CHRISTIAN SCIENCE TALK
DRAWS CROWD TO LYRIC

Virgil O. Strickler, Lecturer,
Pays Tribute to Founder of Church

Virgil O. Strickler, a member of the board of lecturers of the First Church of Christ, Seaside, Ore., lectured on Christian Science to an audience which filled the Lyric theatre Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Strickler covered his subject in a clear, concise manner that held the attention of his audience from the first to the last. He told of the life of the founder of the Christian Science church, Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, about whom he said that she was a woman who was not only a religious worker but a business woman.

Two Athens Girls, Who Came Here to Wed, Are Stopped by Irate Father

Romantic dreams were dimly shattered Sunday when Officers Dikam and Siegel took into custody Clara and Minnie Smith, two pretty young girls from Athens, Ga., who had just arrived in Atlanta to become the brides of young Atlanta.

A telegram from the father of the girls, Clever M. Smith, a furniture dealer in Athens, just the officers on the trail and the arrests followed at 14 Rhineland street, where the young men are said to live.

MISS WILSON'S FIANCE HAS VIEWS ON DIVORCE

Francis B. Sayre Shows Difference Between East Side and Fifth Avenue

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Francis B. Sayre, who is to marry Miss Jessie Wilson November 22, today resigned his position as assistant in the district attorney's office. He will go to Washington Thursday to remain there until the wedding.

During the year of Mr. Sayre's service here he has been dealing with abandonment cases and has formed such a liking for the study of social problems that he says he will continue it as far as possible in his new position as secretary to the president of Williams college. Mr. Sayre says that while he has found that strict divorce legislation works a certain amount of suffering he believes in it.

"One trouble today is that we find one law for the rich and another for the poor," he said. "The difference between immorality on the east side and immorality on Fifth avenue is that on the east side when a man is unhappily married he runs away and his wife comes to our office for redress; when the Fifth avenue husband or wife runs away one of the other goes to Reno and they are soon in a position to marry again."

Attendance Increases
Fred Shaffer, secretary-treasurer of the College Park Baptist Sunday school, reports that the attendance Sunday was more than gratifying. Two hundred and fifteen attended, as against 124 who attended the corresponding Sunday of last year.

MINISTERS ASK RETURN OF DR. W. P. LOVEJOY

Resolution Urges Reappointment of Presiding Elder of Atlanta District

Resolutions, indorsing the work here of Presiding Elder W. P. Lovejoy and urging that he be returned to this district by the coming conference, were adopted Monday morning at the regular meeting of the Methodist preachers of Atlanta.

The testimonial was drawn up by Revs. Charles O. Jones, S. B. Bell, Frank S. Hudson, C. V. Weather, A. M. Hueston and H. M. DuBois. The request that Dr. Lovejoy be reappointed to this district was sent by the committee direct to Bishop Denny, who has the power of appointment.

The resolution indorsing Dr. Lovejoy said in part: "He has gone in and out among us in brotherly love and helpful cooperation; he has been aggressive in advancing the interest of Atlanta Methodism, especially in missions and local church extension; he has stood bravely in his place in interdenominational, social and civic work; he has promoted a beautiful harmony among churches, preachers and laymen, and we believe that under his careful and wise leadership Atlanta Methodism has made substantial advance during the last few years, and has rich promise of greater achievement for the future."

Every indication points to record-breaking crowds during the coming Sunday.

IN LOCAL THEATERS

(Criticism of main performances at the local theaters are written by members of the Journal staff. All other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theater managers.)

ATLANTA.—"The Firefly," J. M. Fox, Jr., "The Shepherd of the Hills," J. M. Fox, Jr., "The Firefly," J. M. Fox, Jr., "The Shepherd of the Hills," J. M. Fox, Jr., "The Firefly," J. M. Fox, Jr., "The Shepherd of the Hills," J. M. Fox, Jr.

An unconventional story, a new locale and original musical compositions were the three things borne in mind by Otto Harbach and Rudolph Fenzl when they set out to write "The Firefly," the new comedy opera. In which Miss Edith Thayer is starring this season, and which will be presented at the Atlanta tonight and Tuesday with Tuesday matinee. For the first time since her association with Oscar Hammerstein's Manhattan Opera company Miss Thayer has been afforded an opportunity to display to the full the abundance of talent that is hers and also comes into her own. Mr. Fenzl has furnished this new opera with eight numbers for Miss Thayer's use. There are twenty-two musical numbers. Arthur Hammerstein, who is responsible for "The Firefly," has selected the best supporting cast and chosen to be obtained, with an augmented orchestra.

Millions of delighted readers know June, the primitive, yet charming, mountain girl of the Virginia hills, the heroine of the famous novel by John Fox, Jr., "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine." These same readers have received with delight the announcement of the dramatization of the novel by a famous dramatist, Eugene Walter, and are waiting to see June and John Hale in the flesh. Elaborate stage settings and the strong New York company presenting the play assure it of such success as it would wish the charming June herself. Isabelle Laws is seen in the role of the primitive mountain girl. "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" appears at the Atlanta Wednesday for four nights and a Saturday matinee.

For the place of shepherd. In this regard the famous novel of the Mountain Girl has been made the subject of a play for the "Hearts of the Blue Ridge," which will be presented by the Jewett-Kelley company at the Bijou. Hal Reid, author of "Kobe"

The famous novel of the Mountain Girl has been made the subject of a play for the "Hearts of the Blue Ridge," which will be presented by the Jewett-Kelley company at the Bijou. Hal Reid, author of "Kobe"

There is every promise that the bill this week at the Forest will be up to the standard that has made the theater so popular and so busy. Every sort of the sort that stands the test in Atlanta and the show blends perfectly in comedy, music, song, dance and novelty. Some very distinguished features are on the program and some that have been drafted from Broadway for the one week here, to return immediately to the "Great White Way."

The headline will be Charles Grapewin, the American comedian, assisted by Anne Chance and company in the vaudeville edition of "The Awakening of Mr. Pupp," conceived to be the comedy sketch classic of all vaudeville.

Another strong feature will be the entirely new act of the Big American Dancers, the best of all dancing features in vaudeville.

The Famous Fun Family, Joe Myers and Buster Keaton, will offer an act that promises to be the winner of all comedy blue ribbons.

Heri Erroll, just over from London, who made his first American appearance at the Alabama in New York last week, will be a novelty feature offering an act that promises to be a drawing card and a comedy hit. Jack Comely and Margaret Welch, in their musical absurdity, "The Storm"; Walter James, the singing comedian, and "Three Dimes Shere"; in a pleasing vaudeville act, complete the bill.

