. He made no resistance. Vick was sent here from Richmond, Va., on the charge of robbing a postoffice.

WOODWARD TO DEMAND TEST OF CREMATORY

Mayor Announces He Will Refuse to Sign Voucher Until Contract Is Met.

Declaring that the methods of the Destructor Company of New York, which is building the new crematory, was a "stall" and that he would refuse absolutely to sign a voucher for the payment of the $135,000 still due until the plant had been turned over to the city and an average test of the capacity made, Mayor James G. Woodward Saturday night renewed the old crematory fight. The Mayor's statement followed fast on the heels of the statement of Councilman Claude L. Ashley, chairman of the Council Sanitary Committee, who declared Saturday he was convinced that the city was being robbed by the contract with the Destructor Company. The Councilman's criticism of the plant was inspired by the belief that it will not come up to the contract specifications. Mayor Woodward's criticism of the plant was as sharp as that of Ashley. "I am convinced that the company is stalling now in order to put off the test as long as possible," said the Mayor. "But that stall won't go, for I am going to insist on an average test after the plant has been turned over to the city. In fact, I am not going to sign the voucher for that $135,000 which we still owe them until the contract has been carried out to the letter."

Weekly Reports on Cotton Crop Another Feature Launched by Price and Aide, Hughes.

James E. Price, Commissioner of Agriculture, and his assistant, Dan Hughes, are working on two propositions which are expected to result in much good to the farmers throughout the State. One is the issuance of cotton reports weekly, which will contain full information as to the condition of the crops and movement. The other is the giving of moving picture lectures in the different counties of the State. The moving picture lectures are an innovation. Agriculture in all its phases during the history of the world is depicted, modern farming, of course, playing the most important part.

WILSON URGED TO SEE GEORGIA FAIR AT MACON

Senator Hoke Smith Believes President Will Accept Bid If He Comes South.

MACON, Sept. 13.—Mayor John T. Moore has received a letter from Hoke Smith, junior Senator from Georgia, in which he stated that he was doing everything in his power to induce President Woodrow Wilson to visit Macon during the Georgia State Fair.

Senator Smith stated that he had every reason to believe that if the President is in this section of the South that he will pay a visit to the State Fair, and that President Wilson had promised to give the invitation of the Macon people every consideration.

Nine counties will have agricultural exhibits at the Georgia State Fair—nearly twice as many as exhibited last year. The counties already enrolled are Cobb, Houston, Bibb, Worth, Bulloch, Bartow, Milton, Hall and Irwin. It is expected that Cobb and Houston will be the principal contenders for the first prize of $1,000.

Awards Prizes for Best Pumpkins and Corn—Turns Intruders Away From Gate.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Sept. 13.—Mrs. George K. Vanderbilt to-day personally directed the fair arranged by the hundreds of employees on the Biltmore estate.

Not only did she look after the show in person, but the wife of the New York millionaire issued instructions that the fair was for employees and their families only, and many outsiders were turned back at the gates.

Mrs. Vanderbilt passed judgment for the cash prizes and ribbons offered for the best pumpkins and corn and other products of the estate. The fair is to be an annual fall event in the future.

WAR TREASURE UNEARTHED ON TALBOTS ISLAND

Strangers Dig Up Three Boxes and Negro Finds Pistol of Revolutionary Days.

BRUNSWICK, Sept. 13.—A mystery comes to this city bordering on one of the treasure stories of Captain Kidd, and as a result Dr. W. B. Burroughs is in possession of an old flint and steel pistol of the type used in the Revolutionary War.

A few days ago John Edwards, a negro, was at St. Marys, and while there a party of strangers engaged him to take them to Talbotts Island, which is near Fernandina. When the party reached the island, they landed and instructed Edwards to wait on the shore until they returned. The strangers came back in two hours and had in their possession three boxes. After he had taken his passengers back to St. Marys, Edwards returned to the island. He searched about the place and found three square holes, out of which the boxes had been lifted. In one of the sinks he found the pistol.

Yesterday the negro came to Brunswick and showed the relic to Dr. Burroughs, who, being a collector of war-time guns, purchased it. It is believed the boxes the strangers carried from the island contained treasure or were valuables buried there during the Civil War by residents of St. Marys or Fernandina. The island is not inhabited, and it is thought the boxes had learned of the burial of the boxes by some of their ancestors. No other solution was offered, as none of the party has ever been heard from or seen since that time by the negro.

UNDERWOOD FOR RETAINING DUTY ON MANGANESE

Two Tariff Conferees Hold Out for Protecting Product Controlled by Steel Trust.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Chairman Underwood, of the Ways and Means Committee, and A. Mitchell Palmer, both of whom represent States where the Steel Trust has extensive plants, insist that a duty shall be placed on ferro-manganese. This is the product controlled absolutely in this country by the Steel Trust. The independents must buy it abroad and pay the duty. The item was discussed by the tariff conferees again today.

The House members demand a duty on the ground that the revenue is needed. The Senate insists upon keeping the product on the free list because the Steel Trust refuses to sell it to the independents. The House rate of 15 per cent is equivalent to $8 a ton. The high protective Aldrich-Payne law assesses a duty of only $2.50 a ton.

Senate conferees are asking why the House insists so keenly on this item of vital importance to the Steel Trust, and the House conferees say "we need the revenue." The indications, after to-day's session of the committee, were that a small duty would be the compromise.

Wine Fight Settled.

The big fight between the California, Ohio and Missouri wine growers on the liquor schedule was settled today by eliminating entirely the Senate amendment. The proposition is to be referred to a joint committee of the Finance and Ways and Means Committees, with instructions to report a bill at the next session dealing with the whole problem.

The elimination of the imposition of the brandy tax on the California product and the special tax of 25 cents a gallon on the Eastern product cuts off upward of $7,000,000 estimated revenue, which, added to the $2,500,000 on bananas to be restored to the free list on the order of the President, shows a loss thus far in the Senate bill of almost $10,000,000 in revenues.

Senate conferees are counting on this to persuade the House managers to agree to the Senate's increase on the higher grades of cotton textiles. This subject was up for discussion the greater part of the day. The Senate made a reclassification creating a differential of 2 1/2 per cent as between plain and colored threads, yarns and cloths. No conclusion was reached on the cotton schedule.

Wheat Clause Debated.

The disputed question of the countervailing duty on wheat was discussed and then passed over, each side standing firm.

Shortly after 6 o'clock to-night the conferees completed the cotton and flex schedule with the exception of the paragraph covering the rates on threads and yarns used in the manufacture of cotton cloths and on cloths themselves.

The rates on stockings were increased slightly over those made by the Senate, which were a little in excess of the House provisions.

Poetess Enjoys After-Dinner Cigar

Sister of President Lowell, of Harvard, Makes No Attempt to Hide Smoking.

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—That Miss Amy Lowell, poetess, sister of President Abbott Lawrence Lowell, of Harvard University, made a regular habit of smoking an after-dinner cigar on the deck of the Cunarder Laconia, was the assertion made by her fellow passengers on the vessel, which arrived Wednesday from Liverpool.

No attempt to conceal her penchant for cigars was made by Miss Lowell, these passengers say.

To newspaper men at the dock Miss Lowell admitted that she was interested in suffrage, though she denied any sympathy with the militants and insisted that she supported them very "mildly." Miss Lowell's age, a matter of some discussion among her fellow passengers, is understood to be about 42.

Now Well After Using Eckman's Alterative

The makers of Eckman's Alterative, which is doing so much for Lung Trouble, are continuing to receive reports of recovery from lung trouble through the use of this medicine. Investigate the case of this writer, who used Eckman's Alterative and who is to-day enjoying good health.

"Gentlemen: Pardon me for not writing sooner, but I wanted to see if I would stay cured. I can now truthfully say I am perfectly well. I have no pain, no cough, no night sweats, no day fever, since a little over two years I have been ailing with lung trouble, which grew worse as I grew older. At the age of fourteen the doctor said if I could not be sent South I would surely die of consumption. Every winter I would be sure to have either Bronchitis, Pleurisy or Pneumonia. I had Typhoid Pneumonia one time. I had asthma, and I was almost blind through the use of the kind this year. I will answer all letters sent to me, asking a history of my case, from any one suffering with lung trouble."

