

Leo M. Frank's Fate Is Now in Hands of the Jury; Motion for Mistrial Is Denied by Judge J. S. Roan

Judge Roan Refuses Motion for Mistrial That They Are Not Guilty of Murder

He Discusses "Reasonable Doubt," Declaring That Burden of Proof That Defendant Is Guilty Beyond "A Reasonable Doubt, but Not Beyond All Doubt" Rests Upon the State

GOOD CHARACTER IS MATERIAL, HE DECLARES, BUT DOES NOT SUFFICE IF GUILT HAS BEEN PROVEN

Judge Roan was About Twenty Minutes Reading His Charge to the Jury - The Jurors Leaned Forward and Listened Attentively as He Proceeded - Here Is the Charge in Full, Just as It Was Delivered

Immediately after overruling the motion for a new trial made by Attorney Arnold, Judge Roan began his charge to the jury. He concluded at 12:47.

The judge first charged the jury on the question of reasonable doubt. He said that the presumption of innocence was in the defendant's favor until overcome by a reasonable doubt, not beyond "any doubt," but beyond a reasonable doubt.

He then defined murder, expressed malice, and malice aforethought. He outlined the legal meaning of "direct evidence" and "circumstantial evidence." He declared that the good character of the part of the defendant was relevant and material, but that if good character were proven it would not suffice if guilt were shown.

He then defined for the benefit of the jury the meaning of the word "character." He said that the word meant the creditability of witnesses. He outlined the legal meaning of "direct evidence" and "circumstantial evidence."

The judge concluded that the jury could in its wisdom find the defendant guilty with a recommendation of mercy, which would mean imprisonment for life.

After thanking and admonishing the jury, the judge concluded his charge at 12:47.

Chargé d'Affaires, U. S. Consulate, Mexico City.
Leo M. Frank.
Chargé of the Court.
Gentlemen of the Jury:

This bill of indictment charges Leo M. Frank with the offense of murder. The charge is that Leo M. Frank, in this county, on the 24th day of April of this year, with force and arms, did unlawfully and with malice aforethought kill and murder one Mary Phagan by then and there choking her, the said Mary Phagan, with a cord placed around her neck.

TO TRY THE TRUTH OF THIS ISSUE
PRESUMPTION OF INNOCENCE
Leo M. Frank, the defendant, commences the trial of this issue with the presumption of innocence in his favor, and this presumption of innocence remains with him to shield him and protect him until the state shall overcome it by evidence offered to you, my hearing and presence, sufficient in its strength and character to satisfy your minds beyond a reasonable doubt of his guilt of each and every material allegation made by the bill of indictment.

NOT BEYOND "ANY" DOUBT
You are not compelled, gentlemen, to believe the guilt beyond any doubt, but beyond a reasonable doubt, such a doubt as grows out of the evidence in the case, or for the want of evidence, such a doubt as a reasonable and impartial man would entertain about matters of the highest importance to himself after all reasonable efforts to ascertain the truth. This does not mean a fanciful doubt, one conjured up by the jury, but a reasonable doubt.

ARE EVIL DESIGN, AS MALICE
There is no difference between malice and implied malice as malice in the mode of arriving at the fact of its existence. The legal sense of the term "malice" is not confined to particular animosity to an individual, but extends to an evil design in general. The proper law idea of malice in its sense of revenge, hatred, ill will has nothing to do with the subject. It is an intent to kill a human being in a case where the law would not justify any attempt to take human life. It is an intent which is directed to an end which the law would not justify in its intention if the killing should take place as intended. It is a deliberate intent unlawfully to take human life, whether it springs from malice, ill will or revenge, ambition, avarice or other like passions.

SOLE JUDGE OF CREDIBILITY
Gentlemen, the jury, you are made the sole judge of the credibility of the witnesses and the weight of the testimony of each and every witness. It is for you to take this testimony as you hear it, and in connection with the evidence in the case to arrive at what you believe to be the truth.

THE RULES OF EVIDENCE ARE FRAMED WITH A VIEW TO THIS PROMINENT END
The rules of evidence are framed with a view to this prominent end, to make every man judge of the credibility of the witnesses and the weight of the testimony of each and every witness. It is for you to take this testimony as you hear it, and in connection with the evidence in the case to arrive at what you believe to be the truth.