For the turkey the ultimatum has gone forth. Huerta is one of those men whom the truth hurts. Indian summer apparently is paying us a return call. The currency bill will doubtless be passed in time to simplify the Christmas shopping.

A Great Day in Georgia.

Tuesday will mark the definite beginning of a new epoch in Georgia—the epoch of independence in supplies and foodstuffs, of raising all we want at home. That is the day, November 18, which has been designated by the Georgia chamber of commerce and proclaimed by the governor and numerous mayors as Georgia Products day, when communally banquets in scores of cities and towns and family dinners in hundreds of private homes will be spread with good things that Georgia has produced.

In many ways the day will be notable, but in none more than in its demonstration of the wonderful versatility of Georgia as a producing state. Meats and vegetables and fruits and nuts—all will be Georgia grown. Some of the feasts will be gathered within single counties, and one will be supplied from the farm of one man. Many of them will be applied for the Georgia trade.

The Atlanta chamber of commerce sets a thousand covers, to be served in the main auditorium, will be perhaps the biggest and most comprehensive among all that are laid out upon the boards that day.

For originating Georgia Products day and planning the uniform program that is to be followed, the Georgia chamber of commerce merits and will receive the appreciation of all thoughtful citizens—for in that it has done a great work for the state. In no other way could the tremendous resources that are here have been presented more strikingly. No other agency could have promoted the movement and led it to successful result. The healthy rivalry that there is between towns and cities has been harmonized in the state chamber of commerce and the great energy which they apply has been directed into the one channel of glorifying Georgia.

Sometimes we think the world doesn't move when we continue to use "forecasted" used, and "like" for "as."

The usual lack of conservation of Christmas trees is in evidence. Did you get that invitation to be the guest of Georgia products?

Mexico must realize now that Uncle Sam stands in pretty well with the rest of the world's powers.

New Era for Georgia Farmers.

Much importance attaches to the announcement that the United States department of agriculture has enlarged the scope of its work in Georgia in co-operation with the state college of agriculture.

In the phase of its activity does the federal government reach the people more directly or more beneficially than in this which dignifies the great work of the farmer by training its novitiates for greater efficiency. Every dollar that is spent upon it is well invested, for its returns are manifold and immediate. It would be almost futile to attempt a close estimate of what the corn clubs have done for Georgia. The amount spent upon their encouragement is so inconsiderable when compared with the rich harvests they have yielded that the reckoning hardly could be made.

Banding a predilection upon the success of the corn clubs and the girls' canning clubs, it is safe to anticipate that within a very few years Georgia's whole grain yield will have become tremendous; pork raising will have become a recognized and well understood industry; and the breeding of live stock, for which Georgia now is sending millions each year to other states more enterprising, will have stopped that heavy outflow.

Such work as this has a great constructive purpose. Its value to Georgia cannot be overestimated. The world do move. A law against slavery has been passed in the Philippines.

Now that Jaures has fallen into the hands of the rebels, what will be the status of the race?

The loss of last year's resolutions needn't deter you from making new ones at the new year.

The governor of Delaware advocates the whipping post; and who is the governor of Delaware, anyhow?

President Wilson has made it sufficiently clear to the countries on our border that he isn't in favor of annexation.

Morality, Too, Begins at Home.

Charity is not the only virtue that begins at home. There is the wrapping of morality also. It is an old truism, but its reiteration is in order, for it is all too apt to be forgot.

A speaker in the recent International Purity Congress at Minneapolis brought it to mind again. Chief G. Ross, delegate named by the secretary of state upon direction of the United States congress, noted that parental neglect of daughters which lets them grow up like weeds on the prairie. Mr. Ross committed, however, two errors. He limited his exhortation to those parents who possess means, and he limited it also to neglect of daughters. He should have included all parents, poor and wealthy alike, and he should have included sons with daughters.

The mother who neglects her home for societies, theaters and card parties is to be censured; but the censure must be shared by the mother who neglects her other interests that these have enumerated. Mr. Ross committed, however, two errors. He limited his exhortation to those parents who possess means, and he limited it also to neglect of daughters. He should have included all parents, poor and wealthy alike, and he should have included sons with daughters.

Similarly, the fathers who show a keener interest in their business properties than do in those of their infinitely greater assets of the home are to be blamed, but they are not alone in the wrongdoing. The fathers who have no business properties, who live from year to year on salaries, or from week to week on small wages, must be brought within the said censure.

Parents and children of all degrees and both sexes constitute the great American home where morality must begin. It is there, and the mistake made in after life will be but an accident. Formative measures with morality are the best, the easiest and the most natural. Apply them in the home, and curative measures will be less and less useful as the generations succeed each other upon earth.

Congress, however, will be given plenty of time and opportunity for new year resolutions.

The poetry of Indian summer is given something of a discord by the looming high price of coal.

Let Us Help the Postmaster.

The ways in which the public can co-operate with the postal authorities for better service are numerous, and among them the simplest is that of addressing mail correctly. An appeal to Atlantians to help him to this extent has been issued by Postmaster Bolling H. Jones of the local office.

Were those who put incomplete addresses on their mail the only ones to suffer by that carelessness, the delay would impose its own penalty. But unfortunately they are not alone. All other mail that is wanting to be assorted or delivered is retarded just so much by such places which cause the distributors to stop and puzzle and investigate. The entire flow of mail through the Atlanta office is made slower by these examples of thoughtlessness.

For the first time in a number of years, Atlanta has now a Democratic administration in her post-office. Postmaster Jones is actuated by a laudable ambition not only to make good on his own account, but to help the entire postal department in that same effort.

Therefore, even the smallest detail of co-operation will help measurably. By addressing mail correctly, Atlanta can dispatch and receive her letters with greater speed. That means a higher rating for the local postoffice and a corresponding increase in the efficiency of the whole department. Let's see that slipshod address cannot be charged against us.

No, Cordella, practice doesn't always make perfect. Even good physicians occasionally lose a patient.

Football is getting to that established state where it is not necessary to be a college graduate to enjoy it.

Song Against Women

Who should I sing of women? And the softness of night. When the dawn is lost with battle And the day's teeth bite.

And there's a sword to lay my hand to And a man's fight.

Who should I sing of women? There's life in the sun, And red adventure calling Where the roads run And cherry brews at the tavern.