Harpist Singers Plan to Spread Old Gospel Hymns Taint of Ragtime Seen in Modern Church Music

1,000 Delegates to Musical Association Convention Will Close Sessions at Auditorium Today.

With more than 1,000 delegates and visitors in attendance at the Auditorium, the Sacred Harp Musical Association will enter this morning on the third and last day of its annual convention. The sessions will close this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Colonel J. S. James, of Atlanta, has been elected president of the organization for the twelfth consecutive time, and plans have been adopted at this convention for the spreading of the old-time gospel melodies on a scale never attempted before.

Delegates are at the large gathering.

Oldest and youngest harp singers—Honey Smith, aged 81 years, and little Louise Hopkins, 6.

ing from States as far distant as Texas, Georgia, of course, is the most largely represented, but singers are here in goodly numbers from Alabama, Florida, Tennessee, Louisiana and North and South Carolina. The meeting will be held again in Atlanta in 1914.

The members of this unique musical organization hold the opinion that their church music of to-day is badly tainted with operatic, secular and ragtime strains, and they are setting forth with no inconsiderable zeal to demonstrate that the old-time church music of their forefathers is the best, after all. Modern musical composition, they maintain, serves to drive away instead of to promote religion and religious feeling.

They rehearsed yesterday with all the fervor and spirit of the camp meeting days many of the songs that have been made this week at Berea, a corporal in an aeroplane, it is stated, won an altitude race against a dirigible engaged in the French military maneuvers. From its superior height the aeroplane dropped shrapnel projectiles on the dirigible which in actual warfare would certainly have destroyed the craft at which they were aimed.

The book will deal with Mr. Wilson's seventeen years in the diplomatic service, including his work in Mexico and events of a recent date. Parts of the book dealing with the situation across the Southern border will be printed in a magazine. The lecture will deal with the Mexican situation. Mr. Wilson declined yesterday to comment on Mexican affairs.

100 NEW MEMBERS FOR CHURCH. One hundred persons will be received into the membership of the Grace Methodist Church at 11 o'clock this morning as a result of the revival held there recently. Many of the new members will be baptized. There will also be services at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Bride's Telephoning Ground for Divorce

Young Husband Objects to Her Calling Him Up Twenty Times a Day.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 13.—Because his bride of a month insisted on calling her attentions on him and showing him up over the telephone at his place of business from fifteen to twenty times a day, Elmer C. Mittler, a minor, to-day filed suit for divorce through his next friend, Mittler. In his petition, declares that these ceaseless telephone calls so provoked his employers that he was discharged and lost a good job which he had held for three years. The couple were married July 14 of this year, after an elopement to Illinois, and separated a month later.

Aeroplane Defeats Dirigible in Battle

British Military Authorities Inquire Into Remarkable Air Maneuvers in France.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—Inquiries are being made by British military aeroplane agents concerning certain remarkable aerial experiments said to have been made this week at Berea. A corporal in an aeroplane, it is stated, won an altitude race against a dirigible engaged in the French military maneuvers. From its superior height the aeroplane dropped shrapnel projectiles on the dirigible which in actual warfare would certainly have destroyed the craft at which they were aimed.

Three Atlantans Held as Forgers

Detectives Arrest All on Different Charges—Chattanooga Baker Swears Out Warrant.

Three men, J. E. Gaston, of No. 55 West Cain street; Otis Arnold, of No. 256 Butler street, and Claud Carter, of Chattanooga, were arrested by Atlanta detectives Saturday night on three separate charges of forgery. Gaston, who is a salesman, was arrested by Detectives McGill and Gillespie on a warrant charging the passing of a worthless check. Arnold was placed under arrest by Detective Hanby on charges preferred by local bankers. It is said, while Carter was arrested by Detectives O'Brien and Cowan on a warrant sworn out by a Chattanooga baker. Arnold is said to have a police record.

West to Hillsboro, sixteen miles.

Mr. Ferguson was warned he would find the roads impassable. Declaring that seeing is believing, he drove his automobile through a sea of mud for a short distance out of West, but was forced to turn back. In that distance, he found three cars stalled in the black, waxy mud and more or less patiently waiting for mule teams to pull them out. This section of Texas has been visited by heavy rains during the past three days. Much of the highway is composed of black waxy mud. "I found the road just as I had been warned it would be," said Mr. Ferguson, with a smile, as he returned to West. "It is impossible to get through at present. I will stay here and await weather developments." Mr. Ferguson's trip from Waco to West, nineteen miles, earlier in the day, was accomplished easily. Part of the way is gravel and the going was good, despite enormous rainfalls. An enthusiastic welcome awaits Mr. Ferguson when he reaches Hillsboro. He plans to reach Dallas Tuesday.

BIG CONFERENCE ON CITIZENSHIP TO OPEN FRIDAY

Hobson and A. J. Orem Chief Speakers for Meeting To Be Held at Auditorium.

Plans are perfected for the Southern Christian Citizenship Congress, which opens Friday night at the Atlanta Auditorium. Among the prominent speakers outside of Georgia who have accepted invitations to be present are A. J. Orem, the broker-reformer and philanthropist of Boston, and Congressman Richmond P. Hobson, of Alabama.

The program, with possibly a few minor changes, will be as follows: Friday night, September 19, Governor John M. Slaton will preside, speaking briefly on "Good Citizenship." An introductory address will be made on "The Purpose of the Civic League of America," by Dr. H. M. DuBose, pastor of the First Methodist Church. An address, "The Greatest Problem of the American Citizen," will be delivered by A. J. Orem, Boston, Mass.

Saturday morning will be divided between the W. C. T. U. and the women's clubs, with such speakers as Mrs. Z. I. Fitzpatrick, president of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. T. E. Patterson, president of the W. C. T. U. of Georgia; Mrs. A. P. Coles, president of the Atlanta Women's Clubs; Mrs. Mary L. McLendon, president of Fulton County W. C. T. U.; Mrs. James Little, president of the Mothers' Congress of Georgia; Mrs. Lem Gilreath, State evangelist of the W. C. T. U.; and Mrs. G. B. Lindsey, corresponding secretary of the Civic League of America.

"Young America" Rally.

On Saturday afternoon will be held a rally for "Young America," with a drill by the Boy Scouts and a short speech by Captain Jack Crawford, the "Post Scout of America." A banner is to be given to the school making the best showing.

Saturday night will be "Hobson night." Judge Nash Broyles, of the Atlanta Recorder's Court, will speak on "Law Enforcement; William D. Uphay on "The Press and Public Morals," and A. J. Orem, of Boston, on "Independent Political Action." Three speeches of fifteen minutes each, followed by an address by Congressman R. P. Hobson, "The Christian Citizen and the Liquor Traffic."

Sunday morning all Atlanta pastors have been requested to speak on some phase of Christian citizenship. The closing session will be held Sunday afternoon at the Baptist Tabernacle. The main address will be by Dr. Lincoln McConnell, of "The Private Citizen and the Law." The workmen of the city being the guests of honor.

Chorus to Sing.

Professor Gerard Thiers, vocal director of the Southern University of Music, will have charge of the music of the congress and has invited all choirs and others who will join the congress choir to meet him Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at the First Congregational Church, on Carnegie way. The general purpose of the movement is to federate all local civic leagues and other patriotic organizations and key them to the work of building and vitalizing Christian citizenship in every community. All sessions will be open to the public, and all churches, young people's societies, women's clubs and civic organizations of every kind, whose purpose is the betterment of humanity, have been urged to send two delegates each.

Deer Poachers in So. Georgia Active

Horns and Butchered Meat Found in Vandals' Tracks on Private Preserves.

