There are, to be sure, certain offices which ought to change hands with a change of the national administration and which, indeed, must for the sake of orderly and efficient work. It is inconsertable that a Republican achinot could serve a Democratic president, or that in any office, in-volving the larger issues of Government and impor-ignit matters of policy. A Republican definit could work well with a Democratic administration. Some changes there must be simply in order that the pub-lic's business may be successfully performed. It is perfectly mattrain and proper that in the chould supplant many of those who were appointed

A consul's functions, on the contrary, "are virtually those of a business agent." special training and experience." The fact is we are coming to a much samer and fairer view of Medral offices, as of all public offices. We are coming to realize that true basis for ap-pointements is individual metric and ability. There are, as we have said, offices in which ability for service dependes parity on political beliefs. A dis-trict atorney who is out of sympathy with Demo-eratic legislation is obviously disgualified for his du-ties; and in like manner a postmenter imbuted with the ideas of the Hitchcok regime would be a hind-rance to a Democratic administration. But on the other hand where matters of simple business rather than matters of policy are concerned, the efficiency of government should not be sacrificed to a reckless "spolls" system.

A Menace to School Children. The State Board of Health seanably call atten-tion to the dangers of the common dipper and vater backet at schools. Measles, diptorfs, search fewer and other discusses are easily trummitted where all puffic use the same drinking vessel. Thence come epidemics which not carly related the work of the school and the progress of the child but which also brins heavy exceedes, painful anxiety and sometimes the less of lives. The State board widely urges that a fancter and require each pupil to provide himself with an individui drinking carly just as each is re-quired to have his own lunch and his own books. "A drinking use posts only a fave cents and it may save many dollars, many hours of time and many valuable lives."

ave many douter, many near a valuable lives." This matter cannot be considered unimportant when it is reflected that most up-to-date cities have enacted ordinances, forbidding the use of a common citaking cup on trains. The sanitary whys and wherefores of this subject were settled many years ago. Scientists and physi-clans all agree that a cup which is used indiscrim-finately is one of the most prolife sources of disease. The American Association for the Study and Preven-tion of Tuberculosis has conducted a nation-wide cam-pairm against the common drinking cup, realizing that therein lies a particularly grave menace to public health.

most thorough preparations have been made. We could have gone on sel-ling millinery, as most stores do today, and would have met with the success that our limited ef-forts would have justified. But such a method would not have been in keeping with the Cham-berlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. pol-icles, so we set about to make this millinery store stand at the "top of the heap"---to put it in the way of success. It was done when we opened the shop of Estelle Mershon at 20 It was done when we opened the shop of Estelle Mershon at 20 E. 46th St., New York, which sends its Emissaries into Paris with the seasons, who, seeing, studying and gathering up the notablest creations that the world's notablest milliners evolve, return to America's fashion center armed with the ideas and native ability to produce hats of distinctive beauty and charm. And these are the hats that Atlanta women see here and here only; hats that we hold it not to be odious to compare with those you find not only in Atlanta but in America. And these first days of the season are fine days for choosing. The style points are well defined and the variety is huge and obliging---a becoming hat at every turn.

Dress Forms That Make Dress Making Easier

Uress forms that Make Uress Making Easter We have gone into the dress form business in a fashion worthy of its importance to women who make dresses---as a profession or for themselves. Many kinds of dress forms clutter the market, some with more demerits than merits---we set about to differentiate, to choose those we could recommend as of greatest value to our cus-tomers. And so after the process of elimination there remain the Acme Automatic Dress Form (several styles) at $2.00 to $14.00 and the Pneu Form at $14.00. Both have distinctive features. Both may be adjusted to reproduce any number of figures. The Acme is a substantial steel mounted form that is adjusted by means of a lining that is made to fit your figure. See them both in the Pattern Department. A demonstratorwill show you how simply and truly they do their work.