THE BURDEN OF PROOF IS UPON THE STATE
The burden of proof is upon the state, and it is for you to determine whether the state has proven the guilt of the defendant beyond a reasonable doubt, but not beyond all doubt.

THE STATE MUST PROVE THE GUILT OF THE DEFENDANT BEYOND A REASONABLE DOUBT, BUT NOT BEYOND ALL DOUBT
The state must prove the guilt of the defendant beyond a reasonable doubt, but not beyond all doubt. It is for you to determine whether the state has done this.

IF THE STATE HAS PROVEN THE GUILT OF THE DEFENDANT BEYOND A REASONABLE DOUBT, BUT NOT BEYOND ALL DOUBT, YOU MUST FIND HIM GUILTY WITH A RECOMMENDATION OF MERCY, WHICH WILL MEAN IMPRISONMENT FOR LIFE
If the state has proven the guilt of the defendant beyond a reasonable doubt, but not beyond all doubt, you must find him guilty with a recommendation of mercy, which will mean imprisonment for life.

IF THE STATE HAS PROVEN THE GUILT OF THE DEFENDANT BEYOND A REASONABLE DOUBT, BUT NOT BEYOND ALL DOUBT, YOU MUST FIND HIM GUILTY WITH A RECOMMENDATION OF MERCY, WHICH WILL MEAN IMPRISONMENT FOR LIFE
If the state has proven the guilt of the defendant beyond a reasonable doubt, but not beyond all doubt, you must find him guilty with a recommendation of mercy, which will mean imprisonment for life.

GEORGIA RIFLE TEAM ENJOYS 'CUE IN CAMP'

The Boys Are Doing Some Shooting, as Well as Turkey-Trotting and Eating

By Lieut. J. C. Adolphus. CAMP PERRY, Okla., Aug. 25.—The Georgia rifle team spent a quiet Sunday in camp and enjoyed very much a real old Georgia barbecue with plenty of Brunswick stew, cooked by a real old Georgia negro. The boys felt more at home today than any other time since their arrival at Camp Perry as they stood around the pit and watched Sam put a dash of various kinds of sauce over the pork and onion as it baked over the red hot coals. The barbecue attracted a great deal of attention, as a great many people here had never been so treated in this style. It is needless to say that all enjoyed the dinner very much.

General and Mrs. R. K. Evans and Lieutenant Colonel Thomas were guests of the Georgia team at dinner today. General Evans said that he could not predict how the team would finish in the class, but if it finished as well as appearances indicate it will well up in the class.

All are on edge to get into the national individual match which will be held Monday. This match is one of the greatest honors a man can win in the shooting game. It is expected that several Georgia men will be among the prize winners in this match. The weather conditions have been very favorable in the past few days. The nights are very pleasant and the boys are sleeping in the tent. William Wheeler, of Vidler, Ga., and Sergeant Anderson, of Monroe, Ga., are the top marks in the team. They are great shooters. They even made some of these stars army officers turn their heads and smile by their witty sayings. They are not overly fond of the turkey-trot but they wear the smile that went come of it if they make a good score and smile, and if they make a bad one they are inclined to growl. They are not at all get the score they think they should have made but they are not at all resentful of those boys they have to smile to. They are not at all resentful of those boys they have to smile to.

ONE KILLED, LADIES INJURED, IN SUNDAY WRECK AT SCOTSDALE

Train of Ten Minutes in Engineer's Watch Responsible for Collision Between Georgia Freight and Passenger

A ten-minute variation in a locomotive engineer's watch was responsible for the head-on collision which occurred on the Norfolk railroad at Scottdale Sunday morning at 8 o'clock, causing the death of one person, serious injuries to two ladies and minor injuries to a dozen other passengers, and the almost total destruction of several freight and passenger cars.

Mr. R. T. Cresce, of Carthage, N. C., driver-in-law of Coleman E. Cresce, in Piedmont avenue, Atlanta, sustained injuries to her back, left arm, legs, and left hip.

Those others who sustained minor injuries were brought to Atlanta on a passenger train and were given attention by the railroad's physicians.

The collision was between west bound freight train No. 19 and passenger train No. 2. Both were en route from Augusta to Atlanta. There is a wide curve about three hundred feet east of the Scottdale station and Engineer J. W. Dull, of the freight, says he was rounding this curve in a heavy fog when he first saw the end of the passenger train, which was just pulling away from the station.