THOMASVILLE, Sept. 13.—Reports of recent violations of the game law in this and Grady County are not without foundation. Deer have been found dead in some of the swamps, and horns and pieces of butchered meat have been discovered. Tracks have been found leading into preserves.

Near the Grady County line one place which is well stocked with deer has suffered heavily from these depredations, and the owners are making every effort to find the parties who violated the game law. Both deer and turkey are plentiful here this year, and it is expected the hunting will be very fine, and parties who have no respect for the game laws will undoubtedly be prosecuted if caught.

No Crank
No Dasher
No Handle
No Cogs
No Wheels
No Wood
No Hoops
No Hard Work

$1.95 POSTPAID 15 DAYS TRIAL 2-QUART SIZE $1.95

PACK IT — THAT'S ALL — For the ICE-KIST all you have to do is to pour in the cream, sherbet or whatever refreshment it may be, and pack in the ice as in the ordinary freezer. Then the work is ended. There is no working a dasher, no turning a handle or crank, no straining your arms and back, no opening the freezer to "see" if it is freezing, no extra packing in of ice. All you do after packing is to open the freezer and serve the refreshment. It saves work, time, trouble and—YOU.

Perfect Freezing

The Ice-Kist has no dasher or crank because it has two freezing surfaces. The old-fashioned freezer had only one freezing surface—that is why a crank and dasher were necessary. The Ice-Kist has a metal freezing tube that extends directly through the cream to the bottom. This gives the two freezing surfaces. The cold penetrates from the center and from the outside, too. The cream is frozen with a smoothness that will delight you.

Special 15-Day Offer

We want you to know the joy of having an Ice-Kist Crankless Freezer in your home. We will send it post-paid upon the return of the coupon together with $1.95—our introductory price. If after trying the ICE-KIST for 15 days, you are not delighted with it, return it and we will return the $1.95. Don't let the coupon get lost. Send it NOW.

THAW'S WAY TO SUPREME COURT PAVED BY WRIT

Fugitive's Counsel Head Off Extradition, and Open Avenue for Appeal to Highest Bench.

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 13.—Asking a writ of habeas corpus in the United States District Court this afternoon, counsel for Harry K. Thaw have headed off extradition and paved the way for a possible appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

Judge Aldrich, who granted the application for the writ, to-day made it returnable at Littleton Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock. Thaw's attorneys were Nathaniel E. Martin, of Concord, and Merrill Shurtlett, of Lancaster.

New York State was not represented by counsel at the hearing. Proceedings were in chambers, none except the judge, his clerk and counsel being admitted.

Besides granting the application for the writ, Judge Aldrich also issued an injunction restraining all parties from interfering in any way with Thaw or with the service from the writ pending the hearing next Tuesday. Copies of the writ were served later in the day at Colebrook on Sheriff Drew, Attorney General Tuttle and William Travers Jerome.

Sheriff Hornbeck, of Dutchess County, New York, who arrived here last night with extradition papers and a warrant for the arrest of Thaw, could not see Governor Felker to-day.

Jerome Furious as He Hears of Writ.

COLEBROOK, N. H., Sept. 13.—William Travers Jerome and his coteries were furious this afternoon when informed of the issuance of the writ of habeas corpus by Judge Aldrich, of the United States District Court at Concord, restraining Sheriff Drew from turning Harry K. Thaw over to the New York authorities.

"The obtaining of this writ is an absolute violation of a gentleman's agreement between Moses I. Grossman and myself," said Jerome angrily. "Furthermore, it is absolutely irregular. Grossman and I agreed that no legal action should be taken until Governor Felker had an opportunity to consider the matter."

Grossman, who has been retained as an extradition expert to fight against the return of Thaw to Mat-tawson, smiled when Jerome's statement was repeated to him. He said:

"I secured the writ in order to have two strings to my bow. The way is now open to a test of Thaw's rights either in State or Federal courts. We secured the writ to prevent New York officers from seizing Thaw and rushing him away the moment Governor Felker signed the Executive warrant."

"All bets are off now, said Jerome. "I won't say what fireworks may be discharged tonight or to-morrow," he continued. "The Thaw people may expect anything from us now, because of the breaking of the agreement. It is not improbable that Grossman will be called up for contempt in seeking to use the Federal courts as a means to secure what is practically an injunction against the New York officers."

At 6 o'clock to-night Fred A. Hornbeck, Sheriff of Dutchess County, arrived here from Albany with the requisition papers signed by Acting Governor Glynn, of New York, and calling on Governor Felker to send Thaw back to New York.

The requisition papers will be taken to Concord Monday and will be presented to Governor Felker on Tuesday.

If Governor Felker sets the date for the hearing later in the week Thaw's presence in Colebrook will be assured for several days.

Petition Cheers Thaw. Thaw was greatly cheered this evening when he was shown a copy of the petition, which is signed by 2,000 citizens of Colebrook asking Governor Felker not to extradite him.

Thaw gave to a representative of the Hearst newspapers a copy of a letter which was written by his mother to Governor Felker. The letter reads as follows:

To His Excellency Governor Felker: I address your excellency in the interest of Harry K. Thaw, who after being deprived of the liberty the average acquitted man would have immediately received after a verdict of not guilty upon the ground of the defendant's insanity at the time of the commission of the act charged under the indictment, has for five and a half years endured untold hardships and indignities in one of New York's worst penal institutions. Finally despairing of securing fair treatment by habeas corpus proceedings, he took the only recourse left, a fight for the freedom denied through malice.

May I beg that your excellency may secure to him in whatever way proper a fair and impartial hearing during the impending proceedings?

Yours sincerely, MARY C. THAW.

HARRY THAW is shown being escorted by the Sheriff at Colebrook, N. H., after his forced entrance in the country from which he fled.

PLUNGES 100 FEET, BUT WILL RECOVER

Hindu Falls Headforemost From Smokestack in Savannah. Both Wrists Broken.

SAVANNAH, Sept. 13.—While at work on a smokestack 100 feet in the air at the Atlantic Coast Line docks, Vangathar Cooley, a Hindu, lost his footing and plunged to the ground below.

Both wrists were broken, one knee and his right arm broken, one hip dislocated, and he was hurt about the head. It is said he has a chance to recover.

Other workmen saw Cooley slipping from the high smokestack, and a new cover was being put. They shouted a warning. The Hindu made frantic efforts to save himself, but in vain. He shot headforemost into space.

He was taken to the United States Marine Hospital for treatment.

WALRAVEN TO QUIT RACE FOR COUNCIL SEAT

Seventh Ward Place Now Will Go to Jesse Armistead Without a Contest.

Additional proof of the collapse of the "open town" ticket for Council was given Saturday afternoon in an absolutely reliable report that Dan S. Walraven would withdraw as a candidate for Alderman from the Seventh Ward.

Mr. Walraven wanted to withdraw several days ago in exchange for pledges of support for Police Commissioner from the Seventh Ward, according to authentic gossip. His plans failed for this coup, and when he put up the necessary $95 entrance fee it was thought he was in the fight to the finish.

Mr. Walraven never had announced a platform, but the active efforts in his behalf of T. M. Webb, proprietor of two downtown locker clubs, and the efforts of his friends to get the support of Mayor Woodward and other advocates of a more liberal police policy stamped him as an "open town" man.

Armistead to Get Place. The Seventh Ward Aldermanic seat now will go to Jesse Armistead without a contest. Strange to say, he had the support of Mayor Woodward and the anti-Woodward faction in Council. He was chairman of the Seventh Ward campaign committee of Aldine Chambers in the last mayoralty election; but also he is president of the Typographical Union, Mayor Woodward's own union. This latter affiliation of Mr. Armistead is said to be the cause of Mayor Woodward's support of him.

Friends of Mr. Walraven had declared that both Mr. Walraven and Mr. Armistead would withdraw from the race in favor of Marcellus Anderson. Mr. Anderson was said to have pledged his support to Mr. Walraven for Police Commissioner. Mr. Armistead kicked out of the game and was conceded to be a supporter of Fred Lester for Police Commissioner before the Walraven-Anderson supporters realized what was up.