I've sung of a hundred women And a hundred lands. But all their love is nothing But drifting sand.

I'm sick of their tears and kisses And their pale hands.

I've sung of a hundred women And their thought lips. But out on the clearest horizon I can hear the whips Of great, strong ships.

And the trails that run to the Westward Are abet with fire, And the winds that roar from the headlands With ancient ire.

So I'll send no more to women And the softness of night. But I'll follow the red adventure And the man's fight. And I'll sing of the sea and of battle And of men's might.

MAN, PROUD MAN

BY DR. FRANK CRANE (Copyright, 1913, by Frank Crane)

Man, proud man, is a considerable fellow. He takes the horse, shows the lion, harnesses the steam and the lightning, and all that sort of thing; but every once in a while nature hands him a bolt and brings it home to him that after all he is but a large worm.

Worms have a nice time carrying on their worm affairs and doubtless thinking this worm-world is a pleasant place in which to wriggle and eat cabbage leaves. Under some huge cranberry cones, along and steps on them. And against this calamity falling upon them from outside their ken they have never protested.

Man thinks he has mastered the sea with his huge steamships. One night the biggest boat he ever made bumps into an iceberg and goes down as easily as a smashed egg. It breaks out on the Voltour, and before its destruction he is helpless.

Science has made amazing progress. But it has made calamities also greater. The storm that raged over the Great Lakes November 9 and 10 was a rude reminder of how terrible may be the cruel forces that lie in wait all about us. For sixty hours the wind whipped the waves; seventeen lives are known to be lost, probably there are many more, three steamers and a schooner, and a dozen were driven ashore. The damage in money will run into the millions.

The same day the ocean showed his teeth. Six liners reached port several days late. Five human beings were killed, and the loss of property was enormous when a wrench was thrown after the Prinz Friedrich Wilhelm.

And also the angry elements were busy. At Cleveland twenty-one inches of snow fell. Five men were buried alive. There were no deliveries of groceries, bread, milk, or coal, and suffering was widespread. Trains were stalled. Telegraph lines were down. The loss, it is estimated, two million dollars.

But, for that matter, are we not all waiting in the mid of danger, never to be disturbed, that these things?

Fifty thousand people die every hour. All over the world, one by one, they drop. The passage of souls into the unknown is like the swift paring of the electric wire.

Microbes crowd our air, water, and food. Deaths and diseases are common, inevitable. This is not a sermon. It is a plain statement of what everybody knows.

What to do? Why, the least we can do is to live on such a plane that we are ready to go or stay. No better hope upon this earth, without thinking about the familiar words of Bryant's "Thanatopsis."

So live, that when thy summons comes to join The innumerable caravan which moves To that realm where the spirits of men go, Thine chamber in the silent halls of death, Thou go not, like the quarry slave at night, To a dull unfurling inn of mortal woe.

Danger in Talking

Verbalism isn't a new disease—in fact, it is ancient—but its terrible dangers to society are just beginning to be realized, says Dr. Louis, a Russian writer on the subject of verbalism, who is warning of a dangerous disease and a menace to civilization.

Civilization is responsible for it, in his opinion, and nothing but strenuous action will prevent its ravages on those afflicted can stop its deadly ravages. And he urges humanity to inaugurate a campaign against verbalism and against those who are its agents.

Progress is decidedly hindered, he goes on to say, by an unfeeling and unfeeling attitude of the teacher and the minister and the doctor. According to his theory, human language developed for the purpose of verbalizing, and not for the purpose of writing. Then people, like pianists who can read difficult compositions without talking about them, acquired the power to talk without thinking about what they were saying. So words became possible without their being in the mind of the speaker.

If it were impossible to speak without thinking, Mr. Louis insists that the greater part of mankind would grow dumb in a few years. For fear of being created that think men are nothing but meaningless talking machines. They carry with them the mental material of verbalism, which is determined by a power over which they have no control.

When the words become divorced from the ideas, talking becomes pathological, a disease, for a man's intelligence is not measured by the number of words he speaks, but according to his power of comprehension. Idiots frequently express themselves with great facility, while men of genius are often able to talk in the most unconvincing manner.

Verbalism, he insists, afflicts numbers of people who are in other respects quite normal and whose minds are not overtaxed. Unfortunately, from talking part in the regular business of everyday life. Among these are the public leaders of society and political parties, and also habitual gossip, when he places in the same class as disseminators.

There is an absolute need for places where gossip and social wrecks of various descriptions can pick themselves up. Otherwise there is infinite future work and disaster which will be world-wide—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

THE CANNING INDUSTRY

IV. ITS PART IN FOOD CONSERVATION. BY FREDERICK F. HASKIN.

The canning industry as a manufacturing and commercial enterprise has been developed and improved methods, and the increasing demand for consumption will permit. How great is the service thus rendered, the canning industry can not do much more in this line than it is now doing. The chief desire now is to encourage canning of fruits and vegetables in the domestic kitchen—to save that which new goods was waste on the farm.

It is apparent, however, to students of the food supply and the problems of conservation that the commercial canning factory cannot hope to do much more in this line than it is now doing. The chief desire now is to encourage canning of fruits and vegetables in the domestic kitchen—to save that which new goods was waste on the farm.

More home canning, done at the proper season, would enable the average family to have fruits and vegetables in the home, would greatly reduce the cost of the food supply in the family budget and would save an astonishing amount of food that now is utterly wasted. The daily average of all the vegetables, fruits and berries that grow in the country go to waste, simply because they are produced in quantities where marketing facilities are inadequate and where housewives have not learned to care for their surplus products efficiently, so as to make them available for use in the winter months.

The practical, sensible work being done in the rural districts, especially in the north, by the girls' tomato club is having a tremendous effect on living conditions in rural communities. These clubs, organized in connection with the public schools, have worked many interesting projects.

In the first place, they encourage good gardening by stimulating the desire of each girl to grow good, sound tomatoes, and as many of them as possible. They incite a knowledge of domestic science which is quite unknown in many rural districts by teaching the physics of canning, the proper conditions in the club must know how to pack their tomatoes properly.

They advance the cultural standard of living by giving to girls who never had any spending money whatever a supply of money, although it may be small, but can be used in the most judicious and profitable ways. They make the girls more self-reliant and give them a supply of vegetables to the family table during the winter months, where, in many cases, the diet has consisted of nothing but bread and butter.