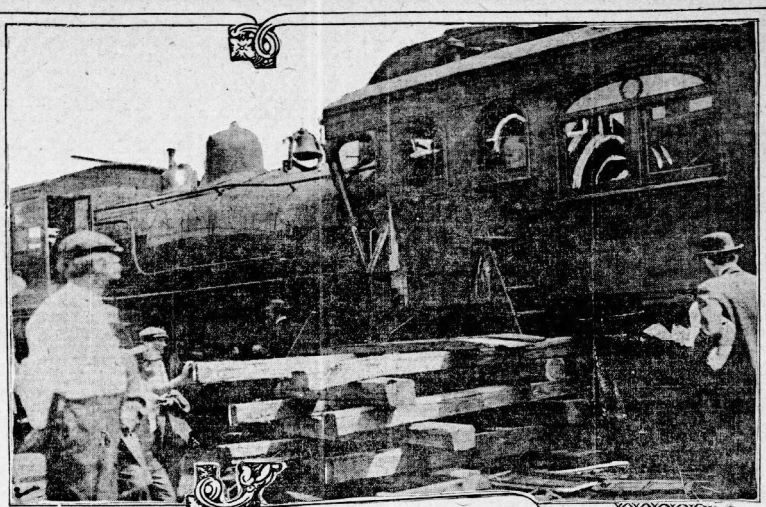

Although going at a rate of but fifteen miles an hour Engineer Dull found it impossible to stop his engine before it crashed into the oak wooden Pullman, which was splintered like kindling wood.

The freight engine ran to the front end, smashed and all into the sleeping car, Engineer Dull struck his front end and brought his train to a stop before he left the cars.

He explained the collision on the ground that he watched against ten minutes from the time he left Augusta at 8 o'clock Saturday night. This he ascertained after the wreck by comparing the timetable with the watches of the other trainmen.

The freight was supposed to be running ten minutes behind the passenger, and Engineer Dull, who was given attention by the railroad's physicians, was supposed to be running ten minutes behind the passenger, and Engineer Dull, who was given attention by the railroad's physicians, was supposed to be running ten minutes behind the passenger.

I finally washed the pimples with Resinol Soap and applied Resinol Ointment before going to bed. In the morning I found the swelling going down, and the inflammation gone from the pimples. I tried this treatment for about a week, and found that most of the pimples had disappeared. I kept the treatment up for about a month, and then my face was clear of all pimples. I have used Resinol Soap since, and find that the pimples do not come back." (Signed) Walter A. Stearnum, 54 Willoughby Ave., Oct. 5, 1912.

NOT A FAIR TRIAL. "Your honor, in the event you do not take cognizance of these facts yourself and certify to them, we stand ready to prove them all. The behavior of the spectators throughout this trial has been disgraceful. This man has had nothing in the world but a fair trial. When Mr. Hester said this a titter ran around the court room. Attorney Arnold whirled and faced the crowd.

"Why, your honor?" he exclaimed, "you can't even keep them quiet now here in the court room. I wish to start in the record, Mr. Stenographer, that while a witness was being examined in support of the motion, quiet a demonstration took place in the court room unfavorable to the defendant. Will you certify to that?"

"I will certify to that," Judge Hooper replied. "When asked who else had charge of the jury on Friday, Mr. Hester named among others Sheriff Drew Liddell."

Latin-American Sympathy For the United States' Policy

One of the most significant and hopeful aspects of the Mexican situation today is the apparent unanimity with which Central and South American governments are supporting the efforts of the United States to effect a peaceful solution of this weighty problem. President Wilson's refusal to recognize the lawless Huerta regime and his insistence that the matter withdraw so that a constitutional order may be established has won the sympathy and moral sanction of practically all Latin America.

This is even more important than the approval and co-operation of the larger Powers such as England, France and Japan; for the interests of these neighboring republics are more directly affected by the policy of the United States; their support of the President's plans is thus a more assured and potent endorsement and will have a larger influence with the Latin American people. It was logically to be expected that the responsible governments of Central and South America would approve a policy which disincorporates the adventures and selfishness who are continually bent upon making trouble. In the outset of his administration, Mr. Wilson made clear his attitude to the Latin republics when he declared, in expressing the hope that "the most cordial understanding and co-operation between the leaders and the peoples of America might prevail."