Only a remnant of the "open town" advocates remain in the field. Amos Braselton is making the issue between him and Albert D. Thomson for Alderman from the Fourth Ward a more liberal police policy.

Braselton More Liberal. "I have no idea of trying to bring back the 'houses in our midst,'" said Mr. Braselton, "but I'll guarantee to support a far more liberal policy than my opponent has."

Mr. Thomson has not taken up the challenge as yet, but he declares he will put plenty of ginger into the race before it is over.

Alderman J. E. Everett, for whose seat they are fighting, declared that he was for Councilman Thomson for the Aldermanic place Saturday afternoon.

"I want to thank my friends for efforts to have me re-elected," he said. "City Attorney James L. Mayson advises me that the charter time limit prevents me running again."

"I will take pleasure in casting my vote for Councilman Albert Thomson."

Fight Bitter on Charter. Interesting as the Councilmanic contests are, they will be set aside until after September 24 for the new charter fight. With an assurance of remaining firmly in the saddle for another year, the old crowd of city officials have started a determined fight to get the new charter adopted.

Mayor Woodward has started out with even more spirit to kill the charter. He declares that it is a "fraud in the name of reform, and that it will trench the 'ring' more strongly."

On account of his aggressive attitude, the issue has become more or less a Woodward issue. The anti-Woodward element hopes to repudiate the administration of the Mayor by passing this charter over his opposition.

EXCISE COMMISSIONER CHARGED WITH BRIBERY

BIRMINGHAM, Sept. 13.—A warrant was sworn out this afternoon before Judge Abernethy against Walter C. Agnes, chairman of the Excise Commission of Jefferson County, by Larry Grimes, who charges that he was offered a bribe in a saloon permit if he (Grimes) would swear in a criminal case against Charles Davis, a former saloonman.

"Sometimes I carry a gun," said Mrs. James to the crowd that gathered about her. "I am glad I did not have it to-day. Hereafter I will carry it, and if I am addressed as I was to-day I'll kill the man who does it."

Organist Hall Will Play His Own Works

Free Concert at Auditorium To-day Promises To Be Most Remarkable Ever Heard Here.

An original military march, entitled "Gettysburg Reunion," and dedicated to the heroes of the blue and gray, will be one of the features at the free Sunday concert by Organist Frederick Hall, of Philadelphia, this afternoon at the Auditorium. The program will be in many respects the most remarkable ever offered in Atlanta. Mr. Hall will play two or three of his other compositions.

The other original composition he will play is entitled "Rouen Reminiscence," and is his interpretation of a melody which he heard a bare-footed French street urchin singing in one of the narrow winding streets leading up the hill to the great cathedral.

The concert will begin promptly at 4 o'clock, and everybody is invited. Mr. Hall is a candidate for the position of city organist in Atlanta, left vacant by the resignation of Dr. Percy J. Starnes.

Night School Begins Promising Season

Prizes Offered by Mrs. J. H. Tucker for Three Pupils Making Best Scholarship Marks.

With 125 students enrolled, the Settlement Home Night School will begin its second week of work Monday evening with prospects for the best year in its history. As an incentive to good scholarship, Mrs. J. H. Tucker, chairman of the educational committee of the City Board of Missions, has offered three prizes on behalf of the committee.

A $5 gold piece will be given to the pupil making the highest mark, and two prizes of $2.50 each will be given for the next highest. At the opening of the school, Dr. J. B. Robins, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, delivered an address in which he declared that the boys and girls of to-day could be masters of character and industry if they would go to school with high ideals and lofty aspirations.

No More Dandruff or Falling Hair--A Real Surprise Awaits You. To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff, is merely a matter of using a little Danderine. It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now--all drug stores recommend it--apply as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, pluffiness and an incomparable gloss and luster and try as you will you can not find a trace of dandruff or falling hair, but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair--fine and downy at first--yes--but really new hair--sprouting all over your scalp--Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once. If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair--taking one strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments--a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

'YANKEE' ARMY ONCE MORE ON SOUTHERN SOIL

G. A. R. Given Warmest of Dixie's
Greetings When Veterans of Blue Arrive for Encampment.

CHATTANOOGA IS CROWDED

Homes Are Thrown Open to Accommodate Soldiers Who Invaded City 50 Years Ago.

CHATTANOOGA, Sept. 13.—Chattanooga has put on her gayest dress and with flags and bunting, flowers and decorations of all kinds, is today anxiously awaiting the opening of the forty-seventh national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic on Monday.

This year's encampment marks an auspicious occasion in the history of the G. A. R. for it is not only the first reunion of Northern veterans ever held in the real South, but it is also the centennial of some of the most famous battles fought during the Civil War in the vicinity of this city.

Fifty years ago the armies of the North and South entered into deadly combat on the fields of Chickamauga, Lookout Mountain and Missionary Ridge. The fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Chickamauga falls on the last two days of the encampment, September 19 and 20.

Already the city is crowded with thousands of veterans and visitors, and each incoming train adds to the number. Although no official figures have been given out, it is estimated that more than 200,000 strangers will be here by Monday morning, when the city of Chattanooga tenders an official reception to the visiting veterans at the Hotel Patten.

Commander-in-Chief Arrives.
The G. A. R. commander-in-chief, Alfred B. Bowers, of Chicago, has arrived and will take a prominent part in the reception and the events of the following days. This reception will introduce the visitors to the citizens of Chattanooga and will be an elaborate social function, one of the largest that Chattanooga has ever undertaken. A committee composed of leading citizens, under the chairmanship of the Hon. A. W. Chambliss, a prominent member of the local bar, has been at work for some time arranging the details of the reception.

The Chattanooga Encampment Association, in conjunction with the local chapters of the Daughters of the Confederacy and similar organizations, have seen to all arrangements for the housing of the veterans and visitors during the encampment.

Because of the limited hotel accommodations the home of private citizens have been thrown open. Most of the arriving visitors had secured their accommodations several weeks ago and they are being conducted to their places of residence for the week with the utmost dispatch. The same plan of caring for the vast crowds was used during the reunion of the United Confederate Veterans last May in being pursued in administering to the wants of their one-time enemies.

Confederates on Committees.
Many prominent Confederate veterans have served on the various committees, and the success of the encampment, which is already assured, is due in no small measure to the work of these veterans, who have thrown themselves into the task of entertaining the men who once faced them on the battlefield. The encampment will in a way be a reunion for the veterans of the Chickamauga and South. General Bennet H. Young, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, who was largely instrumental in securing the peace memorial which will be dedicated in this city in 1915, will in all likelihood be a visitor at the present encampment.

Everything possible has been done to make the week a gala one. Many special features for the entertainment of the veterans and visitors have been arranged, among them being the Battle Above the Clouds, reproduced in fireworks on Lookout Mountain. This spectacle, taking place on the bench or shelf halfway up the side of the mountain, where during the conflict both sides were enveloped in a cloud which obscured the view and prevented the contestants from seeing each other, will be visible from miles from the surrounding country.

Another feature in the fireworks has been decided upon for Signal Point on Walden's Ridge, north of the city. This point was used as a signal station by the Union army in 1862, and a large signal fire will blaze forth from this point every night during the encampment. The fire will be visible from four States.

Sham Battle a Feature.
Another event will be the sham battle on the field of Chickamauga between regiments of the regular army, concluding at historic Snodgrass Hill, where 50 years ago General Thomas Brannan, Steedman and others checked the advances of the Confederates and saved the Union army.

On Saturday, the last day of the encampment, the survivors of the battle of Chickamauga will meet on the battlefield at 10 o'clock in the morning at a point where the regimental monuments of the Twentieth Brigade of the Third Division of the Fourteenth Army Corps are located.

Georgia Inventor Plans Flight Across Atlantic Passenger Airship Service to Europe Proposed

Multiplane Intended to Make
Regular Schedule Over Ocean
Is Being Built in Savannah.