The girls' tomato clubs are primarily an expression of the prevailing sentimentality of the day. The Boys' Clubs were organized first and were tremendously successful. The girls' tomato clubs are a natural outgrowth of the boys' clubs. The tomato club were the result of the girls' demand to be "just like the boys."

As a matter of fact, the girls' tomato clubs are a new innovation. The clubs began their canning work with packing tomatoes and tomatoes are still the chief product put up. However, these clubs pack all sorts of fruits and berries, and in Mississippi, by taking care of the fig crop the girls' clubs are actually laying the foundation for a practically new branch of the canning industry.

As has been said, fully one-half of the vegetables and fruits grown in this country go to waste. And yet the canning industry in this country is steadily increasing. Last year the commercial tomato packing amounted to 1,000,000 cases. This year it is estimated that 215,000,000 cases, followed by green peas with 183,000,000 cases, and corn with 100,000,000 cases. The population of the country is 96,000,000, representing the population of the country. Surely four cases of tomatoes, three cases of peas and one case of corn per year is not a large consumption for the average man.

This means, of course, that many people cannot afford to buy canned goods from grocery stores in unthought of. In the country homes, and in the poorer homes in the towns, that the domestic canning industry has its beneficent future.

Home canning undoubtedly may be used to reduce the cost of living in the family. Even those who are accustomed to use canned goods in the winter do not realize that they sometimes pay a good price for transportation and the cost of shipping from distant sections of the country, when in their own neighborhoods in the summer months a surplus of the same product goes to waste.

The department of agriculture, in impressing this point on the farmers, took for example a can of tomatoes bought in the winter time in a certain town in Colorado for 15 cents. This can of tomatoes was put up in Maryland. The people of the town where it was bought live in an irrigated district where there is always a surplus of tomatoes in the summer. Yet they paid a high price for canned tomatoes, transported from an distant Maryland, when they might have put up a similar can during the summer season in their own town at the cost of about a profit in their own grocery stores for 5 cents.

The canning factories, of course, that they will not be induced by a great increase in home canning, such as the agricultural and conservation experts hope to bring about. Many people, however, are beginning to use the commercial products, because they have neither the time, facilities or knowledge to can their own food. On the other hand, the increase in home canning will accustom people generally to a greater consumption of canned products, and, therefore, will have a stimulating effect on the commercial branch of the industry.

It is interesting to note that the canning industry in this country now finds its chief inspiration in two laboratories. One is that maintained by the National Canners' association, where chemical engineers and bacteriologists are co-operating with practical factory men to do everything possible to attain the scientific perfection in their business.

Another laboratory which has the interest of the home canner at heart, is maintained in the office of farm management at the department of agriculture. This laboratory is not what is known as a "modern" well equipped laboratory. In fact, it is nothing more or less than an ordinary, everyday kitchen. It is equipped with no utensils that are not available in every farm house. In this laboratory, recipes that are practicable for home use are thoroughly tested and a gladly furnished to any housekeeper upon application. A description of several kinds of simple canning can be obtained by writing to the office of farm management, which is available for the ordinary home in a plain bulletin issued by the department of agriculture.

The department hopes that this kitchen laboratory will aid the girls' tomato clubs in greatly increasing the amount of home canning that will be done in the United States next summer.

Judge Hammond Hunts Sparrows on Augusta's Streets in Early Morn

BY BETTE DORR. AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 17.—When James Greene street, in the neighborhood of the federal building between Campbell and Jackson streets, opened its eyes at the usual Saturday morning in the neighborhood of S. Park, the residents were startled by the sharp report of a rifle at intervals of a few minutes.

Drawn shooters were thrown open to the Indian summer sunbeams and a score or more heads clad in night caps peered from the windows, while the more cautious, having to mind the trouble in Mexico, just poked from the window slats. It was so common that to hear the popping of a rifle in that exclusive neighborhood.

As a matter of fact there was no real cause for alarm. Judge Henry C. Hammond, of the superior court of Richmond county, with the first touch of "rough" fingers, had emerged from his study to his Albatross hotel, armed with his trusty rifle and accompanied only by McClellan, his Albatross hotel.

On the morning of last week he had reported from Paris today have been under police investigation in Europe. The police believe the robbers have been committed by the same band of thieves, which has ramifications all over Europe.

PANAMA HAS TROUBLE WITH CHINESE QUESTION

Stores and Laundries Closed Protest Against New Registration Law

By Associated Press. PANAMA, Col., Nov. 17.—The Chinese question assumed a serious turn in the city and the chamber of commerce committee hopes materially to lessen the crowded conditions.

The ordinance has been tentatively drafted by Assistant City Attorney W. D. Ellis Jr. and will be gone over thoroughly.

The demonstration was an effort to compel the Panama government to rescind its program relative to the new registration law. This law compels Chinese residents to take out new certificates of registration and pay an additional fee for older Chinese who are unable to do so.

WORKED FOR ONE FIRM CONTINUOUSLY 72 YEARS

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Nov. 17.—In the employ of one firm continuously for seventy-two years was the record of Joseph F. Johnston, who died here today at the age of eighty-three years. Johnston went to work for a company established in 1841 when seven years old. He remained with the concern and lived to see it pass under the control of several branches of the same family.

STEAMER AND BARGE LOST IN LAKE HURON'S STORM

PORT HURON, Mich., Nov. 17.—The steamer Wyoming and the barge Galena, a crew of twenty-three men are believed to have foundered in the recent storm which swept Lake Huron. It was thought the Wyoming was near Saginaw Bay when the storm hit.

SULZER'S SUCCESSOR TO WRESTLE WITH PRICES

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The task of living people will be up for attempt at solution and the working of a conference arranged by Governor Martin H. Glynn with the heads of railroads over which most of the state's food supply is transported and with a number of economists. The conference will be the new state executive's first step toward the formation of a legislative program to reduce prices of food stuffs in New York state.

DR. E. C. DAVIS NAMED CHIEF GUARD SURGEON

Dr. E. C. Davis, the well-known Atlanta physician, was appointed chief surgeon of the Georgia national guard by Adjutant General J. Van Holt Nash today. The conference will be the new state executive's first step toward the formation of a legislative program to reduce prices of food stuffs in New York state.