Conservation of Natural Gas

Natural gas, in the opinion of many people, is the most perfect fuel, and one that must be relied upon to supply much of the coal used in the future. Yet the waste of this substance which has been going on unchecked for years, is estimated to amount to millions of dollars annually. The matter has lately attracted the attention of the United States bureau of mines. An investigation into the subject resulted in the discovery that natural gas in enormous quantities is being allowed to escape unchecked into the air wherever petroleum is being burned. The greatest waste is in Oklahoma, Louisiana and California, where the oil industry has been most recently begun. In Oklahoma at present a million cubic feet of natural gas is escaping every day. This has a daily value of $20,000, or $7,500,000 in a single year.

The waste in Louisiana last year was equivalent to a loss of nearly $5,000,000, and in California it amounted to $8,000,000. Similar wastes in other states make a grand total of at least $20,000,000. The bureau of mines in its effort to check this enormous waste has already accomplished some of the most successful methods devised, a checking of at least $3,000,000 of this waste will be effected during the present year. Natural gas exists wherever petroleum is found. In their efforts to secure oil, quickly, the operators have been burning through the gas veins which lie over the oil deposits and without closing the openings thus made, have permitted the gas to escape. The production of oil in Oklahoma during the last few years has been unduly stimulated, and has brought about a perfect frenzy of speculation. Each operator has been obsessed with the idea of taking out as much rapidly as his competitor. Under the method of "open hole" drilling, additional output was required to conserve the gas and this the operators were not willing to make.

THE WARMAKERS

"Blissed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God." Assured, therefore, are the warmakers, for they shall be called the children of the devil. There is no truth that should be stored with Sinitic fire upon the altars of America so important as this: That in our present relations with Mexico of Japan, or in any thinkable future relations, a better way than war may be discovered to bring about justice and harmony. When Demos is the ruler he is a better man than his betters. The warmakers are with us. Among them are these: The leaven and alien, through you. They are filled with the plague of history, war-worship and intolerance. They see only the thrill of the race, they do not realize the horror of it. Certain business interests, they would invade the value of their foreign holdings, or make gain by supplying arms and munitions to the army, or by some way feather their nests with the profits of organized murder and rapine. Certain politicians who see advancement for themselves in arousing the best of the populace. The army and navy, tired of idleness and eager for adventure, are easily carried away by a wave of war enthusiasm, who sweep aside the wisdom and common sense of the statesmen and plunge into any bloody cause where false and mistaken patriotism is opposed only by reason and justice. War means grafting up mountain high. It means universal waste and extravagance. It means millions of jobs for the unfit. It means a thousand hungry hands thrust into the national exchequer. It means the prostitution of "patriotism" from a high devotion to the public service to the wild violence of a country as civilized as the United States of America can never descend to the snarling methods of the Balkan peoples.

Modern Road Building.

It is within years comparatively recent that most American communities have realized the need of scientific and businesslike methods in road building. A generation ago highways were maintained by unskilled and indifferent labor recruited from the countryside among men who worked out their road tax. In the spring of the year when the neighbors had nothing better to do, they would rally forth in picnic fashion, chop the weeds from the side of the road, heap masses of earth in its middle and then go home content. The first heavy rains would make the road more impassable than ever. Little or no attention was given to problems of drainage or to the question of suitable materials. There was no oversight worth the name, no plan, no system. Little wonder that most highways went from bad to worse and that even the people who were earnestly interested in road improvement grew discouraged.

Governor Sulzer reminds one more and more of the carbonated article. The question in New York as everywhere is simply whether the will of thoughtful, patriotic people can be put into effect, whether practical means to this end can be devised and will be followed. It appears that the Fundamental movement has supplied the necessary means. A committee representing Democrats, Republicans, "Progressives" and independent voters, who realize that New York's one great political need is the overthrow of Tammany, has nominated a ticket which should not fail in its appeal to right-thinking citizens, regardless of ordinary party alignments.