SAVANNAH, Sept. 13.—A Georgia man, with ambitious vision, is planning an aeroplane trip across the Atlantic Ocean. The time for the venture is not far distant, and the busy hammering and filing that can be heard in the workshop near Savannah, tells that every preparation is being made.

It is Captain Matthew A. Batson, a retired army officer, who will make this challenge to destiny. He has been working for nearly four years, and has perfected a unique type of flying machine that is popularly known as the Batson hydro-aeroplane.

So certain are Captain Batson and his friends that the daring venture will be successful that a concern has been organized, known as the Batson Aero Company, incorporated under the laws of New Jersey, with a capital stock of $200,000, "to operate between Savannah, Ga., and Liverpool, England, a line of passenger-carrying air craft," according to the words of the charter.

Captain Batson is president of the company. The line will not be established for little more than a year, but there will be trial flights a-plenty before that time, as the plans state, at Thunderbolt, Brickyard Island, on the Wilmington River, where the plant is located.

Models Fly Faithfully.
The first flight of the hydro-aeroplane will be made early. The models of the machine have flown faithfully. The entire machine is now assembled, the flying section having been fixed to the boat hull several days ago.

It is the intention of Captain Batson to navigate the craft into the Wilmington River, and to make the first trial flights in the direction of Wilmington Island. The tests of the airship will be visible from the Casino, Thunderbolt, and it is expected that thousands of people will make the trip to the resort to see the big machine as it takes to the air.

Of a size to permit the carrying of sufficient fuel for a two days' run, the craft will not have to descend to replenish its supply on the long flight from Savannah to New York, which will be made directly after the first trial flight. Then, circumstances being favorable, the trip across the Atlantic will be attempted.

It is announced that the perfected Batson hydro-aeroplane will have a large number of wings of moderate size. These are attached to the machine chamber in a way so as to yield to the extra stresses caused when the machine encounters the great "bumpers" in the air, just as the springs of an automobile yield when an uneven road is entered.

Single Pilot Governs.
The peculiar construction of the wing is such that the air currents are guided under the wings inwardly toward the body of the machine, where they are banked under the base portion, thus bringing the greatest stress on the part where the weight is carried. Such is the arrangement that the essential "angle of incidence" of all the wings can be governed by a single pilot, even to such an extent that should all the engines be stopped the wings will be automatically set at a safe gliding angle, the course of which is easily controlled.

Captain Batson takes the success of his invention as a matter of course. "It is far more wonderful," he said, "that men should literally take their lives in their hands and go from Paris to London through the air, over sea and land in their unavoidably unsteady craft than that the Batson aero yacht should, with so much greater carrying capacity and complete automatic stability, be able to go longer distances in perfect safety. A great loss of life appears to be inevitable with aeroplanes of the dangerous and unstable type now in general use, and though the recent Titanic disaster shows that it is impossible to foresee every contingency, yet it is a safe and comforting prediction that because of its automatic stability no such accidents as those which hitherto have happened can possibly occur to a Batson multiplane."

Plants for the construction of the machines will be scattered over the United States, according to the arrangements made by the company. The completed machines, however, will not be offered for indiscriminate sale, but will be used for passenger traffic under the auspices of the company.

The Batson triple-motored aero yacht, as the machine is technically known, will carry about three tons dead weight load. Instead of being comprised of a single plane or a pair, the buoying area is distributed over a speed of 100 miles an hour, with a probability of making better time even than that under favorable conditions. Its eleven-foot propellers make 1,000 revolutions a minute. The original machine, including the expense of putting up the aerodrome, will cost about $50,000. Captain Batson declares, however, that other machines of the same type will cost only $20,000.

Another, the intent of the man in the Savannah shop is to render practical the commercial navigation of the air. He is a mechanical engineer, acquiring thus his scientific knack. He is a daring soldier, the organizer of the elite "Flight Scouts," and comes thus honestly by his fearlessness. For years he has been at work in perfecting the machine with which the bold experiments will be made, and in which he hopes to conquer the air.

GHOSTLY LIGHT PUTS TERROR IN MOUNTAINEERS

Government Asked to Send Science Expert to Investigate
Flaming Uncanny Orb.

ASHEVILLE, Sept. 13.—Ghostly in appearance, a strange light, seen almost nightly, is gaining materially in brilliancy and has so greatly excited the people of Burke County, in the mountains of Western North Carolina, that an official request has been made at Washington for an investigation by an expert.

R. T. Claywell first saw the strange light about a month ago when he and a party of friends were spending the night at Cold Water.

"There is something uncanny about that light. The folks up in that neighborhood can not fathom it, and we want a Government scientist sent to solve the mysterious glow," said Mr. Claywell.

Across From Mountain.
"The night I first saw the strange light I was out in the open on Rattlesnake Knob. It was exactly 10:05 o'clock. I remember that well. What first attracted our attention were two hazy lights across the valley on Brown Mountain.

"We watched it with wonder and awe. In a few minutes we saw a brighter light appear at the foot of Brown Mountain, where Upper Creek cuts it at Joy. The light appeared to be swinging, pendulum-like, and then went upward a distance of about 200 feet.

"When it first appeared the light seemed to be round and yellow. It gained steadily in brightness, becoming red as it went upward. When it reached its greatest height it appeared to be like a ball of fire.

Did Not Shed a Ray.
"But the strange thing about it was that the freak of nature did not cast off one ray of light. The space around it was as dark as ever. All this added to its ghostly appearance.

"It was across the valley from us at a distance of about twelve miles. It had rained that day and there were a few clouds still hanging about. When the strange light reached a height of what seemed from our distance to be about 1,200 feet it went behind one of these clouds and we did not see it any more that night.

"It was a strange experience and many of those in our party came near fainting."

CALIFORNIANS OFFER $2500 AS PRIZE FOR SONG

Boosters' Club of Southern Section
Want Music and Lyric
Describing Their Land.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13.—An announcement was made yesterday by the 700,000 Boosters' Club of Southern California of the conditions governing the $2,500 song contest, the purpose of which is to enlist the composers of the world in a competition to evolve a prize song best expressing the glories of Southern California and the appeal of the club. Already the news of this novel contest has attracted wide attention, and it stands unique in the annals of exploitation endeavor, both because of the magnitude of the prize and the fact that it is offered on behalf of the people of an entire region—the biggest booster organization in the world.

A preliminary competition with a prize of $500 will be held to secure the best poem or words for the song, and then the composers of the world will be invited to set these words to music with a prize of $2,000 for the best music. Here is the text of the club's announcement:

"Twenty-five hundred dollars ($2,500) will be paid by the 700,000 Boosters' Club of Southern California for the best original song embodying the progressive spirit and the glories of Southern California, and typifying the Boosters' Club, with a membership of public spirited citizens throughout Southern California.

"This total prize of twenty-five hundred dollars ($2,500) will be divided as follows: "Five hundred dollars ($500) will be paid for the best melody or music score for the poem and chorus receiving the award. The winning poem, with chorus, will be the words for which music will be required.

"Two thousand dollars ($2,000) will be paid for the best melody or music score for the poem and chorus receiving the award. The winning poem, with chorus, will be the words for which music will be required.

"The contest for the poem will close November 1, 1913. Immediately upon the decision of the judges, the poem receiving the award will be given the widest possible publicity in this country and abroad, and the composers of the world will be invited to prepare music to fit the winning poem and chorus, and thus compete for the two thousand dollar music prize, in accordance with the rules to be announced upon the publication of the award for the poem."

40 CITIES WILL FORM GEORGIA CIVIC CHAMBER

Atlanta to Send 50 Delegates to Macon Meeting to Organize State Commercial Club.

Forty Georgia cities will send delegations Tuesday to the meeting at Macon which will organize the Georgia Chamber of Commerce. Atlanta will send 50 representative men in a special car. Waycross and Albany also will send special cars.

Indications are there will be 400 civic leaders at Macon to launch the State Chamber of Commerce, which is expected to do for Georgia what the Atlanta Chamber has done for the city.