SICK, SOUR STOMACH, INDIGESTION OR GAS

"Pape's Diaperin" makes upset stomachs feel fine in five minutes

Wonder what upset your stomach—what position of the food did the cause—do you? Well, don't bother. Let your stomach be in a revolt; if you feel gassy and upset and what you eat has fermented into acrid, burning, head-dizzy and aching, belch gases and acids and create undigested food, breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diaperin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diaperin occasion ally keeps this delicate organ regulated, they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your food it will rebel. If you are a woman, remember the quickest, surest help is a dose of Pape's Diaperin, which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful, it digests food and settles things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach. It's unnecessary.—(Adv.)

STRENGTH FOR OLD PEOPLE

A Simple Remedy Which Favours Longevity

Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. Still New Suits Are Arriving And Styles Seem to Grow Prettier as the Season Advances. Fresh out of their boxes today and ready for you bright and early in the morning are new suits! New not only in that they are just arrived, but new in fashioning and trimming, in the LITTLE details that women notice. But our ability to keep the new, fresh and smart things coming in like this tells better than any words of ours, the satisfaction that choosing your suit here brings. It is because women like the styles they find here that we are enabled to do this. Prices? Today's news concerns suits at many prices--- at $18.75, at $25.00, at $29.75, at $37.50, at $40.00. One would think we had specialized, brought the full weight of our buying organization to crowd value into suits at every one of these prices---and one would not be far wrong. The suits show their great worth. Styles? Myriad and charming; trimmed suits, (fur on many,) plain suits that in some way or another are novel, are not plain in the sense that we are accustomed to. Surprises in store for the woman in search of a suit! There are little Dutch boy and girl dolls in The Toy Store, (in the Bazaar) that have been pictured and written about in magazines of a dozen countries. Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co.

ATLANTA NEW YORK PARIS

The New Fashions in Muslim Underwear

Novelties that Paris Worked Out for Her "Dansant"

It is customary to call Paris very frivolous. It may or may not be true. Regardless, she is very serious about being frivolous. She turns to dancing with all her heart and then gravely proceeds to work up fashions for it.

Tomorrow, we shall show Atlanta novelties in Muslim Underwear that Paris evolved for her "dansant" and other novelties that follow the scheme of things just now.

- Camisoles of plain chiffon in pinks, light blues and lavender, with an underlining of Dresden chiffon, trimmed with hand-made roses. Camisoles of net, point d'esprit and shadow laces, with wide satin bands and bows underneath. $1.50 to $5.00. Tanga Garters, that are dainty bits of net, edged with laces or of accordion plaited silks that hang gracefully about the ankles. $2.95 to $5.00. Tissue Petticoats and Crepe de Chine Petticoats, light as a butterfly's wing, deep flounces of shadow laces, spilt at the side. Silk Jersey Petticoats, the flimsiest Jersey we have known, laces and ribbons in the flat flounce.

In all a display of muslin underwear such as you have never been invited to see in Atlanta. Every garment is selected with that excellent taste that abhors the gaudy and turns instinctively to quiet daintiness. See it!

Atlanta Stages South's Biggest Football Event Saturday

Georgia Plays Auburn for the Southern Title

Alabama and Georgia Colleges Have Eliminated All Contenders for South's Premier Grid Honors and Will Play for Championship Here

Without a shadow of a doubt by another team to defeat their claim to title as the football supremacy of the south, the University of Georgia and Alabama Polytechnic Institute, of Auburn, Ga., teams will battle at Poncey park on next Saturday afternoon.

Both teams have done their share toward eliminating the usual contenders for the title. Auburn counted out the formidable teams from Mississippi A. and M. Louisiana State and Vanderbilt.

Georgia eliminated Alabama, Clemson and Tech, and at the last named put Poncey, who had lost to Tech by a large score, out of the running.

For eighteen times these teams have met, but never before has the title rested on the result of their game. The first of these games was played in 1893 and with only a few minutes difference have been at it since. Last season Auburn has won eight, Georgia seven and two have been ties.

For the second time in his history Auburn may be champion. In 1906, the Alabama won the title, by being unbeaten during the season and defeating Sewanee, who had the only other Vanderbilt team that had not tasted defeat last year. Last season Auburn tied Vanderbilt for the southern championship with scores 17-17, while Georgia had a fair claim at the title by defeating Auburn 14-0.

As far as is known today Auburn played through her game with Vanderbilt without any serious injuries.

Five Georgia players were injured in the game, according to Coach Cunningham. Last Sunday, but these injuries are not serious and it is believed that they will be able to put the best she has on the field next Saturday.

They may be lost from the backfield, but they may be back, according to Coach Cunningham says. He will try to make up for the loss of these players by using the reserves.

Both Sewanee and Vanderbilt undoubtedly saw the chief danger in the coming of the invasion of Georgia into the south. They have been making every effort to uphold the prestige of the S. A. A. football outside the association.

Vanderbilt played two real games with outside teams and each one of them was a close one. The Michigan game played from Brown on the hospital list, while the Virginia game rendered Buddy Morgan "out" for the season.

The presence of these two teams would strengthen the Commodore at least 25 per cent.

Seawee has lost but one game this season to Tech. The loss of Helmsman eliminated Cobb's machine from the running, but, with the exception of the Jackey, never had the Tigers been stopped by the Commodore.

The game clearly proved this, because Sewanee defeated Auburn 10 to 7, while Auburn defeated Tech 14 to 0. The same score was piled up on Tech. If Sewanee had the same record as Auburn, but it can at least be said, in all justice, that the Commodore has a great factor in the Jackey's favor.

Sox Take Both Games Sunday

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—The Chicago Americans won two games from the New York Giants here yesterday, tying the Giants in the number of games won by each team since the world tour began. Each club has won fourteen games. The teams last met last night for Madison, Ore. Christy Mathewson and "Chief" Meyers, of the Giants, did not accompany the team on their agreement with Manager McGraw having been to leave the club here. The scores:

MORNING GAME. R. H. E. Chicago... 412 619 102-11 14 2 New York... 112 101 101-11 12 2

Instead of Teeling It Up on a Little Mound of Sand, Gluing His Eye on It, and Swatting It to Him, So That He Can Wallop It Right

By Rogers Winter

TECH has perfected a new system of driving golf balls. Instead of teeing it up on a little mound of sand, gluing his eye on it and swatting it, Tyrus prefers to have his caddy pitch the ball to him in such a way that he can strike the ground in front of him and bounce up an inch or so.

The first and final rule for every other player in the world except Tyrus Cobb is to keep the eye on the ball.

By Tyrus, having gotten his preliminary soft training in the college league, where all pitchers look more or less alike to his batting timber, he is not accustomed to keeping his eye on the ball.