For mayor, they have named John Purroy Mitchell, son of President Wilson recently appointed collector of the port of New York and whose record of service in his city's affairs is clean and impressive. This ticket is rendered especially strong by the name of District Attorney Whitman, who has been nominated to succeed himself. Mr. Whitman displayed magnificent patriotism in refusing to accept the nomination which his own party, the Republican, urged upon him and in finally swinging it into line for the Fundamental ticket. The Fusion movement has forced Tammany to cut about for the ablest and cleanest man it could breathe to head the organization ticket; has compelled it, as one observer remarks with droll satire, to do what it hates to do but sometimes has to do, namely to the better element. Its candidate for mayor is Edward A. McCall, now chairman of the public service commission and recently a supreme court justice. As to Mr. McCall's personal worth, there seems to be no doubt. But the very act that he is Tammany's nominee will suffice to turn against him those voters who realize the supreme importance of breaking the machine's power; for it is a common belief that whoever might be elected mayor of Tammany's choice would, in the long run, be incapable of serving the people's true interests. The progress and result of this three-party campaign will be watched with keen concern throughout the nation. Its central issue, as we have said, is one that affects all cities, all States and the politics of the entire country—the issue of popular rule against machine rule, of government by the people against government by self-seeking bosses.

In the fall of the year the fancy of the young man turns to what college offers the best tuition in football.

Quips and Quiddities

There is a delicious flavor about this story of a Virginia lady married to a man who, though naturally successful in his hunting trips, boastfully spoke of his "hittings." One day, returning from a trip with the usual accompaniment of an empty bag, it occurred to him that his wife had been told of him if he returned without even one proof of his oft-boasted skill. So he purchased a brace of partridges to deceive his trusting spouse. As he threw them on the table in front of her he observed: "Well, my dear, you see I am not so awkward with the gun after all." "Dick," replied the wife, turning from the birds with a grimace, after a brief examination, "you were out in that arm, so these birds today; tomorrow it would have been too late."

Large, through the influence of the oil mines, a strong movement toward the conservation of natural gas is developing throughout the country. This includes preventive measures in the opening of new wells and remedial measures in closing up wells already in operation from which the gas is being lost. It also includes the use of transportation, including well constructed pipes which are especially designed for the purpose. In large quantities cannot be controlled or checked. One of the largest of these wells is in the state of Louisiana. It was closed under the direction of the bureau of mines by drilling another well about 100 feet from the "wild" well. This new well was opened up between the new well and the "wild" well and a large amount of muddy water was pumped in. The sediment soon closed up the pores in the sand surrounding the "wild" well, thus shutting off the gas.

President Wilson can even influence public opinion among the South American revolutions.

TODAY'S BILL OF FARE

Players Who Prove Slow Ridiculous To Others

Every golf course is more or less infested with players who, by reason of their habit of excessive deliberation over the consideration of shots and the playing of shots, ruthlessly waste the time of every other player on the links. The difference between the player that goes round in one hour and the player that takes three hours and a half represents a wide margin of waste.

British Don't Baseball Not Help Athletics Family Game

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The great Olympic fund of $20,000 is not rolling up so fast as the promoters expected. An appeal for this amount, to provide adequately for the British team at the Olympic games in Berlin in 1916 was issued August 17. It was signed by Earl Grey, Lord Roberts, the Duke of Westminster and many other prominent men, but only $12,000 has been subscribed in the first week.

Giants and Mackmen Appear to Have Flags Tucked Away

IF YOU DON'T BELIEVE SODA IS CHARGED, ASK HANK.

--BY FARREN

THE SPORTLIGHT BY GRANTLAND RICE

THE SUMMER VARIETY, ESPECIALLY.
Some think of Heaven as a dream
Above all things that life holds dear;
Of song and love and stars and gleam,
Of spring eternal through the year;
A pitcher's lip—beyond all price
Of dreams that be of tales untold—
I picture Heaven as a place
WHERE NO ONE EVER HAS A COLD.

Some think of Heaven, from knocks,
As golden paved, without a flat;
Where only Johnsons crown the rear,
And only Cobbs and Bakers bat;
For me, Heaven is deep despair,
Beyond its glitter and its gold,
It's quite enough to know up there
THAT NO ONE EVER HAS A COLD.

The next Giant-Pilley series is likely to be crucial in the extreme, a nerve-wrecking one. If the Giants drop the entire series they will only be 7 or 8 games ahead. Or perhaps 9.

Mr. Herrmann states that he doesn't care to discuss the affairs of the club in the newspapers.