The meeting will be called to order at the Hotel Dempsey, Macon, at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday morning by C. J. Haden, chairman of the executive committee. Luncheon will be served at 1:30 o'clock at the hotel, with the Macon Chamber as host. An afternoon session will complete the deliberations.

There are 70 such State-wide development organizations in the United States. Texas has furnished the model for the proposed Georgia chamber.

Officers are to be elected at the Macon meeting, including a president and about 50 vice presidents, representing all sections of Georgia.

Speakers will include Richard Edmonds, of the Manufacturers Record; M. V. Richards, of the Southern Railway; and McLaine Tilton, secretary of the Alabama Bankers Association.

Many Cities to Take Part.

The following cities will send representatives:

Albany, Americus, Athens, Atlanta, Baxley, Brunswick, Bainbridge, Barnesville, Charleston, Crawfordville, College Park, Columbus, Dublin, Douglas, Dawsonville, Eatonton, Fitzgerald, Griffin, Kirkwood, LaGrange, Lithonia, McDonough, Macon, Madison, Moultrie, Newnan, Ocala, Springfield, Swainsboro, Toccoa, Union City, Vienna, Waycross, Hawkinsville, Statesboro and Mount Pleasant.

One hundred members of the live Macon Chamber of Commerce have been named on a special committee to greet and entertain the delegates.

A number of the leaders in the industrial development of Georgia have been mentioned for the presidency of the State Chamber, but so far no one seems sure of the position.

The executive committee is authorized to appoint a vice president for every county in the State and after careful consideration about 50 vice presidents have been selected. Other selections will be made during the next few days.

The executive committee includes C. J. Haden, Atlanta, chairman; P. M. Atkinson, Madison; R. D. Cole, Newnan; J. S. Davis, Albany; G. W. Deen, Waycross; J. A. McCord, Atlanta; W. H. Shippen, Ellijay; C. A. Wickersham, College Park.

DeKalb County To Be Well Represented.

DeKalb County, headed by Kirkwood and Decatur, will send an enthusiastic delegation to the State Chamber of Commerce meeting at Macon Tuesday, with the intention of playing an important part in the proceedings. The Kirkwood Chamber of Commerce here is making special efforts to arouse zeal in behalf of the proposal, and the result was a list of formal pledges of members who will attend.

They include R. F. Gilliam, John I. Armstrong, Dr. E. L. Daniel, William E. Saunders, Dr. C. H. House, J. T. Wiley, E. M. Williamson, John G. Smith, O. O. Ray, H. C. Burr, J. A. Norman, R. C. Omer, J. P. Ellis, Joe Tillingshast and J. A. Earl.

Decatur will send a party in automobiles. Little and Clark will send delegates, and, altogether, there probably will be 75 representatives from DeKalb at Macon.

The Drum and Bugle Corps of Decatur Troop No. 1, Boy Scouts of America, will be in the party.

Borden Heiress to Pick Own College

Will Solve Question That Parted Parents by Going to Vassar or Wellesley.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Miss Ramona Borden, 18-year-old daughter of Gall Borden, the multi-millionaire of Gall Borden, the multi-millionaire of condensed milk manufacturer, whose disappearance from a sanitarium in Popponville, N. J., in April caused a nation-wide search to be made for her by her father, plans to enter either Wellesley or Vassar this fall. The failure of her parents to agree on a school for her is said to have led to their agreement to live apart. Now the girl has solved the problem herself.

Because she has been the brunt of this family strife, Ramona comes to be known among her friends as the "poor little rich girl." She has written to her New York friends, "I have ceased to worry and be troubled," she says. "Through this summer I have learned to laugh and be happy."

Lesson in Scientific Complexion Renewing

(From The Family Physician.)
Everyone has a beautiful skin underneath the one he is exposed to view. Bear that in mind and it will be easier to understand the correct principle in acquiring a lovely complexion. Nature is constantly shedding the top skin in flaky particles like dandruff, only much smaller in size. In abnormal conditions, or in advanced age, these particles are shed as rapidly as in robust youth. The longer they remain the more solid or thicker they become—that's the immediate cause of a "bad complexion."
It has been discovered that ordinary percolated wax, to be had of any drug store, will absorb these worn-out particles. The absorption, while hastening the work, does so gradually enough to cause no inconvenience. In a week the fresh, healthy, youthful under-skin is then wholly in evidence. You who are not satisfied with your complexion should get an ounce of percolated wax and try this treatment. Use the wax nightly, like cold cream, washing it off morning.—Advt.

Polaire Adds to Her Ugliness With Nose Ring

Famous French Actress to Wear It in Atlanta

Mademoiselle Polaire, famous French actress, wearing her nose ring. She will appear with this ornament when she plays in Atlanta this winter.

Fascinating Artist Has No Hope That Ornament Will Be Generally Accepted Fad.

Mademoiselle Polaire, being by common consent the ugliest theatrical star alive and the most fascinating withal, has an absolute right to wear what she pleases. It is only when a woman has an open pride in her lack of pulchritude that she has achieved a sort of free-will condition as regards clothes and ornaments.

And because she is an independent in matters of raiment the fascinating Polaire is going to show Atlanta something that will open the eyes of every man and woman within its limits—she is coming to Atlanta, you know, with Gertrude Hoffman and Lady Constance Stewart-Richardson, the dancers.

Her particular innovation is a nose ring—a daring, unprecedented nose ring, suggestive of nothing so much as a Fiji islander. But then the turkey trot is hardly suggestive of the art of terpsichore, so it is not an unbelievable thing that Mademoiselle Polaire's nose ring will become—but no, American girls mean no harm by any of their fads, and even their critics vow that they have common sense enough and to spare.

There will be no nose ring fad, however much the fascinating Polaire flaunts her badge of eccentricity before their faces.
Polaire, it is announced, never dreams that her own freak fashion will become the vogue. Perhaps that is why she adopted it. At least, she will have something to herself.
But Atlanta will have an opportunity of judging, and perhaps if it likes can place an order for early winter delivery.

St. Paul's Church to Have Home-Coming

Incident to Big Revival Services Under Rev. L. B. Bridges, Noted Evangelist.

St. Paul's Methodist Church of Atlanta will hold a home-coming September 21 as an incident to the big revival services under the Rev. L. B. Bridges, the noted evangelist. Besides the invitation to the general public, a call will be made on all former members of the church, under the fold for the one day.
It is expected that eight or ten clergymen will be in attendance on the home-coming. Rev. B. F. Fraser is present pastor of the church, under whose pastorate remarkable development has been achieved in the last year.

GRAND JURY TO BEGIN CRAWFORD INVESTIGATION

Inquisitorial Body Will in All Probability Take Up Poison Case This Week.

Grand jurors of Fulton County will this week in all probability begin their investigation of the death of the late Josua B. Crawford, wealthy Atlantian, whose widow has been charged with poisoning him in order to get his riches barely a month after their marriage in 1909.

In the meantime, Mrs. Mary Belle Crawford, the widow, is at her Peachtree street home, serenely confident that if the Grand Jury should indict her she would be promptly acquitted by a trial jury. She declares the bringing of the charge of poisoning against her was done merely as a new move of the heirs in the aged real estate operator, who are fighting for the $250,000 fortune that was left to her.

Poison Presence Admitted.
The report of Dr. H. F. Harris that traces of morphine poisoning were found in the stomach of the deceased is not denied by Mrs. Crawford or her counsel. They simply contend that this drug was prescribed for Crawford during his last illness, and declare that the attending physician will take the stand and testify that he administered the opiate to relieve the aged man's pain.

The Crawford heirs, however, take an entirely different view of the matter. They charge a deep-laid conspiracy on the part of Mrs. Crawford and Fred Lamb, a barber now in New York, and who is sought by the heirs as an accomplice.

Their contention is that when J. B. Crawford, then in his seventies, went to St. Augustine, Fla., in 1909 in search of health and took board with Mary Belle Bishop, the woman then and there planned to wed the old man and as soon as she could make him will her his property, poison him, and then wed Lamb.