When he was a player at the ball doesn't keep his eye on the ball, he says, "That is keeping his eye on the ball is not the thing that counts."

"A man hits a baseball by instinct," says Tyrus, "he sends the ball where he wants it to go. He doesn't try to keep his eye on the ball, he just lets it go. If he did, he'd be hitting average would be almost zero or thereabouts. A man hits by instinct in the game of baseball."

Keeping his eye on the ball didn't seem to help him a little bit. He seemed to connect better if he would let the ball go on its own. Tyrus hit upon his system.

"The ball is still there that's why you can't hit," says Tyrus, "that's why you can't hit. You don't swing when you see the ball, you swing when you don't see it."

Jimmy Craig Back In Michigan Lineup

Captain Ernest E. West, Who Organized First Eleven in 1890, Saw Red and Black Triumph Saturday - His Team Started Southern Inter-Collegiate Athletics

Captain Ernest E. West, the man who organized the first football team of Georgia Tech, is in Atlanta for a number of several days, having come in Saturday morning and Saturday evening to a ticket to the Tech-Georgia game.

Captain West is in the United States navy navy, stationed at St. Inez, Texas, near Washington, D. C., and is now on leave of absence.

It was back in 1890, when professor of Tech, that Captain West put the first Yellow Jacket football team on the field. In addition to the game, he was the center of gravity in the building of the team for a man on a moment's notice. Captain West had a position in Tech which corresponded to that now designated by the title, director of athletics.

There being no such thing as a S. I. A. executive committee to worry in those days, Captain West started a backstab on his team and filled the ranks of captain. He arranged a schedule of games which was the beginning of the intercollegiate athletics in the south.

In 1902 Captain West accepted a position at the Atlanta Boys' High school and succeeded as football captain at Tech by Leonard Wood, now major general in command of the United States army.

While the rules of football show that fundamentals of the game are the same today, and Captain West and General Wood are the same in the way of the game, the game has been changed in the hands of the man in charge. It is not the same game as it was in the hands of the man in charge.

"I don't know whether you happen to see it," said Captain West, "but Saturday evening Tech had a very rough story to tell, or so ago to the club. General Wood owes his position as commander-in-chief of the United States army to the fact that he made a hit with Theodore Roosevelt, while the club was president by his athletic ability. I could have given General Wood a board and sent him way to the top."

There's a good deal of truth in the story, though of course General Wood has military as well as athletic ability. But I don't know what was happened at that period in American history. I could have given General Wood a run for his money in the athletic line.

President Roosevelt's private letter could be right under my office window. I've looked out many a day and seen his General Wood sitting it up. Some of the best tennis players myself in the world, unless I'm mistaken I once won the championship of Georgia and Texas. I had no idea what General Wood was up to."

Jimmy Craig, brother of the famous Olympian winner, is playing in the backfield at Michigan again this season. Craig had decided to give up football this season, but when the team's weakness became apparent Craig hardened to Tech's appeal and put on his uniform. His wonderful speed has been a big help.

Georgia League Prospects Good

Three Cities Already Making Preparations for Fast Teams in 1914 Season

(Special Dispatch to the Journal.)

WATFORS, Ga., Nov. 17.—With three cities of the Georgia State league, otherwise known as the Empire State league, making plans at this early date for the 1914 season, it is freely predicted that next "play ball" in the spring of next year the Georgia league will start what will prove to be one of the most successful seasons ever enjoyed by a class D organization.

Valosta is signing players now. Ametous is figuring on getting Perry Lips, manager of the Savannah team in the South Atlantic circuit, has practically closed with "play ball" for another year, and Watfords expects to sign a manager early in December. Brunswick and Thomasville fans are saying little, but having no time in signing players for 1914.

The new officers of the league are well known over the circuit, and it is believed they will save the league from a blow-up by insuring that the salary limit of $1,000 be observed. Directors are discussing the change in the league's constitution that will add a new step in making next year's season the best possible. Fans in all cities are growing impatient for the winter to come to an end and the spring practice season to open. According to the hope handed out, each city expects to win the pennant, and as this is impossible, the same winter does little will have five scrappy teams to dispose of.

Watfords is going to maintain the same organization, with W. L. Clark president and D. B. McMillan secretary. The mark here will be improved during the winter and bleachers enlarged.

Mique Finn has claimed every Giant for his 1914 Turley except Mathewson and Demaree. Why not get the full length, Mike, it costs no more.

Georgia League From Princeton Game

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 17.—After Saturday's strenuous game with Princeton, the Yale varsity football team will return to the Country club at Fairfield, Conn., to recuperate. The squad will return this afternoon for light practice on Yale field. All the players except Carter, whose eye was hurt, came out of the game without injury. Princeton's Mack says Carter will be able to play against Harvard Saturday.

Directors are discussing the change in the league's constitution that will add a new step in making next year's season the best possible. Fans in all cities are growing impatient for the winter to come to an end and the spring practice season to open. According to the hope handed out, each city expects to win the pennant, and as this is impossible, the same winter does little will have five scrappy teams to dispose of.

Watfords is going to maintain the same organization, with W. L. Clark president and D. B. McMillan secretary. The mark here will be improved during the winter and bleachers enlarged.

Mique Finn has claimed every Giant for his 1914 Turley except Mathewson and Demaree. Why not get the full length, Mike, it costs no more.

Valosta is signing players now. Ametous is figuring on getting Perry Lips, manager of the Savannah team in the South Atlantic circuit, has practically closed with "play ball" for another year, and Watfords expects to sign a manager early in December. Brunswick and Thomasville fans are saying little, but having no time in signing players for 1914.

The new officers of the league are well known over the circuit, and it is believed they will save the league from a blow-up by insuring that the salary limit of $1,000 be observed. Father of Tech Football Comes Back on Visit

Captain Ernest E. West, Who Organized First Eleven in 1890, Saw Red and Black Triumph Saturday - His Team Started Southern Inter-Collegiate Athletics

Captain Ernest E. West, the man who organized the first football team of Georgia Tech, is in Atlanta for a number of several days, having come in Saturday morning and Saturday evening to a ticket to the Tech-Georgia game.

Captain West is in the United States navy navy, stationed at St. Inez, Texas, near Washington, D. C., and is now on leave of absence.

It was back in 1890, when professor of Tech, that Captain West put the first Yellow Jacket football team on the field. In addition to the game, he was the center of gravity in the building of the team for a man on a moment's notice. Captain West had a position in Tech which corresponded to that now designated by the title, director of athletics.