If we owned the Reds we'd never attempt to discuss their affairs in the newspapers, either, as long as the United States mail regulations were so severe and invasive.

There's only one safe method of discussing the Reds and that merely involves the issuance of three letters as said discussing begins.

THE PITH OF IT.
Johnson, according to Griff, has been working with a sore arm of late. Griff should take him out and break his shoulder blade or cave in his elbow. Then he might win a game or two.

"The only pitcher my club can't beat," remarked Connie Mack five or six years ago, "is one with a sore arm."

Also the pitcher who hasn't anything but a glove and a prayer—according to the athlete who has just whiffed for the third time.

It all depends upon where you start from. Two years ago Chance considered anything short of the world series a highly successful year. Sixth place today would be a miracle and seventh place a "banter campaign."

POT HUNTING THE LEADER.
Leadership is a big factor in a ball club. But it isn't the entire program. We know of about five managers this waning campaign who would be justified into the straberry if there were any others in sight to take their places. But there are not.

This is true of minor leagues as well as minors. There are not three managers in the minors who know how to train and develop young talent so that it can move along when it reaches the big show.

For a game that has attained such proportions it is next to astounding when one considers the amount of inefficiency shown. Less than 10 per cent of ball players are doing the game the best they have or the study that it needs.

ONE EXAMPLE.
Here's one example. The art of sliding is one of the big features of base running and one of the most important as a bat against injury. Yet in the big league run of sixteen camps there are less than four clubs that have sliding pits and that spend any great amount of time developing this phase of the pastime. And then those managers range a yard against the lack of the game when they have several injured sliding to second—injured because they failed to slide.

"The general inefficiency of the world," wrote Arnold Bennett recently, "makes me weep." He must have been thinking of baseball, for despite all the wonderful advances it has made in certain directions, it is still an unutilized field save in a few scattering cases where brains have been planted with knowledge and energy.

There is no great profession extant which has seen or known such meagre development in comparison to what might be harvested if there were a few more with the ambition of Cobb, Evers, etc.

Burford Wins 13-Inning Contest

Burford drafted Lawrenceville in one of the prettiest games of ball ever played in Burford, in a 13-inning game. Burford won by a score of 3 to 1. His opponents and allowing only 3 runs. Feature of the game was home run of Brogdon tying the score in the eighth and Brogdon's three-base hit in the tenth scoring Martin. McConnell struck a real good game.

JUST NOTES

The following are the dates of the trial matches for the forthcoming season of the British rugby union's international: December 6, England vs. the south; December 20, England vs. the north; January 2, 1914, England vs. Wales; February 14, 1914, England vs. Ireland; March 21, 1914, England vs. Scotland.

Now that the American Football Association has affiliated with the United States of America Soccer League the outlook is bright for some real progress in developing the great English style of football in which the feet play the all-important part.

Bob Armstrong has been engaged to Charley Miller, the promising San Francisco pugilist, and to get in shape for boxing contest with Arthur Pelkey.

The Ski club of Great Britain announces that it has decided to institute a championship open to all British ski runners. The competition will be held during the coming winter.

When Jack Donaldson beat Harry Hutchins' record of 30 seconds for 300 yards at Wrentham, Massachusetts, recently, covering the distance in 29 1/4 seconds, he ran on a grass track, which is one of the fastest in England.

Lake Returned To the Minors

DETROIT, Aug. 25—Another major league veteran of many years has been sent to the minors. President Knaben of the Detroit (American league) baseball club, announced that Pitcher Joe Lake had been released to Minneapolis and that Catcher Rouseau, a recruit, would accompany him there. The two players go to Minneapolis in part payment for Pitcher Cookstock, purchased last week. Lake's last major league appearance occurred Saturday, when New York knocked him from the mound in two innings. Late Sunday night President Knaben of the Detroit (American league) baseball club, announced that Detroit club, at the request of Manager Jennings, would retain Lake for a few days before turning him over to Minneapolis. Mr. Knaben stated that Jennings felt that the Detroit pitching staff was weak at present, and Lake might be needed until one or two of the pitchers who have been injured returned into shape.

Cross-Dundee Bout Is to Be Delayed

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 25—The Loach Cross-Johnny Dundee bout scheduled for September 1 at the Vernon arena, was postponed indefinitely tonight in deference to the death of John Loach. The action was taken at the suggestion of Cross himself on the ground that it would be best to "wait a while."