The contesting heirs are nieces and nephews of the man for whose wealth they are fighting, and though the will contest has been practically since the death of Crawford, it was not until a few months ago that the poison charge was made and the body was exhumed for examination of the stomach.

Sheriff Issues Warrant.
A Coroner's jury at Carrollton, the old home of the Crawfords, returned a verdict declaring that the deceased had come to his death from poison administered by his wife.

It was then that the Sheriff of Carroll County mailed a warrant to the Sheriff of Fulton for the arrest. When officers went to serve it, Mrs. Crawford was not at her Atlanta home, but she afterward surrendered to the Sheriff here and promptly furnished the $5,000 bond required.

In addition to the poison charge that nieces and nephews have alleged that under influence was exercised by Mrs. Crawford to have herself made the chief beneficiary in the will, and witnesses have been introduced at the will hearing to prove that at the time he altered the instrument, Crawford was not only mentally unbalanced through senility, but was constantly under the influence of alcohol.

BOYD-MANGHAM SUIT IN BANKRUPTCY IS SET

Demurrers in the bankruptcy proceedings in the case of the Boyd-Mangham Manufacturing Company will be heard during the week of September 29 on request of attorneys. The trustees claim the illegal dividends are subject to recovery for the payment of creditors of the corporation.

MAYORS URGE U. S. CONTROL OF MISSISSIPPI

Every Section Joins South for Federal Protection Against River's Spring Floods.

MEMPHIS, Sept. 13.—The Mayors of cities in more than half of the States of the Union have come out for Government aid in the protection of the Mississippi Valley States from floods. This sweeping indorsement of the Ramsdell-Humphreys bill, which provides $60,000,000 for levees and comes up at the December session of Congress, is one of the interesting exhibits of the work the Mississippi River Levee Association is doing in the interest of Government levees for the lower Mississippi River.

Out of the replies already received not one chief executive has expressed the slightest disapproval of the proposition. The Mayors to begin in the far Western States, in New England, in the Middle West, in the great northern section and from every Southern State have come unanimously for the project. Each letter shows an unusual familiarity with the subject. The people of California, Massachusetts and Montana seem to have been studying the flood proposition with as much interest as the residents of the States immediately affected by floods.

One of the most interesting letters is one from the chief executive of Gallipolis, Ohio, a city which almost was sacrificed to the Ohio floods of 1912. Mayor Cadot, of that city, says in part:

"While our own valley suffers greatly from floods I believe the greater damage is done in the Mississippi Valley, and I earnestly hope you will succeed in securing the required appropriation from the Government, and be able to begin active operations at the earliest possible moment."

"In my opinion, the levee plan is the best remedy for overflow that has yet been proposed."

The Mayor of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., writes in part:

"I am heartily in favor of your work and believe that it is fair and just that the National Government should take up the burden and give you whatever aid is needed."

The Mayor of Indianapolis, Ind., writes:

"I heartily concur in the views expressed in your communication regarding the spring floods of the lower Mississippi. I believe the Government should lend every aid possible to protect the people of this vast territory and be able to begin active operations at the earliest possible moment."

These are only a few of the numerous letters that have been received. They illustrate, however, the sentiment toward the levee proposition and the widespread interest in the matter of floods.

Commerce Chosen For Press Meeting

Editors of Weeklies Hear Rival Towns' Claims for Honor of Entertaining Them.

Commerce was selected as the next meeting place of the Georgia Weekly Press Association at a meeting of the executive committee of the organization in the office of H. M. Stanley at the State Capitol Saturday. The claims of Covington were also presented to the committee by a delegation from that town. The committee waited until 2:30 o'clock for the delegation from Madison, which was also after the 1914 meeting, but it failed to appear.

The next gathering of the editors will be held July 14 and 15. The following officers were present at the meeting: P. T. McCutcheon, of Franklin, president; C. E. Benna, of Butler, secretary; B. H. Hardy, Barnesville; J. F. Shannon, Commerce; H. M. Stanley, and Rush V. Burton, LaVonia. The winning delegation from Commerce was headed by J. F. Shannon, of the Commerce News, and Paul T. Harber, of the Commerce Observer.

New Cotton Resists Black Root Disease

State Entomologists Will Have 4,000 Bushels of Its Seed Ready by Spring.

Reports received by the Department of Entomology at the State Capitol from Southwest Georgia are to the effect that the black root is causing a great deal of damage. This cotton disease is costing the Georgia cotton planters hundreds of thousands of dollars a year, and every effort is being made to check its ravages.

The Department of Entomology has developed a variety of cotton seed which is resistant to the black root and reports from the planters who use this variety are to the effect that it is not suffering from the blight. The department will have 4,000 bushels of this seed next spring for distribution.

Alkahest President Goes to Convention

S. Russell Bridges Is Off to Attend Annual National Lyceum Convention in Chicago.

S. Russell Bridges, president of the Alkahest Lyceum System, has gone to Chicago to participate in the annual convention of the International Lyceum Association, which will meet at the Auditorium Hotel September 19. He was accompanied by Mrs. Bridges and a number of prominent Southern Lyceum people.

The convention of the International Association is the one which promised to meet in Atlanta this year, and then changed to Chicago because a great many of the artists were unable to make the trip to the South.

PHILIPPINES FAR FROM READY FOR SELF-RULE; PROOF IS ON THE MAP

Bishop Fallows Declares That Dean Worcester, Student of Islands, Returning From Archipelago, Will Show Fallacy of Native Government.

In view of the departure of Burton Harrison, the new Wilson Governor General of the Philippines, who sailed Wednesday from San Francisco for Manila, and the declared intention of the Democratic Congress to give to the Philippines absolute independence eight years hence, the following article, by Bishop Fallows, is illuminating.

Bishop Fallows traveled 10,000 miles among the islands to satisfy himself of conditions there and he concludes that independence for the Philippines now or within a few years would be a calamity. His article follows:

By SAMUEL FALLOWS.
(Bishop of Chicago and Noted Educational Authority.)

There shortly comes from the Philippines a man who has a valuable and timely message for the American people. He is Dean C. Worcester, recently Secretary of the Interior of the American who has had the longest and most intimate contact with Philippine affairs.

Many years before our war with Spain, when to the popular American mind Manila and the Philippines were indefinite and hazy points on the map, Mr. Worcester made two extended tours of the archipelago. As a member of scientific expeditions, gathering data and specimens, he twice traveled the length of the group, giving into our keeping, and when President McKinley needed the counsel and assistance of men of knowledge, Dean Worcester was one of the first to whom he turned.

President McKinley appointed him a member of the Schurman Commission, and when William Howard Taft was chosen to found civil government in the Philippines he continued him as member of the commission, which remains to this day as the senior governing body in the islands.

Mr. Worcester was made Secretary of the Interior in the Government instituted by McKinley and approved by Congress, and continuously retained the post until a week ago Monday, when he resigned to make way for a man chosen by the Wilson Administration.

In this capacity he organized and directed the Bureau of Health, Land, Forestry and Survey, besides becoming the guardian of the million non-Christian tribesmen numbered among our wards in the Orient. Taft, Wright, Ide, Smith, Moore and other veteran administrators of the Philippine Government finished their labors and passed to other fields, but Worcester remained for years.

Notable Service to Nation.
Dean Worcester's service to the nation has been a notable one in many respects, but his guardianship of the wild men, an extraordinary tale of service and adventure, must make the largest appeal to us at home. The Spanish Government and the Christian peoples of the Philippines appear to have given themselves little concern as to their wild neighbors. A few hardy and devoted missionaries ventured among them, but contact seems to have been largely accidental and occasional.

The largest groups of non-civilized people inhabit the province of North Luzon, living in wildly picturesque and formerly inaccessible mountains. These superb but primitive peoples have engaged in inter-tribal warfare throughout their history and this terrible condition was accentuated by the repulsive practice of taking and preserving as house ornaments the heads of their enemies. From this custom they derived the name of headhunters. Their feuds were both tribal and personal, and all the people were touched by the malign hand of vengeance and fear.