There being no such thing as a S. I. A. executive committee to worry in those days, Captain West started a backstab on his team and filled the ranks of captain. He arranged a schedule of games which was the beginning of the intercollegiate athletics in the south.

In 1902 Captain West accepted a position at the Atlanta Boys' High school and succeeded as football captain at Tech by Leonard Wood, now major general in command of the United States army.

While the rules of football show that fundamentals of the game are the same today, and Captain West and General Wood are the same in the way of the game, the game has been changed in the hands of the man in charge. It is not the same game as it was in the hands of the man in charge.

"I don't know whether you happen to see it," said Captain West, "but Saturday evening Tech had a very rough story to tell, or so ago to the club. General Wood owes his position as commander-in-chief of the United States army to the fact that he made a hit with Theodore Roosevelt, while the club was president by his athletic ability. I could have given General Wood a board and sent him way to the top."

There's a good deal of truth in the story, though of course General Wood has military as well as athletic ability. But I don't know what was happened at that period in American history. I could have given General Wood a run for his money in the athletic line.

President Roosevelt's private letter could be right under my office window. I've looked out many a day and seen his General Wood sitting it up. Some of the best tennis players myself in the world, unless I'm mistaken I once won the championship of Georgia and Texas. I had no idea what General Wood was up to."

Jimmy Craig, brother of the famous Olympian winner, is playing in the backfield at Michigan again this season. Craig had decided to give up football this season, but when the team's weakness became apparent Craig hardened to Tech's appeal and put on his uniform. His wonderful speed has been a big help.

Georgia League Prospects Good

Three Cities Already Making Preparations for Fast Teams in 1914 Season

(Special Dispatch to the Journal.)

WATFORS, Ga., Nov. 17.—With three cities of the Georgia State league, otherwise known as the Empire State league, making plans at this early date for the 1914 season, it is freely predicted that next "play ball" in the spring of next year the Georgia league will start what will prove to be one of the most successful seasons ever enjoyed by a class D organization.

Valosta is signing players now. Ametous is figuring on getting Perry Lips, manager of the Savannah team in the South Atlantic circuit, has practically closed with "play ball" for another year, and Watfords expects to sign a manager early in December. Brunswick and Thomasville fans are saying little, but having no time in signing players for 1914.

Georgia League From Princeton Game

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 17.—After Saturday's strenuous game with Princeton, the Yale varsity football team will return to the Country club at Fairfield, Conn., to recuperate. The squad will return this afternoon for light practice on Yale field. All the players except Carter, whose eye was hurt, came out of the game without injury. Princeton's Mack says Carter will be able to play against Harvard Saturday.

Valosta is signing players now. Ametous is figuring on getting Perry Lips, manager of the Savannah team in the South Atlantic circuit, has practically closed with "play ball" for another year, and Watfords expects to sign a manager early in December. REVISED FOOTBALL.
 (He entered from somewhere around 1908.)
 One night while I was dreaming
 The grand old moon was beaming,
 I thought I bumped a football near
 Where not a bulb blew was near:
 Where not a blooming cone was soaked,
 Where not an old, old, old, old, old, old,
 Where not a ball was in the game,
 Where not a player tried to nudge
 Another, all would shout "O judge--
 Old mads and college presidents,
 When interested, said "It's a manna."
 I saw the tackle, took to cheer,
 The star in Latin, French and Greek,
 And when a player tried to nudge
 Another, all would shout "O judge--
 Old mads and college presidents,
 When interested, said "It's a manna."

M'GRAW HAS IT ON MACK IN DEVELOPING MANAGERS

Connie Captures the World Series, but Has Never Yet Turned Out Successful Club Leader, While McGraw Has Several Joe McGinnity McGraw's Most Brilliant Pupils, Having Grabbed Off Shekels and Fame

With all his wonderful skill in managing ball clubs and developing players, Connie Mack, however, has so far been unable to impart to his lieutenants that same knowledge which has made himself one of the greatest leaders baseball has ever seen. Mack has developed some wonderful ball players; yet there is not a single graduate of his school who has made a success as a manager. A number have tried, but failed. From the McGraw school a number of players have been graduated to higher levels, and while none of them has succeeded as a manager, they are, for their tutor, yet quite a few have been successful financially.

Football Fight To Be Kept Up

MEMORY COLLEGE, Oxford, Ga., Nov. 17.—The efforts of the students of Trinity college, the North Carolina Methodist institution to secure intercollegiate football are being watched with interest by the Emory college student body, because of the similar efforts by the Emory students during the past spring.

Little Rock Is After Baseball

By Associated Press. — Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 17.—Little Rock does not secure a berth in the Southern league at the annual league meeting to be held at Atlanta December 15, this city will seek entrance to the Western association, which is to be reorganized. President Kavanagh Sunday contrived this report and said he favored Little Rock joining the association if it cannot get into the Southern league.

Athletics for Girls At Locust Grove

LOUST GROVE, Ga., Nov. 17.—Locust Grove Institute is putting forth an unusual effort this year along the line of athletics for the young women of the student body. Keen enthusiasm has already been shown for tennis and other games, but basketball is being given better support than during any term in the history of the school.

Horse Show Is Now Under Way

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—After the warming up session on Saturday the National horse show got under way today for six days and nights of real business. Mackhays had their finest number than any other breed has had nearly every other breed has had headway until they now dominate the heavy harness classes. In the early days of the horse show docked trotters were winning everything and a hackney in harness was so rare as to be almost a curiosity.

It is very probable that the campaign will be waged by the Emory students will be along the same lines as last spring. It will consist mainly in having the assistance before the alumni and requesting intercollegiate athletics for Emory.

The Why of Detroit

The supremacy of Automobile Manufacturing in America is Detroit's by a big majority. Millions of dollars pour into her coffers every year from this one industry. Skilled workmen flock by thousands to the opportunities she offers.

The payrolls from her factories are making Detroit one of the richest of America's rich cities. How did she do it? The answer is found in the attitude of Detroit's citizens toward Detroit's FIRST Auto factories.

Those Michigan folks were willing to be convinced that Detroit could make as good joy wagons as were made anywhere. They talked them—they tried them—they bought them.

Now, it's not such a long jump from the things in which we like to ride to things in which we have to walk.