Further investigation of the cause of Young's death as a result of injuries received in the Vernon arena with Jess Williams probably will await the verdict of the coroner's jury. Agitation continues for legal action to prevent certain fights at Vernon as well as elsewhere in the state.

NOTHING BUT ATHLETICS NEXT SEASON, SAYS MACK

Connie Tells Cleveland Supporters That Naps Had Better Win This Year If They Want a Flag

"If Cleveland is going to win a pennant, it better do it this year, for it is my honest opinion that it will have no chance next year for I believe that I will then have the best team I ever had," which is the remark made by Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics. Connie has little to say about the race this year. He is not given to boasting and has not put in a claim for the championship of 1913, but he is taking time by the forelock and putting in his bid for the 1914 bout.

Connie likes the material he has at hand. He is cautious, he carefully and by virtue of that caution may succeed in winning the title this year. But win or lose this year, he cannot see anything but success ahead next season.

The reasons are many, while Ira Thomas has slowed up and Jack Lapp is not hitting as well as he should and he should improve next year over the great form displayed this season. Connie probably will pick off a youngster this fall to help the former Babylonian and Lapp.

Take his pitchers. Bender and Plank have done grand work this year. They may not be as good next season, but that is what the experts have been saying for years. Jack Coomes must be reckoned as an uncertainty, but looks in better physical condition than he has for several campaigns.

But Connie is counting on his three veterans. He has already quietly announced his plans, which are to use Bush, Shawkey, Brown and Houck regularly in the box in 1914 and give his three veterans a fair amount of rest and only call upon them for relief work and in emergencies.

He asserts, most emphatically, that Bush, Shawkey, Houck and Brown form the best quartet of youngsters in the country, and he counts on them being better in 1914 than this year, when they have shown ability to go along and keep the Athletics in the race.

Then there is no telling just what price Mack will pick up in the draft and by purchase. He got Schanz, Bush and Shawkey this season, and the plums may again fall into his basket.

Of course, Connie has no infield worth mentioning—has no one except Ray Collins, Barry and Baker, only three of whom can hit 25 or better and only four of whom can field with consistent brilliancy. Pretty tough outfit—that's what they say.

They say the weak spot in the Athletics is the outfield. So it is compared with the remainder of the team, but lined up against the outer garden representatives of other clubs, it shows superiority over St. Louis, Washington, Chicago and New York.

Campbell Winner

VANCOUVER, B.C., Aug. 25—Hay Campbell, of Seattle, won the decision over Leo Jov of Altonwa, Pa., at the end of the scheduled ten-round bout at Briggs House arena this afternoon. The fight was an elimination contest for the honor of fighting Champy Willie Ritchie on Labor day at the same arena. Jov could not do much with his heavier and stronger opponent.

Star Golfers At Practice

NEW YORK, Aug. 25—Amateur golfers began to gather today for a week of whetting up their strokes over the links in the Garden City Golf Club, of Long Island, where the national amateur tournament commences next Monday. Entries for the championship close tonight. It is known, however, that the field will be one of the finest the amateur national has known, including crack players of the east and west, as well as a few from abroad. There will be Jack some Travis, holder of the title; his assistant Joe, J. W. Travis, the brilliant young Chicago player; and Norman Hunter, a Scottish interloper. The absence of Warren Wood, the western champion, who was runner-up in the national tournament two years ago, will somewhat weaken the western contingent, but with Evans, Paul Hunter and Mason Phelps, Chicago will have some promising contenders.

Travis' friends assert that their favorite is playing better golf this year than ever before, and that if he strikes his best form there is little chance of his title being wrested from him.

Fredrick Herreshoff, twice a finalist in the national tournament; W. C. Fawcett, Jr., and others also figure prominently among the prospective entrants.

Marshallville Good

MARSHALLVILLE, Ga., Aug. 25—Marshallville defeated Plains two games and tied third. In the first game Marshallville defeated Plains 5 to 3, knocking Carpenter, Plains' star pitcher, out of the box.

On the second game Marshallville pitched a new pitcher and catcher and again defeated Plains, 5 to 2. In the third game Marshallville used same pitcher who had pitched the day before and tied. The score was 5 and 4.