Reapacity had marked the attitude of the Christian Filipino in his dealings with these unhappy children of the mountains, and when Worcester and his men went among them they, too, were received as enemies. Their first greetings were challenges to battles, and were only through superior courage that they won a hearing in the first place, while endless patience and infinite tact were necessary to the establishment of the confidence and friendship which has resulted in the acceptance by the wild people of civilized law.

Worcester not only won and retained the friendship of the wild people, but brought peace to them and turned their thoughts and hands to the more useful uses of life. The warring tribes were brought together in friendly relationship and the rivalry of athletics took the place of forays. Schools were started, individual and collective, has sent thousands of men back to the fields and the food supply is now always ample to meet all the needs of the people and leave a considerable surplus.

Gained Their Friendship.
The wild tribe relationship in the Philippines offered at the beginning a veritable hornet's nest of trouble for the United States Government, the possibilities of which are strikingly illustrated by the experience of the Japanese in Formosa and the Dutch in Java, where costly and endless wars had been waged against the hillmen. Had the die been cast for war rather than peace with the hillmen of the Philippines, the United States would have found a formidable and endless task to conquer and control them. The tribes are numerous and their men are big, upland, and of a fierce and forbearance which never knew peace. Fear is not the quality of their warriors, and they would have been a troublesome enemy.

In gaining their friendship Worcester and his men rendered large service to their country and the cause of civilization and set in motion a work that is unique in the whole relationship between civilization and savagery. These people have great possibilities of development and there falls to the successors of Dean Worcester in the Philippines an important duty to carry forward the task upon which he made such a splendid beginning.

The most important relationship that Dean Worcester has had toward the rest of the Filipino people has been on the side of sanitation and science. It was necessary to wage the battle from many sides. The first requisite was an up-to-date scientific situation that would furnish the best fighting material, and there was created, under Worcester's direction, a great laboratory that has won more acclaim in Europe than it has in the United States.

Another necessity was a modern school of medicine and surgery, and such an institution was founded. Hospitals were another dire necessity, and these were created. Clinics were another need, and these were provided. Nurses were needed everywhere, and training schools for young Filipino women were started. Thousands of lepers were scattered throughout the archipelago, and these were slowly gathered in a great colony founded at Cullon Island. Slowly through the years there was a steady gain against disease and the opposition of the people. The Free Clinic has grown to be the third largest in the world.

Dean Will Tell of Filipinos.
From long official service and the restraints which it consciously imposed upon his impulses, Dean Worcester is coming home to talk to the country about the Philippines. He says that he intends to travel from coast to coast, telling of the great things about the islands and their people, and his message is going to be worth hearing. He knows more about his subject than any other living man.

Mr. Worcester has prepared a series of nine addresses, and their subjects are as follows: "Among the Wild Tribes of the Philippines," "The Headhunters of Northern Luzon," "What the United States Has Done for the Wild Tribes of the Philippines," "Islands of the Philippines," "Commercial Possibilities of the Philippine Islands," "Health Work in the Philippine Islands," "Eradicating the Filipinos," "Modern Manila," and "Is Philippine Independence a Present Possibility?"

Burlesque to Open at Columbia Theater Recently Remodeled New Features Are Planned

Beatrice Darling, who heads the burlesque company which will open the Columbia Theater.

Vaudeville Will Be Put on Between Acts, and Smoking Is Permitted.

Headed by Miss Beatrice Darling, termed the prettiest woman in burlesque, the White Way Burlesque Company, direct from a successful run in Cincinnati, with twenty people in the cast, will open the Columbia Burlesque Theater, end of Wall street, opposite Union Depot, Monday evening, September 15, in "Almost a Husband."

The Columbia has been fitted up into a pretty and comfortable play house, workmen having put in a number of weeks in decorating and arranging for the opening.

Between the regular acts vaudeville features will be put on to do away with the tedium of inter-act waiting. Smoking will be permitted in the theater, and the ventilation is such that those who do not indulge will suffer no inconvenience.

A high standard of entertainment is promised, with plenty of girls who can dance, girls who can sing, and girls picked for their good looks, in addition to amusing comedians.

The first performance will begin at 7:30 Monday night, the prices ranging from 15 cents to 25 cents; boxes 50 cents. No reserved seats.

GEMS SEIZED BY SHERMAN ON MARCH CLAIMED

War Department Asked for Jewelry Taken by Noted General on Invasion of South.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Two persons giving the names of Lord and Lady Banff called at the Treasury Department yesterday and claimed a quantity of jewelry and silver plate said to have been stored there for safe-keeping during the Civil War. They were referred to Sir E. D. Maitland, who said records are being searched in hope of finding the valuables.

Lady Banff, who acted as spokesman, told a dramatic story of how the jewels were sent to the Treasury by General W. T. Sherman from a convent in Columbia, S. C. A record, she said, was sent to the War Department.

During the war, according to the story, the people of Columbia became alarmed lest the Federal soldiers would rob them of the jewelry and silver. They gathered their goods together, made up a list and hid the valuables under the floor of the Ursuline Convent there.

Nuns Revealed Hiding Place.
When General Sherman arrived in Columbia, he set fire to the convent, and the nuns, fearing that the valuables would be forever destroyed, revealed their hiding place.

General Sherman took charge of the property, it is said, and sent it to the Treasury, making full report to the War Department.

Yesterday's visitors saw Byrom Newton, private secretary to Secretary McAdoo, and told him the story. Mr. Newton, on investigation, found that during the war a great deal of jewelry and silver plate had been turned over to the Treasury for safe-keeping. This was kept there, he said, until about ten years ago, when it was sent to the War Department. The visitors were sent to that department.

On arrival there they met John C. Scofield, assistant and chief clerk, who referred them to Colonel H. O. S. Helstead, Acting Adjutant General. They told Colonel Helstead the same story, asking him to let them look at the report made by General Sherman. Lady Banff explained that her mother had placed some of the family jewels in the lot, and that she now wanted to recover them.

Unable to Find Report.
Colonel Helstead made an examination, but failed to find any report made by General Sherman. He called him some of the oldest clerks of the department, but they, too, were unable to remember anything of the kind. Lady Banff insisted that it was there, declaring that when she was a girl she had visited the War Department and had seen it.

Colonel Helstead said that he would make a further investigation, and that he would notify the visitors, who are living in Washington, in Sixth street northwest.

This couple has been living in Washington for some time and has on several occasions been prominent in the news. The man claims the title of the Hon. Robert Walter Finlater Ogilvie, Lord Banff and heir to the earldom of Finlater, Scotland. He is a graduate of three universities: Princeton, Columbia, and West Virginia. Lady Banff was a Southern beauty. It is understood.

DANDRUFF FELL ON COAT COLLAR

Head Broke Out in Pimples Which Festered, Hair Came Out. Head Itched and Burned. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured in 2 Weeks.

604 Greenville Ave., Staunton, Va.—
"My head broke out in pimples which festered. It itched me so that I would scratch it till my head got almost in a raw sore. My hair came out gradually and it was dry and lifeless. Dandruff fell on my coat collar till I was ashamed of it. My head had been that way all summer, itching and burning till I couldn't sleep in any peace."

"I tried salves but it looked like they made it worse. I got — but it did me no good so I got a cake of Cuticura Soap and box of the Cuticura Ointment and you don't know what a relief they gave me. In two weeks my head was well." (Signed) J. L. Smith, Oct. 28, 1912.

For pimples and blackheads the following is the most effective and economical treatment. Gently smear the affected parts with Cuticura Ointment, on the end of the finger, but do not rub. Wash off the Cuticura Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water and continue bathing for some minutes. This treatment is best on rising and retiring. At other times use Cuticura Soap freely for the toilet and bath, to assist in preventing inflammation, irritation and clogging of the pores. Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 25c. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.