Shoe manufacturing is a new industry in this section. Atlanta is the pioneer. We sell only made-in-Atlanta shoes for Men and Boys. You'll be proud of the style, quality and finish of them.

Our connection with this right-at-home factory gives us the most efficient fitting service in Atlanta. We don't ask you to buy a pair of Atlanta-made shoes through patriotism; we would like you to come by and look them over. If you find just the style you like, try them on; if they fit perfectly, try them out. That's all.

THE SONG SHEET

You might as well slip it to the collegiate song writers and those who can't read melodies. They rise superior to all wallows from "outrageous fortunes." Cornell student sang with amazing gusto a ditty about "the Big Red Team" tramping through and marching down the field when the Big Red Team, with their mascot, carries a percentage of about 122.

When questioned by our correspondent as to what he had to say for the "Zim" in regard to being dropped by the Ball Players' Fraternity, the Great Zim spoke as follows: "I can hit that ball."

Pennsylvania isn't an overly popular institution among eastern gridiron fans, but the He and Blime—it has played the most advanced brand of football for ten years set up by any rival college or university in America. We are not speaking here of players—but of plays.

Being dropped by the Ball Players' Fraternity is no new blow to the Great Zim. He has a chance used to drop him with a third wife a week. Evers dropped him every other fortnight and the umpires dropped him so often that it became a rare treat to see him in the lineup.

What kind of a fellow writes K. H. G. "in this Brickley"? Hard to please. The guy is always kicking.

Governor Tener announces that he will accept the presidency of the National for a salary of $25,000 a year and a four-year contract. We too, we'll be $25,000 a year for four years—but not quite that bad.

If we ever wrote a college song we'd kick in with something new. For example, we'd slip in something about "marching down the field," or "swinging through," or "battering flooding ground." The innovation might be popular, but it would be worth a trial.

Matteson has dropped a number of bad games on this western jaunt, but we understand from Giant headquarters that he will still be given one more chance next spring.

Hoppe Makes Freak Billiard Match With English Champ

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—White Hoppe, 26-year-old English champion, and Billie Hoppe, 26-year-old English champion, will play a freak billiard match on Nov. 18 at the Casino in New York. The match will be a 100-ball match and the first to win 50 balls will be the winner. The match will be a 100-ball match and the first to win 50 balls will be the winner.

Jud Daily Goes To Bills in Trade
 PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 16.—An announcement has been made that the Montgomery baseball club has traded infielder Jack Spratt, last season manager of Selma, to Nashville for outfielder Jud Daily. Outfielder Daily was purchased outright from St. Louis by the Americans. He played last year with the locals. Trades for six other players are pending.

WINCHESTER

401 CALIBER Self-Loading Rifle
 This five-shot repeater has speed and power plus. It is speedy because, being reloaded by the recoil of the fired cartridge, it can be shot and reloaded by simply pulling the trigger. It is powerful because it handles a cartridge of the most modern type—one that strikes a blow of 2038 pounds. The combination of such power with the rapidity of fire which this rifle is capable of, makes it unusually desirable for hunting the biggest of game. The Winchester Model 1910 not only shoots a heavier bullet and hits a harder blow than any other recoil-operated rifle, but it also surpasses all other rifles of this type in the strength and simplicity of its action. Examine one of these rifles before selecting a gun for your next hunting trip. IT HITS LIKE THE HAMMER OF THOR

Read on, and learn how you may get this magnificent book—this complete story of Panama in picture and prose—

Not merely a picture book but an educational work of rare interest to every member of the home.

For 98 Cents

The greatly reduced illustration prices shown show less than half the size of the large illustrated volume.

Every progressive man, woman and child is eager to know all about the Panama Canal and the remarkable country through which it passes. Realizing this fact several hundred newspapers have arranged to take an enormous advance edition of the most elaborate and complete illustrated history of PANAMA AND THE CANAL, published by the Syndicate Publishing Co., of New York City.

This company is eminently fitted to issue such a work at a minimum cost. It has heretofore supplied through daily newspapers millions of high-class dictionaries and other books.

THE JOURNAL is the one paper in this section through which PANAMA AND THE CANAL PICTURE AND PROSE can be had. The plan outlined below tells you how to get this only complete Panama Book ALMOST FREE.

The large volume is twice the size of an ordinary novel; it is a most handsome book, stamped in gold, with beautiful color panel on front cover, showing the famous Culebra Cut; it contains 450 large pages, filled with interesting information of rare educational value to every reader. The illustrations are modern works of art, covering every important scene in the Canal Zone; they include 16 water-color plates with more than 600 photographic studies.

Presentation by The Atlanta Journal

Willis J. Abbot, the versatile writer on International subjects and author of many books of history and travel, spent months in Panama and the Canal Zone in the preparation of this volume. He collected at first hand the complete history of the great Canal, with a wealth of historical data concerning Panama which has never before been written. The result is a human interest story of this beautiful land and its people from the early days when Columbus tried to find a natural waterway from the Atlantic to the Pacific, down to the present time.

Special staff photographers made the hundreds of beautiful views which illustrate practically every page of this exhaustive book.

The well-known artist, E. J. Read, made the sixteen sumptuous water-color studies which are reproduced by the latest color processes on specially made paper.

The Panama Canal, the greatest engineering achievement of the world's history, cost more than $400,000,000

It links the two greatest oceans and becomes the most important factor in peace and war. So where is the red-blooded inhabitant of this globe that does not feel vitally interested in it? Truly it is the wonder of this progressive age!

ATLANTA WITNESSES The Names of Atlanta Persons Familiar to All

Who are the witnesses? Who are Atlanta people? Residents of Atlanta who have had kidney backache, kidney trouble, who have used Doan's Kidney Pills. These witnesses, whose names are familiar to all, speak in the following manner: "I had suffered on and on for nearly two years from weak kidneys and every time I caught cold it caused pain in my back. I had been told to get a bottle of Doan's Kidney Pills and get it. I began using them. It was not long before I was entirely cured. I can say that there has been no sign of the trouble since."

Is Man 60 Years Old Barred From a Jury Because of His Age?

Can a man sixty years old be stricken from a jury for cause on account of his age? This is a question the state supreme court is called on to decide in a case recently appealed from the Dalton superior court.

It is an accepted fact that a man of that advanced age may obtain an excuse from jury duty, but Solicitor Searl P. Melton, of the Cherokee circuit, who is in Atlanta to argue the Dalton case, contends that a man sixty years old should not be challenged for cause. He takes the position that the law does not disqualify such a man.
